PROPOSED HEADQUARTERS FOR BOROUGH FIRE DEPARTMENT

New Engine House Planned to Replace Present Quarters of Warren Engine Company on Somerset Street.

It is now as good as settled that North Plainfield is to have new fire headquarters. The accompanying cut is a good representation of the proposed new building.

This structure will be 42 feet front and 70 feet deep, two stories high, and a large attic extending back to the centre of the roof, with the main construction surmounted by a flag pole, and on one side a large tower to be used for the drying of hose. A chimney situated on the opposite side of the roof gives an architectural symmetry to the whole. The front of the building will be of brick and stone, with two large double entrances and a side door, with a stone bearing the inscription "1902" inserted midway over the windows of the second story and, suitably inscribed, a tablet placed on a level with the eye between the large doors on the ground floor. The new engine house will be an ornament to the borough, as well as a resource and a safeguard.

No site has been definitely selected for the building, but the Mayor and Council have an option on two pieces of land and it is only a matter of a few days before a deal will be completed.

Very convenient will be the accommodations within. On the ground floor will stand the hose wagon with Amoskeag engine directly behind, leaving plenty of room for the housing of a third apparatus, when that becomes necessary. On the second floor there will be a large meeting room, a battery room, a small office, a uniform room and bath. Compared with the present quarters this is an improvement which makes all comparison odious.

In the house now occupied by the firemen the two-horse hose wagon and the steamer take up all the floor room from door to stable. It is only eighteen feet wide and when the horses run from their stalls to the apparatus, everybody must make way, since there is not room for both man and beast beside the machine.

The only wonder is that a new house, with more modern equipments, was not built long ago. The taxpayers of the borough have now two good companies of firemen, who understand their business, and who will compare favorably with any volunteer fire department in the union. As a further step towards greater fire protection it has been suggested that when the new quarters are completed members of the department should take turns and spend the night in the engine house. The firemen are perfectly willing to do this, if proper facilities in the way of clean beds are afforded them. This would give a much better service than under present conditions, enabling them to have the apparatus in preparation and ready for the street at almost the first stroke of the gong. The seconds saved might also mean houses saved.

When the firemen get into their new quarters the present home of the Warrenites will not be entirely lost to the municipal service. On the second story it is probable that commodious accommodations will be afforded for the Mayor and Council, while down below Chief of Police Campbell will be given an abundance of room to keep in durance the lawless element of the community. This in itself will be a much appreciated move.

At this time a brief sketch of the historical evolution of Warren Engine Company may not be out of palce. It was in the year 1869 that the town officers, after the disastrous conflagration which destroyed nearly a whole block on West Front street, came to the conclusion that more fire protection was needed in the town of Plainfield. Accordingly they purchased a new steam fire engine, Gazelle No. 1. Previous to this time their apparatus was a hand-power engine with two powerful lift and force pumps, worked by brakes, sixteen men on a side. When one crew got tired there was a relay to take a turn at the pumps, and this old system of bygone days was often responsible for yeoman service both in Plainfield and North Plainfield.

On the arrival of the new steamer the hand engine was turned over to North Plainfield and a company organized under Bernard P. Moore as first foreman. The company was named Warren No. 3, and the older residents will remember that it was ushered into existence by one of the greatest firemen's parade ever witnessed by the people of Plainfield up to that time. Warren No. 3 was housed for a short period in the tan yard, back of French's mill. Later the fire commissioners purchased a lot from L. B. Boice, and on that site the present engine house now stands.

At first, a small brick building was erected, intended merely to house the hand apparatus with a meeting room upstairs. This served the purpose admirably until the Warren Company decided to give up the hand engine and appointed a committee, consisting of George Kesselring, J. H. Carney and C. W. Krausse, to purchase out of the company's own funds the present powerful steamer. More room was then needed and in 1883 an extension was built on the front, bringing the building on a line with the other structures on the street. In 1884 the company purchased a team of horses to be used on the steamer, making it necessary to build a stable in the rear, and thus almost filling up the entire lot. Any room that was left has since been taken up by the alarm bell tower which as erected in 1894.

When North Plainfield became a borough it was necessary to make some changes in the fire department

AFTER SAFE WRECKERS.

Detectives Have Found Where the Materials Were Secured.

Detectives, who have been working on the Price-Bond-Woolston safe wrecking case, have located the place where the dynamiters secured their material to do the job and several other important clues. The local police are actively engaged in searching for the men, but although it is evident they have made some important discoveries, they are reticent when queried. Chief Kiely admits that he has strong hopes of landing the robbers.

WESTFIELD WANTS TO PLAY

OFFERS SEVERAL OPEN DATES TO TEAM CHOSEN FROM LOCAL LEAGUE.

Management of the Westfield Semi-Professional Team Glad to Meet Plainfield Consolidated.

An item which appeared recently in The Daily Press, was responsible for the following in the last issue of the Westfield Standard:

Cheap Advertising for Westfield.

Local baseball cranks are heartily in favor of selecting the best of the League players to go up against the arrogant Westfield team. With a nine formed by Montross and Allen, for battery, Egan on first, Lederer on second, Keen at third, Martin, short, Roseberry, Taylor and Gordon in the field, the Plainfield boys would give the semi-professionals down the line a "right smart" rub. The various League officials favor the idea and the attempt may be made before the season closes.—Plainfield Press.

Another "Press" Clipping.

To the Editor of the Daily Press:—I saw your article in Wednesday's Press regarding the team you had picked out to play Westfield. In reply allow me to say that I believe it is not necessary for you to go all the way to Westfield to have the team mentioned beaten as we have a team right here in Scotch Plains that can do the trick to the Queen's taste.

G. Johnston.
Manager Scotch Plains B. B. C.

The ball association recognizes that Plainfield is making an earnest endeavor to recuperate an interest that has long been dormant in that city. Experience here has shown that semi-professional ball secures the best results as to the character of the sport and the financing of the game. Without question Westfield is giving the only substantial ball in the county—the kind the public appreciates and supports. The local schedule is complete up to Aug. 16, with the exception of July 12 and Aug. 9. President Denman has advised City Judge Runyon, of Plainfield, president of their local league, that the home team would be glad to play any of their teams or a picked team comprising their very best on either of these dates. As to the Scotch Plains effusion it is enough to say that the Westfield team plays only teams of reputation.

SMALL-POX ON MOUNTAIN.

Residents of Hill Top, Somerset County, Are Anxious About It.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 1—Two cases of smallpox have broken out on the Watchung Mountain, north of Somerville, near Hill Top, and the residents of that section are in a panic, fearing an epidemic of smallpox.

A daughter of Mr. Wall, who resided in New York, came home on a visit and in a day or two an eruption appeared on her face, which was thought to be ivy poison. She visited around among the people of Hill Top and for this reason they are fearful of an epidemic. In a short time a two-year-old child of Mr. Wall's was taken sick and the attending physician pronounced it measles until the watery postules formed, when it was said to be smallpox. Now Mr. Wall is down with the same disease, and a quarantine has been placed on the house by the Board of Health of Bridgewater township.

Announced Too Soon.

Local Republicans declare the announcement in yesterday's Newark News that Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk was a candidate for the senatorial nomination, was entirely premature.

Contract for New Stand.

Frank I. Wintz, of Philadelphia, has the contract to erect the new Union News Company stand at the new railroad station. He expects to begin work very soon.

Conducted Services.

It was David Bodine and not H. R. Thorn, as stated, who conducted the Junior O. U. A. M. services at the funeral of Henry L. Kliner

LEWIS S. THOMAS IS SAFE

PROVEN WITHOUT DOUBT THAT MISSING TEACHER IS THE OTHER THOMAS.

The Providence Thomas is at Cebu, While the One From Dunellen, is Quartered on Mindinao.

The latest advices from Manila state that the constabulary at Cebu, capital of the island of the same name, captured a Ladrone leader yesterday, who reported that his gang captured the four American school teachers who disappeared June 10. He says the teachers were imprisoned in the mountains and were alive as late as Thursday last. He believes they are still safe.

Lewis T. Churchill, of Dunellen, a relative of Lewis S. Thomas, received a telegram from the relatives of Louis A. Thomas, of Providence, R. I., this morning informing him that it is the Thomas, of Providence, that was at Cebu and who is missing. Lewis S. Thomas has been on the island of Mindinao, as has since been learned. This makes it certain that the latter is alive and not in the hands of the natives. An effort will be made to get word from him as soon as possible. It is rather strange that there should be two young men of the same name who went to the Philippines as school teachers.

SUING EMPLOYERS.

John W. Turner Has Started Suit Against the Ball & Wood Engine Company.

Suit for $3,000 damages was commenced in the Union County Circuit Court yesterday against the Ball & Wood Engine Company, of Elizabeth, by John W. Turner, of Somerset street, a former employe of the company. He seeks to recover for injuries sustained April 11. While at work he was hit on the head with a sledge hammer by Peter Meyer, a fellow-workman.

Turner alleges that the accident was occasioned by the gross carelessness, negligence and incompetency of Meyer, and that the defendant company is responsible for keeping in its employ a man incompetent for the work required, and was a menace to the safety of other employes. Lawyer Robert M. Clark represents Mr. Turner.

DEATH OF T. S. FLYNN.

Third Death in That Family Within a Year Occurred Yesterday.

Following an illness of one week with a complication of troubles, Thomas S. Flynn, died yesterday at the home of his mother on McDowell street. His was the third death to occur in the family within a year, his father and brother preceding him.

The young man was thirty-one years old and was a machinist by trade. He located here two years ago, coming with his parents from Hampton Junction. He leaves several brothers and sisters. The funeral services will be held from the residence of his mother, tomorrow morning at 8:15 and from St. Mary's church at 9. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Fell From Woodshed.

Robert Johns, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johns, of Plainfield avenue, fell from the top of a woodshed, this morning, and fractured his right wrist. Medcal assistance was summoned and the boy is able to be around.

Opening of Fresh Air Home.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be opened tomorrow, when Miss Sara Curry, in company with fifty-five children, will arrive at the home. Everything is now in readiness for occupancy and a very successful season is promised.

Talk Over New Pastor.

There was an informal meeting of the committee of fifteeen in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last evening to talk over matters pertaining to the selection of a new pastor.

Hope Y. M. A. Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. will be held this evening. As an unusual amount of routine business remains to be transacted, a full attendance is desired.

Quoit Pitching Contests.

The third of the series of quoit-pitching contests will be held this evening at the meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle.

—William N. Tier and family, of Bank place, will shortly remove to Rahway where Mr. Tier has located in business.

—Delicious Georgia peaches, blackberries, strawberries, Rocky Ford melons and many other fresh fruits, on sale daily at Neuman Brothers.

TO CAMP OUT.

Plainfield Young Men Are Going to Spend Several Weeks in This State.

A party of Plainfield young men with a few out of town friends are making preparations to spend part of next month in camp near Newfoundland, this State. The spot where they intend locating is one of the wildest in New Jersey and offers every advantage for outdoor life. Among those who will go are Percy McVoy, Charles Duvier and Clarence Thorn, of this city, Hayes Keller, of New York, George Hand, of Hoboken, and J. W. Linberger, of Brooklyn.

GUESTS AT THE NETHERWOOD

BOOKING TO DATE IS MOST SUCCESSFUL IN HISTORY OF HOTEL.

Many Guests Have Assembled at the Big Summer Hostelry on the Netherwood Hill.

There was another large registry of guests at the Hotel Netherwood last week. The booking to date shows that this season is by a large margin the most successful yet experienced in the career of the hotel. Yesterday 125 people had rooms at the house. On the corresponding day last year there were but seventy-eight guests, and on the same date two years ago fifty-eight.

Among those who took up a residence at the hotel last week were Louis Rodney Berg, New York; Mrs. Paul Sheldon, New York, D. K. Brown, Brooklyn; Miss Cotton and maid, Newark; Mrs. K. V. Cotton and livery, Newark; Mrs. Wm. H. Kirby, New York; Charles Brown, New York; L. de L. Cammanno, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and Mrs. Cammanno; Mrs. M. Donnelly and family, Miss Koughran, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. S. Seely, Brooklyn; John T. Lee, Brooklyn; J. W. Nichols, Mrs. Nichols, Miss Marjorie Nichols, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hazard, New York; Alexander G. Bentley, Washington, D. C.; Arthur G. Andrews, New York; Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ogden, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dryden, New York; Wm. J. Bergen, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. James D. Johnson, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kendrice, Miss Gladys Kendrice, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Balch, Miss Gladys Balch, Miss M. L. Balch, Brooklyn; R. E. Sweeney, New York; Miss Adele Swan, Master E. Swan, R. A. Swan, New York; Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Cantwell, Brooklyn; Mrs. C. T. Dotter, Miss Dotter, Miss Marie J. Dotter, Brooklyn.

Ping-pong is one of the various pastimes at the hotel, and recently clock golf has been laid out on the green in front of the house and a tennis court will be in readiness this week. Saturday afternoon the golf links were patronized by forty people.

AT TEACHER'S HOME.

Rev. G. M. Shott Taught the Last Teachers' Meeting for the Summer.

Thirty of the officers and teachers of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school enjoyed a very pleasant time Saturday evening at the home of Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains. It was the occasion of their last teachers' meeting for the summer, and Mr. Shott gave a review of the lessons of the next three months. The talk was both interesting and helpful to all who were privileged to hear it.

During the past two years Mr. Shott has taught the Sunday-school lesson at these weekly meetings held at the homes of the teachers, where the large attendance has testified to their appreciation of Mr. Shott's able instruction.

These meetings will be resumed in the fall.

Change in Exchange Firm.

The firm of Rolston & Hooley, of Wall street, New York, expired yesterday by limitation, and the business of the firm will be continued by Edwin S. Hooley, Frank E. Bromley and Norbert Heinsheimer, under the firm name of Edwin S. Hooley & Co. Mr. Hooley has been associated with Mr. Bromley in Wall street for twenty-five years. He was the managing partner of the old firm for the past fourteen years.

For Shooting on the Fourth.

A committee, consisting of Adolph Bohren, Adolph Barry, Reuben Dyke, Jack Lloyd and Charles Kellar, have recently made all preparations at the Maple avenue range for the Fourth of July shooting tournament.

Non-Union Men Have Left.

The non-union plumbers who were working in Plainfield recently have all left the city. They were blackballed when they made application to join the union.

CONTRACTS FOR NEW HOSPITAL

AWARDED FOR CARPENTER AND MASON WORK LAST NIGHT.

Given to Wm. H. Pangborn and Charles M. Wilson by Hospital Board of Governors.

Following a session of two and a half hours, during which there was an exhausitve discussion of the subject of the new hospital, the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital decided last evening to authorize the building committee to give out the contracts for the carpenter and mason work for the main building. William H. Pangborn gets the mason work and Charles M. Wilson the carpenter work. The two contracts amount to about $25,000. As soon as the contracts can be signed and matters arranged the work will be started. It is estimated that it will take fully one year to complete the buildings.

The work on the operating room will be arranged for a little later. This building is given by J. Howard Wright and in proper time the work will be commenced on this part.

Dr. W. C. Boone, medical director, submitted the following report of the work at the hospital for the past month. There were thirty-eight patients admitted, of which eighteen were discharged cured and one improved, while one died. There are twenty-one patients remaining. In the dispensary there were sixty-eight patients and 217 visits.

BLAMED FATHER.

Nineteen-Year-Old Boy Haled Before City Judge Runyon on the Charge of Being Drunk.

In suspending sentence on George Gardner, who was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, in the city court, this morning, City Judge Runyon took occasion to berate the prisoner's father in the most forcible term's at his command. The defendant is only nineteen years old, yet appears in court at regular intervals on the same charge. In every instance he claims his father or a brother-in-law is responsible for his getting drunk.

The father was present and the boy was forgotten in the outpouring of judicial wrath on the parental head. He was informed he wasn't fit to be a father and his son's ruin and disgrace could be traced to him. He was more to blame, the court said, than the boy and the latter was accordingly discharged with the admonition to brace up before it was too late.

MUSICALE TO FRIENDS.

Given by Mrs. G. S. Whitlock, of West Front Street, Last Night.

Mrs. G. S. Whitlock, of West Front street, tendered a musicale to a party of friends, at her home, last evening.

Violin selections were rendered by Mrs. G. W. Saums, accompanied by Miss Anna Stryker, piano selections by Miss Stryker and tenor solos by George Siegfried and Thomas Burns. Refreshments were served at the close.

Among those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Saums, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ribrand, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Malloy, the Misses Anna Stryker, of Trenton, Ella DeCamp, Eva DeCamp and George Siegfried, Thomas Burns, Fred and Lewis DeCamp.

ABANDONED FAMILY.

Wife Finally Compelled to Appeal to the City for Aid.

A well known man about town willfully abandened his family a few days ago, leaving them in destitute circumstances. The mother battled against fate until Saturday last, when unable to bear her children's cries for bread any longer, she applied to the city for help. The police have taken the matter in hand and the inhuman father will be brought to a realization of his duty.

Trolley Ride to Boynton.

The members of the Plainfield Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association have planned for a trolley ride to Boynton Beach and a dance next week, Thursday evening. They will leave on the 6:45 o'clock trolley. Anyone desiring tickets or further information can get the same from the following persons: Caspar Waglow, Louis Bruker, James McLean, Chas. Greer and Griffin Jenkins.

After Horse Thieves.

In consequence of the numerous depredations by horse thieves in Warren township, the Township Committee has offered a reward of $300 for the apprehension of those who have been so active appropriating the equines in that vicinity recently.

JUNE BROKE RECORDS FOR COLD AND RAIN

Rainfall Was Far Over Normal While Average Temperature Was Much Below.

LIKE THE YEAR OF 1897.

THAT WAS EVEN COLDER THAN THE MONTH THAT ENDED YESTERDAY.

For Thirteen Days of Last Month it Rained and Six Thunder Storms Wandered By—Mean Temperature Was 67 Degrees.

July opened up this morning dark and cloudy, apparently threatening to follow in the footsteps of June, with its conspicuous absence of Old Sol. The report from the weather bureau said that the day would be partly cloudy, clearing up in the afternoon, probably warmer, with a prospect of a more summer-like atmosphere immediately.

During the month of June it rained on thirteen days, a total fall of 5.67 inches having been recorded. There were six thunder-storms, none of them unusually severe. In June, 1897, when June had another off year, there were twelve rainy days and four thunder storms, with a total rainfall of 2.79 inches. June of that year held the record within the memory of that oldest inhabitant until superseded by the month just passed.

The heaviest rainfall was on June 21, the fall on that date being 1.25 inches; on June 29 the fall measured 1.20 inches. The prevailing wind for the month was northwest. The Sun Dog, or Parhelia, appeared on June 18 and 28. There was fog on June 14 and June 21, and a rainbow made its appearance on the afternoon of June 23.

The mean temperature was below the normal for the month, with the precipitation above the normal, the normal being found from a ten-year average. Although the weather of the past thirty days was of a northern variety, that of the same month five years ago was even cooler. Thus, in June 1897, the mean temperature was 65.5 degrees while in 1902 it was 67. At one time during the past month the mercury hovered in the vicinity of 93 degrees while the warmest day in June, 1897, the thermometer registered but 89. One day last month, citizens shivered with the thermomter at 45, but consoled themselves with the knowledge that five years previously they had withstood 39 degrees.

ENTERTAINED IN NEWARK.

Luncheon Given in Honor of Miss Sadie Thein Foster, of Borough.

"Mrs Henry J. Thein gave a luncheon in honor of her namesake, Miss Sadie Thein Foster," says the Newark Sunday Call in its last issue, "prior to her departure for Plainfield today. Daisies constituted the floral scheme. Intermingled with delicate blue ribbons, they filled in every corner of the pretty rooms, and decorated the refresehment table, where a fine spread was served. The favors were a button minature photograph of the little hostess, attached to a bunch of daisies."

In connection with this another item in the same paper speaks of Miss Foster carrying off the honors at a musicale given by her associates, pupils of Miss Charlotte E. Bachus, of Newark, last week.

Miss Foster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foster, who have taken up their residence in North Plainfield for the summer.

FUNERAL OF ROBERT TINGLEY.

Three Clergymen Officiated at the Services Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of Robert Tingley were held at his late residence yesterday afternoon. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, Rev. J. W. Richardson and Rev. E. L. Earp. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery.

Many floral wreaths, as tributes of respect from friends, strewed the casket. The pallbearers were Bert Pope, William Young, J. J. Stahl and J. W. A. Banersachs. Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended the funeral.

Record Fish Story.

After an hour's battling, William Gratton, of this city, landed a thirty-two pound carp from the pond at Lambert's Mill, yesterday. It was one of the largest ever seen in this vicinity. The fish was sold to an hotel keeper at Westfield.

Arthur Humble, of Somerset street, is visiting relatives in Martinville.

THEATRICAL.

That the coolest place in New York is Keith's Theatre is an universally admitted fact, and during these torrid days of mid-summer, that is no small factor in its phenomenal success. While one by one, the other theatres of the city have found business so bad as to make it necessary to close their doors until but a scant half dozen are left open, the attendance at Keith's is still measured only by the capacity of the house.

Heading the excellent bill for the coming week are Chas. Dickson & Co., in a revival of their original vaudeville success "The Salt Cellar." Mr. Dickson after creating an important role in the dramatization of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" was engaged for the new "yachtical" musical comedy "The Defender" in which he created the part of "Sir Thomas Teaton" and in which he was remarkably successful, leaving the cast of this production for a short vaudeville season on the Keith circuit. "The Salt Cellar" was the first of the one-act domestic comedies to react the vaudeville stage and was used by Mr. Dickson and Miss Lillian Burkhart as the vehicle for their first venture as co-stars.

The Three Nevarros, in their wonderful acrobatic feats; the Leslie Brothers, musical comedians; Belmont and O'Brien, travesty comedians; Rastus and Banks, colored entertainers; Emerson and Omega in Dutch comedy; Joe and Nellie Doner, in an eccentric acrobatic comedy sketch; John Barker, America's Champion Bone Soloist and Character comedian, with twenty-two features, including six distinct European novelties, and new pictures for the biograph and stereopticon, complete the bill at The Union Square.

LITERARY.

The Century has made elaborate preparations for treating the subject of the West Indian disasters. Before sailing for Martinique on the Dixie, Prof. Robt. T. Hill, of the U. S. Geological Survey, contributed to the magazine a paper on "The Volcano Systems of the Western Hemisphere," which, with numerous illustrations, will appear in the July number. The August Century will also have an illustrated general paper on "Earthquakes and Volcanoes," by James F. Kemp, professor of geology in Columbia University. There will be other notable material on the subject in the August number.

PERSONAL.

Miss Linda Butler, of East Front street, is spending a few weeks with friends in East Orange.

Miss Harriet R. Shreve, of Grove street, is registered at the Wachusett House, Princeton, Mass.

Mrs. Otis and her daughter, Miss Otis, from out of town, are visiting at the home of D. M. VanVliet, of Washington avenue.

The Misses Margaret and Edith Tracy, daughters of J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, left home Saturday to spend the summer out of town.

Miss Margaret McCutchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, is entertaining one of her friends from Smith College.

Picnicked on Mountain.

The Friends' First Day school held a picnic on the grounds of Charles Underhill on the mountain Saturday afternoon. A most enjoyable day was spent. The affair was in charge of Miss Margaret Vail, superintendent of the Sunday-school.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

SEA GIRT RANGE IS READY

RIFLE PRACTICE AT THE STATE CAMP HAS ALREADY BEGUN.

Department of the East of the Regular Army Will be Represented by a Team.

The rifle practice for the present season at Sea Girt range is already in operation, and the tournament which closes the regular National Guard season will acquire a wide interest because under the contests of the National Rifle Association the Department of the East of the regular army will be a contesting team.

There is every possibility that General Brooke, commandant of the department, will be a guest of Governor Murphy during the visitation of the selected teams from the department, which covers from New England States to the peninsula of Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Porto Rico and neighboring islands. The headquarters of the department is at Governor's Island, New York. The fact that a team representing the sharpshooters of this large area of organized military defences will be at Sea Girt to hold up the dignity of the regular army as against the sharpshooters of the National Guard, will make the contests under the national association one of wide interest. The Canadian sharpshooters will be represented in this years' contests, although it is not an international contest.

The new rifle pits which the State has been constructing under special appropriation are about completed. They are now permanent and constructed of concrete, but the modern range and target machinery is still reserved, because it could not be improved on. The range and pits are now the finest of any in this country, and the State is justly proud of the improvement that has been made.

The artesian well which was recently driven is now completed and is giving the entire camp ground a sufficient supply of pure water, not only for kitchen purposes, but for all sanitary arrangements. The rifle practice administration building, now being constructed, will be completed by July 10.

The clubhouse is now open for the convenience of its members and the officers of the National Guard.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

JERSEY IS RICHEST STATE IN THE UNION

State's Finances Continue to Prosper Through Tribute of the Great Corporations.

REASONS WHY IT IS SO.

LARGE SURPLUS IN THE BANK AND NO DEBT AGAINST THE STATE.

So Many Corporations Annually Seek Protection of New Jersey's Corporation Laws That Nearly $2,000,000 is Received Annually.

While there has been somewhat of a falling off in the fees taken in at the New Jersey corporation office, because of the activity of Delaware and Massachusetts in competing for corporation business, the State will continue to prosper at the hands of the gigantic corporation creatures because of the tribute they will be forced to pay by way of taxation.

New Jersey is the richest State in the Union—that is, it has a large surplus in its treasury, has no debt and not only pays all the expenses of government each year, but is also able to distribute almost $1,000,000 annually towards eliminating the local school tax and also to lay by for a rainy day a snug addition to its bank account.

For several years past the State Treasury has literally been overflowing, and all because of the income it receives from the many corporations, large and small, that secure and pay for the protection afforded by its laws.

Secretary Irvin E. Maguire, of the State Board of Assessors, has filed with State Comptroller Morgan the first batch of corporations against which taxes have been assessed for the year. In this list are 4,648 corporations, and they will pay to the State a franchise tax of $1,960,874.14. In return for this amount they are simply given the right to do business. Any of the corporations owning property in the State are, of course, taxed on the same in the localities where it is situated, regardless of the franchise tax paid.

There are upward of 15,000 corporations holding New Jersey charters, so that there will be considerable additional tax levied. The list just filed, however, contains the cream of the concerns on which a franchise tax will be paid. Perhaps $500,000 will cover the tax to be levied against the other concerns. This is, of course, in addition to the fees paid for filing charters, which will foot up about another $500,000 this year.

The taxes levied against railroad and canal properties and against street lighting, heating, telephone and telegraph, street railroad and other quasi-public concerns, are, of course, not included, as they virtually all go to the municipalities through which they operate.

The great bulk of the franchise tax that pours into the State Treasury comes from what are termed "miscellaneous corporations" by the State and what are commonly known as "industrials" on the Stock Exchange. They are chiefly companies that have not a penny invested in New Jersey, coming here simply for their legal existence, because of the attractiveness of the State corporation laws. Practically all the big trusts in the country are included in the list of assessments recently filed.

NEW BAGGAGE ROOM.

Jersey Central Railroad Has Purchased Strip of Land From F. A. Pope to Buld a Baggage Room.

The New Jersey Central Railroad has purchased from F. A. Pope, of Park avenue, a strip of land alongside the railroad extending from the new railroad station to Watchung avenue, which was formerly a portion of the Rushmore property. The company will fill in a part of the land and erect thereon an addition to the station to be used as a baggage department for handling baggage for eastbound traffic. This improvement has been needed ever since the erection of the new station, the present method being very inconvenient and troublesome. It is expected that work on the addition will be commenced soon.

First Squash Court.

Probably the first and only squash court, a new game, in Plainfield, is that which Arthur L. Otterson has constructed in his new and handsome home located in the popular and rapidly improving east end of the city. Mr. Otterson's home is on Evergreen avenue, overlooking the country for miles around.

Meeting of Medical Society.

The Plainfield Medical Society will hold its quarterly meeting and banquet at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dalrymple Percival, of Central avenue, will sail Friday on the Campania for Europe, where they will remain for some time.

SENATOR ATTACKED

Bailey of Texas Clutched Beveridge by the Throat.

ASSAULT FOLLOWED HEATED DEBATE

When Asked to Retract Utterance, Senator From Indiana Refused. A Disgraceful Scene After Adjournment—No Bodily Harm.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Senator Bailey of Texas assaulted Senator Beveridge of Indiana last night just after the senate had adjourned from executive session. The Texas senator was dragged away and separated from his opponent by some of those about the senate. He was very angry and threatened severe harm to the Indiana senator.

The episode was the result of a heated controversy which the two senators had during the afternoon, when Senator Beveridge had said that Senator Bailey had made "an unwarranted attack" on Solicitor Penfield of the state department. In executive session Senator Beveridge, like other senators who smoke, lighted a cigar and took a seat on the Republican side. He was still sitting there when the senate adjourned. Senator Bailey crossed the aisle and walked through the seats until he was facing Senator Beveridge.

"Beveridge," he said, "I don't want to have any trouble with you, but I want you to withdraw those words which charge me with making an unwarranted attack upon Penfield."

"I didn't intend to insult you," replied Senator Beveridge, "and there is nothing in my language that you could consider offensive."

"I don't allow any one to say that I libel a man, and that is what you do in making the charge. Now, if you won't withdraw the words when I ask you I'm going to make you withdraw them."

Senator Bailey had been getting more and more angry and excited as he talked. He had been sitting down part of the time or leaning against the desk immediately in front of Senator Beveridge. The latter in reply to Senator Bailey's last remark, still remaining in his chair, said:

"I repeat that I did not intend to insult you and that I have nothing to retract."

As these words were uttered Senator Bailey threw himself upon Senator Beveridge, who is a man hardly up to the average in physique, and seized him by the throat with both hands. The rush was so sudden and fierce that the chair in which Mr. Beveridge was sitting was pushed back against a desk and the desk was toppled over. Before the assault could go any further senators who had been sitting near had moved up between the desks. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota seized Senator Bailey by one arm, and Senator Spooner seized the other. The Texas senator is a powerful man, and it was with great difficulty that the two senators were able to drag him away from Senator Beveridge, and when they succeeded a part of the Indiana senator's neckwear was ripped and torn away in the vigorous grasp of Senator Bailey.

Senator Bacon of Georgia and Barney Dayton, assistant doorkeeper, came quickly forward and assisted in pulling the Texas senator farther away, Senator Bailey meanwhile struggling to get free and lunging toward Senator Beveridge. As he was removed a little distance he was heard to utter something that sounded like a threat about killing.

Without further effort, however, he walked away when Senator Bacon urged him to be quiet and led him toward the Democratic side. Senator Bacon engaged Senator Bailey in conversation for some time, advising him to cool down. Senator Spooner also went across the aisle and discussed the matter with the Texas senator, urging him to apologize and if possible fix it up at once, but Senator Bailey refused all such proffers, declaring that Senator Beveridge had insulted him in the senate and that he had taken the only course left, as the Indiana senator had refused to withdraw his remarks.

Senator Beveridge remained in the chamber for some little time and continued to smoke his cigar. He remarked to those who spoke to him on the subject that it did not amount to anything. He made no effort to resist or resent the attack made on him. In fact, the whole thing was over in a very brief interval before much resistance could have been offered.

Mrs. Langtry's Daughter Weds.

LONDON, July 1.—Ian Z. Malcolm, member of parliament for the Stowmarket division of Suffolk and formerly assistant private secretary to Lord Salisbury, has been married to Miss Jeanne Langtry, daughter of Mrs. Langtry, the actress, at St. Margaret's church, Westminster.

GARDENER'S PLIGHT.

Governor of Tayabas Drops Charge Against Officers.

MISSING TEACHERS MAY BE ALIVE.

Reported by Natives of Cebu to Be Prisoners In the Mountains—Moro Murderers Killed While Resisting Arrest.

MANILA, July 1.—Major Cornelius Gardener, governor of the province of Tayabas, Luzon, continued his testimony yesterday before the board which is inquiring into the charges of cruelty brought by him against American officers and soldiers. Major Gardener has abandoned the charge that higher officers in the army in the Philippines were hostile to the civil government. He said this hostility existed, but that to summon witnesses to substantiate his charge threatens to result adversely to the interests of the government without benefiting himself. He therefore resumed responsibility for this charge and said he was ready to bear the burden of it.

There is a possibility that the four American teachers of Cebu, island of Cebu, who have been missing since June 10 are alive. A native who was made prisoner by the constabulary of Cebu says the four teachers were prisoners in the mountains of the island June 26.

Two of the Moros who murdered Private Lewis have been killed while resisting arrest. Datto Adta Adma promised Colonel Frank D. Baldwin of the Twenty-seventh infantry, who is in Mindanao, that he would deliver the murderers of Lewis when they were captured. The mutilated bodies of the two Moros were consequently brought into the American camp suspended from poles.

A patrol of the bandits operating in the island of Leyte has surrendered. The Leyte authorities have asked that the ports of the island be again opened to commerce.

A case of cholera has been discovered on board the United States army transport Thomas, and she has been detained in quarantine at Maravalez, at the entrance to Manila bay. The Thomas, with General Jacob H. Smith and the Twenty-fourth infantry on board, was to have left Manila yesterday for San Francisco.

Philippine Civil Government Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Philippine civil government bill as finally agreed upon provides in the main for a Philippine legislature of two houses, one the Philippine commission and the other an assembly elected by the natives, except the Moros and pagans. But this legislature is not to be created until after a census has been taken and a condition of general peace and good order shall have prevailed for two years. The legislature is to elect two commissioners to represent the islands in Washington. The powers of the legislature are defined, and an extended bill of rights sets forth the individual rights of citizens and their protection against unjust laws. Authority is given to issue bonds for the purchase of the friar lands, and when purchased these become part of the public domain. The public lands are to be open to homesteaders, similar to the American system.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Rodgers, commanding the Asiatic station, announcing his arrival at Nagasaki, Japan, Saturday board his flagship, the New York. Rear Admiral Evans, senior squadron commander on the Asiatic station, announced his arrival at Kiachau, China, yesterday aboard the flagship Kentucky, acompanied by the cruiser New Orleans. Rear Admiral Crowninshield, commanding the European station, announced his arrival at Gravesend aboard the Illinois. Rear Admiral Coghlan, aboard the Brooklyn, has arrived at Annapolis.

A Coming Musical Attraction.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Pietro Mascagni, composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," will open his tour in this country at the Metropolitan Opera House, this city, Oct. 6. The information that Mascagni had signed contracts for a tour of the United States has just been received by cable from Aubrey Mittenthal, who signed the papers at Florence, Italy. The organization will comprise, besides Mascagni, a complete orchestra, soloists and a full chorus, numbering in all 100 people. The orchestra and soloists will be brought from Europe with Mascagni, while the chorus will probably be secured in this country.

British Boxers Won.

LONDON, July 1.—A large company assembled at the National Sporting club last night to witness the boxing contests held in connection with the coronation sporting tournament between Harvard and Yale students and English amateurs. All the professional fighters who took part in the contests held last week were present, and in some cases they acted as attendants for the American students. All the amateur bouts resulted in victories for the Englishmen, but the Americans gave remarkable displays of gameness.

Accused of Killing Stepchild.

BURLINGTON, Kan., July 1.—Mrs. Edward Edwards has been arrested, charged with the murder of Viola Gladys Edwards, her four-year-old stepdaughter. The coroner's jury found that the child came to its death by being stamped and trampled on by Mrs. Edwards. The woman, who is in jail here, says a strange man killed the child.

READY TO RESUME.

Colliery Owners Give Notice to Striking Employees.

HAZLETON, Pa., July 1.—Copies of the following notice, signed by C. Pardee & Co., have been distributed among the striking miners at the Harwood colliery:

"With a view of ending what we deem a hopeless and uncalled for strike an opportunity of resuming work at our Harwood colliery is hereby offered to our employees. Let every inside man who wants to begin work quietly notify the general inside foreman and let every outside man notify the outside foreman. When a majority of our adult inside and outside men signify their desire to begin work, this colliery will be started. Foremen will not make known the names of those applying for work."

A dispatch from Pittston says that all the striking engineers and pumpmen in that city, about thirty-five in number, reported for duty during the day. The majority of them were given employment, but a number were stood aside until the imported men now at work could be provided for in other directions.

D. and H. Engineers at Work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 1.—Notwithstanding the strike leaders report that all strikers are standing firm the superintendent of the Delaware and Hudson collieries in the Wyoming region announces that all the engineers of that company are now at work. While the strike leaders will not admit the truth of this statement, they acknowledge that the Delaware and Hudson company has many engineers at work.

The local coal operators ridicule the statement credited to T. D. Nichols, president of district No. 1, United Mine Workers, to the effect that the United Mine Workers will make an appeal to the governor for troops to protect the strikers and the people in general from the brutality of the coal and iron police.

Miners Arrested.

TAMAQUA, Pa., July 1.—Sixteen striking miners have been placed under arrest for alleged disorderly conduct in the Panther creek valley section of the anthracite region. It is alleged that these men stopped trolley cars carrying nonunion men and by threats of violence forced the men to return to their homes. A number of cases of actual violence are charged against the strikers.

Silk Workers' Strike Ended.

PATERSON, N. J., July 1.—All the dyehouses opened yesterday, and at the smaller shops, the owners of which signed the men's schedule last week, there was about the usual force of men. At the big dyehouses of Auger & Simon it was said that more men had applied for work than places could be found for, but that more hands would be employed as soon as business warranted an increase of the force.

PHILIPPINE BILL AGREED TO.

Committee Report Accepted by Strict Party Vote.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—With final adjournment in sight the house worked under high pressure from noon yesterday until far into the night. As a preliminary several resolutions were adopted to grease the legislative wheels. The rule providing for the printing of conference reports before consideration was suspended until the end of the session, and a resolution was adopted making a motion to suspend the rules in order at any time. The house then got down to business.

The conference report on the Philippine civil government bill, which is considered the last obstacle in the way of adjournment, was adopted by a strict party vote, with the single exception of Mr. McCall (Mass.), who voted with the Democrats. A partial report on the general deficiency appropriation bill was adopted, and after a prolonged fight the house by a vote of 118 to 101 accepted the senate amendment to appropriate $300,000 for the Buffalo exposition and then sent the bill back to conference. The senate amendments to appropriate $100,000 for the Charleston exposition and $1,000,000 to pay the Hawaiian fire-bubonic plague awards were defeated, the former by a vote of 71 to 118.

Subsequently at the night session the house reversed itself and assented to the senate amendment making an appropriation for the Charleston exposition.

In the senate Mr. Elkins (W. Va.) delivered an earnest speech in favor of the annexation of Cuba, maintaining that it would be in the best interests of both countries. Mr. Elkins' remarks drew a sharp fire from Mr. Platt (Conn.) and Mr. Hanna (O.), who deprecated any annexation proposition at this time and urged that the United States ought to be sensible of its obligations to the civilized world, if not to Cuba. The resolution was referred to the Cuban relations committee.

Among the many bills passed was one giving Rear Admiral Schley the pay and allowance of a rear admiral on the active list of the navy.

BANKS MUST PAY.

Judge's Decision Compels Payment of War Revenue Tax.

NEW YORK, July 1.—A decision which compels all the banks, trust companies and other financial institutions in the country to pay millions of dollars in war revenue tax into Uncle Sam's strong box has been rendered by Judge Lacombe of the United States court in Brooklyn.

The war tax has been fought by the banks ever since it was authorized by congress.

Under the law as it is interpreted by Judge Lacombe the banks and other financial enterprises are now liable to a lien of $2 per $1,000 on all undivided profits. This of the banks of New York alone amounts to about $155,000,000.

Cat's Bite Caused Death.

BALTIMORE, July 1.—Joseph Ray Irons, aged eleven years, of Morgantown, W. Va., died yesterday on the Duquesne limited, Baltimore and Ohio railroad, near Cumberland. Death was due to hydrophobia from a cat bite on the upper lip last April. A dog had previously bitten the cat. The boy first developed symptoms of hydrophobia on Saturday at midnight, and a physician advised that he be sent to Baltimore for Pasteur treatment at once. The mother started with him for Baltimore, and the boy made no display of violence except once, when he pressed his mother's arm between his teeth, but otherwise gave no indication of hydrophobia.

Boston's Small Grain Shipments.

BOSTON, July 1.—With the ending of the first six months of the present year Boston's grain shipments to foreign ports have fallen off 13,500,000 bushels from the figures for 1901. The number of steamships which have sailed from the port of Boston since Jan. 1 of this year is only 177 in comparison with 200 for the corresponding period of 1901. Besides grain, the falling off in cotton shipments is greatly noticeable.

Resignation Rumors Denied.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—The report that Attorney General John C. Davies had tendered his resignation to Governor Odell in order that he might accept the United States district judgeship made vacant by the promotion of Judge A. C. Coxe to the United States circuit court of appeals is denied by both the attorney general and the governor.

Lake Erie Storm Swept.

PUT-IN-BAY, O., July 1.—A frightful storm has raged on Lake Erie. It was one of the worst storms in years. Deishler's bathing beach and Palm Beach lost heavily, the docks, toboggans and rubber slides being swept away. The Cleveland and Toledo steamers were unable to make their regular trips. Many small boats were lost in the storm.

The Seminole Allotments.

ARDMORE, I. T., July 1.—The allotment of lands in the Seminole Nation has been completed by the Dawes commission, and certificates will be given each Indian by Governor Brown. About 2,757 allotments were made, each with a value of $308. The Seminoles are the first tribe to get the allotments.

Cronje Accepts Edward as King.

JAMESTOWN, St. Helena, July 1.—General Cronje, the Boer commander, who, with his army, was captured by Lord Roberts at Paardeburg, Orange Free State, in February, 1900, has taken the oath of allegiance to King Edward. Many of the remaining prisoners are following his example.

BONFIRES LIGHTED.

Three Thousand Blaze on the Heights of England.

KING EDWARD CONTINUES TO GAIN.

Part of Coronation Celebration Carried Out In Rejoicing Over His Majesty's Recovery—A Dinner to the Poor July 5.

LONDON, July 1.—The general feeling of relief as a result of the favorable reports of the condition of the king vented itself last night by the touching off of the 3,000 bonfires throughout the United Kingdom which were originally prepared to celebrate coronation night.

The signal to light the fires was given at five minutes past 9 o'clock. A rocket was sent up from the top of the gigantic wheel in Earl's court and burst in a cloud of stars a thousand feet overhead. In response to this signal bonfires rose from every elevation of any consequence from the Lizard to the Orkneys. The celebrations were unfortunately somewhat hampered by a downfall of rain.

London was not officially illuminated. It had been hoped that the Mansion House, the Bank of England and Marlborough House would join in the celebration, all their illuminating stands being intact, but none of the official decorations was lit up. The display in London in this line was confined to the theaters, the hotels and the business houses on the Strand, Fleet street and other thoroughfares.

There was quite a celebration at Spithead during the day, when the nearest approach to a review of the great fleet there was seen in the trip of several transports loaded with volunteers and colonial troops and a number of distinguished persons who inspected the empire's "first line of defense."

The arrangements for King Edward's dinner to the poor of London, to be held July 5, are being rapidly completed. The Prince and Princess of Wales have arranged to visit a number of the localities where the poor are to be entertained, and if the king's condition continues to improve Queen Alexandra will probably make the rounds with them.

The only royal guest who left London yesterday was the Chinese representative appointed to attend the coronation of the king, Prince Chen, who left for Ostend.

The following is issued by Reuter's Telegram company as an official statement from Buckingham palace:

"The king was lifted out of bed yesterday and placed on a special couch for a few hours. He was much benefited by the change. The temperature in his majesty's room is kept down by electric fans, which have proved of great value.

"Queen Alexandra is in constant attendance on the king. The utmost quiet is enforced. The king sees no correspondence and is approached on no matters of state or business. He sees his children occasionally, but the interviews are of short duration. His majesty's courage and patience call for the greatest admiration.

"The king's wound, which is of considerable depth, is dressed twice daily. The wound is, in technical terms, dressed from the bottom, as it is essential that it should heal from the bottom. The dressing causes his majesty considerable pain, which he has borne with great fortitude.

"Drs. Laking, Barlow and Treves have not let the palace since the operation was performed, except for an occasional hour."

Only two bulletins will henceforth be issued daily, one at 10 a. m. and the other at 7 p. m.

The occasional discomfort that the king suffers from his wound is ascribed to the contraction of the walls of the abscess in healing, hence there is a diminution of the cavity. As this occurs the tubes employed for drainage become pressed upon and are sometimes pushed out, causing a slight irritation.

Dublin Illuminated.

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 1.—All the principal streets of Dublin were splendidly illuminated last night in honor of the king's satisfactory progress, and they were so crowded with people that vehicular traffic had to be stopped. Some disturbances were created by a mob of Nationalists, who had to be charged and dispersed by the police several times.

Large Receipts at Port of New York

NEW YORK, July 1.—Customs collections at this port for the fiscal year expiring June 30 were greater than those of the year before by $12,151,279.23. They were greater than those of the greatest previous year, 1889-90, by $11,628,546.89. The actual collections for the year as given out at Collector Stranahan's office were $165,500,126.06. The number of entries was 334,434. The cost of collection was .0181 per cent.

A Message From Lost Steamer.

DETROIT, Mich., July 1.—A Journal special from Alpena says Tom Garrity, keeper of the Presque isle light, has picked up a sealed bottle containing a note, as follows: "Steamer Hudson off Keweenaw point, rolling like a ball and all hands ready to give up the ghost. An Oiler." The paper had turned yellow, and the writing is in pencil. The Hudson was lost last fall in Lake Superior, with all hands. The note in the bottle is regarded as genuine.

Denver Gets Two Millions.

DENVER, July 1. — By unanimous opinion of the state supreme court the city of Denver is declared to be entitled to the $2,000,000 willed it by George W. Clayton for the founding of the Clayton College For Boys.

NOT A FAILURE.

If the people who denounced the local sewage system as a failure will take the trouble to interview the members of the State Board of Health, they will find that as a matter of fact, the Plainfield system is doing the work for which it was intended and in a successful manner. Representatives of many municipalities have come here to see the workings of the system and they have all gone away impressed with the idea that the changes made in the local system have accomplished their object and that the Plainfield beds are working as they should.

It has been advanced as an argument against the consolidation of city and borough that the borough would be compelled to pay for its share of a sewage system that was a failure. It is easy enough to call it a failure, but a careful investigation of facts proves the opposite to be the case. And then the commission, appointed by the Borough Council, carefully looked into the subject of sewage disposal and reported back a system almost identical with the one now operating in this city.

It is all right to talk of a sewer to tide water but it is an impossibility for a small municipality like North Plainfield to build one except at a cost that would bankrupt the borough. That end would be much nearer if the union with the city was made. As long, however, as the present system works satisfactorily there is no call for a sewer to tide water. It would be a very expensive thing to build and then maintain and would be no more satisfactory than the present arrangement.

Upon three local churches there has devolved the task of seeking a new pastor. In each case, the retiring clergyman has served his parishioners long and faithfully and his departure is regarded with much regret. There are the places to be filled, however, and new men must be found to take the places. In the remarkable spirit of church unity, which has existed among the local clergymen, these three men have all taken a prominent part. They have viewed with much satisfaction, the friendly and cordial relations which have existed regardless of denomination and have always done all in their power to advance this ideal state of affairs. When their successors are selected, it is sincerely to be hoped that men will be secured who will carry forward the work so well done in the past and place no stumbling block in the path of this church unity, the like of which is to be found in few cities, sorrowful to say.

A young Irishman by the name of McGratch has achieved wide notoriety as the leader of the strikers at Paterson. If the report concerning him in the Paterson Press is truthful, he is not a professional labor agitator but a leader risen from the ranks. He was raised into the chief position among the strikers by the conservative element which feared that the more radical ones would precipitate trouble at once if given control. McGrath has constantly opposed all forms of violence but his counsels have apparently been in vain with the worst element of the strikers. His anxiety over the strike and the recent disturbances is said to be responsible for his loss of forty-five pounds in weight. Evidently McGrath has discovered that a free county does not always mean freedom from troubles.

It does not seem possible that any thoughtful person could raise any valid objection to the erection of a bridge to connect the two Amboys. The state of affairs between those two cities of Middlesex county has been even worse than that existing here, although in the opposite extreme. There are two places, almost within a stone's throw of each other which have to go twenty miles by road to reach one from the other. While a railroad bridge and trains made it possible to make closer connections by rail, there is great need of a bridge that will enable all sorts and conditions to make the trip from Perth Amboy to South Amboy without going twenty miles.

According to a newspaper report sent out from Elizabeth, the tax-rate at the county seat will not be over $2.98, which is the same as last year. When that is compared with the local figures it makes the tax-payer think. And what has Elizabeth in the way of municipal advantages that cannot be equalled or excelled by Plainfield? When the citizens of North Plainfield stop to investigate, they will find that there are few cities in the land that offer as many advantages for so little cost as does this city of Plainfield. They are lucky to have such a neighbor with whom they can consolidate.

Each season has its special demand for certain kinds of articles which it is profitable to advertise extensively, remarks the Philadelphia Record. A list of hundreds of articles for which the summer sale is great could be made. However, there is not any season when it is not profitable to keep the name of a concern fresh in the public mind, as there is no time when people fail to look over the advertising columns of the newspapers.

The appointment of Col. Gillmore, of the Second Regiment, to the brigadier-generalship by Governor Murphy was most proper. The honor was due the commandant of the Second Regiment on account of seniority of service while the State authorities would have to go far to find a man of his ability as a tactician and commander. While the Second Regiment will be sorry to lose such a good man, the honor is a deserved one.

The addition of a fast express from New York every afternoon at 5 o'clock will be greatly appreciated by the local commuters. It will be particularly convenient for those who are not able to catch the 4:40 train. Hardly a week passes by that the people do not discover that the Jersey Central management is doing its best to give its patrons better service.

The showing that Frank O. Reinhart, the young Plainfield golfer, has made in the recent invitation tournament at the Morris County Golf Club, puts him in the front rank of the golfers of the east. If he continues to improve at the present rate, it is not an unlikely thing that Plainfield will be able to claim a national golf champion in a few years.

It is evident that the summer season has brought an unusually large number of tramps into this section. Reports of their depredations are received from every side. If any of these offenders are caught, an example should be made of them.

Preparing New Quarters.

Work has been commenced at the North Avenue station preparatory to removing the baggage and telegraph offices to the north end of the station and making the place ready for the United States Express Company's occupancy. The work of building an addition on the opposite side of the tracks for the new baggage office for eastbound traffic will be started very soon.

NEW BRIDGES.

One Completed for Reading Tracks, Now Working on the Central's.

The bridge over Middle brook to accommodate the two tracks of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, has been completed and trains are now running over it. During the past few days the workmen have been engaged in removing that portion of the old bridge used by the New Jersey Central trains, and when this is out of the way will install there a platform structure similar to the one just finished for the Reading tracks. The new bridge is some three feet higher than the old one, and this elevation necessitated the raising of the tracks to meet it. As yet nothing has been heard of the underground crossing at Middlebrook.

DUNELLEN.

The funeral services of William H. Terry were held yesterday afternoon from his late residence. The funeral was a very quiet one, only the relatives and close friends of the deceased being present. The pall-bearers were Alvah Gray, Isaac Stites, W. H. Cole and Albert N. Randolph. Rev. N. J. Sproul had charge of the services at the house and grave. Interment was private and was made in Hillside cemetery, Plainfield. There were a number of beautiful floral pieces from Mr. Terry's children and relatives.

and the municipality purchased from Warren Engine Company the steamer and from the Plainfield Fire Board the property occupied by the company. Not until 1889 was the present organization effected and the name changed to Warren Engine Company No. 1.

Its first chief was H. J. Martin, who held the position until 1891 when George H. Fairchild was elected to the post. He served until 1897 and was followed by D. Bodine until 1898. Fairchild was again made chief in 1900, W. G. Debele in 1901, and J. J. Stahl is the present incumbent of the office.

The limit of membership in the company is regulated by the Mayor and Council and is fixed at forty members. During the past thirteen years there has not been at any time less than thirty-five members, and during the greater part of the period the roll has been full, a fact which shows that the boys take an unbounded interest in their duties.

Wm. Bullman, of Brooklyn, has been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Daniel Allen, of Westfield avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Station Agent Thomas Linaberry went fishing last night and, not being afraid of rain, he succeeded in bringing home a fine catch of catfish, which he generously distributed among his friends today.

Outside attractions promise to draw large crowds here, on Friday. Among these, perhaps the most conspicuous will be the county fair and celebration of the Hope Y. M. A. in Plainfield.

James Cubberley and Harvey Clawson spent this afternoon on the lake fishing, with good success.

Raymond Randolph, of Metuchen, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

A party from here expect to spend part of the Fourth at Boynton Beach.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Miss Edith Hanaford, of Plainfield, has been the guest of Bound Brook friends.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Nelson, of Somerset place, are summering at Martinsville.

Miss Lida A. Pangborn. of Chatham street, is spending two weeks at Kingston, N. Y.

Mrs. Robert Dryden, of New York, is visiting Plainfield relatives and friends for a time.

Miss Flory, of Bangor, Pa., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joseph S. Martin, of Duer street.

The Misses Althea and Violette Tunison, of Bound Brook, have been visiting Plainfield friends.

William D. DeLong, of "The Homestead," Washington avenue, has taken up his residence in New York.

Mrs. George Homan, of Hillside avenue, is steadily improving from a recent operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Barrett, of New York, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. MacClymont, of 150 Grove street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Nutall, of Tappan, N. Y., are visiting Collector and Mrs. F. H. Smith, of Madison avenue.

Miss Agnes Genung, of Wellsville, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. L. W. Niles, of Orchard place, and other relatives in Plainfield.

George T. Rogers and son, Frank Rogers, of Myrtle avenue, who have been staying for some time at Lac La Pecke, Canada, have left that place and will return home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. McCutchen, of Washington Park, have returned from a yachting trip to New London, where they witnessed the boat races between Yale and Harvard.

John Smith, fireman at the plant of the Plainfield Electric Light station, has been granted a week's vacation by his employers, and accompanied by his wife will visit relatives in Brooklyn.

Superintendent of Schools H. M. Maxson and Mrs. Maxson, accompanied by Mrs. David E. Titsworth and sons, Charles and Roy Titsworth, and Mrs. Charles Potter, leave tomorrow for Grove, Hamilton county, New York, where they will remain for the summer.

Patriotic Service.

A patriotic service will be held at the First Baptist church this evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. A number of the other societies in Plainfield have been invited to attend. Rev. Joseph Sullivan, of Paterson, will deliver an appropriate address and there will be a programme of instrumental and vocal music.

Preparatory Services.

Preparatory services will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening on account of Friday being a holiday. The Lord's Supper will be celebrated Sunday morning. Preparatory services will be held at Warren chapel. Thursday evening and the Communion service Sunday morning.

Beef Going Up.

Beef advanced another half-cent a pound yesterday The cause is the continued scarcity of good cattle, it is said. An employe of Swift's, who has been with the company for more than twelve years, says that beef is higher today than it has been at any time within his remembrance.

Sunday's Speaker.

Rev. Edward H. Judson, of the Judson Memorial church, will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church, Sunday morning and evening. In the evening there will be a special musical service by the choir.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Meissner's Hand Laundry, Watchung avenue, is the place to take your curtains and fancy goods.

The fanciest summer drinks in the city with the most delicious flavors are at E. S. F. Randolph's, the North avenue druggist.

Fireworks, flags and everything for a big time on the Fourth can be found in endless variety at Benj. F. Snyders, Jr., 43 Somerset street.

Frucht has the largest supply of fireworks in the city which he is selling at New York prices. Everything for the Fourth. Call and inspect his line, 218 Park avenue.

There can be no question about the quality of your groceries if you buy them from Fred. H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer. Without debating the matter you got the best thing going.

"What to eat" is always a perplexing problem. You know what you like and if it is anything in the meat line, J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue market man, can give you some pointers. 'Phone connection.

Don't pass by Nagle's West Front street pharmacy if you are in need of medicines. His are absolutely pure and all prescriptions are compounded only by skilled clerks. All the standard preparations are always on hand.

Whether it be a wedding reception or any social gathering, to make the affair a success you should have appropriate decorations. If you leave your order with Mrs. L. J. Denton at her conservatory on West Front stret, she will do the rest.

Just how far the moon is from the earth, Foss & Jeter, of Park avenue, may not be able to tell you exactly but they can tell you some things about seafood. They sell it, have had years of experince and know what they are talking about. Consult with them in regard to tomorrow's dinner.

Did you ever notice that the people who trade with S. Scheuer & Co., New Jersey's well-known grocers, are numbered the best people in the city? A glance through their store or their advertisement will plainly show you how you can save money. Best quality at low prices is the rule of this store.

Initial Trip of New Express.

The new fast express on the New Jersey Central which leaves New York at 5:10 in the afternoon for Plainfield, made its initial trip yesterday and reached this city two minutes ahead of schedule time, 5:57 o'clock. General Manager W. G. Besler was on the train and expressed satisfaction over the run. The train was well filled with Plainfielders, who evidently appreciated the new arrangement.

Received Degree.

Rev. George Buckle, of the Greystone Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, has just received the degree of doctor of divinity from Alfred University.

Closing Exercises.

The Loyal Temperance Legion will hold its closing exercises this afternoon, when the meetings for the summer will be declared off.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

FANCIES OF FASHION

Best Summer Styles Are Charmingly Neat and Dressy.

Lace Gowns Vie in Popularity with Dainty Muslin Frocks — The Blouse Continues to Hold Its Own.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

IT IS in the first month of summer—the month of roses—that fashion is considered to be at its brightest and best. The most chic modes have all been loudly proclaimed, and all the striking and really undesirable features which obtruded themselves earlier in the season have been wisely and carefully eliminated. The summer wardrobe may therefore be ordered, without fear of any radical changes taking place in the world of fashion, for some time at least.

For the fortunate girl who has plenty of money to spend the planning of a vacation outfit will prove an altogether pleasant task, but I predict a melancholy period for the one burdened with a conscience and whose dress allowance is small. She will be led by the great beauty of fashions into all manner of extravagances, unless she keeps her wits about her.

In spite of the craze for new fabrics we have returned to glace or taffeta silk. After all, there is something particularly fascinating about a black or dark-colored taffeta gown, especially when accompanied by one of the large collars of handsome old lace. The big lace collar is another fashion, by the way, which absolutely refuses to be downed.

Now to describe to you some of the charming glace gowns which are being turned out just now by a swell modiste on one of the fashionable South side avenues: A few are trimmed with bewitching applique work done in mirror velvet, which gives the necessary dressy touch to what would otherwise be a simple taffeta frock.

Others are decorated with little silk cords; that is to say, the plain skirt laces down the front and sides with silk cords, finished with fancy pompons of silk; the bodice, of course, being treated in a similar manner. Tags, tassels and fandangles of all kinds and descriptions are features of some of these taffeta gowns, but trimming of this sort is never seen at its best unless put on by the skilled fingers of the master hand. There is a growing tendency, particularly noticeable in the new taffeta skirts, to trim the hips, yet at the same time to keep plain lines; and right here the individual taste of the wearer can be seen to the best advantage.

Among the new summer dress materials is one known in the world of fashion as "printed eolienne," which closely resembles foulard, but is much handsomer in appearance. Gowns fashioned of this delightful fabric in black and white, dark blue or the popular golden brown shades trimmed with ecru guipure lace and softened with chiffon of a corresponding tone, make ideal summer gowns, suitable for almost every occasion, and though smart, will not be too smart. Always bear in mind that if you are over smart you are not smart at all. This sounds somewhat like a hopeless conundrum, but the woman who thoroughly understands fashion will be able to guess at once exactly what my meaning is.

Simplicity of effect is the predominating note in the prettiest summer gowns seen thus far, although the amount of elaboration and detail which goes to make up the ideal simple muslin frock surpasses all imagination.

To my mind muslin dresses, whether white or colored, should be as delightfully sheer and soft looking as possible, and trimmed daintily with much fine lace and ribbon. Innumerable frills are an absolute necessity on the average muslin frock, to prevent any limpness showing about the knees or feet, but they must be light, and edged with lace, to give the required airy-fairy appearance. The bodice of a muslin frock is prettiest when made with a slightly pouched front and finished with a fichu or large collar of lace, or a deep yoke of net trimmed with insertions of lace, and the inevitable bow of knotted velvet ribbon.

Fashions may come and fashions may go, but seemingly the blouse goes on forever, in spite of the fact that its speedy downfall has been predicted many times by those wise ones who were supposed to know all about such important matters.

The new summer models in this much beloved garment are simply irresistible, whether made of lace, crepe de chine, oriental satin or the more useful pongee silk. Crepe de chine of the new washable variety and oriental, which can also safely be intrusted to the laundress, are the favorite materials for the smarter blouses and are really better wear than the cheaper muslin ones, which are not infrequently trimmed with lace of a rather cheap variety that will neither wash nor wear well. The blouse made of ring-spot silk net is always beautiful, but never cheap, for it takes an almost endless amount of the material which can in turn be manipulated only by the clever fingers of the artistic, high-priced modiste, and to look its very best it should be worn over an exquisitely fitted underbodice fashioned of handsome duchess satin; and this same, let me tell you, cannot be bought for the proverbial song by any manner of means.

The finishing of the neck of the summer blouse presents many difficulties rather hard to overcome. There are few women endowed by nature with shapely white throats, who do well to leave them bare, but when one has left the twenties far in the rear this is apt to prove a dangerous fashion. It may perchance be for this reason that many of the newest and prettiest blouses are finished with a little round collar made of plaited net and lace, in place of the stiff, high collar which somehow seems to have fallen on evil days.

On the new pique shirts the chief feature is the collar, but of very different style from those I have been describing. They are large and of the very coarsest lace. Now do not imagine that this means a common lace; quite the contrary, I assure you. By coarse lace I mean one of the thick makes in such general vogue at the present moment, and resembling as nearly as possible the rather expensive Irish crochet lace. The real smartness, however, of all the latest shirts and blouses depends upon the manner in which they are worn, and the importance of the waistband in this connection cannot be overestimated. Nowadays there are so many really beautiful belts, from silver to elastic, which can be procured at a small outlay. However, one should not allow a fancy for glitter and novelty to run away with their idea of the general fitness of things. Charming as the fancy filigree belt may be in itself, it is not appropriate to wear with a pique shirt, and even if it were it does not become every style of figure; the stout sister, if she be wise in her day and generation, will flee from it as she would from the plague. The tendency of fashion is to shorten the waist in the back, and to lengthen it somewhat out of proportion in front. Those who really love dress invariably adopt the latest kinks almost without knowing it, yet it is not at all necessary to exaggerate fashion, for the styles of the hour are very beautiful and the best of them are certainly not eccentric.

No matter what the vagaries of fashion may be, she ever remains faithful to the charms of the little black hat, and just now the most sought after models are in this somber tone. Later on, however, it will be replaced by the all-white hat—in fact, within the week I have seen a few models of this description that were simply ravishing.

"A HELPING HAND"
Is Gladly Extended by a Plainfield Citizen.
There are many enthusiastic citizens in Plainfield prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:
Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years; I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp, darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended, and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulties. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

SHIRT WAISTS AND BLOUSES

They Are Studies In Themselves and Must Be Fitted With Care.

How the separate waist has altered during the past few years! Nowadays the cult of the shirt waist and the blouse presents a study in itself, and the dressmaker who can make a perfect blouse can fit the most intricate bodice. The ideal blouse this summer must be cut by a master hand. The shirt waist does not require so much work. It can be charming of wash silk, flannel mixtures, lawn and batiste, piques and zephyrs and in the fantastic muslins which are beloved by French manufacturers. The shirt waist can be simple, and the deficiencies may be hidden by a large fichu or muslin collar, which can be bought ready made for almost nothing in extremely pretty designs.

The blouse and the shirt waist are very distinctive details of fashion, and therefore it is worth every woman's while to carefully consider the same and not take upon herself lightly the task of making a blouse. First she must get a strictly good pattern and invest a fair sum in the purchasing of one pretty model.

The smart collar illustrated is of cream chiffon edged with narrow black velvet and trimmed with black lace applique figures.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE ECONOMICAL GIRL.

With a System of Separate Slips She Can Have Many Gowns.

An economical way for a woman to dress is to choose one or two colors and adhere to them. For instance, she may choose black and white, with faint touches of the pastel tints.

First, she will provide herself with a separate black silk and a separate white silk slip, cut, boned and fitted correctly with a well hanging train. Over the white slip she can wear a cream spotted net gown with a pouched blouse and a wide collar. Then she can have a couple of muslins, one green and white, the other pink and white, made with shaped ruffles and smart girdles. Thirdly, she can have a black net covered with incrustations of white lace.

Over the black slip she can wear a black point d'esprit dress, a pale blue and black lace gown and a pompadour muslin black with pink and pale green roses. Separate slips are a great saving and enable a woman to have a great many more gowns than she would otherwise be able to afford.

The chic little house jacket shown is made of pale blue satin ribbons and ecru lace. The lines of the ribbon and insertion are made to take the form of a bolero, low under the arms and high in the back and front.

...nave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

CHAPTER VII.

In yielding to the impulse of the moment which prompted him to borrow the identity of John Gavitt, Griswold was not without some forecastings of the event. He knew that the river steamers were manned by pick-up crews assembled at the last moment, and reasoned that the officers of the "Belle Julie" would not yet have had time to individualize the members of the crew.

But, apart from this, he was not unwilling to add another chapter to his experience among the toilers; and as to this, he immediately found himself in a fair way to acquire the coveted meed of it. From the hour of his enlistment, it was heaped upon him unstintingly. Without having specialized himself in any way to the bullying chief mate, he fancied he was made to bear the brunt of the man's wrath. Curses, tongue-lashings without mercy; contumely and abuse, with now and then at the night landings, when no passengers were looking on, blows.

All these buffetings, or at least his share of them, Griswold endured as became a man who had voluntarily put himself in the way of such things. And, fortunately, he was not hopelessly unequal to the physical trial. Physically, as intellectually, the material in him was of the fine-grained sort in which quality counts for more than quantity. None the less, the first night with its uncounted plantation landings, tried him sorely, and he was thankful when the second day brought fewer stopping-places and more time for rest.

It was in one of the restful intervals that he had been sent aft to readjust the tackle of the suspended yawl. He had come upon Miss Farnham and her aunt unexpectedly, and so was off his guard; and he made sure the young woman had recognized him. Then, what would she do? He recalled his written summary of her character, and decided that she was sexless and just before she womanly and merciful. He hoped she would. [illegible] much too precious to be risked by mere considerations of personal safety.

But [illegible] upon the probabilities, actively alive to the necessity for action. If Miss Farnham discovered him, she would [illegible] no time in giving the alarm; it might even now be in progress with the captain, he thought.

At this he received a first shock of genuine terror, for at that moment he had suffered none of the pains of the hunted fugitive; but now he knew that he had fairly entered the gates of the outlaw's inferno; that he should never again know what it was to be wholly free from the terror of the arrow that flieth by day.

The force of the Scriptural simile came to him with startling emphasis, bringing on a return of the prickling paralysis of fear; but he shook it off and ran aft to rummage under the cargo for his precious bundle. For the whistle was sounding for a landing, and it was high time that he was afoot and fleeing. But when his hand reached the place where the bundle should have been, the blood surged to his brain and set up a clamorous dinning in his ears. The niche under the coffee sacks was empty.

CHAPTER VIII.

While Griswold was grappling afresh with the problems of escape, Charlotte was sitting behind the locked door of her stateroom, trying to write her letter.

She knew it would be hard, but it proved much harder than she had feared it would be. Try as she might, she could not eliminate the factor of personality. Truly, this man was no more to her than any stranger in the passing show, an impersonal unit of a class with which society is at war; and yet, at the end of every effort, the point of view shifted, and in the whole world there were but two persons; a man who had sinned, and a woman who was about to make him pay the penalty.

Nevertheless, conscience was not to be denied; and after many futile beginnings, the fateful letter got itself written, and she went out to mail it at the office. As it happened, the "Belle Julie" was slowing for a landing, and the office was closed. And since she would by no means entrust the letter to the outside mail box, she waited till the clerk should return.

The doors giving upon the saloon deck forward were open, and she stepped out. The crew was grouped about the uptilted landing-stage, and he was there—this man for whose future she was about to become answerable.

One glimpse of his face, haggard and woe-begone beyond any imaginings of hers, slew her resolve on the eve of its accomplishment, and she turned and ran back to the stateroom, saying over and over to herself as she fled: "Oh, I can't! I can't!—and yet I must!"

It was noon before she opened her door again at the luncheon call, and went aft to bring her aunt to the table. What she had endured in the interval, none might know; not even the sympathetic invalid, who more than once looked askance at the troubled eyes with their downcast lids.

At their end of the table, the talk rippled about the bank robbery; and when Capt. Mayfield mentioned the fact of the $10,000 reward which had been offered, Charlotte was moved to say:

"That seems dreadfully barbarous—to set a price on the head of a human being."

A gentleman across the table took it up.

"But, Miss Farnham, would you have us turn thief-catchers for the mere honor of it?"

"For the love of justice, or not at all," she rejoined.

The gentleman demurred and went into details to prove his position; and the details only served to affront Charlotte's sense of the fitness of things.

"Do you mean to say that you would accept the reward, Mr. Latrobe?" she asked.

"Certainly I should; anyone would."

She knew the frank admission stood for public opinion, and went dumb. She might call the reward blood-money and refuse to touch it, but only those of her own circle would know and believe the truth. And the wretched man himself would always believe that she had sold him for a price.

That evening, after dinner, she sought the captain to ask a question.

"Do you know the law in Louisiana, Capt. Mayfield? This man who robbed the bank; what would his penalty be?"

"I don't know, precisely. Twenty years in the chain-gang, I should say."

The "Belle Julie" was pausing at a small hamlet on the west bank of the river, and the captain pointed to a squad of prisoners in chains, repairing a breach in the levee.

"That's where he'll land when they catch him," he added. "He'll have to be pretty tough to outlive his sentence."

Petrified Forest in Tripoli.

The great desert in the forbidden hinterland of Tripoli, northern Africa, which has not been visited by Europeans for fifty years, has now been explored by Mr. Edward Dodson, a young Englishman, who went out last March. The members of the expedition experienced much difficulty with the authorities. At one place they were put under arrest and on two occasions threatened by the Arabs, who prepared to ambush them. One of the most notable things on the journey to Murzuk was the great petrified forest. For ten days they traveled across an area of petrified trees varying in circumference from seven feet to a few inches. Every branch of this forest was of course, lying prone, and this, together with the presence of marine shells, showed that this part of the great Sahara had at one time been submerged.

One night they were surrounded by thunder storms. No less than five distinct storms were in progress all around, and the guns and spears of the party became surrounded with a halo of phosphorescent light, which greatly alarmed the superstitious attendants, who regarded this as a fourth judgement upon them for traveling with "unbelievers."—London Mail.

A Grewsome Monument.

"In crossing the Colorado desert in Arizona one sees a frightful monument to the folly of a man who thought he could drive cattle across the desert with such speed that water would be unnecessary," said Mr. S. T. James, of San Francisco. "More than 20,000 carcasses lie at The Pools, in that desert. Thirty years ago an extensive cattleman, who was not familiar with the southwest, thought it would be no barrier to his plan of taking cattle across it from the west into the grazing country. When the cattle reached The Pools, which are small lakes of foul alkali water, they were so crazed by thirst that they killed each other in their attempt to get at the water. The air in that country is so dry and the sun so hot that carcasses dry up instead of decomposing. As one approaches that great herd of dead animals the carcasses look as though they were poorly fed cattle. The hair has not fallen from the carcasses and they have maintained their original shape. —Cleveland Leader.

Snuff-Taking in America.

It has been a widespread impression that snuff taking had been almost abandoned in this country, or that the number of men and women who still adhered to this old-time habit was absurdly small. Yet the chief snuff company of America, in its annual report, showed net earnings of more than $1,000,000. The great persons of the earth do not now exchange gifts of gold snuff boxes studded with diamonds, as they did when the first Napoleon was the autocrat of Europe, but the use of tobacco in every imaginable form of indulgence still knows no bounds. —N. Y. Tribune.

SAXON MONARCH DYING.

Passing Away of the Venerable King Albert Is Momentarily Expected by His Court.

Saxony momentarily awaits the news of the death of King Albert, its venerable monarch. His majesty has suffered from violent attacks of hemorrhage, to which he has been subjected of late years. The local papers are suppressing the facts concerning the aged king's condition.

Though Princess Mathilde, the king's niece, who has just returned from his bedside in the royal palace of Sibyllenort, it was stated that while the patient eats and sleeps well, his vitality weakens minute by minute. He is also wholly irresponsible for his actions.

KING ALBERT OF SAXONY.
(Venerable Monarch Who Is Now Lying at the Point of Death.)

The Saxon diet, which is scheduled to close, is unable to do so without the king's signature. His majesty, in his dazed and dreamy state, refused to sign the decree, declaring it unnecessary. Court gossip asserts that a certain medical empiric, Dr. Goessel, has promised to keep the king alive by means of a gelatinous preparation, the active principle of which is a vegetable alkaloid derived from an unknown weed. This drug, it is said, is being administered to the king without his knowledge in the tea he drinks.

Many women of fashion, in anticipation of the king's death, have already orderd mourning.

Albert, the reigning king of Saxony, was born in 1828. He is the eldest son of King Johann and of Queen Amalie, daughter of King Maximilian I. of Bavaria. He succeeded to the throne in 1873; married, in 1853, Karola, daughter of Prince Gustav of Wasa, and will probably be succeeded by his brother, Prince George of Saxony, whose eldest daughter, Princess Mathilde, has been devoted to the king during his illness.

The royal house of Saxony is one of the oldest reigning families in Europe. It dates back to 1089, and is closely related to the royal houses of Prussia and Great Britain. King Albert is the possessor of rich estates in his own right, and enjoys a civil list of $750,000 annually.

POPULAR IN WASHINGTON.

Capital Society Is Pleased with Mr. Herbert's Appointment as British Ambassador.

Hon. Michael Herbert, secretary of the British Embassy at Paris, has been appointed to succeed the late Lord Pauncefote as British ambassador at Washington. As Sir Edward Monson, ambassador to France, is now absent from his post, Mr. Herbert is charge d'affaires and performing the duties of his chief.

Mr. Herbert is the brother of the earl of Pembroke and has been long in the diplomatic service. In 1888-9 he was charge d'affaires at Washington, returning in 1892-3 as secretary of the legation. Since then he has been stationed at The Hague, at Constantinople, at Rome, and lastly at Paris.

Before the new ambassador at Washington takes up his duties the salary

MICHAEL HENRY HERBERT.
(New Ambassador from Great Britain to United States.)

attached to the position will probably be put upon a par with the highest paid in Great Britain's diplomatic service—namely, that which is paid the ambassador at Paris, £9,000 ($45,000) a year.

Hon. Mrs. Michael Henry Herbert, wife of the new ambassador, was formerly Miss Leila Wilson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, of New York. Her marriage to Mr. Herbert, then charge d'affaires at Washington, was one of the brilliant events of the season of 1888. Two sons have been born to them—Sidney Herbert and Michael George Herbert. The elder is at school in England, and the younger is now at school near Paris. Mrs. Herbert is a brilliant and accomplished woman, and an excellent linguist. She is a sister of Mrs. Ogden Goelet and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. Her only brother, Mr. Richard T. Wilson, Jr., married recently Miss Marion Mason, of Boston.

THREE CENTURIES AGO.

That Is When the First European Colony Was Planted at Gosnold's Landing, Mass.

A memorial shaft is being erected on Gosnold's island, in Cuttyhunk Pond, Mass., where Bartholomew Gosnold and his companions in 1602 planted the first European colony in America. The corner stone was laid on May 24, the three hundredth anniversary of Gosnold's landing.

Gosnold first stepped ashore on Cuttyhunk island, but it was on a small islet (now known as Gosnold's island) in a fresh water pond at the west end of the island, where he built a fort and storehouse, and traded with the Indians. This storehouse is supposed to have been the first habitation built on this coast by Europeans.

FIRST EUROPEAN COLONY.
(Spot Where It was Located to Be Marked by Memorial Shaft.)

Gosnold was accompanied by 32 men, eight of whom were mariners. Among the others a clergyman, Gabriel Archer, a journalist, and James Rosier, who wrote an account of the voyage and presented it to Sir Walter Raleigh. Gosnold discovered the islands known as the Elizabeth islands and named them in honor of the queen of England.

Plans for the memorial are in charge of a committee headed by ex-Congressman Randall, of Massachusetts. It is to be a plain shaft, 60 feet high, so high above the surrounding objects at the wedge-like point of land between Buzzard's bay and Vineyard sound as to be an inevitable landmark for every vessel passing through those waterways. The shaft will cost approximately $3,000.

The first section of the shaft will have a diameter of 18 feet, tapering to 12 feet. The interior chamber will be nine feet in diameter at the base. While the tower is actually hollow, it is practically solid and impervious from the outside.

At the height of 12½ feet from the base will be false windows on all four sides. The wall rises 16 feet 2 inches farther before the second windows are reached. The main arches of the base are to be ten feet high and five feet wide. These will be recessed about six or eight inches and backed by flat-faced rough stone. Inside one of them will be the corner stone, containing lead plates telling the story of Gosnold and the erection of the memorial shaft. The whole aim has been to raise a monument which shall be as nearly imperishable as possible.

After its completion and dedication the memorial will be turned over to the Massachusetts Historical society.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The officials of the City Baseball League, at a meeting held last evening, decided the postponed games of June 21 would not be played until August 30, the only available date. The next League games are to played July 12.

The following new players were entered: By Hope, R. B. Dalley, in place of Joseph Kennedy; by Y. M. C. A., George Schoonmaker, in place of William Schoonmaker; by St. Mary, Michael Crotty. The umpires for the next games will be appointed Monday evening.

The "I told you so's" are working overtime since the Safe Works defeated the St. Mary's Saturday. When the shop team fell to the rear through a little hard luck, the enthusiastic fans dropped away, but they are now falling over themselves to get back and tell what a good team it really is. The team, however, has shown a decided tendency to get away from the bottom and the chances are it will succeed.

Captain Martin has made some slight changes in his team for Friday's two games with the Decatur A. C., amateur champions, of New York city. Principal among them will be the initial appearance of "Rue" Dalley, behind the bat. He may appear shortly after in some of the League games. Dalley is a graduate of the Clinton Avenue team and has an original way of playing that "does things" especially to those foolish enough to try and steal second.

There will be but one ball game at Westfield July 4. The semi-professionals will go against the Garwood A. C. just to quiet a little argument. The Garwood team isn't at all slow and according to rumor they will have a speedy professoinal in the box and a few other points braced up. The game will be played at Recreation Park at 10 o'clock. Saturday the Madison A. C. comes to Westfield. Saturday the Pearsall A. C. defeated Madison 2 to 1 in an eleven-inning contest.

The City League baseball teams have made the following arrangements for games, Friday and Saturday: Hope, Decatur A. C., of New York, two games Friday; Clinton Avenue A. C., Saturday; St. Mary, New Providence at New Providence, morning, Summit A. C. at Summit, afternoon; Pearsalls, of Jersey City, home grounds, Saturday; Safe Works, Friday (to be arranged), Saturday, Dunellen, at Dunellen; Y. M. C. A., Friday, no games, Saturday, Murray Hills, at New Providence.

GOLF.

Nearly every pleasant day the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is well filled with enthusiastic players. Lately there have been many strangers on the course.

Last Wednesday in competition with Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Howard deP. Wright made a score of 77 on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. He is improving his game very much.

Frank O. Reinhart, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, who has been playing his best game of golf this year, and who defeated Walter Travis at Morristown last week, is looking for more honors. He has entered the big tournament to be played in Chicago, commencing July 14, and his friends predict success for him.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The athletic committee of the Hope Y. M. A. Fourth of celebration asks for entries to the following contests: 100 yards dash, fat man's race, three-legged race, tug of-war, wheelbarrow race and potato race. Names and the fee of 25 cents for each event should be made to Albert Grieb, 705 West Third street.

WHAT C. J. FISK SAYS.

The Report That He Will Succeed Mr. Cross is a Little Premature.

Charles J. Fisk, who was spoken of in the Newark News Sunday, as a probable successor to State Senator Joseph Cross, was seen last evening by a representative for The Daily Press. When asked concerning the report Mr. Fisk said that it was somewhat premature. From the general trend of his conversation, however, it might be gathered that should the nomination be offered to him, he would probably accept.

ONE OF SOMERSET'S FARMS

IT ABOUNDS IN ANCIENT LANDMARKS AND STRANGE FEATURES.

Located Near Martinsville—An Old Revolutionary Fort is Located in Its Borders.

The farm of Harvey L. Schmeyer, near Martinsville, abounds in ancient landmarks that make it an exceedingly interesting place to visit. In fact, so well known among people who study the archaic has the farm become that seldom a week passes that a visit is not made to it by strangers from the city.

Probably the most attractive feature of the farm is an old fort which was constructed and used by the patriots in the Revolutionary War. This was built on a hillside, to command the road then running from Bound Brook to Basking Ridge, over which the British were wont to convey supplies. The breastworks of the fort are as high as a man's head, and on the outside the ditch is still prominent. In the summer, when Mr. Schmeyer grows peas, beans, corn and cabbage in the old fort, it does not present a very warlike aspect.

A New York millionaire has made a liberal offer for the fort and an acre of ground around it. It is probable he may secure it. If he does, it will be preserved. There was another fort on the farm, but it was torn down by a former owner, who thought it marred his pasture fields.

Another curious feature of this remarkable farm is a cemetery that has been in use for over a century and a half. It was a private burying ground, and was overgrown with underbrush until a few weeks ago, when it was cleared up. Some of the inscriptions on the tombstones to be found are: "William Bishop, May 9, 1792;" "F. B., 1742;" "R. Bell, 1755;" "Mary Bolmer, May 15, 1771;" "C. D. Tunison, Jan. 19, 1824." It is said that a stone bearing a date of 1724 has been carried away by a gatherer of curios.

In the orchard, near this cemetery, is an apple tree, the trunk of which it takes three men to span. The trunk has stood there for over 200 years, but branches have grown out of it within the past decade. The fruit is of a sour, red variety, and the yield is always very abundant.

The farm presents several other curiosities of a lesser nature, which add to its attractiveness to lovers of the ancient. Those who visit it always feel well repaid for the journey.

TINY ADVOCATES OF TEMPERANCE AT RALLY

Closing Exercises of Loyal Temperance Legion Were Held Yesterday Afternoon.

THOSE WHO TOOK PART.

AN ADDRESS WAS MADE BY MRS. T. H. TOMLINSON.

Given Under Direction of Miss May E. Howlett, Superintendent of the Legion, and Her Assistants —Recitations by the Children.

Without doubt the closing exercises of the Loyal Temperance Legion held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church were the most successful in the history of the temperance organization. There was a large attendance of members, including members of the W. C. T. U. and friends. The parlors were attractively decorated with flowers, ferns and flags, presenting an patriotic appearance. Miss Mary E. Howlett, superintendent of the legion, who arranged the programme, and her assistants, Mrs. Ira West, Mrs. Dudley S. Miller and Mrs. R. K. Case, were in charge.

The programme opened with the singing of the State rally cry, "We'll All Rise Up," there were recitations as follows: "Trifles," Miss Mildred Dennis; "Give Thanks," Miss Cora Gray; "Only One," Walter Weber; "Missions," Miss Lizzie Frank; "For a Girl," Miss Ethel Vail; "Just a Little Baby," Miss Clara Weber; "The Harvest," Misss Anna Vail; "Pure Cold Water," Miss Helen Woolley; "Never Begin to Sin," Miss Leanna Satterlee. Interspersing these recitations there were several temperance songs.

A feature of the programme was an address by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county superintendent of the W. C. T. U., who told the young folks in an interesting way how to be temperate and how to have an influence for good. Her talk was called "Summer Gloves," and for each finger she had an appropriate name and from which she drew a helpful lesson. After this address Mrs. M. C. Dobbins read a pathetic temperance selection and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse gave a brief talk on the pledge. Mrs. R. K. Case also spoke of a contest among the members to secure new members for which a prize will be offered.

A pretty exercises consisted of a march by the members of the legion and the placing of white ribbon bows on each one by the superintendent. After all saluted the flag there was a distribution of gifts, including fancy work baskets for the girls and books for the boys. Each member also received a copy of the group picture taken last week at the picnic. At the conclusion of other pleasing features, all joined in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the session closed.

The legion will not meet again until next fall. Before the meeting adjourned a rising vote of thanks was given to the superintendent and her assistants for the excellent work accomplished during the past year.

WANTS MORE ROOM.

So I. H. Boehm is Building to Connect His Stores on Front Street and Park Avenue.

I. H. Boehm is about to make extensive additions and alterations to his store on West Front street. A one-story brick building will be erected on the small vacant lot at the rear of the double store on Front street, connecting that building with the vacant store at 126 Park avenue, formerly occupied by James R. Blair. Mr. Boehm's growing business necessitates the utilization of both stores. There will be commodious basements between the two buildings, and extensive accommodations for the storage of goods on the upper floors.

The new structure will be of brick, 20x76 feet. Ground was broken yesterday morning. The masonry work will be done by Titus H. Laury, and Walter Apgar has the contract for the carpentering. The architect is E. V. French.

Invited to Parade.

At the regular meeting of Warren Engine Company last evening an invitation was received from the New Brunswick fire department to participate in the biennial parade at that place October 7. The invitation has been accepted.

—Buy the high-grade olive oil, which Neuman Brothers import, and you may rest assured you have the best quality.

WANTS HIS COAT.

Refuses to Pay Pawnbroker and Intends to Sue for It.

Rev. H. J. Johnston, formerly pastor of Grace M. E. church, but now pastor of the First M. E. church at Bayonne, and who recently had his overcoat stolen from his home intends to bring suit against a New York pawnbroker to recover his coat. The police of Bayonne found the coat, which had been pledged for $3. Mr. Johnston refused to pay the money to redeem the coat and has decided to sue for it.

CAMP WOOLFE HAS OPENED

GUESTS AT THE WESTFIELD FRESH AIR CAMP ARRIVED THERE YESTERDAY.

Camp is Under the Charge of Miss Diehl, as Matron, and Assistants —Three Volunteer Workers.

The Westfield Fresh Air Camp known as "Camp Woolfe" had its formal opening, yesterday, the guests arriving on the 2:30 train from New York. The grounds were never more attractive, trees and the buildings having been given a coat of white wash.

The work this year will be under the following corps of workers: Mrs. Diehl, who will be the matron of the camp, is a graduate of the City Training School for Christian Workers; she has also had experience in school teaching and practical city mission work and comes highly recommended by Dr. Schauffler. The members of the association believe that they have found a matron of unusual ability and qualifications for the work. Mrs. Diehl will be assisted in the work by two associate matrons, Miss Henrietta De Gore who will have direct supervision of the nursery department. She is a Moody School graduate and has attended Pratt Institute classes in domestic science for several years.

Miss E. B. Morgan, who has done considerable city mission work and has had wide experience in housekeeping and cooking will have charge of the work in the culinary department, and under her direction the association hopes to place this most important and difficult portion of the work on a high plane.

The camp will have the services of three volunteer workers: Mrs. Nesbeth and Miss Techler, who will assist Miss De Gore in the nursery and Miss Noon, who will have direct charge of the dormitory.

Dr. Kinch, who has so faithfully served the association for the past few years as camp physician, will look after the health of the campers again this year.

With this corps of workers, the executive committee of the association feels that the work is exceptionally well equipped this year.

OLD BARN GONE.

Century Old Structure Over French's Mill Race Being Torn Down to Make Way for a New Building.

The old barn overhanging French's mill race in the rear of the Gardner property, on East Front street, was torn down by workmen, yesterday. It was removed to make way for the preliminary improvements to the place previous to the erection of Woodhull & Martin's building.

The razed structure was over 100 years old, having been erected in the latter part of the eighteenth century. It was originally used as a storeroom for one of the hat factories which were formerly numerous in that section of that city, and afterward as a slaughter-house by John H. Tier, Sr., and Alvah Gardner, when they conducted a wholesale and retail butcher business.

Of late years it has remained idle and was the scene of numerous prize fights and cocking mains until the police watched the place too closely and kept the sports away.

Pensions for Plainfielders.

Among the pensions allowed to New Jerseymen during the past month are the following: Mrs. Mary T. Dunham, Plainfield, original widow's, $8; Jacob Manning, Plainfield, increase, restoration, reissue, etc., $12; Mrs. Delia Downes, Plainfield, renewal widow's, $12; Edward Willis, Plainfield, increase, restoration, reissue, etc., $16; Rev. Frank Fletcher, Dunellen, original, $8.

Back to Duty.

Edward Golden, formerly night operator at the North Avenue station, has returned to his old position from Bound Brook, where he was temporarily.

Special Musical Service.

The choir of the First Baptist church will rehearse this week for the special musical service to be given at the church Sunday evening.

THOSE WHO ENFORCE THE LAW IN PLAINFIELD

Sketch of Plainfield's Police Department and the Men Who, As Members of It, Are Looking After the Good Order of the City.

It has long been Plainfield's boast that it is one of the best governed cities of the State, has one of the most complete and thoroughly up-to-date fire departments and it now lays claim to another superiority over many of its sister cities of corresponding size in the commonwealth of New Jersey. It is in reference to its police department which in a comparatively short time has risen to be one of the municipality's foremost possessions at which to point the finger of pride.

Though small in numbers the police force comprises a set of men which for honesty, trustworthiness and performance of duty, will remain superlative in a comparison with any similar body. At the recent annual inspection, the councilmanic body and Mayor Jenkins had nothing but the warmest words of praise for the officers while the city's chief executive took occasion to personally commend every man for his department and the thorough manner in which all had lived up to the precepts laid before them.

The department is much younger than is generally supposed. It really did not exist as an organized body until 1895, in the latter part of Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert's term of office. Through his efforts and those of former Councilman Elliot T. Barrows, the handful of bluecoats then existing was banded firmly together and with a proper head to preserve discipline, began to guard the city in a more systematic manner. More men were speedily added, the posts were lengthened until the most remote sections were as carefully protected as the business center and the citizens instead of protesting against the innovation, fell in line and gave their approval of all that was being done for their own benefit. Today the city is carefully patrolled during every one of the twenty-four hours, the percentage of crime is remarkably low while the comparative cost with the sense of safety incurred is beyond calculation.

Back in the early sixties and seventies, the heart of the city was watched at night by numerous private watchmen but it was not until as late as twenty-five years ago that paid policemen were introduced. Among some of the earliest bluecoats who will be remembered by the older residents were late W. R. Mattox, Nicholas Kelley, the late Captain Grant, Patrick Lynch and Union county Jail Warden Charles Dodd. A captain was always in charge and these from the first until the office was abolished were the late Theodore J. Gillies, Philip Breen, Charles Dodd, W. S. Chase, Tunis J. Carey, the late George W. Grant and Chief P. S. Kiely.

At the present time the department consists of nineteen regular men and twenty-five specials with the former ranked as follows: Chief Patrick S. Kiely, Sergeant Christian Frederickson, Roundsmen William Mattox and John Flynn, Doormen Thomas McCue and Patrick Flannigan and Patrolmen James Totten, James Saunders, Martin Vanderweg, George W. Lunger, Nicholas Meyers, Andrew Saffron, F. S. McCarthy, Morris Higgins, Charles P. Gano, Charles Flynn, Herbert Overbaugh, Arthur McGinley and Moses Quaas.

The oldest member in age is Doorman Flannigan who has for some time past been confined to his home by illness, and the youngest is Arthur McGinley. In point of service Thomas McCue ranks highest having completed his eighteenth year the first of this month.

When Chief Kiely was appointed to the force in 1889, it then consisted of seven men, Messrs. Grant, Lynch, Charles Giese, McCue, Flannigan, Joseph Cooney and Frederickson. He was assigned to duty at the corner of Park and North avenues and adjacent streets. Within a very short time his attention to duty and courteous manner to all with whom he came in contact brought him to the notice of several leading citizens and in 1895 when the force was permanently organized he was honored with the rank of sergeant. This he retained until two years ago Monday evening, when the Common Council appointed him captain to succeed George W. Grant, resigned. The office of chief existed in name only and was not made an office until three months ago at Mayor Jenkins' behest.

Since he assumed command Chief Kiely's constant aim has been to maintain discipline and harmony among his men and that he has succeeded is attested by the splendid work which he has secured from them. It was he who first originated a bicycle squad and through it Plainfield has the honor of having one of the first in the United States. The bicycle "cop" is now a feature of every up-to-date force in the country and its efficiency, especially for suburban patrol service, has proven invaluable. He has lengthened the beats and by securing more men from time to time has now established eleven posts embracing seventy-seven miles of streets which are fully protected day and night.

For the past few years no great improvement has been introduced in the department and there is now only one that is needed and for which the chief is striving, that is, the establishment of the Gamewell police telegraph system with the accompanying patrol wagon service. This obviates the necessity of a patrolman dragging a prisoner through the streets, some times a distance of two miles and also leaving his beat "uncovered" to use the department's parlance, which means unprotected. The matter has been under consideration for some time and another year will undoubtedly witness its installation. The chief has also introduced the Bertillon system for taking the measurement of prison criminals, a simple method for securing prisoners' photographs and has one of the most complete Rogues Galleries in the State.

As an officer Patrolman Kiely won the approval of his superiors and as the head of the department he has secured the confidence of the people and has served and is still serving them better than any one who has held the office. He is still a young man and has many more years of usefulness and activity before him as the enemy of the evil element which is the bane of every law abiding community.

Christian Frederickson was also appointed to the force in 1889 and succeeded Chief Kiely as sergeant in 1895. He has distinguished himself in many ways, the foremost being his bravery in the capture of John Wichers, a burglar, after a desperate struggle in the home of C. C. Cokefair, of Crescent avenue. He was assisted by Patrolman Saunders and both narrowly escaped being shot by the man. In his struggles to escape the burglar drew a pistol and attempted to kill both the policemen but instead shot himself through the hand. He was sentenced to fifteen years in State prison but died soon after beginning his term.

Piece of Steel is Causing Trouble for Arthur Drake.

From the effects of a piece of steel which entered his left eye while at work in the Scott Press Works, last week, Arthur Drake, of West Third street, is in danger of losing that optic. For want of immediate medical attendance inflammation set in and he is now experiencing much pain, besides apprehension as to whether an operation will be necessary. He has placed himself in the care of Dr. Ard.

Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA PLAYED

FOURTH PUBLIC REHEARSAL HELD AT Y. M. C. A. HALL LAST NIGHT.

New Descriptive Piece of a Saturday Night in Plainfield Was Given by the Orchestra.

A large audience was present in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening to hear the fourth public rehearsal by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. An excellent programme was carried out, drawing frequent rounds of applause from the house. The orchestra was assisted by Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey, who delivered two recitations, which were highly enjoyed by the assembly.

A piece that especially caught the fancy of the audience was the "Capture of Santiago," a fantasy, illustrative of American soldiers at Tampa bay awaiting orders, the bugle call, falling in line, marching on board transports, the voyage, the landing, American gunboats firing, the battle, the victory, "America" and "Star Spangled Banner," celebrating the victory, "Yankee Doodle."

The new descriptive piece of a Saturday night in Plainfield was also presented, representing a band concert going on, and interspersed therewith the town clock striking 8 p. m., a Central train arriving and departing, a trombone solo, at the trolley depot, choir rehearsing, a street piano, a cornet solo, Company K on drill, fire-alarm box 31, hitching up—all ready—go—fighting fire; recall, fire out.

The other numbers on the programme consisted of a march, "Blaze Away," Holman; overture, "Merry-maker," DeWitt; "Fairy Tales," Ellenberg; "Return of the Troops," Ellenberg; "Vision," Orth; "Attack of the Cuirassiers," Ellenberg; Novellete, "In a Cosy Corner," Kimball-Bratton; "Lizard and the Frog," Morse; "Bridal Procession," Ellenberg.

NEW ROUTE.

Jersey Central Railroad Will Connect Direct at Phillipsburg for Water Gap and Mt. Pocono.

Following out the idea of wishing to please the patrons of the New Jersey Central, General Manager W. G. Besler has inaugurated a new and quick route to Delaware Water Gap and Pocono Mountains, which will give better service with less trouble in reaching the mountains in Pennsylvania.

The new route is from Plainfield to Phillipsburg, where connections are made for a train on the Lackawanna road for Water Gap and intermediate stations to Pocono. The train making this connection leaves Plainfield at 9:54 in the morning, arriving at Water Gap at 12:35 and Pocono at 1:22 in the afternoon. Returning the train leaves Pocono at 8:51 in the morning and Water Gap at 9:38 and connects at Phillipsburg with the Harrisburg flyer which arrives in this city at 11:54 in the morning. This train makes no stops between Phillipsburg and Plainfield and there is only a ten minute wait in either direction at Phillipsburg. Tickets were put on sale yesterday by this route.

In making the trip by way of Junction and Washington several changes are necessary and in some cases a wait of a couple of hours makes the journey tedious. The above change was made in the interest of the people living at this end of the road who wish a quick and pleasant trip.

Guests to Wed.

Miss Norton, who has been a regular guest at the Hotel Netherwood for several seasons, will be married tomorrow to Captain E. C. Sarratt, U. S. A. The wedding will take place in New York. Captain Sarratt, who has also been a guest at the Netherwood this season, was recently ordered to California to join his regiment there.

No More War Taxes.

The war taxes imposed by the Government in 1898 to provide revenue for the Spanish-American War ceased to exist yesterday, when the act of Congress repealing the war taxes went into effect.

A PATRIOTIC SERVICE HELD BY ENDEAVORERS

Other Societies Were Invited to Service Arranged by the First Baptist Society.

APPROPRIATE ADDRESS.

SPEAKER OF THE EVENING WAS REV. J. L. SULLIVAN, OF PATERSON.

Talked on Patriotism and Drew Lessons From the American Wars —Dr. N. H. Probasco, President of the Society, Was in Charge.

Very appropriate and enthusiastic was the service held last evening in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. It was a patriotic service and all of the local Endeavor Societies were invited to attend. There was a good representation from the societies and all fully enjoyed the programme. The service was held in the Sunday-school room where attractive decorations of flowers and flags were arranged.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco, president of the church society, was in charge of the programme. After the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and prayer offered by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, the president extended a few hearty words of welcome to all. Then followed a recitation, "The Independence Bell," by Miss Laura VanCampen. A soprano solo by Miss Florence Ackor, accompanied by Miss Sadie Conover, of Trenton, preceded the address of the evening by Rev. Joseph L. Sullivan, pastor of the Baptist church at Paterson.

Mr. Sullivan was greatly at a disadvantage for he recently underwent an operation for the removal of a bone from the nose. He stated in the beginning that be never broke an engagement unless absolutely necessary, else he would have been tempted to remain at home last evening. The speaker gave a short, but very interesting talk on patriotism, reciting briefly the deeds whereby this country was made free. He said that he was born under another flag, but he got under the American flag as soon as possible.

He asked why a person loved his country and then answered the question by saying that by reason of the fact that it is the country of his birth there is every reason why he should love it. He spoke of this country as being the place of many true nobles. He referred to the facts which lead to the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War and drew helpful lessons from each. He also paid rich tribute to the American school system and said that he has two sons and he wanted them to get a public school education and he wanted them to get it under less difficulties than he received his.

In closing Mr. Sullivan cited three points, essential to true patriotism, namely, reverence for authority, the maintenance of the public schools and the right kind of government under God's leadership.

Following the address a recitation, "The Ensign," by Miss Hazel Grant and a piano solo by Miss Mae Batchelor, closed the programme. Then there was a social time and refreshments were served by a committee as follows: Miss May E. Serrell, Miss Grace S. Yerkes, Miss Ida Yerkes, Miss Hattie Mattison, Miss Grace TenEyck, Miss Bessie TenEyck, Miss Mabel Smith and George F. Brown and N. Douglas Drake. Miss Serrell was chairman of the affair and planned the programme. During the social hour many had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Sullivan and getting better acquainted.

PRAISE FOR DR. YERKES.

Sketch of Retiring Pastor in the New York Examiner.

A picture of Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes graces the front cover of the New York Examiner dated June 26, and an article entitled "Dr. Yerkes's Resignation" gives a very interesting account of his pastorate of thirty-nine years over the First Baptist church, of this place. His preaching is spoken of as "steadfastly orthodox and in demonstration of the Spirit." The accessions by baptism to the First Baptist church during these years numbered 977.

A well deserved tribute to the merits of the wife of Dr. Yerkes is given in the article, of whom it is said she is "one of the most valuable help meets any minister was ever blessed with."

"Let the GOLD DUST twins do your work."

LITERARY.

With the present number the Forum begins not only a new volume but a new series, having been transformed from a monthly into a quarterly. The general character of the magazine is the same and its high standard is maintained, but its purposes are more specifically those of a review and outlook. It is divided into nine departments, each conducted by a specialist who writes a critical exposition of such events of the last three months as come within his own sphere. These reviews include in most cases estimates of general tendencies as well as comments on specific incidents. In the issue for July-September "American Politics" are discussed by Henry Litchfield West, "Foreign Affairs" by A. Maurice Low, "Finance" by A. D. Noyes, "Applied Science" by Henry Harrison Suplee, "The American Drama" by John Corbin, "Literature" by Frank Jewett Mather, Jr., "Architectural Art" by Prof. A. D. F. Hamlin, "Educational Events" by Ossian H. Lang, and "Educational Research" by the editor, Dr. J. M. Rice. In addition to these reviews, the new number contains three special articles of the type that appeared in the former series, namely, "Chinese Exclusion," by Hon. Charles Denby, "Germany as a World Power," by Wolf von Schierbrand, and "Sir Walter Besant," by Prof. W. P. Trent. It should be mentioned that the size of the magazine has been permanently increased from 128 pages to 160.

The July McClure's is a notable number. Three of its contributions are of national importance — two sketches of Admiral Sampson, by ex-Secretary Long and Captain A. T. Mahan respectively, and an article entitled, "Fighting Life in the Philippines," by Dr. Henry C. Rowland.

Extremely instructive as well as entertaining is Sterling Heilig's account of "The Over-Sea Experiments of Santos Dumont," being a record of his flights over the Mediterranean at Monte Carlo, by an eye-witness, a personal friend, and an authority on aerial navigation.

Miss Stone's third paper on her experiences among the brigands is devoted to the birth of Mme. Tsilka's baby and the incidents of the first weeks of its life in captivity. Cyrus Townsend Brady contributes the fourth essay of his Border Fights and Fighters series in a splendid sketch of "George Rogers Clark and the Great Northwest."

The second instalment of Booth Tarkington's new novel of Indiana, "The Two Vanrevels," goes to show still further that the author of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" has lost nothing of his art of entertaining.

The short fiction, which is beautifully illustrated, is of most tempting diversity, and includes another of Mrs. Cutting's delightful little stories of married life, "In the Married Quarters;" a Newfoundland fisherman's story, "The Fruits of Toil," by Norman Duncan; a bank story, "Our Red-Headed Kid," by Frederic Walworth; an Emmy Lou story, "A Ballad in Print o' Life," by George Madden Martin; and a story of farm Life in Missouri, "Mrs. Shanklin's Ambitions," by R. E. Young.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Washington Park, continues to improve from a recent severe illness.

is scarcely more agonizing than the recurrent pains in the abdomen which follow the eating of improper food or too free indulgence in ice-water. The immediate cause of cramps and colic is often the distention of the bowels by gas. Quick relief follows the use of Perry Davis' Painkiller. Careful housekeepers give it the place of honor in the family medicine chest.

ICE SUPPLY IS ALL RIGHT

REPORT OF HEALTH OFFICER THURLOW ON THE SUBJECT.

Routine Business Transacted at the Regular Meeting of the City Board of Health.

Very little beyond matters of a routine nature, was transacted at yesterday's monthly meeting of the City Board of Health. President Fisk was not present.

In the report of Health Officer Thurlow, which was submitted, there was an exhaustive statement in regard to the ice supply of the city. He visited all the ponds in the vicinity where the crops are harvested and tested the commodity delivered. In every case he found it to be all right and also the source of the supply.

During the month, forty-seven dairies were inspected and all had shown signs of improvement in a sanitary way since previous visits. The local milkmen are now kept posted of the tests made of their milk by small cards which have proven very efficient. Mr. Thurlow reported testing the water at the Netherwood baby camp and found it to be excellent.

According to the report of Inspector Addis, the city is unusually free from contagious disease, only three cases having been taken in charge during the month. The patients at the isolation hospital have all been discharged and there is no further danger from small-pox. A large number of icemen's permits were renewed.

NEW COUNTRY CLUB TO OPEN

CANOEBROOK COUNTRY CLUB IS READY FOR THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Located on Morristown Turnpike, Near Summit—A Variety of Attractions There.

Preparations are completed for the Fourth of July opening of the Canoebrook Country Club, located on the historic Morristown turnpike, near Summit. The club was organized a year ago, under the leadership of Hamilton Mabie, Charles E. Finney, Carroll P. Bassett, Frank A. Dillingham, William J. Curtis, Charles E. Bulkeley and Thomas B. Adams. The clubhouse, a renaissance stone building, is from the designs of Warrington G. Lawrence.

In connection with the house will be squash courts, tennis courts, a baseball diamond and an eighteen-hole golf links, laid out on the slopes of Hobart Hill. Nine holes will be opened for play on the Fourth of July, at the time of the club's formal opening. The land is owned by the organization and has nearly a half mile frontage on the Morristown road, and extends three-quarters of a mile back to the stream from which the club takes its name. The land belonged to the estate of the late William Wallace, for many years the oldest living graduate of Princeton College.

The fields have many historic legends about them. Here the outlying forces of Washington encamped in 1781, while the site of the Condit Inn, where Harry Lee, Lafayette and Washington stopped, is close to the new clubhouse.

The Canoebrook Club is located on one of New Jersey's greatest driveways, midway between Newark and Morristown, and within easy reach of Nutley and Montclair. The land is near the Passaic river, on the westernmost slope of the Orange Mountains. The club will be open the entire year. In the winter months a large skating pond will be maintained, together with a hockey team. The latter should be a crack organization, as J. W. Callendar, of the St. Nicholas Club, of this city; the Campbells, of the Short Hills Club, and William A. Larned, tennis champion of the United States, will be available.

PERSONAL.

Charles W. McCutchen and family, of Washington Park, will leave the latter part of July for their summer home in the Adirondacks.

Charles J. Fisk, who came to Plainfield to attend the meeting of the Board of Governors of the hospital and that of the Board of Health, has returned to Buzzards Bay, where he will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sandford and daughter, Miss May Sandford, of East Front street, accompanied by Mrs. Sandford, of West Seventh street, left today for Poland Springs, Me., where they will spend the summer.

The Misses Millar and their brother, Harold Millar, of Madison avenue, have gone to their cottage in Maine, where they will spend the summer. Mrs. Alex. Millar will probably go to Maine later in the month.

Whitted S. Hall, of New York, better known as "Freckles" Hall, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd, of Richmond street. Young Hall was the leader among the newsboys two years ago when they were boycotting certain newspapers.

This is a Comfortable Store.

A place where shopping is relieved of many annoyances and of which it may be said, "'Tis truly a pleasant spot to visit at all times"—especially during the heat and humidity of summer

When the plans of this great establishment were drawn, two features of the many appertaining to the interest and comfort of our patrons were paramount—

LIGHT AND AIR.

We thonght, we planned, we studied—changed a little here, a little there, and the result of our labors produced for the people of New Jersey, a perfect store in every detail. The intensity of light is modified by a system of reflection so perfect that it reduces its force to a minimum and relieves the eye of that strain which is so noticeable under different conditions. While this is an important feature, the problem of making it a COOL STORE was of greater moment—resorting to artificial means to serve our purposes were comparatively easy, but the perplexing problem of controlling climatic influences by the assistance of nature's methods was indeed hard. The question of cost was not considered—there was but one thought in mind, "How to erect a modern building and make it a cool one." That we have succeeded has been demonstrated ere this, and you may come here with our assurance that the temperature of this building is

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

"In Union there is strength," said Judge Shipman at the convention; and there was more truth than poetry in the assertion, for Union's vote will probably always exceed that of Warren and Morris in future conventions, and the Republicans of those two counties will vote for whomsoever Union says. Warren and Morris have been hitched to a star, but they will have to be content to forever trail along behind.—Washington, (N. J.,) Star.

Congressman Fowler was renominated for the fifth term on Saturday by the delegates from the new Fifth District. The convention was one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic ever held in this State. The honor bestowed upon Mr. Fowler is one well deserved and he will be re-elected by a large majority. Mr. Fowler is now recognized as one of the influential men in congress, and the district and State will be honored by his return to the House of Representatives.—Rahway Advocate.

The unanimity with which the delegates to the congressional convention in the Fifth District agreed upon Charles N. Fowler as the man to succeed himself in the House of Representatives, ought to seal the lips of those gentlemen who have been shouting about lack of harmony in the Republican ranks in Union county. The Belvidere convention was as harmonious as it was enthusiastic, and it presages the re-election of Mr. Fowler by a large majority, notwithstanding the efforts of the Democratic mathematicians to figure Morris county out of the Republican ranks into the Democratic column.—Trenton State Gazette.

If reports printed in some of the newspapers are to be believed, that the placing of William M. Lanning in the field for the Republican nomination for Congress in the new Fourth District is but a move of the anti-Kean faction, the senior United States Senator from New Jersey must consider certain people ingrates of the worst stripe. After Mr. Kean had so gracefully "permitted" the renomination of Congressman Fowler by unanimous consent, to have that individual take part in a scheme to discomfit such a disinterested friend is incomprehensible to the Kean mind unless it is attributed to the basest ingratitude.—Newark News.

The Republicans of Warren county appear to be the most gratified and enthusiastic citizens in New Jersey. At the recent congressional convention in Belvidere they seemed to breathe new political air and manifest a new vitality. Hitherto they had been in a district and a county hopelessly Democratic. They had manfully held to their principles, had faithfully kept up their local organization, had courageously raised their banners at each election, but had almost invariably met with failure and defeat. To have kept up faith and courage and organization under such circumstances must have been depressing in the extreme, but it shows that the Republicans of Warren are of the right fibre. On Saturday last they seemed to realize, as the splendid delegation from Union county filed into the convention hall, that at last they were joined to the army of victory, and were no longer to trail their banners in defeat. They seemed to find it difficult to repress their new enthusiasm, and still more difficult to give it adequate expression. There are many Republicans in Warren, they said, who have hitherto been too much discouraged to vote; they will now come to the polls confident of victory, and Warren county will give a better account of herself than heretofore. It would not be surprising if the county of Warren cut down its normal majority one half at the next congressional election. It was a good thing, good for Warren and good for Union, that the convention was held in Belvidere.—Elizabeth Journal.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

ADJOURNED SINE DIE

Congress Closes a Seven Months' Session.

PRESIDENT SIGNS PHILIPPINE BILL.

Senators Indulge In a Rancorous Debate—The House Winds Up With Song and Good Fellowship. Summary of Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—After a session marked by some of the stormiest debates ever heard in the American congress the senate adjourned sine die at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. During the last hours of the session there was a tart debate on the Philippine question, participated in by Messrs. Carmack (Tenn.), Spooner (Wis.), Culberson (Tex.), McComas (Md.) and Lodge (Mass.).

The conference report on the Philippine government bill was adopted without very serious opposition, and then, when the decks of the senate were cleared for adjournment, Mr. Carmack called up his resolution providing for a continuance of the investigation of the Philippine commission and for a visit to the Philippine Islands by the committee during the present summer. This started trouble, and for more than an hour a battle of words was waged. Mr. Spooner delivered a scathing denunciation of the minority of the Philippine committee for what he declared was an attack upon the American army.

Mr. Carmack denied that any attack had been made upon the army and declared that any fool could charge such a calumny and any patriot could be taught to repeat it. The resolution was referred to a committee, thus effectually killing it.

Just before adjournment the usual resolutions were adopted, including one offered by Mr. Cockrell, the venerable Democrat of Missouri, cordially thanking the president pro tempore, Mr. Frye, for "the dignified, impartial and courteous manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the senate."

After the adoption of the resolution Mr. Frye delivered a feeling response and then declared the senate adjourned without day.

Amid a scene of enthusiasm that has not been paralleled since the exciting and stirring days of the Spanish war Speaker Henderson at 5:30 yesterday afternoon declared the house of representatives adjourned without day. In doing so he said that no house of representatives since the adoption of the constitution had done as much work as this one. The audience to which he made his brief address was a brilliant one. The galleries were banked to the doors, and almost two-thirds of the members were in their seats on the floor. The speaker's appreciative words to the members in thanking them for their co-operation during the session had touched a responsive chord, and they gave him a remarkable demonstration of their friendship and good will.

While the cheering and applause were still in progress the members on the floor began singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." It was taken up by the correspondents in the press gallery over the speaker's chair and by the spectators in the surrounding galleries, and soon the vast hall was ringing with the swelling chorus. Other patriotic airs followed as the members exchanged farewell.

The adjournment came at the end of a seven and a half hours' session, during which much minor business was transacted. In all seventy bills and resolutions were passed. The general good feeling in the house had been heightened by the victory won over the senate on the item in the naval appropriation bill for the building of a battleship in a government yard.

Just before the senate adjourned finally Senator Allison, chairman of the committee on appropriations, presented a statement showing the total appropriations for the session by bills as follows:

Agriculture, $5,208,900; army, $91,530,136; diplomatic and consular, $1,957,925; District of Columbia, $8,647,526; fortifications, $7,298,955; Indians, $9,143,902; legislative, etc., $25,398,381; Military academy, $2,627,324; navy, $78,678,963; pensions, $139,842,230; postoffice, $138,436,598; rivers and harbors, $26,726,442 exclusive of contracts authorized; sundry civil, $60,125,359; deficiencies, $28,039,911; miscellaneous, $2,600,000; Isthmian canal, $5,130,000; permanent annual appropriations, $123,921,220; grand total, $800,193,837. The total last year was $730,338,575.

President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretaries Hay, Shaw, Moody, Hitchcock and Wilson and Postmaster General Payne, went to the capitol in the afternoon in order to facilitate the work of congress, and in his room in the senate wing of the capitol the president signed the Philippine civil government bill, the naval appropriation bill and other measures that went through in the closing hours of congress.

PANAMA TITLE GOOD.

A Colon Newspaper So Asserts and Urges Immediate Action.

COLON, Colombia, July 2.—The news of the passage by the American congress last week of the Spooner Panama canal bill and the signing of the measure by the president is still the all absorbing topic of conversation on the isthmus and is generally considered to mean final triumph for the Panama canal. In this connection a local newspaper says:

"In view of the activity of the stanch supporters of the Nicaragua canal project, who have hitherto left nothing undone to effect the defeat of the Panama measure, it becomes our bounden duty to urge the national government not to procrastinate, but to proceed with as little delay as possible to pass the necessary legislation so that the president of the United States may put the law into execution by beginning the construction of a Panama canal without delay. No doubts are entertained that the new canal company is competent to give the United States the requisite clear title."

Prizefighters Sternly Warned.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Young Corbett and Dave Sullivan cannot battle for the featherweight championship without every man in any way connected with the "go" facing the criminal courts. It is not unlikely that the police will interfere and that the fight will be called off. Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk has taken a hand in the matter and warned the police that the fight must not be permitted. He declares that if it is he will reconvene the grand jury and have every one connected with the battle, from the fighters to the owner of the club, indicted.

Bank Had Been Stripped.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 2.—Aside from the bank property, which is valued at $8,800, scarcely $1,000 worth of securities remains to the Merchants' bank of this city. The amount of cash on hand out of the $322,565 capital stock and deposits is only $150.64. Cashier Sherman shot himself on June 19 and died a week later. The depositors will lose practically everything. Whether the deficiency in the bank covers Sherman's entire peculations has not yet been determined, for the reason that no statement as to his personal accounts is available.

Chinaman Charged With Murder.

BUFFALO, July 2.—Charley Wee, a Chinaman who keeps a laundry at 289 Hudson street, has been arrested and charged with having caused the death of little Marion Murphy, whose body was found in a pond in Forest Lawn cemetery last Friday evening. It is said that blood stains were found on the sleeve of a shirt found in his room and on the bedding and walls of the room. A piece of cloth and cord said to match the pieces found on the body of the child are also said to have been found.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Chicago has taken steps to fight the soft coal smoke nuisance.

A big strike of employees has been inaugurated on the Canadian Northern railway system.

The weather crop report declared corn to be in excellent condition in Kansas, Missouri and the southern belt.

China has refused to pay the July installment of indemnity except upon the basis of exchange prevailing in April, 1901.

The Kosmos line steamer Sakkarah has been lost on an island in the Pacific. Her crew and $2,500,000 in gold were saved.

MUST PROVE CHARGE

Major Gardener's Action Not Acceptable.

CHAFFEE WRITES TO INQUIRY BOARD.

Abandonment of Charges Regarding Army Officers Not to Answer Secretary Root's Demand—Does Not Repair Injury to Characters.

MANILA, July 2.—General Chaffee has sent a letter to the board which is inquiring into the charges of cruelty brought by Major Cornelius Gardener, governor of the province of Tayabas, Luzon, against American officers and soldiers, saying that the abandonment by Major Gardener of the charges that higher officers in the army in the Philippines were hostile to the civil government there was not the answer that Secretary of War Root expected from him.

General Chaffee wrote also that Major Gardener was not a judge of the effect of proving this charge and that the action of Secretary Root in convening the present board was taken in order that Major Gardener should produce his witnesses. The abandonment of the charge by the major led to the inference that it was false; but, true or false, continued General Chaffee, it affected injuriously the characters of high officers.

The board has demanded of Major Gardener that he produce testimony covering the alleged hostility. Major Gardener promised to answer this demand later.

Counsel for Major Gardener, when questioned on this matter outside of court, said he would refuse to produce witnesses. He declared that Major Gardener's report to Civil Governor Taft was confidential and that the major would only produce witnesses to protect himself if court martialed.

At yesterday's session of the board Major Gardener testified that he had withheld the names of other witnesses at Lucena, in Tayabas province, because of the attitude of the recorder of the court. His cross examination in the matter of civil and military action in Tayabas province is to be continued.

There were forty-one new cases of cholera in Manila yesterday. This is the largest number reported for any one day since the outbreak of the epidemic.

General Maxilom, Jose Monticelli and Dionicio Novicio are now being tried at Cebu, capital of the island of the same name, charged with having violated their oaths of allegiance to the United States.

Taft to Present Note to the Pope.

ROME, July 2.—William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, who is here in connection with religious matters in the archipelago; Major Porter of the office of the judge advocate general of the army and Judge James F. Smith of the supreme court of the Philippines, who are acting in an advisory capacity to Judge Taft, and Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, S. D., were in conference all of yesterday afternoon compiling a note which is to be presented to the Vatican. This communication will be the first conveyed by Judge Taft to the Vatican authorities since he landed, when he first arrived here, the instructions he had received from Secretary of War Root. Major Porter and Bishop O'Gorman worked until midnight last night to translate the note into French, and it will be ready for presentation today.

To Harness the Susquehanna.

BALTIMORE, July 2.—The Susquehanna river will be harnessed and its wasted energy made to supply Baltimore with electricity to operate its railways and electric light and power plants. It is purposed to dam the Susquehanna at or near Conowings and to erect hydraulic and electric works sufficient to attain a development of 60,000 horsepower. The electric current obtained can be sent to the city in sufficient quantity to furnish all the light and power required.

Heavy Shipments of Coal.

PITTSBURG, July 2.—One of the greatest shipments of coal that ever started for the south was begun yesterday, and many towboats are on their way south with Pittsburg coal. Fully 10,000,000 bushels of coal have been shipped within the past thirty-six hours. Of this amount the independent coal companies moved almost 3,000,000 bushels, the coal combination shipping the balance. It is believed 30,000,000 bushels will be sent south on this rise.

Disbrow Pleads Not Guilty.

SOUTHAMPTON, July 2.—Louis A. Disbrow was arraigned here before Justice Foster at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was charged specifically with the murder of Clarence Foster and Sarah Lawrence. The plea entered by his attorney was not guilty. An immediate examination was asked for.

Kaiser's Meteor Won.

BERLIN, July 2.—In the sailing race from Kiel to Eckernfoerde the kaiser's American built yacht Meteor won first place in splendid fashion. Mrs. Ogden Goelet has offered a consolation prize of 2,000 marks to be raced for tomorrow by the special class boats which were defeated by the Uncle Sam.

Drought In the South.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 2.—The continued drought which prevails over the southeastern states has severely damaged the crops throughout the cotton belt. Corn especially has suffered.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh north to northwest winds, diminishing.

PLAINFIELD'S POLICE FORCE.

While the environments are naturally such as to promote good order, there can be no doubt that Plainfield's efficient police force is responsible in a large measure for the remarkable lack of crime in this community. Of course, there are some minor offenders but, when compared with other cities of its size, Plainfield is remarkably free from disorder and evident forms of vice. Not only is the number of offenders less but the character of the offenses is far less important.

In today's Daily Press is to be found a sketch of the local police department and short histories of some of the most important members of it, together with an excellent likeness of Chief Kiely and a group of the members of the force. It is to be regretted that the face of Sergeant Frederickson is missing in the latter.

There are many who have no realization of the effectiveness of the local force, who have no idea of its workings and are only heard to refer to it when it so happens that the record is broken and some special crime is committed. A force of a thousand men could not absolutely prevent crime. So it is not to be expected that the present force could make the community an absolutely perfect one. It has, however, done its work well and every citizen should recognize the fact.

Patrick Kiely, the man who is now at the head of the force, has risen from the ranks by careful attention to duty. There is no gainsaying the fact that under his direction the force is in better condition and is giving better service than ever before. He has had, however, the co-operation of valuable men which have made things possible that he could not have accomplished alone. With a capable man at the head and proper subordinates, the Plainfield police force is now able to compare favorably with the forces of any city of its size in the country.

That Republican slate, which was announced so early as the probable one for Union county, does not seem to be a sure thing, after all. While Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk may not take any active part in advancing his candidacy for the senatorial nomination, he has many friends who would like to see him accept and they are not likely to be idle. Even if Mr. Fisk does not decide to take the place, Senator Cross is not going to have everything his own way. The name of City Judge Runyon has already been mentioned as a possibility for the senatorial nomination.

It is too bad that the baseball fans are going to be without any league games for nearly two weeks. League games played on the Fourth would have attracted immense crowds and then everyone is anxious to see how those postponed games are coming out.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Irving DeHart, of South Second street, is confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. George Saums, of West Front street, has been entertaining Mrs. Stryker, of Trenton.

William J. Kitchen, of Taunton, Mass., will spend the Fourth of July with his father in this city.

Dr. Rolland Tomlinson, of Atlantic City, has returned after a short visit with his parents in this city.

Mrs. W. D. Bauer, of Somerville, has been spending several days this week with her parents in this city.

Miss Lord, of West Seventh street, left yesterday for the mountains where she will spend her vacation.

Miss May Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue, and Miss Julia Wyckoff, of Putnam avenue, are summering at Pittsfield, Mass.

Edward F. Newton, of the Hotel Kensington, began a two weeks' vacation yesterday, which will be spent in the Catskills.

Miss Kathryn Tripney, of Norristown, Pa., is spending her vacation with her sister, Miss Mary Tripney, of West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews, of Grnve street, left today for Mt. Pocono, Pa., where they will stop at the Hotel Montanesca.

R. F. R. Huntsman and family, of Westervelt avenue, left yesterday for Casco Bay, Maine, where they will remain for the summer.

Mrs. Seymour G. Smith and son, Fred G. Smith, of Carlton avenue, left today for Hartwick, N. Y., where they will remain for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, left today for Watch Hill, R. I., where they will remain for a few days.

Rev. Joseph L. Sullivan, of Paterson, who spoke at the First Baptist church last evening, was the guest, while in town, of Charles E. Rittenhouse, of West Sixth street.

FATHER THEN SON.

Son of An Old Local Operator Appointed to Local Telegraph Office.

In connection with the appointment of Wesley Randolph as assistant telegraph operator to Manager Schermerhorn at the North Avenue station, there is a peculiar coincidence. Twenty-seven years ago this young man's father, George F. Randolph, was an operator under Mr. Schermerhorn's management. He is now holding a responsible position with the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company in New York. With such preliminary training as the son has had under his father's skillful direction a successful career is predicted for the young man. Mr. Randolph's father was formerly a resident of Plainfield and is a brother to L. W. Randolph.

CARD TICKETS AGAIN.

Coupon Commuter Tickets Will be Abolished After September 1.

As a result of a conference between the conductors and General Manager W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, after September 1 the former style of commutation ticket will be restored, taking the place of the present book form used. The commuters have never been in favor of the books issued and the change to the tickets will be welcomed.

Baseball and Ping-Pong.

Wm. L. Townley, Jr., of East Second street, celebrated his tenth birthday yesterday afternoon by giving a party to a number of young friends from this city, Elizabeth, Newark and New York. The boys amused themselves with baseball and the girls whiled away the time with ping-pong. There was a programme of instrumental music and refreshments were served.

Miss Harris Entertains.

Miss Luella Harris, the soprano soloist of the choir of the First Baptist church, entertained yesterday afternoon twenty of her friends in a delightful manner at her home in Elizabeth. Music was a feature of the afternoon, and after a delightful programme refreshments were served.

—Fred A. Shepherd, of West Fourth street has accepted a position as passenger brakeman on the New Jersey Central.

DUNELLEN.

Mrs. Martin Brennan, while attempting to step off of a Bound Brook trolley car at Harris Lane a few days ago was thrown and severely hurt in the side. Mrs. Brennan claims that when she went to alight, the car was started before she could get off and threw her on her side. Since then she has had considerable pain and internal injuries are feared. It is said that action will be taken against the trolley company.

On Fourth of July afternoon the Dunellen A. C. will journey to Raritan and play the team at that place. Saturday afternoon they will play the Safe Works League team on the home grounds.

The Board of Education will meet Tuesday night. The July meeting is not compulsory but the local board generally uses it to complete unfinished business.

William Dealaman has resigned his position with a New York business firm and has taken exclusive managership of his father's grocery house.

Thomas Conley, the young son of William Conley, who is severely ill, remains in about the same condition.

Washington avenue, below Front street, is in bad condition and is causing teamsters much trouble.

The house on Front street, formerly occupied by A. A. Lake, has been rented by an out of town party.

Louis Mitchell, an employe at the Plainfield safe works has moved into a house on Dunellen avenue.

A large fair will be given under the auspices of the women of the Presbyterian church in November.

Fred Ward has returned to his home in Newark after a weeks' visit in town.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 in the local churches.

J. Allei, of Dunellen avenue, is confined to his home by illness.

The band will meet this evening for its regular weekly practice.

The Juniors met last evening and transacted routine business.

Robert Johnson is unable to work because of illness.

S. J. James is confined to his home by illness.

NEW MARKET.

The New Market A. C. baesball team will have a lively time the last of this week. On Fourth of July morning they will play the Metuchen A. C. on the home grounds and Saturday afternoon they will play the Y. M. C. at Dunellen. The locals are confident of winning both games.

A large crowd assembled last evening at the home of Miss Mae Brower to enjoy the festivities of a lawn festival. Guests were present from numerous points and spent the time mostly in dancing.

The Township Committee held its regular monthly meeting yesterday at Hotel Nelson and transacted routine business.

A number from here are planning to attend the Fourth of July festivities at Hope Common, Plainfield, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stelle made a trip to Plainfield yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston of the local baseball team has arranged three good games for Friday and Satuday. On the morning of the Fourth at 10:30, the team will meet the Rahway Field Club. At 3:30 in the afternoon the Garwood A. C. will be the opponents. This is the only team in ten games played this season that has won out from the locals and an ecxiting contest is assured. Saturday the Xaviers Deaf mute team of New York will be the attraction and there is no doubt they will be a drawing card, as they are considered one of the best clubs around New York.

Malcolm, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marsh, who has been dangerously ill for several days, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital Monday and was operated upon for appendicitis. The operation was successful and the little sufferer is doing as well as can be expected.

Owing to Friday being the Fourth the weekly prayer meeting at the Baptist church has been changed and will be held in the parlors tonight, subject "Cursing the Barren Fig Tree."

The regular quarterly conference meeting of the Methodist church was held in the church last night. Presiding Elder Rev. Mr. Holararan, of Elizabeth, had charge of the meeting.

Nominations for outside and inside sentinels will be made at Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. meeting tomorrow evening. A full attendance of the members is desired.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will entertain Supervising District Deputy G. R. Gibbey at its semi-monthly meeting Tuesday evening, July 8.

The Junior baseball team met and defeated the Westfield Juniors on the Westfield avenue diamond yesterday afternoon by a score of 7 to 14.

Fanwood Bucket and Engine Company will hold its regular monthly meeting in the company rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. H. B. Corey, of New York City, is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Corey.

Dancing will be held tonight at Ivamy's pavillion. Naylor's orchestra will furnish the music.

Wm. Trayno, of Westfield, was the guest of friends in town last night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Baptist church held its monthly business meeting last night after the prayer meeting.

Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., will hold its weekly meeting tomorrow evening at Washington Hall.

William Norman is having a new front piazza constructed on his hotel.

Philip P. Smith visited friends in Plainfield, this morning.

LIBRARY ELECTION.

Officers Elected at Meeting of the Library Directors Last Evening Some Routine Business.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Library Directors held last evening, there were present Mason W. Tyler, William H. Larrabee, J. Evarts Tracy, Edward C. Perkins, and William M. Stillman. The bills presented from the General and Babcock Libraries were ordered paid from their respective funds.

A letter from the Mayor was received, appointing for the next three years Edward C. Perkins, William H. Larrabee, and J. Herbert Case.

The committee on nominations for the ensuing three years reported as follows: For president, Mason W. Tyler; vice president, J. Evarts Tracy; secretary, William M. Stillman and treasurer, J. Herbert Case; the library committee, J. Evarts Tracy, William H. Larrabee and H. K. Talmadge; art committee, Alexander Gilbert, Edward C. Perkins, J. Herbert Case. The secretary was ordered to cast a ballot in their favor and they were declared duly elected.

The president reported the filing of the annual report with the Common Council. The librarian was authorized to sell the fiction lists and the lists of history and travel for fifteen cents each. After some miscellaneous business the board adjourned.

RECEPTION TO MR. ROBBIE.

Welcome to New Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Boys' Work.

In the Y. M. C. A. parlors, last evening, an informal reception was tendered to Kenneth Robbie, the newly appointed secretary for boys' work. The reception was given by the Board of Directors and the committee on boys' work. Brief addresses were made by E. L. Bonney, vice president of the association, O. S. Rogers, chairman of the committee on boys' work, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, on behalf of the city clergymen, Secretary J. H. Manning, Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood and by Mr. Robbie. PLANS FOR TELEGRAPH AND BAGGAGE STATIONS

Changes to be Made at North Avenue Station in the Near Future.

WILL BE IMPROVEMENT.

BOW-WINDOW WILL BE BUILT IN THE NEW TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

Wires Will be Carried Into Office in a Cable—More Room for Baggage Department—To Start the New Baggage Room Soon.

It making the proposed changes at the North Avenue station, whereby the telegraph and baggage offices will be removed from their present location to the north end of the station, the plans call for a bow window in front of the new telegraph office, similar to that in front of the ticket office. This is done so that the operator will be ables to see the two switch towers near the station, also the trains as they come into the station. It will be necessary to build the window out a little farther than the one at the ticket office on account of the distance and foliage.

In building a room for the telegraph office everything will be up-to-date and modern. The whole equipment will be first-class and be intended to give better service. Large cables will be run in the office, thus doing away with the many wires that are now strung on the poles near the station. These will be put out of sight similar to the arrangement at the new station. A new cable will have to be installed at the latter station very soon as the old one was burned out a few days ago.

Plenty of room is allowed next to the telegraph office for the baggage room and the accommodations will be much better than at present. When the new baggage room is installed at the new station it will relieve the traffic at the old station and thus divide the work, making it easier. The plans are now complete for the addition to the new station and work will be started very soon. It will be constructed on the same lines of the new station just as though it had been built altogether.

As soon as the new baggage and telegraph offices are completed the work of fixing up the old offices for the United States Express Company will begin. Improvements will be made so that the company will be able to handle express matter more expeditiously.

TALK OF NEW SITE.

Swedish Pilgrim Church May Not Build on Plainfield Avenue.

There will be an important business meeting of the Swedish Pilgrim church tomorrow evening in the Congregational church after a short prayer meeting. The meeting is called for the purpose of opening bids for the work of building a new church, also for the purpose of selecting a new site. A prominent Plainfielder has manifested an interest in the church and has offered to assist in securing a better location than Plainfield avenue for the new edifice.

Trolley Picnic.

The union Sunday-school of Lincoln, to the number of sixty people, left this morning on a new trolley car to New Brunswick and South Amboy. Rev. T. E. Davis chaperoned the party. The car was handsomely decorated and a pleasant day is predicted at South Amboy.

When You Go Into a Drug Store to get a bottle of Painkiller, examine it carefully to see if it is made by Perry Davis, and don't be persuaded to take something "just as good" because it is a few cents cheaper. There is only one Painkiller, "Perry Davis'." Large bottles 25 and 50c.

VanArsdale will give a pack of fire crackers with every pair of shoes tomorrow.

T. S. Armstrong, the Park avenue druggist, has a soda fountain which is a popular resort for the thirsty wayfarer these days. Drop in when you are dry.

Do you have frequent headaches? If so, look to your eyes. They will examine them without cost to you, Stiles & Company, 107 East Front street, tomorrow.

If you trade with Sebring, the Park avenue tailor, you are sure to be well dressed and in style, while the expense is moderate and within the means of the average person.

At VanWinkle's, North avenue, there is an endless variety of fireworks for Fourth of July celebration. And these fireworks are just as cheap as you can buy them in New York.

If you have never had a prescription filled at Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building, make sure you take the next one there. This is a specialty at this uptown drug store.

A satisfied customer is one of the best kinds of advertisement. That is why Peck's store is so popular. Every customer is a satisfied one and the sequel is that the best goods are sold for a fair price.

A better stocked meat market cannot be found in the city, than that of Fred Endress'. It is supplemented by a seafood department that is completely equipped. Low prices prevail in both departments.

"Deep cuts" such as VanArsdale makes, are not the kind that hurt. Instead they bring joy to everyone's heart because they are made in the price of shoes. One has just been made on a lot of little boys' tan lace shoes.

The special sale of couches at Woodhull & Martin's store attracted lots of people yesterday and today, for big bargains are offered. This week there is also a special sale in the house furnishing goods department for Fourth of July, such as porch rockers, ice cream freezers, hammocks, etc. Every day bargains can be found in every department.

LARGE ADDITION.

Plans Filed With Building Inspector T. O. Doane Yesterday.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane yesterday granted a permit to the Central Land Improvement Company for the erection of a two-story addition to a building at the corner of Pond place and West Second street. Warren & Son will be the builders.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, June 5th, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

All members present except Freeholders Miller and Bonnel—2.

Freeholder Bonnel appeared at time of reading of bills.

PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From the Borough Council of Roselle Park:

Roselle, May 31st, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county, N. J.:

At a meeting of the Council of the Borough of Roselle Park, N. J., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There is now being constructed through the Borough of Roselle Park on Westfield avenue a track for the running of trolley cars, which track at certains points is encroaching upon and destroying the macadamized pavement laid in said avenue, and whereas this is contrary to the original intent for which the road was designed, and whereas it was expressly stipulated in the law under which the franchise for trolley was granted that said macadamized roadway should be preserved free and clear of obstructions, and whereas, by the said conditions life and limbs are endangered by the congestion of traffic at these points; be it

Resolved, That we, the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Roselle Park do most earnestly protest in behalf of the citizens of said borough against this destruction of our county road, and the infringement of the rights of the citizens, and respectfully submit that the said operations be stopped, and the design as originally intended carried out.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county by order of the Borough Council of Roselle Park.

Signed, A. M. Woodruff, Borough Clerk.

Freeholder King, chairman of the county road committee, stated that the matters complained of had received a great deal of attention at the hands of the committee; unavoidable delays had been met with, but he believed everything would come out right in the end, and that the people living on the line of said trolley would be satisfied with same when completed, after which the communication, on motion of Freeholder Farrell, was received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The director announced the appointment of Freeholder Connolly to fill vacancy on Broad street bridge committee, Westfield, formerly filled by Freeholder Scudder, and of Freeholder McCandless to fill vacancy o committee on bridges on Jackson avenue and Berckman street, Plainfield, formerly filled by Freeholder Scudder.

By the comittee on bridges on bridge on Fourth avenue, in Aldine.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Your committee on bridge on Fourth avenue, in Aldine, would report recommending the building of an iron beam, brick arch bridge at said point, not to exceed in cost $1,200.

Signed,
Henry Krouse, W. W. Connoly, Noah Woodruff, Committee.

Freeholder King moved the report be received and the recommendation therein contained adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on bridge on Cooper street, Fanwood:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Your committee to report on the advisability of building a new bridge on Cooper street, Fanwood, respectfully recommend that an iron beam, brick arch bridge be built at that point at an expense not to exceed $600.

Signed,
John Robison, W. A. Westphal, Noah Woodruff, Committee.

Freeholder Farrell moved the report be received and the recommendation therein contained adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on Pine Tree bridge, Union township:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen: Your committee on Pine Tree bridge would respectfully report that they have examined the bridge and find it in very bad condition, and would recommend a new bridge at a cost not to exceed $300.

Signed,
Noah Woodruff, John Robison, Benjamin King, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved the report be received and recommendation contained therein adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to investigate the advisability of widening the culvert bridge on Springfield avenue, Cranford, near the Ussing property, and report at the next regular meeting of this board.

On motion of Freeholder King the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as said committee, Freeholders Adams, Tillman and Brucklacher

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to investigate and if necessary to build a new iron beam, brick arch bridge over the brook at Oakland, near the Ham property at Cranford, N. J., the cost of said bridge not to exceed $475.

Freeholder King moved to amend "that the said committee, if appointed, investigate as to the necessity of a brigde at said point, and report back to this board at its next meeting." He further said in explanation that this board had some time ago decided not to appoint committees with power, but to investigate and make report to this board before authorizing work to be done, which involved an expenditure of money.

The amendment was adopted, and the resolution as amended was on motion of Freeholder Robison adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as said committee Freeholders Adams, Connoly, Westphal, McCandless and Bonnel.

By Freeholder Connoly:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Whereas, a committee appointed by the last board recommended the building of a new bridge across Broad street, between Elm and Prospect streets, Westfield, therefore be it

Resolved, That the committee be authorized to build an iron beam, brick arch bridge at that point at an expense not to exceed $1,200.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to inspect the bridge on the road leading from New Providence to Berkeley Heights, and if deemed advisable that they be authorized to rebuild said bridge at a cost not to exceed $950.

Freeholder Farrell moved to amend "that the said committee inspect said bridge, and report back to the board at its next meeting."

The amendment was adopted, and the resolution as amended was, on motion of Freeholder King, adopted, Freeholder Wahl voting nay.

The director appointed as said committee Freeholders Wahl, Cady, Robison, Swain and Woodruff.

Biggest Bag at One Shot.

The biggest authenticated bag secured at one shot, of which I ever heard, consisted of one rabbit, the cause of the shot), one beater, one onlooker (a French cook), a boy and a dog. I once shot nine snipe at a shot—but this was in South America. They were on the ground, and they were shot for the pot. I have read of a sportsman (not Baron Munchausen) who shot a bumblebee and a butterfly, right and left; and, indeed, sometimes a large bumblebee does, for an instantaneous second, look uncommonly like a distant advancing grouse—just as, when on the alert for partridges, the fieldfares, breasting the hedge, often cause a nervous twitch of the gun. Curious circumstances sometimes occur out shooting. A friend walking in line down a turnip field saw a startled hare running fast and straight towards him up a furrow. He stood still, waiting for her to turn, but the hare, with its peculiar vision, did not see him, and ran her head plump against his shin, killing herself and very seriously bruising his leg. London Fortnightly Review.

Our Many Bachelors.

The last census showed that there were in the whole country 5,422,767 bachelors, against 3,224,494 spinsters—an excess of 68 per cent. of bachelors over the unmarried women. There was not any state in the union that did not have more bachelors than single women, even Massachusetts exhibiting a small fractional overplus of unattached males of marriageable age. To account for this situation of affairs it was explained that, the mass of the population of each state being paired off by marriage evenly as between the sexes, only a relatively small fraction of single persons old enough to marry was left over. In most states the male part of this fraction was much in excess of the female part. And it must also be remembered that women marry much younger than men.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

A Wonderful Region.

It is one of the strange features of this wonderful section that the two extremes are sometimes placed in juxtaposition, as in southern California, for example, where one may look out from an orange grove teeming with fragrant blossoms and ripening fruit, or a luxuriant rose patch, upon the snowy summit of the Sierra Madre only a few miles away, and seeming, in the pure, translucent atmosphere, startlingly nearer. At Pasadena it is possible to gather oranges and roses in the morning, and then take the mountain railway and indulge in a snowballing frolic in the afternoon.—From Luther L. Holden's "Land of the Sunset Sea," in the Four-Track News.

The Two-Minute Horse.

This is a speedy age. In 1865 Dexter, the famous trotter, made a mile in 2:18¼, and astonished the world. In 1891 Sunol took ten seconds off of that record, and the eyes of the world opened wider yet. Last year Cresceus dropped the record to 2:02¼. To-day we are looking for the two-minute horse, and he is not far away. The pacer has reached 1:59¼, Star Pointer's brilliant record; Salvator has run a mile in 1:35½, and the two-minute trotter is now confidently expected.—From "Vest Pocket Confidences," in the Four-Track News.

Moses a Gentleman.

The question: "What was the general character of Moses?" drew from one child in a Sunday school the reply: "A gentleman."

Not understanding the inspector asked why.

"Please, sir, when the daughters of Jethro went to the well to draw water, the shepherds were in the way; but Moses helped them and said to the shepherds: "Ladies first, please."—Christian Register.

Quite Satisfied.

"You don't seem to be interested in our advanced woman movement. Don't you care for equality with man?"

"No, I don't," retorted the pretty young woman. "Why should I? I'm his superior now, and he knows it, so if I gained the equality you seek I'd merely surrender the advantage that I now possess. No, ma'am; no equality for me. I'm not unselfish enough for that. I don't want to argue with man; I want to control him."—Chicago Post.

A Swallow's Swift Flight.

In recent experiments at Antwerp a swallow, which had its nest in the gable of the railway station in that city, was sent to Compiegne, France, a distance of 140½ miles, and liberated. The flight home was accomplished by the swallow in one hour and eight minutes, a speed of 128½ miles per hour.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

No Cause for Kicking.

"You keep on taking in passengers," complained the man who was jammed up against the car stove, "when there are more of us holding to straps than are sitting down."

"Well, we furnish the straps free, don't we?" said the conductor. "What are you hollerin' about?" — Chicago Tribune.

FASHION HINTS.

Foulard General Utility Gowns. Beige and Ecru Laces.

Some smart Paris gowns are made of silk linen ornamented with huge chenille spots or woven linen spots. Scarlet or green with spots in white is most effective.

Foulards in dark shades spotted in white make charming shirt waist costumes with unlined waists and skirts. They are trim and most useful for ordinary occasions. The only trimming consists in a few clusters of tucks.

Beige and ecru laces are now so much the fashion that white laces hardly have any sale at all except for underwear. Beige net ornamented with big spots is considered ultra smart this year.

The new voiles are of very fine make and artistic coloring. They closely resemble silk canvas and are much nicer than the wiry fabrics of old.

The carriage wrap shown is of pale gray peau de soie lined with gray silk. The wide sleeves have frilled undersleeves of net, and the wide collar is trimmed with bands of black velvet. There is a soft jabot with long ends of ecru lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WASH DRESSES.

Irish Crochet Collars Are Seen on Many of the Prettiest Models.

With cotton, zephyr and pique suits the chief feature is the collar. This must be of the coarsest lace. Do not imagine, however, that this means a common lace, but one of the thick new makes in vogue at the present hour and resembling as near as possible Irish crochet. Some of the applique lace collars look charming with edgings of black velvet or colored silk worn on an all white dress.

Linen suits this year will mostly boast of short coats instead of the blouse bodices of which we wore so many last year, added to which instead of the black gray and neutral shades of last season there will be a perfect craze for the reddest of scarlets and brightest of pinks. In fact, brightness of color is the key to the summer modes.

One of the favorite combinations and one which looks very well in wash materials is pale blue and pale yellow.

The cut shows a boating costume made of drill or canvas. The color is cream white, trimmed with bands of red taffeta. The loose Eton jacket has revers and is bordered with the taffeta. The crush belt is of the material. The scarf around the neck and the undersleeves are of white mull. The hat is of white straw trimmed with rosettes of red silk. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1901, by Francis Lynde.)

CHAPTER IX.

In any conflict between duty and inclination it is only the final step which is irrevocable; and in Charlotte's case this step was the mailing of her letter. All through the long afternoon she had tried vainly to screw her courage to the sticking point, and had failed. But when she went to bed with the thought that she would surely do it in the morning, she had overlooked the fact that an outraged conscience fights best in the night watches.

That was why she had to get up at midnight and dress, and go out to have the dreadful thing over with before ever sleep would come, if haply it might come then.

But once again fate intervened.

While she was hurriedly dressing, the whistle sounded for a landing; and when she reached the office, it was again closed. As before, she stepped out on the saloon deck to wait. The great electric searchlight just over her head made the landing as light as day, and when she reached the rail the landing-stage was just coming aboard for the departure.

Two men whose duty it was to cast off ran out on the tilting platform and dropped to the ground. One of them fell clumsily; but the other ran up the bank and loosened the mooring line. The steamer began to swing off, and the man ran back to his companion, who seemed to be unable to rise.

"Get a move on youse!" bellowed the mate.

Then Charlotte saw that the fallen man was disabled in some way, and that the other was trying to lift him. The mate swore out of a full heart.

"Come aboard, or I'll skin ye alive, ye skulkin'—"

Charlotte put her fingers in her ears to shut out the clamor of profanity; but the man on the bank was deaf to it. Running to the mooring-post, he took a turn of the line around it, and snubbed the steamer's bow back to the bank. Then, casting off, he darted back to the disabled one, lifted him bodily to the guard, and climbed aboard himself.

Charlotte held her breath while it was doing, and was near crying out in sheer enthusiasm when it was done. Then she saw the face of the chief actor in the red furnace glow; it was the face of the man she was constrained to denounce.

She turned away at the sight, but the harsh voice of the mate called her back. There was trouble afoot for the rescuer, who was facing the mate and trying to explain.

It was all over in a moment. Charlotte saw the mate try to spurn the disabled negro, and saw the white man step between. Then the mate's right arm shot out in a mighty blow at the peacemaker, who was standing just within the low guard with his back to the river.

She looked to see him hurled to his death in the brown flood; and what she did see was scarcely less horrifying. The fugitive had stepped aside, and the mate, carried off his feet by the impetus of his own blow, stumbled on the low rail and dropped into the river.

Charlotte saw instantly what would happen. If the mate were not drowned outright, the devouring paddle-wheel would swiftly overtake him and shatter the life out of him. But what did happen was more astounding. Like a flash the man whom the mate would have sent to the death which was to be his own sprang overboard fairly upon the shoulders of the struggling bully, carrying him deep under water just as the roaring wheel was about to engulf him.

All this Charlotte saw; and the rescue of both a few minutes later, the mate insensible and the other in the throes of exhaustion; and when it was over she was fain to go back to her room, with her letter to Mr. Galbraith still in her bosom. For heroism is a law unto itself, and were a man guilty of a thousand crimes, the woman does not live who could give him up to justice on the heels of such a deed.

CHAPTER X.

When Charlotte had made sure of the pseudo deck hand's identity in the forenoon of the second day out she had thought the assurance unassailable and had conducted herself accordingly. But when she awoke late on the morning following the brave rescue of the mate, assurance had departed.

With the admission of the smallest doubt, she could by no means go on with her plan of betrayal until the doubt was removed; and, not knowing what else to do, she went to the captain to find out if possible all he knew about the mate's rescuer.

The interview was most unsatisfactory. She led up to the subject by telling the captain the story of the rescue, and so was privileged to ask a few questions about the rescuer. Did the captain know him? And, above all, did the captain know the day and hour when the man had joined the crew?

Captain Mayfield knew no more than that the man's name was John Gavitt, and that he had joined some time during the day of departure from New Orleans. He was a sick tramp, working his way home to some small river town in Iowa.

So the doubt remained unsolved, after all, and Charlotte was tied unless it could be removed. She could think of no other expedient, save an interview with the man himself, and this she knew was impossible—in its bringing about and in any definite result that could accrue. For if she could bring herself to question him, surely he would lie in his own behalf.

And yet it was the impossible thing that happened. For that evening just at dusk, while she was standing on the guard upon which her stateroom window opened, she heard a step on the stair leading from the deck above. A man descended slowly, and when he came near enough she recognized him. She let him go until her opportunity was all but lost; then, plucking courage out of the heart of desperation, she recalled him.

"One moment, if you please; I—I want to speak to you," she faltered; and he turned obediently and stood before her.

Followed a pause, surcharged with the electricity of things ominous. He was generous enough to come to her rescue.

"You have something to say to me?"

"Yes; I want to ask you at what time you joined the crew of the Belle Julie."

The question did not surprise him, nor did he attempt to evade it, though he knew to what it would lead.

"Between twelve and one o'clock the day before yesterday."

"Will you tell me where you were at 11 o'clock that day?"

"Yes, if you ask me."

"I do ask you."

"I was in a certain public building in New Orleans, as near to you as I am now. Is that sufficiently definite?"

"It is. I thought—I had hoped—oh, why did you do it?" she burst out.

"It was the old story of one man's plenty and another's need."

"But surely—"

"I know what you would say. I was willing to work; I was not willing to beg. I know it was all wrong, from your point of view, but I should be sorry to think that I did what I believed to be wrong."

"Surely you must know it is wrong."

"No, I don't. If I did, you would be relieved of what I conceive to be a painful duty. I should surrender myself at once."

"Then you are not sorry? I saw you yesterday afternoon, and hoped you were."

"I was sorry then—and am now; for the very good reason that I have lost the money."

"Lost it?" she gasped.

"Yes." And he told her about the hiding of the treasure and its disappearance.

"Oh, dear!" she said; "that makes it all the harder."

"For you to do what you must? You mustn't think of that. I shouldn't have made restitution in any event."

"Then you know what I must do?"

"Assuredly. I knew it yesterday. It was merciful in you to reprieve me even for a few hours, but it was wrong."

HE LIFTED HIM BODILY.

"Wrong!" she burst out. "Is it generous to say that? Are you so indifferent that you think everyone else is indifferent?"

"I know you are not indifferent—you couldn't be. But you must be true to yourself. Will you go to the captain now?"

"I thought of doing that at first," she began. "It seemed to be what I ought to do. But when I saw what would happen; that I should be obliged—"

GIRL KILLED ASSAILANT.

A Sensational Shooting on a Farm Near Oneida, N. Y.

ONEIDA, N. Y., July 2.—Cora Isabella Waltz, seventeen years old, shot and killed George Helmer, aged forty late yesterday afternoon. The shooting took place on the farm of Burt Olny, just east of this city. George Waltz and his family live in Olny's tenant house, and Waltz works on the farm. Cora Waltz was at home with her mother in the afternoon when Helmer drove into the yard with his half brother, James Hall. Both live at Chittenango. Helmer went into the house and threatened to kill Miss Waltz. She ran into a bedroom and was followed by Helmer, who seized her by the throat and threw her down. Her mother came to her assistance, and Miss Waltz escaped.

Helmer re-entered the carriage and started off. Miss Waltz secured a revolver and went across lots to her father, who was at his work at some distance. When Mr. Waltz approached Helmer, the latter took off his coat and said he would kill the whole Waltz family and started for Mr. Waltz. As he grappled with the elder man Miss Waltz fired, the ball just grazing the hip of the farm superintendent, T. E. Myers. She then fired a second shot which struck Helmer just over the eye, penetrating the brain. He died instantly.

Miss Waltz returned home and awaited the arrival of the officers who placed her under arrest.

Helmer had caused much previous annoyance to the family by his attentions to Miss Waltz, and they had moved here from Chittenango partly to escape him. He had appeared insanely jealous of the girl, who repelled his advances.

Helmer was a married man whose wife had left him.

Minnesota Republicans.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 2.—The Minnesota Republicans in convention here nominated the following ticket: For governor, Samuel R. Van Sant; lieutenant governor, Ray W. Jones; secretary of state, Peter E. Hanson; state auditor, Samuel G. Tverson; state treasurer, J. H. Block; attorney general, W. B. Douglas; clerk of the supreme court, C. A. Pidgeon. The most of the nominating was by acclamation. President Roosevelt was indorsed for re-election. A paragraph on the labor question reads as follows: "The Republican party of Minnesota recognizes that eight hours should be considered a day's work on all works controlled by public authority. We favor the abolishment of Sunday labor where practicable. We earnestly solicit a better understanding between capital and labor. We favor the use of the union label on state supplies wherever practicable."

Millions For New York Poor.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Being far advanced in years and having no immediate relatives to whom to bequeath his vast fortune, Mr. John M. Burke, a wealthy retired merchant and railroad director of this city, has conveyed to a corporation real and personal property to the amount of $4,000,000 for the purpose of founding a convalescent home in or near the borough of Manhattan. It has been his ambition to dedicate in his lifetime a substantial part of his estate to the relief of worthy men and women who, notwithstanding their willingness to support themselves, have become wholly or partly unable to do so.

President Lays Cornerstone.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—"We here lay the cornerstone of a house to be erected under the name of the Grace Memorial Reformed church and to be devoted to the worship of Almighty God. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen." With these words President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon placed the cornerstone of the new edifice of the Dutch Reformed church at the corner of Fifteenth and O streets, with whose congregation he is a worshiper. The ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone were simple.

Western New York Crops.

BUFFALO, July 2.—Chautauqua county reports the corn crop almost ruined. Many fields are being plowed up, and buckwheat will be sown. Reports from Erie, Genesee, Cattaraugus and Steuben indicate but slight damage to crops. Cattaraugus reports say there will be a fair crop of hay, and the prospects are favorable for the usual fruit harvest.

Better Pay For Puddlers.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 2.—The wages of the puddlers at the Harrisburg Rolling mills and the Chesapeake Nail works have been increased to $4.50 per ton, the highest paid in the lower Susquehanna valley for over ten years. The millmen have been granted an increase of 5 per cent in wages.

Marietta at Cape Haitien.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The gunboat Marietta arrived at Cape Haitien today, where she will protect American interests. Should the guns of a naval vessel or the wrath of a street mob threaten the lives or property of our countrymen she undoubtedly would take active means to prevent it.

Deadly Lightning In Germany.

BERLIN, July 2.—Terrific electrical storms have been sweeping over parts of Germany. Four persons were killed by lightning at Crossen, Prussia, and various fatalities have occurred elsewhere.

Norwegian Town Burned.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, July 2.—A disastrous fire has been raging at the port of Laurvik, in the province of Jarlsberg. One-quarter of the business section of the port has been destroyed.

PROGRESS IS STEADY

King Edward's Condition Indicates Ultimate Recovery.

GRAND REVIEW OF COLONIAL TROOPS.

Queen Alexandra Attends the Pageant—Cheering of the Troops on Parade Audible In the Sick Chamber.

LONDON, July 2.—The steady progress of King Edward is fully maintained, and his majesty takes light nourishment with keen enjoyment. He is allowed a light cigar a day. He evinced the greatest interest in the arrangements for yesterday's review of the colonial troops, and he was eager that "his people" should be in some way compensated for their disappointment because of the postponement of the coronation.

The king received Queen Alexandra's report of the review with much pleasure, and he was immensely pleased later in the day when the sounds of the cheers from the Indian troops, given for the queen as they marched past the palace, penetrated the sickroom.

The king's grandchildren are allowed a brief visit daily to his bedside, while a scarcely less welcome and even more enthusiastic visitor to his majesty is his pet Irish terrier, Jack, which is allowed in the king's room a short time every afternoon.

Yesterday's review of the colonial and Indian troops at the Horse guards' parade was the first recompense London had for the deferred pageantry of the coronation. The military spectacle was brilliant in the extreme, and popular enthusiasm found proper vent when the queen appeared in person riding in the first carriage in the royal procession at the parade grounds.

The reappearance of Queen Alexandra as a participant in this public ceremony practically marks the end of the period of anxiety caused by King Edward's illness.

The queen was seated in an open carriage. Beside her was the Princess of Wales, and opposite her majesty were the Princess Victoria and Princess Charles of Denmark.

Among the interesting onlookers was Prince Eddy and the other children of the Prince and Princess of Wales. All the colonial premiers, Indian princes and other guests of the nation were present.

The troops quickly marched past the queen's carriage, the Prince of Wales receiving the salute. The queen then drove slowly in and out of the lines, and the Prince of Wales closely inspected the troops and dismounted and conferred medals and crosses on those who had merited the honor, shaking hands with the recipients of the Victoria cross.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian high commissioner in London, presided last night at the Canadian Dominion dinner. Among the 600 guests present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier; Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the premier of Cape Colony; the Right Hon. E. Barton, the premier of the commonwealth of Australia; all the Canadian statesmen now in London, the Earl of Minto, the governor general of Canada; the Duke of Argyll, former governor of Canada; the Earl of Aberdeen, late governor general of Canada, and all the agents general in London.

Names For New Warships.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—At Secretary Moody's suggestion the cabinet has adopted names for the six new ships of war authorized by the naval appropriation bill. The four larger ships, two battleships and two armored cruisers, will be named Louisiana, Connecticut, Tennessee and Washington, but it is not yet settled which states shall be chosen for battleships and vice versa. The two gunboats provided for in the act will be named the Paducah, at the earnest solicitation of Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, and the Dubuque.

Better Conditions In India.

LONDON, July 2.—A dispatch has been received here from the governor general of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, saying that better conditions prevail in the famine districts of India than have been indicated by the recent press reports. There have been heavy rains in the Assam, Burma and coast districts. Useful showers have fallen in the Rajputana region and in upper India, but more rain is needed in the Bombay presidency, the central provinces and the Berar territory. Thousands are still receiving relief.

Immense Steel Trust Profits.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Steel trust directors, after a meeting in which they declared the regular dividends on preferred of 1¾ per cent and common 1 per cent, issued a statement of earnings for the six months ending June 30, which shows that the net profits were the largest in their history. A balance of $57,610,697 is shown applicable to interest and dividends on the securities.

Hod Carriers Strike.

WATERBURY, Conn., July 2.—The hod carriers of the city, numbering 300, have struck because of the refusal of the master builders to grant them an increase in wages of 2½ cents an hour. They have been receiving 20 cents. Several hundred masons and bricklayers have been obliged to suspend work because of the strike.

Mont Pelee More Quiet.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, July 2.—The situation here with regard to the volcanic disturbances has become more reassuring. There are still slight intermittent eruptions from Mont Pelee.

All members of the Hope baseball team are requested by Manager Cose to meet on the Common, this evening, at 6:30.

The hour of commencement for the afternoon baseball game in connection with the Hope celebration, Friday, has been changed from 2 until 3 o'clock. This has been done in order to give the players more rest between it and the morning game. To even the day's programme, Company K's sham battle will commence at 2 o'clock.

The Y. M. C. A. team that will play at Murray Hill on Saturday afternoon will be made up as follows: Bert Moore, catcher; Chauncey Burt, pitcher; Berry Egan, 1b; Bolsterle, 2b; George Schoonmaker, 3b; C. Smith, ss; P. Hand, lf; W. Schoonmaker, cf; Alfred Egan, rf. The team will leave Plainfield for Murray Hill by stage at 2 o'clock.

ALL WAS GONE.

Some of the Knights Went to the Fire Before Partaking of the Refreshments—A Sorrow Return.

At the installation of officers at Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagles, last evening, the members were in the midst of ice cream and cigars when the fire whistle blew and caused a sudden exit from the hall. Among those who departed were the chairman of the refreshment committee and his assistants, but not until they had previously laid away something in the larder for future reference and home consumption.

On their return from the fire they found the doors locked, and after objurgating for a half hour or more the man who went away with the key, a hand from within opened up the door, and admitted the weary waiters who soon learned to their sorrow that there are men in the world who do not share Nero's predilection, for a blaze, but who have a fond and boundless regard for ice cream and cigars.

CELEBRATED WEDDING.

Marked the Twenty-Eighth Anniversary of Happy Event.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Maynard, of West Fourth street, appropriately observed the twenty-eighth anniversary of their wedding last evening, when a number of friends gathered to join in the festivities of the pleasant occasion. During the evening the couple received the hearty congratulations of all.

Mr. Maynard was born near Baltimore, Md., and came to Plainfield in 1874. For fourteen years he was employed as coachman in the family of Charles Potter. Not long after coming to this city he was married. After a service of fourteen years as coachman he accepted the position of sexton of the First Baptist church which he has held ever since. The first of next October he will have served fourteen years as sexton. Both Mr. and Mrs. Maynard have many friends among whom they are esteemed and well thought of. They received a large collection of presents last evening as reminders of the happy event.

BOUGHT BANK STOCK.

A. A. Clark, of Somerville, Sold Ten Shares to F. A. Pope.

Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, sold ten shares of the stock of the First National Bank at the Hotel Kensington, and they were purchased by F. A. Pope, of Park avenue, for $131 each. Mr. Clark stated previous to the sale that he had been offered $120 a share. The stock was sold with the understanding that the purchaser is to receive the July dividends.

Getting Ready for Fourth.

The membership list of the Hope Y. M. A. was increased by several new additions, elected at last evening's meeting. The members were also given their final assignments for Friday's all-day celebration, and the last arrangements were concluded. The members will be on the grounds tomorrow evening for a drill and will afterwards camp out for the night.

FOR THE CAMPS.

Donations Received for Baby Camps of King's Daughters and Fresh Air Home at Netherwood.

There was received at The Daily Press office yesterday $5 to be divided equally between the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, each receiving $2.50. The amount was given by Mrs. F. A. Dunham, treasurer of the Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

Yesterday afternoon a very successful lemonade and candy sale was conducted by the Misses Charlotte and Agnes McCarthy and their brother, William McCarthy, of 768 Kensington avenue. The proceeds, $4.25 were left at The Daily Press office this morning for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Up to the present time there has been received for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain the total sum of $23.66 which was today turned over to the treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Krom. This does not include the $275 given by a resident of the borough to pay for the enlargement of the camp this summer.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home fund, which is as follows, was also turned over to the treasurer, J. Wesley Johnson:

Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Previously acknowledged	$10.50
Woman's Society Christian Work, Seventh-Day Baptist church	2.50
Charlotte, Agnes and William McCarthy	4.25

In addition to the above there has also been received from Mrs. C. B. Corwin a lot of toys for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp.

TENNIS AT PARK CLUB.

Club Handicap Tournament in Progress Will be Finished Friday.

A handicap club tournament in singles has been in progress on the tennis courts of the Park Club for several weeks. It is expected that it will be concluded in time to play the finals on Independence Day afternoon.

The play so far is as follows: First round, Clifford M. McGee, scratch, defeated G. L. Howard, thirty-fifteen, 6-2, 6-1; Wallace Guilford scratch, defeated Langdon Howard, half-fifteen, 6-4, 7-5; Fred O. Ball, scratch, defeated William A. Townsend, scratch, 6-3, 6-0; J. I. Taylor, scratch, defeated Samuel Townsend, scratch, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1; Charles Dupee, Morgan T. Townsend and Allan B. Laing drew byes and there is one more match to be played to complete the first round. In the second round, Guilford defeated Ball 6-4, 6-1.

FUNERAL OF THOS. FLYNN.

Services Were Held in St. Mary's Church This Morning.

In St. Mary's church, this morning, funeral services were held over the remains of Thomas Flynn, who died at the home of his mother on McDowell street, Monday. The mass was conducted by Rev. Father Farley. The body was afterward interred in St. Mary's cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were William and John Connolly, John Kelley, Dennis Regan, P. J. Sutton and Daniel Hoolihan.

Found Motley Guilty.

Michael Motley was arraigned in the city court, this noon, charged by John Sheehan with striking him with a slung shot, Saturday night. He pleaded not guilty, but Sheehan was corroborated by several witnesses and he was found guilty. He paid $5 in preference to going to jail for twenty days.

Acts Immediately.

Colds are sometimes more troublesome in summer than in winter, it's so hard to keep from adding to them while cooling off after exercise. One Minute Cough Cure cures at once. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

THOSE WHO ENFORCE LAW

Of the roundsmen, William Mattox is the oldest in service and no man on the force is better known or more popular than he. He was made roundsman in 1895 and has served with distinction since. The remaining roundsman, John Flynn, became a member of the department in 1895 and one year later was appointed to his present position. He also is very popular and by his close application to duty has won the confidence of his superiors.

Of the other men who are in the rank and file, nothing but the highest terms of praise can be applied to any and it is to these men that Plainfielders owe their sense of security when they retire to their homes for the night. 'Mid the stinging blasts of winter or the scorching heat of summer, they continue their lonely vigil while the city is wrapped in slumber, always ready to risk their life in the effort to protect others, and they ask no more save that their efforts be appreciated.

FATHER AND SON.

Drank Together After City Court, Both Were Arrested and Now Sent to County Jail Side by Side.

George Gardner, Jr., was found helplessly drunk on West Second street, yesterday afternoon, by Patrolman Lunger. He was placed in a cell at headquarters and was not yet sobered at night when George Gardner, Sr., his father, was brought in by Patrolman Overbaugh in the same plight. Both were in the city court, yesterday morning, the boy a prisoner for drukenness and the father a spectator but who received the lecturing when the son was released.

On leaving court, both immediately proceeded to get drunk on $17, which they secured, they say by signing Mrs. Gardner's name to an order for the money from Street Commissioner Gavett. They succeeded admirably and when searched at Mrs. Gardner's request, when arrested, they had $2.50 left. The two prisoners pleaded for forgiveness, in court, this morning, but City Judge Runyon was out of patience and gave each forty day's straight.

SPARKS DID IT.

Fell From Chimney Through Fire Place and Started Blaze.

Sparks falling from the chimney, through an open fireplace, shortly after 11 o'clock last night, ignited a couch at the home of George Bowers, of West Second street. An alarm was sent in from box 13 and the fire department arriving quickly prevented a serious fire, as none of the family was at home. In addition to the couch several other articles of furniture and a section of the wall was destroyed. The damage will amount to $50, covered by insurance.

Entertained Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Nagle, of West Front street, entertained a party of friends in a delightful manner at their home, last evening. Ping-pong games, vocal selections by Charles Dixon, accompanied by Miss Alice Higgins, and selections by Mrs. Nagle were pleasant features. Refreshments were served before the affair terminated.

Fire at Millington.

James Nash, of Millington, who is well-known to Plainfielders, suffered a severe loss by fire, Friday evening. All his outbuildings, 125 tons of straw and 100 tons of hay were destroyed. The fire broke out early in the evening, consequently the stock and wagons were saved.

To Consolidate Tribes.

The Great Sachem of New Jersey has authorized Assemblyman William Newcorn to effect the consolidation of Panghcangnaughsinque and Miantonomo Tribes Friday, July 11, as he himself will have to fill another engagement that evening.

A Little Girl.

John F. Auten, the genial and popular clerk at the Hotel Kensington, is wearing an extra smile, and both he and Mrs. Auten are receiving congratulations over the arrival yesterday of an eight-pound girl.

Instituted New Tribe.

Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn went to Belvsdere Monday evening and instituted a new tribe of Red Men to be known as Pophandiasing Tribe, No. 236. The new tribe starts with a charter membership of sixty-three.

On a Serious Charge.

On the complaint of Geo. Washington made before Justice Nash, Geo. Jones was arraigned yesterday on a serious charge. The hearing was set down for July 8.

Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, of Richmond street, is visiting at the home of her parents in Elizabeth.

Wm. Demler Made Clerk.

Henry Kliner, whose death occurred last week, was clerk of the North Plainfield township committee. The committee met yesterday and appointed Wm. Demler to fill the vacancy until the next election, and also passed resolutions of condolence to be published and a copy sent to his wife.

THE FOURTH IN THIS CITY

Attractions for Plainfielders That Have Been Arranged to be Held Tomorrow.

HOPE Y. M. A.'S BIG TIME.

All-Day Celebration Will be Held on Hope Common With a Number of Attractions—Events at Golf Clubs—Park Club to Have Fireworks and a Dance at Night.

Independence Day promises to be a pleasant one in Plainfield tomorrow, provided the day only is fair. Of noise there will be no end. It will begin as this evening draws to a close and continue with no cessation until July 5 shall have arrived. The flash, rattle and bang will be incidental only to the list of attractions for the day which have been planned and which only wet weather can mar. With good weather, it will be as active a Fourth of July as Plainfield has seen for several years.

With few exceptions tomorrow's attractions will all be out of doors. Chief among them will be the all-day celebration of the Hope Y. M. A. on Hope Common where a varied host of attractions will undoubtedly gather many visitors. A sham battle and baseball will be the chief features. Then there is other baseball. At the local clubs, golf and lawn tennis will flourish. There will be the usual social features. Other outdoor sports will not be forgotten. In the evening, there will be numerous private displays of fireworks of which the one at the Park Club will be the most elaborate.

Undoubtedly the attraction which will draw the largest attendance, is the all day celebration of the Hope Y. M. A. The young men of this organization have been working hard for several months to provide a typical "County Fair" and they have undoubtedly succeeded. From 9 o'clock in the morning until late in the evening the fun will continue and the versatile members have the greatest variety of events ever seen in this city on the great Independence Day.

The affair will be held on the grounds of the association situated at Eighth street and Spooner avenue, called Hope Common. Here has been placed a large tent where a vaudeville show will be given every hour beginning at 9 o'clock. Two baseball games will take place, one at 10 o'clock, and one at 3 in the afternoon, and at 2 o'clock Company K will give a sham battle. Then there will be numerous athletic events, at noon. Those who have never seen a typical midway, will be enabled to have their initial view of one as large as many boasted by sea side resorts. There will be lemonade, "hot dog" and peanut men galore, fish ponds, grab-bags, "The African Dodger," shooting gallery, cane and knife throwing stands, "Hit the Baby" rack, camp of Gypsy fortune tellers and many others, all presided over by barkers equipped with leather lungs. For the especial entertainment of the younger element, a merry-go-round has been placed on the grounds which will remain until Saturday night. A brass band will discourse music all day.

The day's programme will terminate in the evening with a high class concert in the large show tent. Among the artists who will appear are the Irwin's troop of acrobats, Butler and Owens, of Elizabeth, James Herne Haggerty, a former Proctor circuit vocalist and ten other big acts.

None of the League baseball teams beyond the Hopes will play in the city. The St. Marys play at New Providence in the morning and Summit in the afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. and Safe Works teams will remain inactive.

The attractions at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club tomorrow will include the preliminary round in the morning for the Club Championship cup. In the afternoon there will be the first round, match play, for the same cup and the regular play for the Holiday cup. Other events will likely be arranged. On the tennis courts there will be the play for the Fourth of July cups, mens' singles and doubles handicap. There will be the usual social features at the club in the afternoon. The dinner dance in the evening will be a feature. It is the second of a series, the first of which proved remarkably popular.

SCENE IN COURT.

Young Italian Woman Attempted to Attack Man Against Whom She Had Made Serious Charges.

Alphonso Bonbano, an Italian living in the Netherwood section of the city, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, on a serious charge preferred by Louisa Colucce. At the request of the defendant's counsel, S. S. Swackhamer, the matter was adjourned for one week, the prisoner being released in $200 bail, furnished by E. T. Hand. The girl was represented by Attorney J. P. Owens.

As Bonbano, started to leave court, the complainant sprang from the witness' bench and made frantic efforts to strike him. She was held back by her counsel and Roundsman Mattox and, when she saw she could not reach the man, she broke into a hysterical tirade in her native tongue that made him quail. It ended in a violent fit of weeping after which she was induced to go home.

PICNICKED ON RIVER BANK

PRIMARY TEACHERS' UNION ENJOYED AN OUTING AT CRANFORD.

Party of Sixty Went by Trolley Yesterday Morning—Had a Delightful Time.

The members of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, to the number of sixty, enjoyed their annual picnic yesterday at Cranford. The trip to the latter place and return was made by trolley, the party leaving Plainfield in the morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Upon the invitation of Mrs. Brundage, of Cranford, a member of the union, the members were given the freedom of a pleasant grove near the Cranford river, where a most pleasant time was had. The time was occupied in playing games and in boating on the river, while at noon a bountiful repast was served.

A feature of the dinner was the cutting of a large cake which was baked by Mrs. M. C. Dobbins. Inside was placed a piece of money and the one securing the same is to bake a cake for the next picnic. Miss Florence Serrell was the lucky one to get the money. Through the hospitality of Mrs. Brundage the members enjoyed ice cream, which was a delightful climax to the excellent dinner.

The union remained at the grove until nearly 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when the return trip was made.

All expressed their kind appreciation to Mrs. Brundage for her kindness and generous hospitality, and it was the hope that some day the union might return for another picnic.

NON-CUPATIVE WILL.

Robert Jahn's Will, Made Verbally, Was Probated at Elizabeth Yesterday by W. R. Codington.

W. R. Codington, of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, before Judge Vail in the Orphan's Court at Elizabeth, yesterday, probated a noncupative will, the first will of the kind to be probated in forty years, and there is only one instance of a similar case in the history of jurisprudence in Union county.

The will was that of the late Robert Jahn, who was burned to death at Scotch Plains. On account of the agony he suffered previous to death he was unable to write, and made a verbal disposition of his property in the presence of Dr. Westcott, Dr. Long, his son, Philip Jahn, and a neighbor. The whole estate, valued at several thousand dollars, is left to Mrs. Jahn, who was also made sole executrix.

Ten Years as Policeman.

His tenth year as a member of the local police force, was rounded out by Roundsman William Mattox, yesterday. The event was observed by the genial officer in a quiet way at his home, on Webster place, last evening. A party of friends was present and showered him with congratulations.

Sunday's Meeting.

Rev. Frank Fletcher will be the speaker at the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon. Miss Clara J. Mears, known as Mme. Mira Marisona, will be the soloist. Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., has accepted an invitation to attend the meeting.

Mountain Park Inn.

The Inn, under its new management, opened for the accommodation of guests July 1. Many are expected for the Fourth and an elaborate table de hote dinner will be served, price 75 cents. Conveyances will meet all trolleys.

Theodore Krentzfeld, of Wilson avenue, lies very ill at his home on Wilson avenue with intermittent attacks of nose bleeding.

MILITARY CODE FOR THE NATIONAL GUARD

A Special Commission is Now at Work on It and Will Report This Fall.

TO END CONTROVERSIES.

WILL BE BASED ON THE MUCH AMENDED MILITARY LAW.

Where There is no Law, the Regular Army Regulations Will be Adopted as Nearly as Possible—Law Has Many Amendments.

A special military commission, composed of Brigadier-General Edward A. Campbell, commanding the First brigade; Brigadier-General George E. P. Howard, Judge Advocate General and Major Thomas D. Landon, are now continuously sitting preparing a military code for the National Guard of New Jersey. This commission will continue to sit until the end of summer, and will by that time have swept away all clouds, doubts and the possibilities of future military controversy.

It is generally conceded that the National Guard has been disorganized because of too much reorganization, but it is now expected that the revised military law and a competent commission to reduce the provisions of this law to a comprehensive code that can be put into the hand of every National Guardsman so that he will be able to intelligently understand his line of duty, will work many changes.

It was ex-Governor Voorhees, when Commander-in-Chief, who gave the National Guard of the State its first reform squeeze. He moved from a civilian's standpoint, and his changes turned the guard somewhat topsy-turvy because of the stringency of his reforms.

The recent Legislature passed an act that amends in numerous places the general Military Act of 1900, dealing principally with muster, court martial and other changes necessary to conform the National Guard to the general army. There have been so many changes of recent years that a member of the National Guard never knew when he was right, for even officers are not adept in comprehending the phraseology of the law.

The muchly amended military law is to be the basis for the code which is to be prepared. Where there is no law the regular army regulations will be considered and adopted as near as possible. When this work is finished it will be submitted to the Commander-in-Chief and the State Military Board for adoption. Every officer and member of the guard will be expected to do his duty by that code without any of the many discussions that have jarred National Guard organization.

There is no provision made for the compensation of the members of this military commission. They are entitled to officer's pay for each day given to the work, and it is altogether possible that on the order of the Commander-in-Chief extra pay can be allowed.

The Patriotic Ball.

A very artistic programme, a masterpiece of typographical handiwork, has been gotten up for the patriotic ball at the Hotel Netherwood on the Fourth. Tomorrow evening's function at the hotel promises to surpass anything of the kind ever given in Plainfield. The management have requested The Daily Press to state that anyone desiring invitations for the affair may have the same by personal application to the manager, Thomas L. Brown, at any hour on Friday up to 8 o'clock in the evening.

Dinner to His Parents.

A pleasant affair of last evening was a dinner given by Lawyer and Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Richmond street, in honor of the thirtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. Clark's parents, Councilman and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., of Jackson avenue. The dinner was a delightful one and the social features formed a prominent part of the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Clark received hearty congratulations and best wishes for many happy returns of the day.

Miss Cairns' Report.

The Helping Hand for July, the organ of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, of the eastern States, has honored the Young Ladies' Missonary Society, of the First Baptist church, Plainfield, by printing entire the report of the recording secretary, Miss Edith Cairns. The report is unique and written in the form of chronicles.

MISS CURRY'S CHARGES CAME THIS MORNING

Took Possession of the New Fresh Air Home at Netherwood for the Season.

ALL READY FOR THEM.

EXPECTED THAT MISS CURRY WOULD ARRIVE YESTERDAY BUT SHE DIDN'T.

Something About the House in Netherwood Which is Being Occupied by Miss Curry and the Children From New York.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home was opened for the season today under the direction of Miss Sara Curry, of New York. A well-appointed house owned by the First National Bank, of Plainfield, has been thoroughly furnished for the comfort of the children. Miss Curry arrived at the home this morning with seventy children from New York. Thus far about $600 has been contributed toward the enterprise and a number of New York people as well as persons from Plainfield will contribute the necessary balance, which is $400. The children brought to the home today will remain five weeks, after which another lot of children will be brought out.

It was originally planned that the home should open last Tuesday, but Miss Curry found it impossible to get all the children and the mothers together on that day. When the tired but happy crowd arrived at the home this morning at 11 o'clock they found everything in readiness for them. A well-equipped home with every convenience for the comfort of the matron, children and their mothers. As soon as the home was reached the group had a picture taken.

For some days past, those who will assist Miss Curry through the summer, have been busy getting things in readiness. The larder is well stored with provisions and the visitors will not go hungry for awhile. Everything about the home is neat and clean and when the little ones are put to bed tonight they will have comfortable places to sleep. The home has been supplied with cots, cribs and beds and there will be no lack for sleeping quarters where perfect rest can be secured.

It has been the aim this year to equip the home so that Miss Curry and her assistants can get along with as little trouble and work as possible and in this respect the management has succeeded. The home is located on high ground with plenty of lawn about and the children will have perfect freedom, while there will be an absence of mosquitoes and malarial conditions. Within a few days everything will be running smoothly and then those at the home will enter fully into the enjoyment of country life.

MILLER'S SUCCESSOR.

Democrats in Elizabeth Council Got Together and Chose a Democrat to Succeed Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 3—The unexpected happened Tuesday night at the City Council meeting, when the combine of insurgent Democrats got together and elected Thomas Pierson, a Democrat, to succeed the late Freeholder Miller.

The Council adopted the appropriation ordinance of $592,000 for running the city until July 4, 1903, as recommended at the special meeting Friday night.

A Safe Place.

There is no better place to keep your valuables, if you are going away for the summer, than in a safe deposit vault, and the City National Bank recognizing this fact has made provisions for the safe keeping of valuable articles. The vaults at this bank are so arranged that absolute safety is provided.

First Excursion to Shore.

The first excursion to Asbury Park this season will be that of the First Baptist church and Sunday-schools on Thursday, July 10, one week from today. The committee has made every arrangement for a pleasant time and those going to the seashore on this excursion are sure of having a pleasant and profitable day. The advertisement in today's Press gives further information.

No Books Tomorrow.

The Fourth being a legal holiday, the circulating department of the Public Library will be closed. The reading room will be open from 2 to 6 o'clock.

NO MORE WAR TAXES, WHAT CHANGES ARE

Most Important Changes in Revised Schedule of Internal Revenue Taxes.

THOSE NOW AFFECTED.

MOST IMPORTANT FEATURES REGARDING TAX ON BEER AND TOBACCO.

Among Taxes Repealed are Those on Brokers, Proprietors of Theatres and Circuses and Manufacturers and Dealers in Tobacco.

The war revenue taxes imposed by the national government under the law of 1898 to provide revenue for the Spanish-American war, ceased to exist Tuesday when the act of Congress repealing the war revenue act went into effect.

The original law was amended a year ago and some of the taxes were abolished or the rate was reduced. All war taxes not abolished last year are now repealed and the new order of things has gone into effect.

The important changes in the law, as they affect this district, relate especially to the tax on beer and tobacco. The tax on beer is reduced from $1.60 per keg to $1 net, and the tax on tobacco and snuff, which was twelve cents less 20 per cent. per pound, equivalent of 9.6 cents, is reduced to six cents.

Among the taxes repealed are those on brokers, dealers in grain and securities, pawnbrokers, custom house brokers, proprietors of theatres, circuses, or all other similar exhibitions; proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms, dealers in tobacco and snuff, manufacturers of tobacco and cigars, and manufacturers and packers or re-packers of mixed flour.

All taxes imposed under sections A and B are repealed. In section A is included the internal revenue tax on bonds or other certificates of indebtedness, stock certificates, sales or agreements of sale, on forms of association or copartnership, bills of exchange, inland and foreign, bills of lading, bond, contract, deeds of conveyance, certificate of entry or withdrawal of goods and passage tickets to any foreign ports.

The internal revenue tax on legacies is repealed, except that the tax on any legacy made by any person who died during the period of operation of the act, from July 13, 1898, to July 1, 1902, may still be collected and must be paid.

The revised list of articles subject to special taxes now in force is as follows:

Brewers of less than 500 barrels	$ 50
Brewers of 500 barrels or more	100
Rectifiers of less than 500 barrels	100
Rectifiers of 500 barrels or more	200
Dealers, retail, liquor	25
Dealers, wholesale liquor	100
Dealers in malt liquors, wholesale	50
Dealers in malt liquors only, retail	20
Manufacturers of stills	50
And for each still manufactured	20
And for each worm manufactured	20
Retail dealers in oleomargarine	48
Wholesale dealers in oleomargarine	480
Manufacturers of oleomargarine	600
Manufacturers of filled cheese	400
Wholesale dealers in filled cheese	250
Retail dealers in filled cheese	12
Manufacturers and packers of mixed flour	12

Twenty items which were taxed under the act of June 13, 1898, were Tuesday expunged from special taxes and every item freed is tobacco in some form.

Doing Their Share.

The Y. M. C. A. boys who will attend Camp Wawayanda will meet in the hall this afternoon to make arrangements for a programme of entertainment to be given some night during the camp outing. Every contingent present at Wawayanda is supposed to make a night's contribution to the general entertainment.

Stepped on Rusty Nail.

Fred Schroeder, of West Fourth street, is confined to his home by a badly swollen foot, caused by stepping on a rusty nail. The point barely penetrated the flesh and, thinking it was of no consequence, he paid no attention to it. From present prospects he will be confined to the house for several weeks.

Dunellen Lot Included.

Among the parcels of real estate conveyed by John M. Burke, the New York millionaire, to a corporation for the founding of a home for convalescents, is a plot of land situated at Dunellen.

Not at Warren Chapel.

The preparatory service at Warren chapel will not be held this evening as stated early in the week. This service will not be held until next month.

SENTENCE DAY.

Elizabethport Burglars Yesterday Sentenced to Five Years in State Prison Each.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 3—Yesterday was sentence day in the Union County Court, and Judge Vail imposed the following punishment:

John Mayer and Joseph Ziegler, of New York City, burglars, who on the night of June 20 entered four houses at Elizabethport and stole $250 worth of silverware, got five years each in State prison.

William P. Beekman, Jr., for the larceny of $98.55 from James B. Litchfield, was committed to the Rahway Reformatory.

Bridget O'Connor, of Summit, a young girl, who stole $130 from Clarence E. Thornall, of that city, had sentence suspended, and was turned over to the charge of Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, county probationary officer.

NO LOCATION FOR FOUNTAIN

NO PLACE AT STATION WHERE IT WOULD NOT BE IN THE WAY.

Railroad Company Will Remove the Low Wall If Hackmen Are Kept Back Proper Distance.

The councilmanic street committee has been in communication with General Manager W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, regarding a place on the company's property for the location of the drinking fountain now on North avenue. There does not seem to be any place near the station where the fountain would not be in the way more or less and the committee will probably have to seek another place.

Mr. Besler has practically promised the committee that if the city will see that the hackmen at the North Avenue station are kept back the proper distance so that other people can drive back and forth freely, the company will remove the low stone wall in the middle of the avenue. This has always been a source of annoyance, especially at night as strangers not knowing about it are likely to run into the obstruction. The committee promised Mr. Besler that the hackmen will be kept in line and the probabilities are the wall will come down.

COULDN'T FIX VACATIONS.

As Policemen Failed to Agree on Dates They'll Have to Draw Lots.

Up to this morning, Chief Kiely was at a loss as to how to apportion the vacations of the members of the force. It has been his custom to allow the men to arrange the matter between themselves, but this year so many have asked for the same time that a deadlock has resulted. The vacation should have commenced some time ago and the chief has decided to settle the matter by compelling the men to draw lots. This will be done this evening when the night officers report for duty.

SETTLING UP ESTATE.

Personal Property in Estate of Noah Terry Sold at Auction.

The personal property pertaining to the estate of Noah Terry, on Cushing road, near Terrill road, was sold at auction yesterday afternoon by Hezekiah Hand, in the way of settling up the affairs of the estate, of which W. R. Codington is the executor. The articles disposed consisted principally of farm machinery and wagons, besides twenty head of cattle. The purchases were scattered but the prices bought will estimate favorably with the appraised value of the goods.

A New Firm.

The copartnership of Rolston & Hooley, bankers and brokers, of New York, was by mutual consent dissolved June 30, and Edwin S. Hooley, Frank E. Brumley and Norbert Heinsheimer have formed a copartnership as bankers and brokers, under the firm name of Edwin S. Hooley & Co., succeeding the firm of Rolston & Hooley.

Reform Hall Meeting.

Devotional and temperance services will be held at the Reform Hall, this evening at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and a social time is promised after the meeting. All are cordially invited.

Musical Programme.

An elaborate musical programme will be presented at the Rescue Mission meeting in the First Church of Christ this evening. Some good speakers will be present.

No Meeting This Week.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will not meet tomorrow evening, but on Friday evening, July 11, there will be a business meeting.

BURGLARS AT WORK AGAIN

Visited Two City Homes and One in the Borough, Capturing Some Booty.

SEEN BY MR. MINTZ.

Cash and Jewelry Taken From a Home on South Avenue—Working in Herman Mintz's Butcher Shop When He Walked In—Home on Craig Place Also Entered.

After a fairly long period of inactivity, burglars again resumed work in this city last night. Two places were visited but at neither was anything of great value secured. The intended victim of one of them secured a good description of the prowler by which the police hope to land him behind the bars.

The home of James Kiley, who lives on South avenue, it is thought was entered about 12:30, as some of the family heard strange noises at that time. A loose catch on a porch window furnished means of ingress but only one room, that of Miss Kiley, was ransacked. Five dollars in money her gold watch and three rings were taken. As far as can be ascertained nothing else was taken from the premises.

At 2 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Heramn Mintz, who lives on West Third street, between Plainfield avenue and Liberty street, was awakened by noises coming from the butcher store beneath her apartments. She awakened her husband. Both got up and creeping stealthily to the shop, they surprised a tall, smooth faced individual, in the act of tapping the till.

The fellow had left a side door open for just such an emergency and when he discerned the attacking party he fled through it. Mintz grabbed up a cleaver and gave chase but was no match for the fleeing robber in point of swiftness. The latter leaped the Boulevard back fences with the agility of an athlete and disappeared on South Second street. Mintz secured the assistance of Patrolman Vanderweg and the two made a thorough search of the block but without success. The butcher saw enough of the man to describe him accurately and Mrs. Mintz is positive she would recognize him. Nothing was taken from the shop.

Chief Kiely is actively engaged on both cases and has secured clues enough to entitle him to hopes of success.

The borough also received a visit from knights of the jimmy. Burglars entered and looted the house of A. R. F. Randolph on Craig place last night or early this morning. They were evidently experts at the work as they performed the job in an up-to date manner, beginning operations on the third story and working towards the basement. They were daring individuals, since they stole Mr. Randolph's trousers out of the bedroom where he was sleeping on the third story. The job was not completed to a looter's taste, as evidence of a hurried departure on the part of the unwelcome visitors testify.

Mr. Randolph is an early riser and he is of the opinion that when he rose this morning at about 4 o'clock he disturbed the burglars in the midst of the job. An entrance was effected through a back window, at an elevation of twelve feet or thereabouts from the ground. It is evident that at least two men were engaged in the work. They left footprints on the back stairway outside, on the window sill, and on the carpet in the dining room.

The burglars were of the high-toned variety that have come into style recently. They took Mr. Randolph's white vest and threw away on the first story a hat they had taken from above because it had a slight dinge in it. They corralled four pair of shoes, Mr. Randolph's best suit of clothes, a purse containing about $21 and a small sum of money that Mrs. Randolph had left on the table, five pair of trousers, and altogether enough clothing, good and bad, without discrimination, to start a second hand establishment. No other articles have been missed as yet.

Dr. F. W. French has his office in the same house with Mr. Randolph but the burglars did not molest that part of the building.

LITERARY.

What makes the happy relation between man and woman, is an eternally interesting question, and a clever discussion of why marriages fail, presented by Rafford Pyke in his article "The Woman's Side," is certain to receive the very wide consideration which has been given to that author's previous articles on the discussion of woman versus man. The July Cosmopolitan seems to be almost equally divided in interest between men and women. "An Experiment in Domestic Finance" is another entirely novel article which will appeal to women, while some twenty pages devoted to the "Captains of Industry" will receive the consideration of men in all classes of business. The Cosmopolitan has undertaken to present a series of brief sketches of the men who are leaders in finance, manufacturers, and commerce, not prepared in an offhand way, but by writers of the greatest ability who have an exact knowledge of their subjects. The series thus far produced has attracted the widest attention. The industrial changes which have of late been occurring with such rapidity have the widest possible interest for all classes. The knowledge of these men, their derivation, leading characteristics and weaknesses throws much light upon the news of the day in which their names constantly recur.

There are four particularly notable illustrated articles in The Outlook's Magazine Number for July. One of these is an appreciation or characterization of the newly crowned King of England, under the title "His Britannic Majesty." The writer is George W. Smalley, now the American correspondent of The London Times, and for many years the London correspondent of The New York Tribune. Another is called "A Hundred Years of West Point," and is written by James Barnes, the author of "Admiral Farragut" and other well-known books; it is devoted not so much to the history of the century the close of which has just been commemorated at West Point, as with the spirit and tradition of the place and the life of the students. The third article referred to is "Talk on Birds," by W. E. D. Scott, the curator of Ornithology of Princeton Univresity; Mr. Scott has a remarkable collection of live birds at Princeton (some five hundred in all) and probably no other living American knows so much about the life and habits of song birds. There are several pictures by Bruce Horsfall, whose specialty is bird portraiture. Finally, of great industrial interest in the paper called "Our Ships of the Sea," by John R. Spears; it describes the immense advance made in ship building in this country lately, and is illustrated by many fine pictures, mostly photographs taken for this express purpose.

CHANGE IN DATE.

American Day Will be Held at Asbury Park August 14.

The local Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., have received word from State Councillor that American Day this year will be observed at Asbury Park on Thursday, August 14, instead of on the third Thursday in August as heretofore. The local Councils will accordingly run the annual excursion to Asbury Park on August 14 and they will remain at the shore until 9 o'clock.

A feature of this year's outing will be a grand reunion of all the State officers and members of Councils throughout the State. It is being planned to hold a large meeting and give all a chance to meet one another and have a good time.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

SPORTING NEWS.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Relief Hose Company baseball nine will play the Plainfield newsboys on the morning of the Fourth of July.

In Saturday's Hope-Y. M. C. A. game, Teddy Overton, of the former, made a beautiful running catch in right field which increased his reputation as an all round player.

The Young Junior A. C. will cross bats with the St. Mary Seconds on the St. Mary grounds, Friday morning. In the afternoon the Young Juniors will play a team at Cranford.

The Orange Field Club is scheduled to play the Echos, of Cranford, Fourth of July morning. The two teams have met several times before and the Plainfield nine has generally won out.

Al. Egan has been getting his baseball muscles into trim of late, and is putting up a good article of ball. His return to the diamond will be marked by play with the Y. M. C. A. team Saturday.

Manager Squires has several new additions to the Clinton Avenue team, which will surprise the Hopes when they meet, Saturday. The Evona contingent expects to make a creditable showing.

"Towering" Albert Grieb, who has been the star twirler of Hoppy Walls' coterie of artists, attached to the Essex Streeters, has severed all connection with the team. He has joined forces with "Skeeter" Mague and the pair will hire out as battery for semi-professional teams.

It is impossible for George Schoonmaker to stay off the diamond. He has been coming out for practice of late, after retiring from the game twice, and will be seen on the field again next Saturday in the Y. M. C. A. game at Murray Hill. Monday evening he was once more placed among the substitutes on the latter team.

Hereafter the Y. M. C. A. team will change the grand stand price on the Hope field from 20 to 15 cents, so as to make a uniform rate of admission and prevent confusion at the gate. It has been suggested that the St. Mary's team should also make some change in their admission prices so as to make a uniform rate all around.

The support which Montross received, Saturday, is the variety that generally sends a slab artist "up in the air." As spectators of the game can attest, Jimmy stayed right on the ground for which he cannot be too highly commended. When a pitcher holds his own through nine innings of the kind that "try men's souls" he certainly is one of the right kind.

Michael Crotty, the new catcher signed by the St. Mary team, is a Bayonne boy but is well known in this city. He is an employe of the Pond Tool Works and when that factory supported a team several years ago, he caught for it. "Doc" Doyle was also a member of the team at that time so the two are well acquainted with each other's style of playing.

The Pearsalls, of Jersey, who come to this city, Saturday, to play the St. Mary team, are one of the strongest in the State. They play for the most part such teams only as Westfield, the Marions, of Perth Amboy, and others in the semi-professional ranks. The St. Marys expect to have a hard fight but are not in the least doubtful of the outcome being favorable to themselves.

Grand Fourth of July Excursion to Mauch Chunck and Glen Onoko via the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Special train will leave South Plainfield at 9:09 a. m., and returning will leave Glen Onoko, 5:30 p. m.; Mauch Chunk, 5:45 p. m. Fare for the round trip, adults, $1.50; children, 75 cents. Tickets with coupon for ride over the Switchback Railroad, 50 cents additional. 6 26 28 7 1 3

Dropped From K. of C.

Daniel Colwell, of New Haven, national secretary of the Knights of Columbus, has just received word of the decision reached by the committee on appeals in the cases of persons whose membership in the order was questioned because they were in the liquor business. About seventy-five cases went before the committee and about fifty men were adjudged violators of the liquor law provisions and their names were stricken from the rolls.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

CIVIL RULE AT ONCE

Philippine Government Law to Be Put In Operation.

A CENSUS ONE OF THE FIRST STEPS.

Governor Taft Plans to Have Natives Do This Work Largely—President Schurman Sends Congratulations to Chairman Cooper.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Chairman Cooper of the house committee on insular affairs says steps will be taken at once to put the Philippine government in operation.

"The first step," said Mr. Cooper, "will be the complete transfer of authority from the military to the civil officials except in the Moro country, where there is some lingering disorder. The transfer will be accomplished by a proclamation of the president which, it is understood, will be issued on the 4th of July. Besides turning over the authority to the civil authorities the change will permit a considerable reduction of the military force in the islands, although orders already given contemplate a reduction down to 18,000 men. In 1900 we had 70,000 men in the Philippines, so that we soon will have reduced the force by 52,000 officers and men, and the transfer of authority under the act doubtless will lead to a further reduction before long.

"The next step will be to take the census as provided by the act. Governor Taft told me this work would begin as soon as he reached Manila. His plan is to have the work done as far as possible by Filipinos, and the commission will get up their own census system instead of having it done by the census office at Washington, although they are empowered to get census experts from here by making application to the president. The purpose, however, is to make the work thoroughly a local one, so that it will serve the Filipinos as an object lesson. The census will take about a year.

"As to the general effect of the act we have just enacted," said Mr. Cooper, "I share the view of Governor Taft, who said that if this bill became a law we would hear no more of the Philippines than we do of Porto Rico and that the Philippine problem would gradually disappear."

Mr. Cooper has received the following telegram from President J. H. Schurman of Cornell, who was head of the first Philippine commission:

"Cordial congratulations on your splendid victory in securing a legislative assembly for the Filipinos. Our commission recommended it. Your bill shows constructive statesmanship of the highest order. Filipinos will bless you forever."

Four New Warships.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The navy department has its plans practically complete for the four big warships just authorized by the new naval law and to bear the names of Louisiana, Connecticut, Tennessee and Washington. The distinctive features of the new ships are the strength and the arrangement of their batteries and a greater thickness in armor. The battleships are to have a displacement of 16,000 tons and will be built for a speed of eighteen knots. Their batteries will consist of four 12 inch guns, eight 8 inch guns, twelve 7 inch and twenty 3 inch guns and a large number of smaller weapons scattered over the ship.

The War College Board.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Lieutenant General Miles, commanding the army, has issued a general order announcing that the secretary of war has detailed the following named officers as members of the war college board: Major General S. B. M. Young, Brigadier Generals William H. Carter and Tasker H. Bliss and Major Henry A. Greene, United States infantry, assistant adjutant general, and Major William D. Beach, Tenth United States cavalry.

Fell In With Sharpers.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Charles Miller, a carpenter and builder of Cleveland, O., came to New York to board a ship for a vacation in Germany, the place of his birth. He found that his ship would not sail for several days and started out to see the sights of Brooklyn and, falling into the hands of two smooth strangers, was soon relieved of his money and his steamship ticket and left to repent his folly.

Capital of $50,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., July 3.—A certificate has been filed with the secretary of state increasing the capital stock of the recently incorporated Federal Sugar Refining company from $100,000 to $50,000,000. The amended charter provides for $25,000,000 of preferred stock bearing 6 per cent cumulative dividends and $25,000,000 of common stock.

Havana Customs Increase.

HAVANA, July 3.—The customs receipts at Havana during the month of June amounted to $889,193 as against $857,862 collected in the month of June, 1901, an increase of $31,331. Customs officials give no explanation of the increase. This is the first time the customs receipts at Havana have shown an increase since January, 1902.

Killed In a Sulphur Mine.

RICHMOND, Va., July 3.—A Louisa (Va.) special says that O. L. Brooks and Joseph Kinghlon were crushed to death by a mass of slate weighing tons that fell from the roof of a sixty-five foot level in the sulphur mines and caught the unfortunate men while they were at work.

A NEW BLOCK SIGNAL.

Central Railroad Adopts an Electro Gas Mechanism.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company has awarded a contract for the equipment of its Putnam division from One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, New York city, to Yonkers with a system of automatic electro gas block signals, to be operated on the normal danger plan. This application of signals represents the latest and most thoroughly perfected system of railroad protection in the automatic block signaling art.

The signal blades, or semaphore arms, are positively held by gravity to a horizontal position to indicate to the engineer danger ahead or are drawn down to indicate safety by carbonic acid gas pressure in a cylinder in each signal post. The gas is stored in liquid form in a tank underground beside the post. The valve controlling the flow of gas from the tank to the cylinder is closed or released by an electric current passing through the rails, and this is done automatically by the presence or otherwise of a train in the block ahead and the approach of a train from behind. The electric connections are such that the signal blade stands normally at danger. When the locomotive approaches it, the engineer sees the blade down at safety if it is safe to go ahead, or the blade remains up at danger if there is a train, open switch or a broken rail ahead.

Signal engineers representing many leading railroad companies in the United States have made a critical examination of this new system of automatic block signals and predict that it will speedily revolutionize the block signaling business of the world.

Encouraging News From Rome.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The news from Rome received at the war department in the shape of daily cablegrams from Governor Taft is generally encouraging. It is said that while no details can be given out for publication in this incomplete state of the negotiations it is evident that they are proceeding with the greatest activity, principally in the shape of verbal exchanges, though for the sake of the record these are generally supplemented by written notes, showing in condensed form the substance of what has been said. It is stated the notes fail to show that any insuperable obstacle has been encountered.

Good Record For Railroads.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The Railway Age today says: The year 1902 has so far been the most remarkable period in fifty years of railway history in respect to insolvencies and receiverships. Since Jan. 1 only one operating railway, the New York and Pennsylvania, fifty-two miles long, has been placed in the hands of a receiver, and that one broke all previous records for brevity of stay, the appointment having been made in February and the road having been sold under foreclosure and started for reorganization in May.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A train in India was blown down an embankment by a cyclone and thirteen persons killed.

Captain N. W. King of the Minneapolis detective force was sentenced to the penitentiary for felony.

A railroad tunnel near Minerva, O., collapsed. Several workmen were caught in the cavein, and one life was lost.

Georgia Democrats in state convention at Atlanta named Joseph M. Terrell for governor and indorsed United States Senator Clay for re-election.

Miss Ada Barker, who was found recently wandering about the streets of El Paso, Tex., and about whom nothing can be learned, has been sent to an insane asylum.

WISCONSIN TORNADO

Death and Ruin In Several Townships.

BUILDINGS RAZED; CROPS DAMAGED.

A Score of Farmers' Families Left Without Shelter—Many Narrow Escapes Reported From the Stricken Communities.

RACINE, Wis., July 3.—A tornado swept across this county from the town of Raymond east to Elsher, in the township of Caledonia, a distance of ten miles and about half a mile in width, late yesterday. One man was killed, several persons injured, forty houses and barns were wrecked, thirty or forty head of stock killed, hundreds of trees blown down, hundreds of acres of grain ruined and other damage done, estimated at $50,000.

The storm first struck the house of William Cook, just west of Raymond, and blew it to pieces. J. J. Laing's house was then wrecked, and Mr. Laing was badly hurt, but his family escaped. His barns also were destroyed. The roof and corner of George West's house near by were blown away. The house and all of the barns and other buildings of Elisha Lower were completely destroyed, and it is reported three persons were injured.

The barns of Frank Eastman at Kilbourneville and the barns and home of Albert Herman were carried away. William Hess lost his barns and had two horses killed. Christian Erb's barns were destroyed. The only fatality reported is at the home of G. Thysen of Caledonia. His house was completely blown away and also the barns. The family was in the house at the time, but all escaped serious injury except Mr. Thysen, who was instantly killed. A widow and seven children survive.

A son of Elisha Lower was driving a horse attached to a wagon loaded with farm implements. A storm caught and carried the wagon into a field a hundred yards away. The horse was killed and the young man injured.

Telephone lines are down through the country, and farmers are out with horses and wagons. The forty or sixty people who are left without shelter will be cared for.

Destructive Gale In Maryland.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 3.—A heavy windstorm has devastated Middle Fork valley and Tygarts valley, below Elkins, W. Va. Growing crops were destroyed, and many houses and outbuildings were wrecked. The house and barn of Reuben Zirkel were demolished, but the family escaped injury. The storm traversed the valleys for six miles and struck a plateau covered with a virgin oak forest. Thousands of trees were splintered and destroyed.

Noah's Ark Found.

TACOMA, Wash., July 3.—W. A. Reid, secretary of the Skaguay Y. M. C. A., has returned from the interior of Alaska, where he talked with Indians whose earnest statements, he believes, fully confirm previous reports that the Indians of the lower Yukon have discovered an immense petrified ship on Porcupine river, near the arctic circle and north of Rampart, Alaska. When asked regarding its size, the Indians traced its dimensions on the ground, indicating a length of 1,200 feet. Such Indians as are familiar with the Bible are convinced that the ship is none other than Noah's ark. The ship lies on a high hill thousands of feet above the sea level.

Sensational Arrests In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—Mrs. Aline O'Malley, daughter of a New York family and wife of a young physician formerly of this city, but recently of South Bend, Ind., is a prisoner in the city hall here, charged with theft. In another cell is William Herring, son of a New York stockbroker, who is accused of complicity in the robbery and of trying to elope with her. Dr. Austin O'Malley, the woman's husband, is ill in St. Agnes' hospital, suffering from some illness that has puzzled physicians. The woman's brother-in-law is her accuser.

The Disbrow Case.

GOOD GROUND, N. Y., July 3.—The examination in the case of Louis A. Disbrow, who is accused of having murdered Sarah Lawrence and Clarence Foster on the morning of June 15 last, has been formally begun by Justice of the Peace Edward H. Foster in Good Ground. The widow of Clarence Foster was present in court when the hearing was begun.

Insurance Company Accused.

NEW YORK, July 3.—An application has been filed in the United States circuit court for a receiver for the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association and the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, of which Frederick A. Burnham is president. It is alleged that in the organization of the insurance company gross frauds were committed.

Coal Operators Confident.

ROANOKE, Va., July 3.—Reports from the Pocahontas and Flat Top coalfields to the Norfolk and Western Railway company indicate that the operators are satisfied with the progress being made. The present loading in the Pocahontas and Flat Top fields is fully 75 per cent of the normal output.

A Place For Jenkins.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Roosevelt yesterday determined on the appointment of Major Micah Jenkins, his army comrade and friend, as collector of internal revenue of the district of South Carolina, vice George E. Koester, who failed of confirmation.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Independence Day is at hand! To the patriotic minded, it recalls visions of sturdy continentals fighting for liberty and the progress of the greatest country of the world. Those whose thoughts are only of the present realize that a day of pleasure and enjoyment is at hand. The small boy is so beside himself with excitement that he can talk or think of nothing else but the glorious Fourth and how he means to celebrate it. To everyone it means that the usual routine of life is to be laid aside temporarily and the day observed as he or she happens to see fit.

Here in a spot where the battling hosts tramped and camped in the days of the Revolution, it seems as if there should be a more full realization of the meaning of Independence Day. It is not a meaningless holiday, ordained by Congress to give the people a rest and chance for recreation. It is not for the pure fun of the thing that the custom of demonstrating with the aid of fire-crackers and fire-works was started and is now continued. All these things mark the anniversary of the birth of a nation and the day is observed to keep in memory the day when the Declaration of Independence was signed and the thirteen colonies were freed from the British yoke. It was a fateful day for the American people and just as important to you and me as it was to the men and women of a century ago.

It used to be the habit to hold an Independence Day celebration in almost every city and town on the Fourth of July. The Declaration of Independence was read and some smooth-tongued orator declaimed on the American nation and its wonderful progress. While such celebrations are still being held, they are by no means as numerous as they used to be. Sorrowful to say, the people are beginning to think them old-fashioned. It does not go to signify, however, that the American people are any the less patriotic when the necessity arises or that the country does not appreciate all its liberties and benefits. The last generation knew of the times of the Revolution from the lips of their parents and grandparents and so those days seemed far more real than they do to those who know of them only as matters of history set forth on printed pages. It is natural, therefore, that the old way of observing the day should gradually pass away.

It will be well, however, if every good citizen will pause a moment in tomorrow's celebration to think just what the day means and how his grand and glorious country was made possible by the action of that little band of patriots who gathered in that hall in Philadelphia, July 4, 1776. The wise parent will not forget to let his son know why it is that he burns powder, and incidentally himself, perhaps, so lavishly on this one day in the year. As long as the nation lasts, the remembrance of the day and its significance should not fade from the minds of a single one who lays claim to the name of an American citizen.

According to the Philadelphia Record a railroad manager affirms that an immense proportion of the passenger traffic of the time is the direct result of newspaper advertising. "It is because of the railroad advertising," he says, "that 60,000 people go to California every autumn and winter; that tens of thousands of Eastern people go to Colorado, and that more than 100,000 people visited the far Northwest in March and April of this year."

It was welcome news to the Plainfield friends of Lewis S. Thomas, who was formerly engaged in newspaper work in this city, when it was discovered that he was not the school teacher named Thomas who was missing in the Philippines but that the missing man hailed from Providence, R. I. When there was also news that the missing man was still alive although a prisoner, there was rejoicing in the homes of both of the young men.

Owing to the press of other news Saturday morning, it is requested that all those with notices to go in the church column have them at this office not later than 9 o'clock that morning.

While there will be no public celebration, there will be plenty to do in Plainfield. A variety of attractions have been arranged and will be found in detail in another column.

It is interesting to note that for the fiscal year ending Monday, New Jersey's State treasury shows a balance of $2,698,202, an increase of nearly $500,000 over last year.

As tomorrow will be Independence Day, a legal holiday, The Daily Press will not be published.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Baseball galore will be the order of things in town tomorrow. In the morning the Y. M. C. team will play the team from the American Engine Works at Bound Brook, and in the afternoon will play a team composed of the married men of the town. Some good baseball will be seen as some of the married men were cracks in their younger days and claim they have lost none of their prowess. The Dunellen A. C. will play at Raritan in the afternoon.

Judging from the last few days the small boys of the town are prepared to beat all previous records for noise tomorrow. A large cannon was set off several times last night and scared a number of horses.

The West End Juniors, of Plainfield, defeated the Silver Leaves, of this place, in an exciting game on the former's grounds yesterday morning by a score of 18 to 16.

The court of the Park Tennis Club will be well patronized tomorrow. A large number of the members of the club will be home and play will no doubt be interesting.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the borough, has been granted a pension by the Government. Mr. Fletcher served through the Civil War as a chaplain.

Lewis Churchill has acepted a position with an electrical engineering company for the summer and will start in next week.

Thomas Conley, the young son of William Conley, is rapidly recovering from a severe illness and his recovery is fully expected.

The Dunellen Juniors are trying to arrange a game of ball with the Laurels of Bound Brook, a crack junior team.

Billy Giles will play shortstop for Dunellen tomorrow, the first time he has been in the game since his recent illness.

Miss Nellie Brown and Miss Edith Wilson visited in Plainfield this morning.

Prayer meeting was largely attended last evening in the local churches.

Miss Louise Brakeley has returned home after a visit in Easton, Pa.

Frank Fetcher is spending a few days vacation at home.

J. Allen is recovering from a slight illness.

The W. C. T. U. will meet today as usual.

NEW MARKET.

Harry Kenyon, a popular young man from this place, was given a surprise party last evening by a number of his young friends in honor of his birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent with music and games and other social amusements.

Band practice will be held this evening in Recreation Hall. The band will not play at Plainfield tomorrow as was expected.

An out of town pitcher has been secured for tomorrow's game with Metuchen.

Joseph Kellogg, of New York, has left for home after a stay in the township.

The ball team practiced last evening in preparation for tomorrow's game.

Abram Nelson has secured a new delivery horse.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

No special programme has been arranged for the observance of the Fourth in town. Two baseball games will be played. This will be an incentive for many to stay in town for the day, but a number who are not interetesd in the game will spent the day at the several pleasure resorts.

Little Malcolm, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marsh, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at Munhlenberg Hospital, Monday, continues to improve and hopes are entertained for an early recovery.

Fanwood Bucket and Engine Company held its regular monthly meeting in its rooms last night. The Bucket and Engine Company has taken a new lease of life during the past few months.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets in its rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. Routine business and the nomination of an inside and outside sentinel is the business to be transacted.

George Allen, catcher of the local team last year, is putting up a good game behind the bat for the Safe Works team of the City League, Plainfield.

Miss Nancy Wade, of Mahwah, this State, is spending part of her summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, of Stanbery avenue.

Baseball tomorrow will be 10:30, Rahway Field Club; 3:30, Garwood A. C. team. Saturday the Xavier Deaf Mutes will be the attraction.

The last meeting of the season of the teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held tonight at the home of Miss Laura Bornmann.

The Public Library Association realized about $40 from its cake and ice cream sale, held in the library rooms Friday.

The regular monthly covenant meeting of the members of the Baptist church was held in the church parlors last night.

Miss Ida Buckley, of Plainfield, has been spending a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. James Buckley.

Miss Sadie Hueston, of Brooklyn, is visting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. John Marsh, of Park avenue.

A number have been added to the membership roll and the company is in a flourishing condition.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Westfield races will be a drawing attraction, tomorrow, for those who are interested in good horseflesh.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter LaTourette are spending today visiting their daughter, Mrs. Foster, of Brooklyn.

Miss Maude Smith has returned home after a prolonged visit with friends in New Rochelle.

The railroad gates at the station have received a fresh coat of white paint.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaTourette visited in Jersey City, yesterday.

THOMPSON SATISFIED.

Is Reported as Saying That Judge Lanning for Congress Suited Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 3—Word was received yesterday, direct from former Senator Lewis A. Thompson, of Somerset county, that the nomination of former Judge Lanning as the Republican Congressional nominee in the new Fourth district will be perfectly satisfactory and pleasing to him. Mr. Thompson has himself been very generally talked of as a Congressional possibility.

A leading Republican of Somerset county, who is close to Senator Thompson, was in Trenton yesterday, and declared that the county would fall into line for Lanning at the proper time.

Reception to Parishoners.

Rev. Wm. Vincent Dawson, of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, last evening, tendered a reception in the rectory and guild house to members of the parish. The affair was strictly informal and was largely attended by the parishoners. Receptions of this kind will be held monthly at the rectory.

Has More Fowls.

Umpire Bert Bodine is an acknowledged authority on "fowls." He has just added some fine imported bantams to his already choice collection of fine birds.

To Play at High Bridge.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps has been engaged to play at a Fourth of July celebration in High Bridge, Friday.

Addition Nearly Completed.

The work of building an addition on the chapel of the First Presbyterian church is nearing completion.

Members of the Park Golf Club who visit the course of that club will find plenty to interest them. In the morning, starting at 9 o'clock, there will be a men's bogie handicap ball sweepstakes, eighteen holes. The usual rules governing a ball sweepstakes will be in force. In the afternoon, a handicap competition, medal play, for the Holiday cup will be held. Play starts at 2 o'clock. At 4:30, an approaching and putting contest for mixed couples will be held. Tea will be served at the club house during the afternoon and all friends of the club will be welcomed.

According to the good old custom, the Fourth of July will be duly celebrated at the Park Club, tomorrow. The club handicap tournament, which was started several weeks ago, is now almost completed and the concluding matches will be played in it tomorrow morning and afternoon. Then there will be opportunity for play by the members outside of that event. There will be an informal reception at the clubhouse during the afternoon and an orchestra will play. At 5 o'clock, a display of day fireworks will be seen. The evening programme will include a fine exhibition of firewalks on the lawn at 8:15 o'clock and an informal dance in the clubhouse an hour later. The display of fireworks will be the most elaborate of any in the city or borough this year.

A host of guests are expected at the Hotel Netherwood to assist in the celebration of the Fourth of July. During the day, tennis and clock golf will furnish attractions in the immediate neighborhood of the hotel while the patriotic ball, arranged for the evening, promises to be one of the social events of the season. Many Plainfield social folk are expected. The programme for the dance will be as follows:

Two Step—On Duty . . . . . Rosey
Waltz—Independence Day . . . . . Gallaer
Two Step—Blaze Away . . . . . Holzmann
Lanciers—All Hands Around . . . Zimmermann
Two Step—Hurrah Boys . . . . . Lacalle
Waltz—Our Army and Navy . . . . . King
Two Step—Washington Post . . . . . Sousa
Waltz—Fire Crackers . . . . . Landolt

INTERMISSION.

Two Step—The Scorcher . . . . . Rosey
Waltz—Red, White and Blue . . . . . Margis
Two Step—The Gay Filipino . . . . . Stoeckle
Waltz—The Sailor Boy . . . . . DePool
Virginia Reel—Our Southern Cousins, Risenhauser
Two Step—Stars and Stripes . . . . . Sousa
Waltz—Sweet Repose . . . . . Witt
Two Step—Rough Rider . . . . . Hollinger

Although Westfield generally comes to the front on the Fourth with a public attraction, this year will pass by without one being held. Instead there will be a baseball game at Recreation Park in the morning between the Westfield's and the Garwood A. C. and in the afternoon the Fair Acres Driving Club holds a race meet at the Fair Acres track. The Westfield ball team goes to Perth Amboy in the afternoon.

The women of the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church are making special preparations for the celebration of the Fourth of July. Opening at 11 o'clock and continuing through the evening, everything will be on hand to suit the appetite.

At Dunellen tomorrow, the principal point of interest will be Central Park at the trolley terminus where a celebration will be given by the Epworth League of the Methodist church. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Frank Fletcher and Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook. Supper will be served under tents at a moderate cost in the evening and good music will help to pass the time pleasantly. There will be a number of other amusements for the children and older people as well.

Thanked for Assistance.

The pledges in Trinity Reformed church on Sunday morning, June 22, for the Anti-Saloon League amounted to $74. They were forwarded to Rev. Dr. Brittain, of Newark, who occupied the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church on that Sunday. At the prayer meeting in the church last evening a letter from Dr. Brittain was read in which he thanked the members for the generous response.

Composed by a Guest.

At the sacred concert at the Hotel Netherwood, Sunday evening, J. B. Hollinger, 'celloist, will render a 'cello solo, the music for which is at present being composed by Mrs. Bertram Sears, of New York, a guest at the hotel.

To Return Arms.

John Hand Camp, Sons of Veterans, not having further use for the arms loaned by the State, is making preparation to return them to Trenton within a short time.

Will Exchange Pulpits.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., of Trinity Reformed church, and M. Seymour Pardy, of Marconnier chapel, will exchange pulpits Sunday morning.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

W. W. Wilson, the West Third street grocer, has a large stock of fruits and vegetables, always fresh, and at prices to tempt the multitude.

A large quantity of bedding out plants and an abundance of cut flowers at Stanley's, the North avenue florist. Floral design work is a specialty.

Warnock's ice cream continues to be the favorite. It is sold in all the popular varieties, wholesale or retail. Orders telephoned will be delivered any day in the week.

There are lots of drinks for hot weather, but the best of all is cold water. Get one of those stone coolers Gavett sells and you have a thirst quencher that is unsurpassed.

Have you noticed that Bonn, the milliner, displays the most fashionable millinery? These hats will compare favorably with those to be found in New York and the prices are within the reach of all.

The most toothsome ice cream in the most delicious soda in the city is at John P. Powers', the Somerset street pharmacy, where you can get all popular drinks in the finest style, including the renowned grape juice.

Callahan & Son, the Richmond street grocers, want all housewives to note their cash specials. It is to their advantage as well as that of the firm to buy at these sales. They are conducted every day in the week.

The Paris Cloak Store, on West Front street, is offering Fourth of July specials that are sure to attract the women. Shirt waists, in a wide variety and walking skirts that are well made are some of these specials at low prices.

This is ideal weather to have painting and papering done in your home and there is no one who will give you better satisfaction than the New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue. They carry a large stock of goods and all work is guaranteed.

PERSONAL.

Miss Eliza Osmun, of West Third street, has returned after a two weeks stay with relatives at Changewater.

W. J. Rand, of Watchung avenue, leaves this afternoon with a party of friends from Amherst, for a camping party in Massachussetts.

Miss Mary French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John French, of Central avenue, left yesterday for a short outing with out-of-town friends.

Thomas Lloyd and his sisters, the Misses Lloyd, of Washington avenue, have returned from Asbury Park, where they have spent several weeks.

Miss Carrie Elliott, of Madison avenue, and her niece, Miss Bessie VanArsdale, of Grove street, have gone to Nyack-on-the Hudson to visit friends.

Preparatory Service.

The regular preparatory service was held last evening at the First Presbyterian church and Sunday morning the Lord's Supper will be observed.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 6—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The Father's care.—Matt. vi, 25-34; Ps. ciii, 13, 14.

God is revealed unto us under many different names and titles in His word, but none of these is so precious as the special revelation of Christ that He is our Father, carrying with it as He declares a father's love and care. The Fatherhood of God is no nominal relationship. Its reality is as sure as its preciousness. As our Father, God loves us, is specially interested in us and provides for us. "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat and body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air, for they sow not, neither do they reap or gather into barns; yet your Heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?" God as our Father does care for us.

God's fatherly care does not mean exemption from trials and afflictions in this life. Though many draw this conclusion, such a doctrine is not taught in the word of God or in Christian experience. The Bible clearly teaches that "in the world we shall have tribulation" and that "whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth. If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as sons, for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?" On the basis of God's fatherly care many illogically assumed that no afflictions and trials should come, and when they do they doubt God's existence or His loving care. Such doubts, however, are childish and foolish. God's care does not exempt us from the troubles of life. It does, however, guarantee that no troubles will come but what are for our good and that he will sustain us in them. What seems good to us is ofttimes ill, and what seems the worst is often for the best. God sees the end as well as the beginning and is therefore better able to judge what is best for us. We cannot understand all His dealings with us, but when we cannot understand we can trust, and what we do not know now we shall know hereafter.

God's fatherly care should make us calm and confident amid all the diversities of our present life. Our Father can and He will take care of us. "Therefore take no thought saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or Wherewithal shall we be clothed? For after all these things do the gentiles seek; for your Heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. Wherefore take no thought for the morrow, for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Thus spoke the Master Himself, who understood the loving care of our Heavenly Father as did no one else, and hence we can rely upon what He says. "God will take care of you. Be not afraid."

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xxviii, 10-22; Job xxxviii, 39-41; Ps. xxiii, 1-6; xxxvii, 5; liv, 22; cxlvii, 1-9; Isa. xl, 25-31; Luke xii, 13-32; Phil. iv, 1-6; Heb. xiii, 5, 6; I Pet. v, 6-9.

Roll the Stone You Cannot Drag.

I saw some men building a stone wall the other day, and they were putting into it some enormous stones that they wanted to get out of the driveway to the house. Some of them were so large that a pair of strong horses were unable to drag them. When they found that this was the case, the man in charge, without being in the least sense defeated, hitched the chain around the rock in such a way that, instead of dragging it, it would roll it over. While the horses were not strong enough to drag the stone, they could roll it over very easily, and so they rolled it over and over again until they got it into its place. There is a good lesson in that. Some people do all the work of life in the hardest way. If they can't drag their stones of difficulty, then they leave them and give up as defeated. But that is not wise, for among our daily trials and burdens of life, as well as among the rocks on the New England side hills, there is many a stone too big to drag that can be rolled into a place of service.—Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D., in Christian Endeavor World.

Teaching Children Religion.

Some think that children should not be biased in their religious ideas, but left to choose for themselves. It is a nice but impracticable theory. The truth is that the world and their own minds are full of the things which bias in the direction of evil, and as between a bias toward evil and a bias toward good we must decide, and decide very early. Anyhow, God seeks the opening bud, not the withering leaf.—Presbyterian Banner.

Thoroughgoing Faith.

Thoroughgoing faith is neither daring nor joyous. It is unconscious of itself. It is the background whence proceed happy energies seeking the ends for which they were wrought into the soul of man.—Christian Register.

Infidelity and Belief.

Infidelity expends its strength in fighting and trying to destroy Christianity. Christianity expends its strength in reforming, ennobling and elevating the human race.—Religious Telescope.

Fair Weather Friends.

The friendship that does not reach you in your hour of adversity is little worthy of the name. Fair weather friends are, after all, enemies in disguise.—Presbyterian Journal.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 6, "Constant Companionship." Text, John xiv, 15-28; Matt. xxviii, 20.

"We will come unto him and make our abode with him."

The deepest of all earthly mysteries lies hidden here. How can God manifest himself to some and others not see or know anything about it? There are many blessings and manifestations which God gives to men that are so open and plain in the sight of all men that no concealment is possible. Vigorous health, ability of body or mind, birth in a worthy family and among favorable surroundings, prosperity in business and a thousand things all show the favor of God and His goodness to men. To any one who will open mind and soul to understand they speak of God most plainly and show to the one who has received them that he owes all to God and reveals the nature, purposes and wishes of God to him.

Multitudes take the benefits and give no thought of gratitude to the Giver and bestow no care on His plans and claims for service. Still less is the relation of Jesus Christ recognized and His service accepted. The invisible is to many the nonexistent, but the real is that which lies back of all the visible and makes it what it is. The true man is back of body and brain and all the physical. He is active in and through these, but they are not the man. His essential nature is different from the material form. His pleasures are different in kind from the mere gratification of physical appetites. His pain goes deeper than bodily suffering. He does hunger and thirst and grow weary and finds that food, drink and sleep do not reach the need. Hunger and thirst of soul, weariness and anguish of heart, the cry of a soul in distress calling for some brother soul, for some father heart and hand, crying in the dark and in the depths of the nature without sound of voice or movement of the lips—this is the need more insistent than all others.

To this soul appetite the Lord gives satisfaction. To one who calls upon Him in this way there is always response. To one who craves the companionship of God, the guidance into truth, the strengthening of right, the purity of penitence and joy of love, He comes and imparts of His own blessedness. These gifts do not carry with them by any manner of necessity new strength of body, brilliancy of mind or business prosperity. They are little if at all related to them. They give treasure of a different kind. Their blessedness is an endowment of soul. It is an inner possession. No outward sign may be seen except as the face may reflect the inner calm and joy and the step assume new elasticity and voice take on tones of gladness and all bodily powers feel the stimulus of the divine affection. But this is life in all its depth and fullness and highest value.

Whether we have much or little of earthly goods, whether few or many friends among men, whether we are brilliant or dull of mind, if the Father and Jesus have come to us and by the Holy Spirit abide with us and in us we have treasure that makes us rich and happy. Does God dwell with you now?

The Duty Remains.

It is very saddening and astonishing to notice how many good living, well intentioned Christians content themselves with the smallest public acknowledgment to Almighty God by attendance at His house on His own special day. Even the best disposed are not ashamed to go but once a day, though they may not have the excuse of duty, distance or delicacy to hold them back. Infinitely more seem to think that an uncertain and far less regular attendance is quite sufficient. The ingenuity of the apologies made is very wonderful and not a little varied. Nearly all begin and end without the faintest possible conception that the primary object of public service is to worship God. The accompaniments are merely details, and, though they should receive all due attention by those responsible for them and be conducted with reverence and in order, with a fitting sense of the people's needs, still their failure, if it exists, is no excuse. Music and preaching are two favorite pegs whereon to hang objections and deprecation. Granted that the first be poor and the second feeble, yet the duty of common prayer and public worship still remains.—Churchman.

Self Restraint.

Self restraint is good discipline, and it is only one who has learned to submit who is able to control others. It enables one to overcome the desire to speak rash words and commit rash acts. The tongue, that unruly member, has done untold harm. It has destroyed happiness, hopes and homes all because so few have learned to restrain its fatal liberty, and yet this, too, may be accomplished. That law of the members which wars against the law of the mind can be conquered, and there is more glory due to the one who ruleth his own spirit than for him that taketh a city.—Presbyterian Banner.

Do What Lies at Hand.

Our grand business undoubtedly is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand.—Carlyle.

Compensation.

God's consolations cannot come
Till pain has come before;
God's peace is only fully known
After the tempest's roar;
God's love is sweetest when it fills
The heart that aches with loss;
God's crown for us waits still beyond
The pathway of the cross.

WOMEN MECHANICS.

Foundries and Machine Shops Where They Earn Good Wages.

The natural result of taking away from them nearly all the work that women formerly did at home and transferring it to shops and factories, where it is done by machinery, is that women follow the work into the shops and factories. To assist in making the machines and appurtenances employed in the shops is only one more step, and that step some of the girls have already taken.

In a beautiful region of New York state, a place where the air and water are as pure as they were at creation's morn, where smoke and dust do not as yet veil the sunshine so that mortal eye never sees its true brightness, there is a great milk condensing plant, one of the largest of all. A few women are employed in it, and scores of women come driving to it every day in their clean wagons full of shining cans to deliver milk to the factory.

Near the cannery itself stands another building, like everything else about the establishment, immaculately clean. In this building all the cans used in the great condensery are manufactured, and manufactured by girls and women. Scarcely a man is to be seen anywhere except the trained machinist-superintendent, who directs the work. Sheet tin is brought in packages to the factory. Girls manipulate the machines that cut it into strips for the cans. Others shape the strips round. Still others cut at a stroke the circular pieces that form the ends of the cans. On the pieces move as by clockwork to the solderers, likewise nice, clear eyed, clear skinned girls and women. The founder of the great milk condensing industry in the United States had cleanliness for a ruling hobby, and he enforced it so rigidly that every soul in his employ had to be spotlessly neat as to skin and clothing or get out.

The iron willed old gentleman's spirit seems to hover over that machine shop and cannery to this day, for both are really cleaner than many a city woman's parlor. The women in the machine shop wear pretty, light cotton wash dresses, for the work does not greatly soil hands or clothes. You could not find a pleasanter sight in a year's journey than these women at work. They earn very good wages, too, for a country neighborhood, $4 to $7 a week.

In Philadelphia the new woman has gone beyond making milk cans and is actually employed today in an iron and brass foundry. For her task here considerable physical strength is required. She does not do the actual work of making castings, but she makes the cores which are used in the process. If a wheel with a hole in the center is to be cast, it must have something in the center to keep the molten iron from running all together solid. That something to make the central opening is called a "core." It is required for all hollow castings. Most castings are hollow; many cores are necessary.

A core must be of material that red-hot iron will not melt or burn. Such a material is sand, which must be mixed with other noncombustible substances to make its particles stick together. The new woman takes the mixture and rams it solidly into a mold to give it shape. After she has done this another new woman covers the still soft core with lampblack paint. It is now ready to be baked like a piece of earthenware in an oven. Now comes in the task of a third new woman. The first and second girls turn out the cores shaped and painted as rapidly as possible; the third one gathers as many of them as she can conveniently carry upon a tray and takes them carefully to the oven, precisely as if they were biscuit upon a molding board. The oven is very hot, and the core is kept in it till the raw material is fused and baked hard and brittle. The lampblack paint comes out a hard, shining polish, so smooth the molten metal will not stick to it.

Of the cores that are small and easily made one set of three girls is able under good conditions to turn out 3,000 to 4,000 a day; of the larger, more complicated ones, not so many. The work is not so clean or so light as making tin cans, but is as well paid.

Women are employed in preference to men for the making of the cores because their fingers are more nimble and they can turn out more work in a given time than boys could. The girls are well treated and enjoy their occupation.

A woman, too, has lately made a small hand loom which is an article of perpetual use and entertainment in the home and schoolroom. She is Mrs. M. P. Todd of the Minneapolis public schools. Her invention grew out of her endeavor to give her pupils object lessons in the textile fabric industry.

MARY EDITH DAY.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

"I understand. We must guard against that. You must not be dragged into it. But since you can't go to the captain, what will you do?"

"I—I wrote a letter to Mr. Galbraith."

"And you have not yet sent it?"

"No; otherwise I shouldn't have spoken to you."

"To be sure. But now you must rewrite it, without signing it, and send it. I suppose you have described me so the officers will have no difficulty?"

"Ye-es; that is, I tried to. But why mustn't I sign it? They will pay no attention to an anonymous letter; and, besides, it seems so—so cowardly."

"They will telegraph to every river town within an hour after it reaches New Orleans; you needn't doubt that. And as for its being cowardly, it is nothing of the kind. It is your duty to point me out, and when that is done your responsibility ceases. There are plenty of people who can identify me if I am taken to New Orleans."

"It is very dreadful," she murmured; "only you don't seem to realize it at all."

"Don't I? You must remember that I have been arguing from your point of view. I shall escape if I can do it without taking advantage of your candor."

By this time her fear of him had so far departed that she asked him what he would do.

"I shan't try to run away. So far you have bound me by your frankness. When the officers appear, my parole will be at an end. Is that fair?"

"It is more than fair. I can't understand."

"Can't understand what?"

"How you can do this—how you could do what you did last night, and yet—"

He finished the sentence for her. —"And yet be a robber of banks. I suppose it is a bit puzzling—from your point of view. But there are many things indivisible by any rule of two. May I go now?"

She suffered him, and when he was gone she went to her room to rewrite her letter. She finished it and hurriedly gave it to the night clerk, and straightway knew that her peace of mind was wrecked for the remainder of the voyage.

Such, indeed, was the fact. After time enough had elapsed to admit of the letter reaching New Orleans she became a coward of landings, fearing lest she should see him taken.

Nor was Griswold without his nerve-wrenchings, though as the voyage grew older he began to take heart of grace. In the ordinary course of things, Miss Farnham's letter should have reached New Orleans in time to have procured his arrest at Greeneville; but when the Mississippi town was passed, and many others farther on, he began to fear that she had recanted, and to bewail his broken ideal.

He had no means of knowing that her letter had lain on the clerk's desk until Cairo was reached, but such was the pregnant fact, and to this oversight Griswold owed his first sight of the St. Louis landing.

It was at the landing, at the very end of the long period of suspense, that Charlotte saw the final act in the drama.

The swing-stage was poised in air, and two men dropped from its outward end and dragged the mooring line to a ring in the levee pavement. And then, while she looked, there was a scuffle of four, a darting away of one of the Julie's men with a small bundle and one of the attackers in hot pursuit, followed immediately by the surrender of the other. The great eye of the searchlight over her head swung slowly shoreward, and she saw the prisoner's face and the glint of metal when the officer handcuffed him.

Whereupon her eyes filled and she saw no more. For, when all was said, it was she and no other who had clasped the manacles upon the wrists of the man who was on his way to punishment.

CHAPTER XI.

After all the despairings on the score of the lost treasure, it had come to light in the final half hour of the voyage; had not been disturbed, as the finding proved. Some sudden jar had shifted the cargo of coffee, closing the cranny into which the treasure had been thrust, and opening another one.

With the prize once more in hand, Griswold had a return of the levitant joy which had thrilled him in the earliest moment of success. Once again he was on fighting terms with the world; and if, as he made sure, the final struggle was awaiting him on the levee at St. Louis, he should not fight as one to whom victory is barren.

He made ready for the possible struggle while there was yet time. The negro whose part he had taken in the melee with the mate was grateful, and of him Griswold made a confederate. They would go ashore together on the mooring line, and in event of an attack the negro was to snatch the bundle and run. Further than that, his instructions were brief but definite. If Griswold should be overpowered, the bundle, certified by its owner to contain "conjure," harmless if undisturbed, was to be flung into the river. And for all this Griswold paid well, and in advance.

It fell out much as he had prefigured. When the Belle Julie had edged her way into the flotilla of steamers at the landing Griswold and the black trailed the mooring line up to a ring on the paved slope. There was a noonday glare of electric light, and the thick-piled pyramids of freight on the paved levee cast inky shadows. Out of the nearest of the shadows leaped two men at the moment of rope-knotting, and the fight was on.

At the critical instant Griswold dropped his bundle, and the negro snatched it and ran, with one of the officers in pursuit. And a battle-blown minute later the fugitive found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver. Even then he would have fought on had he not caught a glimpse of Charlotte looking down from the Belle Julie's guard. But, knowing what it would mean to her to see him shot down in a struggle for which she was responsible, he chose the greater of the two evils and submitted.

So it was that the air castles crumbled and he was marched unresistingly up the levee and thrust into a waiting carriage. Here there was a slight hitch in the official programme. Five minutes passed, and the officer's colleague had not yet brought in the negro; and when impatience blossomed into thirst the officer went into a saloon hard by to get a drink, first commanding the cabman to come down and watch the prisoner.

The driver was a little, wizened Irishman, and he went about the guard duty with whining protest. Griswold saw his opportunity, and seized it when the detective's back was turned.

"What's your job worth, my man?" he whispered, with his face at the window.

"Don't yez be timptin' a poor man wid a wife an' sivin childer hangin' to um—don't yez do it, sor!"

But Griswold persisted. "It's a hundred dollars to you if you can get me footloose. Have a runaway—anything! Here's your money!"

The cabman took the sheaf of banknotes. Followed a quick swish of the whip, and the purchased runaway; the driver hanging to the reins like a faint-hearted Autolycus.

Griswold saw the detective dash out of the saloon at the alarm, and waited only until the electric glare was left behind. Then he opened the door on the river side of the plunging carriage and rolled out.

FIREMEN RETURN.

A Break In Strikers' Ranks at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 3.—The first break in the ranks of the striking firemen occurred yesterday afternoon, when three former employees of the Kingston Coal company applied for work and were given their old places. Three firemen who went out at the Pine Ridge mine of the Delaware and Hudson company at Miners Mills also requested that their old places be given to them, and the superintendent of the colliery said that they might have them.

Since the strike of steam men was inaugurated on June 2 a large number of engineers and pumpmen have gone back to work, but the firemen remained firm. The officers of the Stationary Firemen's association stated last night that they attach no significance to a few of their number returning to work.

A number of justices of the peace in Luzerne county were kept busy during the day giving hearings to men charged with inciting and participating in riots at coal mines. Early in the morning Deputy Sheriff Eckert brought four men from Freeland, charged with engaging in a riot at that place. The prisoners were taken before Magistrate Pollock for a hearing. The justice's office was crowded to suffocation. Among the spectators was National Board Member John Fallon, who was present to see that the arrested men got fair play. A number of deputies testified that the prisoners gathered in the road leading to one of the mines and tried to intimidate some fellow employees. One of the men pointed a revolver at one of the deputies. The riot act was then read, and, the mob refusing to disperse, the deputy sheriff and his posse put the ringleaders under arrest.

At strike headquarters it was claimed that the arrests were an outrage and that the men should have been given a hearing at their homes instead of being railroaded to Wilkesbarre. The magistrate, after hearing all the evidence, held the defendants in $500 bail for trial at court. Mr. Fallon could not furnish the bail, and the four men had to go to jail.

County Detective Phillips of Lackawanna county went to the William A. colliery and placed seven of the coal and iron policemen on duty there under arrest. They are charged with the shooting Tuesday of the Italian whose dead body was found outside of the barricade by a passerby. The officers were taken to Scranton and arraigned before Magistrate Howe. They were held in $1,000 bail to answer at court.

Mitchell Not Successful.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 3.—The efforts of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America to effect a settlement of the differences in the Michigan district, in which the miners have been out on strike since April 1, have not been as yet successful. President Mitchell addressed a joint conference of operators and mine workers here yesterday afternoon and made an earnest appeal to both parties to come to terms. Mr. Mitchell has left for Wilkesbarre.

"A HELPING HAND"

Is Gladly Extended by a Plainfield Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Plainfield prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years; I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp, darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulties. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

EARLY CORONATION.

King Gains Steadily and Desires to Be Crowned.

QUIET RELIGIOUS AFFAIR PLANNED.

Indian Troops Parade, and Queen Watches Pageant From Palace Balcony—Edward Sends Personal Congratulations.

LONDON, July 3.—The steady improvement of King Edward is fully maintained. The statement in the latest bulletin is that the king maintains his steady progress. The local pains being less, the days are passed with greater comfort.

It is said to be the king's earnest desire to have the coronation take place at the earliest possible date. The ceremony will be much quieter than was originally intended, and its religious character will be strongly emphasized.

King Edward passed another good day. The quiet and routine of the royal sickroom was varied by the excitement of listening to the music and cheers of the Indian troops as they marched past the palace and greeted Queen Alexandra on the balcony. King Edward demanded a full account of the review, and the formal report made by the Prince of Wales was supplemented by the personal narrative of the queen.

His majesty dictated a letter to the Duke of Connaught commanding him to compliment the colonial and Indian troops upon their excellent appearance and to thank them for their expressions of loyalty and sympathy which he had heard with pleasure in his sickroom. King Edward was somewhat disappointed that he was not able to see the march past of the troops. He had hoped that this would be possible from an invalid couch in a window of the palace, but the king's doctors were unwilling that their patient should risk this exposure and excitement, and his majesty had to content himself with hearing the troops without seeing them.

Tuesday's great military display encouraged an even greater number of people to turn out yesterday to witness the review of 1,300 Indian troops who had come here for the coronation. The sky was overcast, but no rain fell.

The Bengal lancers, the Bombay grenadiers, the Madras pioneers, the Sikhs, Goorkhas and many others were received with enthusiastic cheering while on the way to the Horse Guards parade.

The First Life guards escorted Queen Alexandra, the Princess of Wales and the Princess Victoria to the reviewing stand. The Prince of Wales, in the uniform of a general, rode from York House. Lord Roberts preceded him and received a tremendous welcome from the crowd. After inspection the troops marched past, the Prince of Wales receiving the royal salute.

The Prince and Princess of Wales gave a brilliant dinner party at York House last night in honor of the visiting Indian princes.

A unique and impressive scene was witnessed in St. Paul's cathedral when some 2,000 doctors assembled beneath the dome of the building and offered prayers for the king's recovery. Many of the doctors wore their academic robes. A litany was sung in procession, the doctors joining in the singing.

A Bishop Investigated.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 3.—The examination into the charges of conduct unbecoming a bishop preferred against Bishop Talbot of the central Presbyterian diocese, Protestant Episcopal church, by Rev. Dr. Ingram N. W. Irvine of Philadelphia was conducted in executive session here by the board of inquiry recently appointed by Bishop Dudley of Kentucky, and after hearing the testimony of Dr. Irvine, whom the accused bishop unfrocked while serving as rector of St. John's parish, Huntingdon, Pa., and other witnesses the board adjourned without making public its verdict.

Bison, Wild and Tame.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The total number of buffalo or bison, both full and mixed blood, in the United States is 1,143, according to a report submitted to congress by the interior department based on correspondence with various states. Of this number seventy-two are running wild, of which fifty are in Colorado and the remainder in the Yellowstone National park. The number of buffalo or bison domesticated or in captivity, including full and mixed bloods, is 1,071. In the United States the domesticated buffalo appear to be increasing.

Examination Frauds.

PRINCETON, N. J., July 3.—One of the most flagrant cases of cribbing in the history of Princeton university has just come to light. Out of thirty candidates for admission to the university who took entrance examinations a few days ago at Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., twenty have been rejected on the ground of fraud.

Italian King's Russian Trip.

ROME, July 3.—King Victor Emmanuel, accompanied by Signor Prinetti, the minister of foreign affairs, will start for St. Petersburg via Berlin July 9 to visit the czar. He will remain there three days and return to Italy direct. The health of the queen of Italy will prevent her from accompanying her husband to Russia.

Boer Prisoners Reach Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, July 3.—The steamship Canada has arrived here with 400 Boers, who were formerly prisoners on the island of St. Helena, on board. The Canada is the first transport bringing former Boer prisoners back to South Africa to reach here.

If You Wear a Watch In a Factory or Shop

you should have a Jas. Boss Stiffened Gold Case in order to protect the works and lessen the cost of repairs. The Boss Case is made of two layers of solid gold with a layer of stiffening metal between. It is better than a solid gold case because it is stronger and so close-fitting as to keep out gas, smoke, dust and dampness.

JAS. BOSS Stiffened GOLD Watch Cases

are recognized as the standard the world over, and sold as such by all jewelers. The Boss is the only stiffened case in use long enough to prove by actual wear that they will outlast the 25-year guarantee. There is none "just as good." The Keystone trade-mark here shown is stamped in each Boss case.

FATAL RUNAWAY.

Metuchen Hears of a Serious Accident Which Can't be Confirmed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Metuchen, July 3—It is reported here that a runaway occurred on the road to Plainfield early yesterday afternoon in which a woman was badly injured and a child killed. The horse was frightened at a firecracker. It is said that an automobile carried the injured woman to Plainfield. It has been impossible to learn the names of those in the accident or any further details. It is said the woman lived in Plainfield.

Diligent inquiry has failed to find any woman in this city who was injured in such an accident.

LACK OF EVIDENCE.

John H. Fuller Non-Suited in Case for Damage Against Trolley Co.

The case of John H. Fuller, of LaGrande avenue, against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, for $10,000 damages for injuries received on August 18, by being thrown from one of the defendant company's cars, came up in the court of quarter sessions at Elizabeth yesterday.

After hearing the evidence the court non-suited the plaintiff on a ground of lack of sustaining evidence. George W. V. Moy, of this city, and Judge Lambert, of Newark, appeared for the plaintiff, and Frank Bergen for the company.

MOTORMAN HURT.

Jolted Off the Running Board and Landed Against Trolley Pole.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 3—While Secretary Radel, of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, was temporarily running a car on the Bound Brook-New Brunswick line, Tuesday, James Hardy, the regular motorman, was standing on the running board, was jolted off and thrown against a trolley pole. He was picked up in a dazed condition and was taken to his home in New Brunswick but has not since regained consciousness. He is injured principally about the head. The man is thirty years old and has a wife and three children.

TWO COMMITTEES.

One is Looking After the Pulpit Supplies and the Other for a Pastor.

The First Baptist church has a pulpit supply committee which is looking after the supplies until a successor to Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes is secured. Those secured by this committee to fill the pulpit are not considered as candidates for the regular pastorate. Another committee of six has been appointed to secure a pastor and this committee is entirely independent of the pulpit supply committee. As yet the committee to secure a regular pastor has taken no action.

HOPE Y. M. A.'S COUNTY FAIR WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Ten Thousand People Visited Hope Common Yesterday and Saw the Host of Varied Attractions Which Were Gathered There for the Occasion.

A SHAM BATTLE WAS HELD IN THE AFTERNOON.

FROM EARLY MORN UNTIL LATE AT NIGHT THE VISITORS SWARMED THE PLACE AND FOUND MUCH THERE TO INTEREST AND AMUSE THEMSELVES.

The Show in the Tent Was a Great Success—Those Who Participated—The Attractions on the Midway Included All the Usual Ones—Baseball Games Played Morning and Afternoon—Company K Boys and Guests Gave a Realistic Picture of War—Athletic Events Were Held During the Noon Hour—A Band Concert Was Held at Night—The Details of the Affair.

"The greatest success of its kind that has ever been seen in the city" is the one comment that is heard today with reference to the great "County Fair" of the Hope Y. M. A., held yesterday on the Common at West Eighth street and Spooner avenue. The difficult task of converting the field into a typical seaside resort with its varied list of attractions, minus the water, was accomplished by this organization of young men and, as a result, Plainfield witnessed the largest celebration that it has had in many years. At one time in the afternoon more than 6,000 people were on the grounds and at no time during the afternoon did the attendance go below half that number. In the ten hours that the celebration lasted there was not a dull moment. When the close came last night, the tired but happy young men realized their efforts to entertain the city had been appreciated.

It is estimated that fully 10,000 people visited the grounds during the day.

Visitors began to arrive on the grounds at 9 o'clock and their first view of the grounds impressed them with the fact that it was no "boys' affair." Weeks of work was represented by a complete midway supervised by "barkers" who might have been taken for veterans in the business and a group of booths and tents that it was hard to realize were only placed for the day.

At the entrance to the grounds beyond the executive committee's tent, which was used as headquarters for the sub-committees, was a steam carousal which was crowded all day. The sight of the children enjoying themselves on this end of the fair and the notes of the wheezy organ were all that was needed to enliven everyone's interest and start them going. The rest of the attractions were lined up in a double row leading from the carousal to the large tent which housed the concert and vaudeville show. These consisted of a soda water stand in charge of H. D. Thompson and A. Berry Marsh; a rifle range guarded by Arthur Ford; the "African Dodger" which consisted of a curtain through which Professor Walter Jones protruded his head and kept himself busy dodging the baseballs thrown at him; a candy and peanut table where these features of every fair were sold by Miss Laura Hangliter and Miss Eliza Osmun; a fishing pond where the visitors were beguiled into angling for prizes by M. D. Sweeney, Thomas Chamberlain and John Slorah; a roly-poly board consisting of boards with holes through them into which balls were rolled for prizes, in charge of Arthur Fluck; a "hit the baby" rack where the rows of dolls suffered at the hands of the expert throwers and the latter afterward suffered from the cigars handed out by Hugh Gray; a grab-bag in charge of Irving DeHart and John Fritts, where prizes were grabbed for; and a cane and knife rack looked after by William Firstbrook.

Beyond the midway in the south end of the field was a large refreshment stand with adjacent tables placed for the accommodation of all day visitors. This important part of the affair was supervised by a committee consisting of Fred Wharton, chairman, H. D. Thompson and Thomas Hendry. They received invaluable assistance from Mrs. Charles Dixon, Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Mrs. Arthur McVoy and the Misses Belle Slorah, Marion Porter, Nellie Mullen, Mabelle Firstbrook, Mary Duvier and other members of the Hope chapel Christian Endeavor Society.

As the day was warm, the cooling refreshments were much in demand and the young women were kept very busy filling orders. Some idea of the business transacted at this stand may be gleaned from the fact that three times the supply of ice cream and soda water became exhausted and as many truckloads were brought to replenish it.

Particularly laughable was a scene enacted at the main entrance to "the big show." Thomas McMaster Muir, costumed as a typical "Reuben," strutted up and down, advertising the affair. His make-up was ludicrous and it scored a decided hit. Before him, perched on a high stand, was W. L. Holbert, who heralded the wonders of the aggregation and incidentaly kept himself busy disposing of tickets. Bertram Collins Firstbrook, resplendent in an immaculate suit of duck, played the part of a "scalper," and divided honors with the regular ticket agent. Close by stood City Judge Runyon, whose manner betrayed the fact that the burden of the enterprise rested on his shoulders. This group of representatives easily convinced the spectators that it was worth while to patronize the affair and a brisk business was done.

The "concert," as it was called, was given at intervals of an hour and consisted of exceptionally fine vaudeville acts, six in number. Among them were head balancing and trapeze acts and feats on the unsupported ladder by James Irwin, a former member of the Irwin Brothers acrobats, known all over the country fifteen years ago, club swinging and other feats on the revolving sphere by Master Leo Irwin, Ethiopian songs and rag-time medleys by Butler and Owens, parodies on popular songs by Bowers and Haggerty, buck and wing and clog dancing by the ever popular Lusardi and Bowers, and sentimental ballards by James Herne Haggerty, a former member of one of Proctor's stock companies. Thomas Muir acted as announcer and William N. Runyon as accompanist.

With the host of smaller "fry," namely souvenir sellers, peanut venders and others who haunted the crowds with their wares, this completed the attractions on the midway, everyone of which a liberal patronage, some of them being surrounded by a crowd all the time.

The larger events which were included in the day's programme and which were as varied as they were numerous completed a programme which beyond doubt exceeded any ever given at a local Fourth of July celebration. Among them were two baseball games, one at 10:30 and the other at 3 o'clock between the crack Hope team and the Decatur A. C., amateur champions of New York and Brooklyn, both of which were won by the Hope team. These contests alone were witnessed by 2,000 people, in the morning and half as many more in the afternoon. At noon as series of athletic events were held in which the best and most laughable was the fat man's race which as won by John Kriney. The winner boasts of 275 pounds of avoirdupois but sped over the ground with surprising swiftness. His opponent as the genial John Conroy who was only a short distance behind when the line was crossed.

The event of the day was the sham battle given in the far part of the field in the afternoon between Company K of this city and a company of delegations from Company H, of New Brunswick, L, of Princeton, M, of Somerville and I and C, of Elizabeth. Captain W. K. Browning was in charge of the Plainfield company and acted on the offensive while Lieutenant Harry Kitchell, also of Company K, in charge of the visitors, remained on the defensive.

It was the first sham battle that has been given in this city in many years and it was witnessed and enjoyed by the largest crowd that was on the field during the day. The defenders attacked and retreated several times, then essayed a charge which ended in a surrender. The celebration terminated in the evening with a band concert which was listened to by a very large crowd.

In charge of the whole affair was an executive committee consisting of George E. Firstbrook, chairman, William N. Runyon, John H. Cose, Thomas Muir and David B. Martin.

They were ably assisted by other committees as follows: Entertainment, Thomas Muir, chairman, B. C. Firstbrook and Arthur Fritts; refreshment, Fred Wharton, chairman, H. D. Thompson and Thomas Hendry; fakir, M. D. Sweeney and William Schorb; baseball, John H. Cose and D. B. Martin. The merry-go-round was in charge of William Porter, and Walter Foster and Albert Utzinger. All the other members of the association assisted in many ways mainly in ticket selling and of these the principals were Charles Meyer, Charles F. McCann, William Nash, Raymond McVoy, William Newman, Harry Knight, George Fritts, Fred and Charles Dixon, Teddy Howe, Thomas Porter, David F. Stewart, Charles Harris, George Slorah and Archibald Hacquer.

The proceeds will be devoted to the Y. M. A. treasury and will be used in the fall for improvements to association's gymnasium. A business meeting will be held Tuesday evening when all the affairs connected with the day will be settled.

GOLF THIS MORNING.

Contest for Hillside Championship is Narrowed Down to Wright and Abbott.

In the semi-final play for the Club Championship cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course this morning, Howard deP. Wright defeated F. O. Reinhart, 4 up and 3 to play, and Robert Abbott defeated R. S. Rowland, 2 up. In the finals for the consolation cup Dr. B. VanD. Hedges defeated Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, 5 up and 4 to play, and Dudley H. Barrows defeated Roger F. Murray, 2 up and 1 to play. The finals will probably be played Monday, as there is a team match on this afternoon between Hillside and St. Paul's School team.

There were only two contestants for the Boys' cup this morning, Arthur Peterson, who now holds the lead, and James Scott. The scores were: Arthur Peterson, 95, 18—77; James Scott, 94, 16—78.

The standing for the Boys' cup is as follows:

	Points.
Arthur Peterson	12
Wickham Corwin	6½

DAY'S TROTTING.

Plenty of Good Sport at Fair Acres Driving Park, Westfield, Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 5—A most successful day's sport was held on the Fair Acres Driving Park at this place yesterday afternoon. A large crowd attended. The track was in fairly good condition and some fast time was made.

In the 2.15 class, purse $200, Ruth, owned and driven by George O. Smith, Orange, won first money in three straight heats, best time 2.18¼. In the 2.25 class, Dorothy S., owned by Horace Stokes, Hackettstown, N. J., and driven by W. H. Emery, came to the front for first money by winning three out of six heats, best time, 2.21½. Cigarette, a Plainfield horse, owned by A. J. Brantingham, and driven by T. Brantingham, was second. Billy D., owned by George A. Obl, Newark, and driven by A. M. Goldsmith won in the 2.30 class in three straight heats; best time, 2.22¼.

FOURTH AT THE NETHERWOOD

CULMINATING EVENT WAS THE PATRIOTIC BALL IN THE EVENING.

Tennis and Clock Golf Were Among the Attractions of the Day at That Hostelry.

The Fourth at the Hotel Netherwood was spent in a gala manner. There was a continual partiotic air about the house. In the morning the orchestra gave a concert with music appropriate to the day. The afternoon witnessed a tennis tournament and a generous patronage of clock-golf.

But it was in the evening that the greatest interest centered when the day's proceedings culminated with the grand patriotic ball, a function that had been eagerly looked forward to for the past week. Plainfield's society turned out in good force, and along with the hotel residents, kept up the dancing till the small hours of the morning. The music by the orchestra, under the direction of Frederick H. Landolt, was of the usual high order, and won many commendations from the assembly.

Those who found the atmosphere somewhat warm for the Terpsichorean art luxuriated amid the cool breezes that lingered around the piazza. That section of the house was indeed a favorite resort Men and women in evening dress sat around, giving the place an animated appearance. During the intermission all enjoyed the hospitality of the manager, when a delicious and cooling punch was served.

The decorations throughout were of an elaborate order. In the ball room over and around the windows hung boughs and leaves, while woodbine formed a green frame around and stretched diagonally across the mirrors. The mantel pieces were banked with pagonias, fuchias, geraniums, interspersed with varieties of ferns, with small American flags scattered effectively through the scheme.

The affair was the most successful function yet held at the Netherwood and surpassed anything of the kind ever given in Plainfield. This evening there will be the usual hop.

Plans for Chair Factory.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane granted a permit Thursday afternoon to James Craig, of West Front street, for the erection of a chair factory on North Front street, near Jefferson avenue. The new building will be 32 feet front by 80 feet deep, a frame structure, two stories high. Frank Stites will do the masonry work and Edward Luckhearst has the contract for the carpentering.

Benefit of His Mother.

For the benefit of the mother of the late Thomas Flynn, who previous to his death a few days ago had been an employe at the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, the men on the night force at that industry have recently subscribed $36.50. Part of that amount was spent in flowers, but the balance, $32.50, was turned over to the bereaved parent.

Adelmann Leads.

The Independent Gun Club held an all day shooting tournament on the Maple avenue range yesterday. John H. Adelmann made the highest score and is now leading in the yearly contest. Henry Haurand and D. Gavin are a close second. In the rifle shooting Christopher Stoeckler made the highest number of points.

Won the Dash.

Peter Dickerson, of East Second street, won the 100-yard dash at Galvin's Park yesterday afternoon.

TENNIS AND GOLF DIVIDED THE DAY'S HONORS

Enjoyable Programmes Marked the Passing of Independence Day at the Homes of the Three Local Tennis and Golf Clubs Yesterday.

PARK CLUB'S BIG TIME.

TENNIS, RECEPTION, FIREWORKS AND A DANCE WERE THE ATTRACTIONS AT THE PARK CLUB.

One of the Most Successful Celebrations of the Fourth Marked Yesterday at the Park Club—A Great Crowd Was in Attendance—The Details of the Various Amusements.

Never has a more successful Fourth of July been observed at the Park Club. Yesterday's round of entertainment was one continued success. All day the clubhouse and grounds were thronged with members and guests who enjoyed the tennis and informal reception of the afternoon, were mightily pleased by the display of fireworks in the evening and found in the dance which followed a fitting climax for all the pleasant times of the holiday.

The tennis began in the morning. A club tournament was started sometime ago, of which mention has already been made in The Daily Press. The concluding matches in the second round were played, Clifford M. McGee defeating Charles Dupee 6-2, 6-3, and Dr. H. K. Carroll defeating Morgan T. Townsend, 6-3, 7-5. Wallace Guilford and J. I. Taylor had already won their matches in the second round and had met in the semi-finals, Guilford winning 7-5, 6-3. In the afternoon, McGee defeated Dr. Carroll in the semi-finals 6-3, 6-2. The greatest match of the day came in the finals between McGee and Guilford. Both men were at their best and the play was very exciting. It was witnessed by a large audience. McGee won in three straight sets. The scores, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, do not convey any idea of the closeness of the playing.

Never before has there been such a turnout at one of the afternoon receptions of the club. The pagoda and gallery were crowded and many others assembled on the lawn occupying all the seats which had been arranged for the evening's fireworks. In the pagoda, Mrs. Wallace Guilford and Mrs. William L. Saunders received, assisted at the tea table by Mrs. A. E. Faber, Jr., and Mrs. J. H. Howell. The young women who assisted in serving the guests were the Misses Virginia Hegeman, Saidee Mae Howell, Nellie Valiant and Laura Long. Decorations of flags and Japanese lanterns added to the festive scene.

While seats had been prepared for five hundred, the members and their friends turned out for the evening's fireworks in such numbers as to fill them all while fully two hundred more remained standing. The display of fireworks was the finest that the club has ever given and it has always been famed for its fine exhibitions. A little excitement was occasioned several times when the sparks drifted down into the crowd but there were no serious results, only a general scattering. Fine rockets and large calibre bombs were among the best of the programme of fireworks although the batteries and mines were well applauded.

For an hour the display lasted and then the final set piece, "Good Night," banked by batteries of Roman candles, ended it all. During that time, the orchestra, which had been playing during the afternoon, rendered various selections, occupying an upper room in the clubhouse.

After many of the guests had departed, the younger set gathered for an informal dance in the ball room, which had been prettily decorated with flags and bunting. For those who did not care to dance the gallery and pagoda were cool and inviting. The patronesses of the dance were Mrs. Augustus Van Deventer, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. George D. Hallock, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. J. H. Howell and Mr. S. St. John McCutchen.

THE PARK GOLFERS OUT.

COMPETITIONS WERE HELD MORNING AND AFTERNOON AT THE PARK GOLF CLUB COURSE.

Bogey Handicap of Morning Won by S. St. John McCutchen—The Holiday Cup in the Afternoon Went to Roberts de S. Newhall—An Informal Reception Held in the Afternoon.

Independence Day attracted many of the golfiacs to the course of the Park Golf Club, yesterday. A special programme had been prepared and the events of the day served to furnish plenty of exciting competition. Honors for the day were divided between S. St. John McCutchen and Roberts deS. Newhall.

There was something new in the bogey handicap ball sweepstakes which occupied the morning hours. "Colonel" proved too strong an opponent for everybody except S. St. John McCutchen, who finished 1 up. The other scores, with the handicaps, were S. Townsend, 26, 2 down; W. R. Faber, 28, 2 down; A. B. Laing, 18, 3 down; Roberts deS. Newall, 12, 4 down; Wm. A. Townsend, 19, 4 down; Charles W. McCutchen, 22, 8 down; Charles B. Morse, 20, 9 down; Chas. L. Nichols, 27, 9 down; E. M. Honeyman, 30, 11 down; L. W. Hallock, 12, 14 down.

The chief event of the afternoon was the competition for the Holiday cup. S. St. John McCutchen and Roberts DeS. Newhall tied for first place and Newhall won on the play-off. The scores better than 100 were:

	G	H	N
Roberts de S. Newhall	95	12	83
S. St. J. McCutchen	102	19	83
J. O. McKelvey	107	22	85
Wm. A. Townsend	105	19	86
W. Vaughn McGee	116	30	86
H. Studdiford	117	30	87
Dr. A. W. Anderson	114	27	87
J. H. Simpson	98	10	88
H. C. Wells	113	25	88
Charles B. Morse	109	20	89
Chas. L. Goodrich	121	30	91
Samuel Townsend	121	30	91
L. W. Hallock	107	12	95

While the last players for the Holiday cup were finishing, an approaching and putting contest was started on the ninth green. It resulted in a tie between Mrs. George D. Hallock and Leslie W. Hallock and Miss Lydie Loizeaux and Roberts de S. Newhall, both pairs holing out their three approaches in ten strokes. Mrs. Hallock and G. D. Hallock won the play-off.

The other couples which participated in the contest were Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Miss May S. Shreve and Henry C. Wells, Miss Mabel VanDeventer and S. St. John McCuthen, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Miss Laura Long and William R. Faber, Miss Adele Kirby and William A. Townsend.

An informal reception was held at the clubhouse during the afternoon. Mrs. George D. Hallock and Mrs. Samuel Townsend received.

A FAKE.

New York Times' Story of Hospital Trouble Had Not the Slightest Basis of Truth in It.

The article which appeared in the New York Times this morning regarding Plainfield's new hospital is a pure fake, there not being one word of truth in it.

In the first place the Board has never transferred its account from the City National Bank to the Plainfield Trust Company, neither has it any intention of doing so. The Board has never asked for any money on a note as it does not need it. There is an abundance of money to go ahead with the work and the contracts are now being prepared preparatory to starting the work. The Board of Governors are highly indignant that such a fake story should be sent broadcast without the slightest foundatiod for truth.

DAY AT HILLSIDE CLUB.

GOLF, TENNIS AND A DINNER-DANCE WERE PARTICIPATED IN AT THE HILLSIDE CLUB COURSE.

Hillside Members Played for Club Championship and the Kickers Handicap—The Holiday Cup Was Won—Handicap Tennis Was Also a Feature—A Successful Dinner-Dance.

Yesterday was an ideal one on the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and with the course and greens in the best of condition everything was favorable for a perfect day of enjoyment. There was a very large number of players entered in the various events and good scores were the rule.

In the morning there was the qualifying round for the Club Championship cup and a kicker's handicap. This attracted an unusually large field. The scores counted in both events, although in the championship contest the play was from scratch. H. C. Munger won the kicker's handicap with a net score of 88, that being the score selected by the committee between the scores of 75 and 90.

Those who qualified for the Championship cup were W. L. Glenney, F. O. Reinhart, Frank Talmadge, Howard deP. Wright, Thomas R. Van Boskerck, R. S. Rowland, Morris J. Dumont and Robert Abbott. In the first round in the afternoon the play resulted as follows: Reinhart defeated Glenney, 6 up and 5 to play; Wright defeated Talmadge, 1 up in 19 holes; Rowland defeated VanBoskerck, 7 up, and Abbott defeated Dumont, 4 up and 3 to play.

The first round for the second eight for the Consolation cup resulted as follows: Dr. B. VanD. Hedges defeated H. D. Hibbard, 6 up and 4 to play; Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards defeated G. H. Squires, 4 up and 3 to play; R. F. Murray defeated Olaf Saugstad, 3 up and 2 to play and Dudley H. Barrows defeated F. L. Schoonmaker, 1 up in 21 holes. The finals will be played today.

The scores for the qualifying round and kicker's handicap in the morning are as follows:

J. E. Tracy, 132, 60—72; Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, 99, 25—74; H. D. Hibbard, 92, 18—74; Morris J. Dumont, 90, 13—77; Thomas R. VanBoskerck, 88, 10—78; A. D. Beers, 126, 48—78; W. L. Glenney, 80, 0—80; Robert Abbott, 80, 0—80; R. F. Murray, 91, 10—81; W. F. Murray, 101, 20—81; Gordon W. Abbott, 99, 18—81; N. P. Rogers, Jr., 81, 0—81; G. H. Squires, 96, 15—81; F. O. Reinhart, 80, plus 3-87; H. C. Tracy, 103, 20—83; Howard deP. Wright, 83, 0—83; C. F. Abbott, 112, 27—85; George T. Van Boskerck, 100, 15—85; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, 95, 10—85; E. T. Newkirk, 100, 15—85; R. S. Rowland, 86, 0—86; Dr. J. H. Carman, 111, 25—86; Evarts Tracy, 107, 20—87; E. T. Barrows., 105, 18—87; F. C. Talmadge, 82, plus 5-87; Dudley H. Barrows, 99, 10—89; H. M. Slauson, 119, 30—89; Walter Peterson, 101, 12—89; Chas. A. Stover, 109, 20—89; A. G. Henderson, 111, 21—90; E. J. Patterson, 109, 18—91; Jan. vanHerwerden, 136, 44—92.

In the afternoon besides the first round for the Championship cup there was the regular play for the Holiday cup. The first honors were won by George T. VanBoskerck who made a net score of 76. There was a large entry list, but many did not turn in their scores. The scores for this event were as follows:

	G	H	N
Geo. T. VanBoskerck	91	15	76
F. O. Reinhart	78	0	78
D. H. Barrows	90	10	80

Howard T. Lewis, of Ashaway, R. I., who graduated from Alfred University last week, has been visiting his brother, Nathan E. Lewis, of Arlington avenue, and has now gone to Watch Hill, R. I., for the summer. In the fall he will enter Columbia P. and S.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It is said to be the intention of the Democrats of the new Fifth District to defer calling their Congressional convention until the first week in September. They must think that Fowler will tire himself out during the hot summer canvass, and that Flanagan will be able to easily overtake and pass his [illegible] antagonist in the home stretch. The danger of over-handicapping, however, is apparent, especially when the sprinting qualities of a green racer are unknown.—Newark News.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

UP-TO-DATE.

Changes That the Jersey Central Has Recently Made in Its Passenger Service.

There was a general change of time on the New Jersey Central on June 29, when the full summer schedule went into effect, including a complete service on the Sandy Hook boats. It has been the aim of the managers to give the best service possible and for months preparations have been going on. Nearly sixty new locomotives have been put in service within the past two weeks, and many new cars added to the equipment. The roadbed has received much attention—miles of new rail laid and thousands of tons of rock ballast spread. The station grounds improved and beautified, and all this in addition to the increased service.

A new morning train for Newark, starting from Dunellen, has been put on, several trains have been added to the Newark and New York Branch. There is a fast train to Somerville at 5:10 p. m., making Plainfield first stop.

New flag stops have been arranged for several of the Philadelphia expresses at Elizabeth and Plainfield.

Perth Amboy is to have a fast train mornings to New York and a fast train from New York at 5:10 p. m. The seashore division including the Sandy Hook boats will have complete schedules, and new connections have been made wherever possible. There will be a Saturday special at 1 p. m. for Atlantic City, and a Sunday train at 5:30 from Atlantic City to New York, both of which for Beach Haven, this in addition to the connections made by the other shore flyers.

Through car lines have been provided between Newark and Pt. Pleasant and Mauch Chunk and Point Pleasant and Mauch Chunk and Philadelphia. c

THEATRICAL.

Ideal summer vaudeville programmes continue to be the order of the day at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, where another big bill will be ushered in with the ensuing week. The topping feature of the show will be the Yankee Comedy Four.

At the Fifth Avenue Theatre the Proctor Stock Company will make a fine production of the late Augustin Daly's successful comedy "An Arabian Night," in which Frederick Bond and Beatrice Morgan will have leading roles.

Up in Harlem "Hazel Kirke" will be presented by the Proctor Stock Company with Edna Archer Crawford in the leading role.

Proctor's, Newark, is enjoying an era of prosperity which proves the wisdom of the management in keeping open all summer. Great crowds throng the bargain matinees and at night the attendance is on the capacity order. Cooled by artificial means and with palm leaf fans and plenty of ice water, the theatre presents inducements for summer patronage which few resorts of its class can boast. Another big bill has been secured for next week including such popular acts as those presented by the New York Comedy Four, the Brooks Brothers, Fiske and McDonough, the Crawford Sisters, Waltz and Ardell and others equally clever.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

PERSONAL.

Henry B. Drake, of Duer street, is spending a few days at the shore.

Miss Louisa Durling, of Harlingen, has been visiting her sister in Plainfield.

THE ROCK ISLAND HOLDUP.

One Bandit In Custody—Bloodhounds on the Trail.

CHICAGO, July 5.—With half a hundred men on their trail and the promise of a desperate battle and probably death for their portion if they shall be overtaken, the two bandits who halted the Rock Island railroad's Denver limited express train at midnight Thursday and escaped after mortally wounding one of the express messengers are still at large. Night and day they have pushed on through the farming country, stealing a buggy or a wagon here and there and abandoning the teams when they were too exhausted to carry them farther. Farmers and residents in the little towns in the vicinity of the scene of the raid swept over the surrounding fields and prairies in the hunt, but never a glimpse was had of the fugitives. Occasionally a rumor of their whereabouts was obtained, but the utmost haste in organizing a pursuit failed to overhaul them.

James Kain, the veteran express messenger who was shot by the robbers while he stood with his hands elevated above his head, was brought to Chicago, and it is believed he will recover.

Charles Messler, the dupe and decoy of the bandits, who was captured on the ground after they had fled, was brought from Joliet during the day by Sheriff Magerstadt, but the officers do not believe he will be of much assistance in running down the fugitives.

The attempt upon the strong boxes of the United States Express company that were journeying toward Omaha and Denver is admitted to have been one of the best planned raids of recent years, but it was poorly executed, and the bandits tried to carry out the programme without sufficient force to protect themselves from an attack.

The detectives engaged in the investigation and the pursuit now being pushed all over Illinois are satisfied that the robbers hoped to force the big safe, which contained somewhere in the neighborhood of $90,000, and only the precipitate shooting of the messenger defeated them in this project. They secured little of value.

Regatta on the Schuylkill.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The peoples' Fourth of July regatta was held on the national course of the Schuylkill river in Fairmount park under the joint auspices of the city of Philadelphia and the Schuylkill navy of Philadelphia. The weather was beautiful, the course smooth, the crowds large, and the regatta in every way was a success. The distance was a mile and a half straight away. Of the ten events Philadelphia clubs captured eight and New York two.

Winner of the Realization.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Lawrence Realization, the richest three-year-old stake in the east, was run yesterday at Sheepshead Bay, and 30,000 persons saw F. C. McLewee & Co.'s Major Dangerfield, favorite in the betting at 1 to 3, win in a gallop and lower The Friar's record for 1 mile and 5 furlongs from 2:48 2-5 to 2:47 3-5.

Shot His Wife.

DETROIT, Mich., July 5.—Mrs. Anna Mach of 290 Garfield avenue was the victim of an early morning Fourth of July fatality. Her husband, John Mach, at midnight went out into the street and fired his revolver several times and says he supposed he emptied all the chambers, but half an hour later, when he had returned to the house and was handling the gun, another cartridge was discharged, the bullet taking effect in Mrs. Mach's left breast. The woman died in a few minutes, and Mach is detained by the police pending an investigation of his story.

INDIAN PRINCES RECEIVED.

The Most Magnificent Spectacle Witnessed In London In Many Years.

LONDON, July 5.—The Prince of Wales in behalf of King Edward received the Indian princes in London at the Indian office last night. The entertainment was one of the most brilliant ever witnessed in London. Queen Alexandra and the royal family were present and occupied a private box overlooking the main hall. The guests of the evening included all the royal representatives to the coronation of the king who are still in London as well as the greater number of the English nobility and the notable personages of London.

The decorations of the building were magnificent and cost, including the furniture and hangings, not far from $250,000. The flowers alone cost $15,000. The great reception hall was transformed by means of palms, ferns and orchids into a semblance of an Indian garden. A feature of the decorations was an immense ceiling cover painted to represent the Indian firmament, in which the stars and constellations were accurately depicted. Electric lights behind the cover were utilized to make each star scintillate in a realistic manner, and 3,000 incandescent electric lights were employed in the illumination of the building.

Three thousand guests were invited to attend the reception. All the gentlemen present wore uniforms or court dress, and the ladies were clad in most elaborate and bejeweled costumes, but they were all outdazzled by the gorgeous attire and the profusion of jewels worn by the Indian princes.

Such a picturesque spectacle had never been witnessed in London since the visit of the sultan of Turkey thirty years ago. So many people who applied for invitations were disappointed that the Indian office has decided to illuminate the rooms for their benefit tonight.

KING MUCH BETTER.

Fewer Bulletins to Be Issued—Steady Gain of Strength.

LONDON, July 5.—The progress of King Edward continues satisfactory. Beginning tomorrow only one bulletin a day concerning his majesty's condition will be issued. This bulletin will be posted at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the arrangement will be continued until his majesty is entirely convalescent.

The fact that Queen Alexandra, in company with the Duchess of Aosta, Prince Waldemar of Denmark and Prince George of Greece, drove out yesterday afternoon is taken as a sign of the king's satisfactory condition. This was the first recreation of this kind that the queen has indulged in since his majesty was taken ill.

The king is allowed to read a good deal now, and he enjoys looking at the papers. He expressed amusement lately at some of the sensational and detailed reports of the operation in the press.

The latest bulletin posted at Buckingham palace reads as follows:

"The king is gaining strength. His constitutional condition is satisfactory, and the wound shows more active signs of repair."

Miles Spoke In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—As has been the custom for many years, the city of Philadelphia officially celebrated the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in this city by holding patriotic open air meetings in Independence square. The celebration was of unusual interest because of the presence of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, who delivered the oration. General Miles was enthusiastically greeted by 5,000 persons when he was introduced. After his address he held a reception which lasted about half an hour. Later in the day the general was entertained by a committee of city councilmen at luncheon and was also an interested spectator of the regatta on the Schuylkill river. He left the city late in the afternoon.

Elkes Broke Records.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 5.—Harry Elkes of Glens Falls, N. Y., broke world's records in his twenty-five mile motor paced race with Bobby Walthour at the Colosseum last night. The full distance was made in 35m. 41 2-5s., fifteen seconds faster than the previous mark. The five and fifteen mile records were lowered several seconds, and his fastest mile was done in 1m. 21 1-5s. Walthour lost his pace in the first mile and was defeated by a mile and two laps.

Panhandle Road Blocked.

COLUMBUS, O., July 5.—The main line of the Panhandle railroad has been blocked for several hours by serious washouts at Hanover, forty miles east of Columbus. At that place the water fell in torrents, and Sand cut for a distance of 400 feet was washed full of sand from three to nine feet deep. Five hundred men and four work trains were sent out from here at once to make the repairs.

Soldiers' Monument Dedicated.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 5.—At Fabius, in this county, yesterday the monument to the soldiers and sailors of the civil war, costing $15,000, presented by former Congressman James J. Belden and erected on the site of his birthplace, was dedicated. The orator of the day was Abraham Gruber of New York.

Fatal Gas Explosion.

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—Two bodies lie buried beneath a mass of debris at 422 North Vandeventer avenue as the result of an explosion which followed the effort of Robert Golz to locate a leak in a gas meter with a lighted match.

GREAT DAY IN MANILA

President's Amnesty Proclamation Read to Filipinos.

MILITARY PRISONERS ARE SET FREE.

A Typical American Celebration of Independence Day, Even to Firecrackers—Every Luzon Province Under Civil Rule.

MANILA, July 5.—President Roosevelt's amnesty proclamation was read at noon yesterday in English and Spanish from a flag draped stand on the Luneta after a parade of 6,000 Americans and Filipinos.

Arthur Ferguson, secretary to Governor Taft, read the proclamation in the presence of a small gathering, the heat having dispersed the crowd when the parade ended. The prisoners freed by the proclamation, estimated to number 600, were released without ceremony. Many military prisoners had previously been freed. Aguinaldo remained in the house which has sheltered him since his captivity. He is expected to visit friends briefly and then depart on a trip. His destination is not announced.

The exiles on the island of Guam are expected to return here on a special steamer.

The observance of the national holiday was general. The city was decorated and the ships were flying all their flags.

The celebration was typically American, even to the firecrackers. Acting Governor Wright and General Chaffee reviewed the procession, and Captain Crossfield delivered an oration. He defended the American policy in the Philippines, predicted the ultimate complete acceptance of American institutions by the Filipinos and denounced the critics of the Philippine policy.

There were athletic games and racing in the afternoon and fireworks and illuminations at night.

The military have surrendered control of Batangas province to the civil authorities, and, with Laguna province organized and General Cailles appointed governor, every province in Luzon is now under civil goverament.

There were fifty-four new cases of cholera reported in Manila on Thursday and thirty-five deaths from the disease. The totals for the provinces since the outbreak are 10,332 cases of cholera and 7,713 deaths.

The Fourth In Gay Paris.

PARIS, July 5.—The Fourth of July was celebrated in this city by a reception at the United States embassy held by Mrs. Horace Porter, wife of the United States embassador, General Porter, who is now in the United States. It was exceptionally well attended, practically the whole American colony being present. Count de Rochambeau and several members of the Rochambeau mission which recently visited the United States also called. Many business places displayed the stars and stripes. The American chamber of commerce gave a banquet.

The Day In London.

LONDON, July 5.—Several hundred Americans attended the reception given by United States Embassador Joseph H. Choate in honor of the Fourth of July. It lasted from 4 to 6 p. m. Two floors of Mr. Choate's Carlton House terrace residence were packed with Americans, including General Joseph Wheeler and his daughters, Rear Admiral John C. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. De Young and all the members of the embassy. A marquee was erected on the terrace, where a brilliant gathering listened to American airs played by a band.

Remembered In Rome.

ROME, July 5.—George von L. Meyer, the United States embassador here, being at Homburg for the cure, Lewis Morris Iddings, the secretary of the embassy, and Mrs. Iddings, assisted by Mrs. William H. Taft, wife of Governor Taft of the Philippines, held the Fourth of July reception at the embassy here, which was attended by over a hundred Americans. Later in the day Mgr. Seton of Jersey City gave a reception to Cardinal Satolli, at which President Roosevelt, the pope and Cardinal Satolli were toasted with great enthusiasm.

Celebration In Costa Rica.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 5.—The Fourth of July reception held in the American legation by Minister William L. Merry was attended by President Esquivel and his cabinet, the members of the consular and diplomatic corps and many prominent citizens of San Jose.

Day Remembered In Vienna.

VIENNA, July 5.—There was a large gathering of members of the American colony here and tourists in Vienna at the Fourth of July banquet at the Hotel Bristol. The company included Chandler Hale, secretary of the embassy, and Captain F. W. Harris, the military attache.

The Isthmus Celebrated.

COLON, Colombia, July 5.—The isthmus celebrated the Fourth of July. The shipping and the public and private buildings were decorated with flags. A reception was held at the United States consulate.

The Day Kept In Jamaica.

PORT ANTONIO, Jamaica, July 5.—The American colony here enthusiastically celebrated the Fourth of July. There was a banquet and later a display of fireworks.

French Astronomer Dead.

PARIS, July 5.—Herve A. E. A. Faye, the astronomer, is dead. He was the oldest member of the Academy of Sciences and was born in 1814.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

Half a Million People Greet Him at Pittsburg.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY SURE AS FATE.

Roosevelt Says the Measure Will Yet Be Enacted—United States Protector of the New Republic. Great Problems Await Us.

PITTSBURG, July 5.—Half a million persons greeted President Theodore Roosevelt in Pittsburg yesterday. They came not only from Pittsburg and Allegheny, but from the scores of industrial towns within 100 miles of the city. It was the distinguished guest's first visit to Pittsburg as president, and his welcome was most enthusiastic. From the Union station to the speakers' stand in Schenley park, nearly four miles away, it was one continuous cheer.

The weather was all that could be desired, with the sun shining brightly and the temperature not too high.

The marchers numbered 3,000 men, representing the Eighteenth regiment, the Fourteenth regiment, the Tenth regiment, who saw Philippine service; Sheridan cavalry troop of Tyrone, the boys' brigade and independent military organizations.

The exercises at the park consumed just one hour. The president immediately afterward re-entered his carriage and, surrounded by the Sheridan troop, was driven to the residence of H. C. Frick on Homewood avenue, where he was tendered a luncheon and reception, which were joined in by a number of prominent Pittsburg captains of industry.

President Roosevelt spoke as follows:

Mr. Mayor and you, my fellow citizens, my fellow Americans, men and women of western Pennsylvania, you have just listened to the reading of the great document which marked our entry into the field of nations 126 years ago. That entry was but the promise which had to be made good by the performance of those men and their children and their children's children.

Words are good if they are backed up by deeds, and only so.

The Declaration continues to be read with pride by us year after year and stands as a symbol of hope for the peoples of all the world, because its promise was made good, because its words were supplemented by deeds, because after the men who signed it and upheld it had done their work the men who came after them, generation by generation, did their work in turn. The Declaration of Independence had to be supplemented in the first place by that great instrument of constructive and administrative statesmanship, the constitution under which we now live.

The document promulgated in 1788, under which Washington became our first president, supplemented—necessarily supplemented—the declaration of 1776. We showed in the Revolution that we had a right to be free; we showed when we constructed the more perfect union of the old confederacy that we knew how to use that right as it needed to be used.

And then seventy years and more passed, and there came upon the nation the days of iron need. There came again the days that commanded all that was best, the life itself of the bravest and the truest of the nation's sons. And with Sumter's guns awakened our people, and America, until then the incarnate genius of peace, sprang to her feet, with sword and with shield, a helmeted queen among nations. When the thunder of the guns called the nation's children, they sprang forward to do the mighty deeds which if left undone would have meant that the words to which we have listened today would have rung as meaningless platitudes.

We have had our tasks to do in the last four years, or rather we have had, as every generation must have, many tasks to do—tasks affecting us abroad—and one of those tasks being done as it has been has signaled our entry to a larger world. And it is most appropriate that on this Fourth of July, this anniversary of the birth of the nation, it should be our good fortune to have promulgated the declaration establishing peace in the Philippines and the acknowledgment to the army of the praise so richly due our fellow Americans who wear the uniform of the United States for all that they have done in tropical islands during the last four years.

We said Cuba should become a free republic, and we have kept our word. To have turned Cuba over to the hands of its own people immediately after the withdrawal of the Spanish flag would have meant ruin and chaos. We established a government in the islands. We established peace and order. We began to provide for the payment of the Cuban troops who had fought against the misrule of their oppressors. We instituted a public school system modeled upon that which has been so potent a factor in our own national progress. We cleaned the cities in Cuba for the first time in their history. We changed them from being the most unhealthy to being among the healthiest cities of the civilized world. We introduced a system of orderly justice to succeed one of irresponsible and arbitrative despotism, so that any man, rich or poor, weak or strong, could appeal to courts and know that he would receive his rights.

And then when in the fulness of time we felt they could walk alone we turned over the government to them, and now the beautiful Queen of the Antilles has started on her course as a free republic among the nations of the earth.

But there is one thing, our policy toward Cuba has not yet met with its entire fruition. It will meet with it. The course of the last few years has made more evident than ever before that this nation must in time to come have pecuniary interests on the isthmus connecting the two Americas and in the waters and among the islands adjacent thereto.

Cuba must occupy a peculiar relation to us in the field of international politics. She must in the larger sense be a part of the general political system in international affairs of which this republic stands as the head. She has assented to that view, and in return this nation is bound to give her special economic privileges not given to other nations.

I regret that a measure of reciprocity with Cuba is not already embodied in statute or in treaty, but it will be, just as sure as fate.

And now a word as to the Philippines. There are yet troubles in the Moro country, the country of the Mohammedan tribes, but in the Philippines among the Filipinos, among the people who have been in insurrection, peace now reigns.

It may be, I think, unlikely, but it is possible, that here and there some seeming dead coal of insurrection may for the moment be fanned into a live piece of ember and burst into a fitful blaze. If so, that flame will be stamped out. But, speaking broadly and generally, peace has come. Our army has received its reward. And what was the reward of our army? The reward of the consciousness of duty well done. Our soldiers have fought, have toiled, have struggled, have rolled, so that when victory came they might turn over the government to the civil authorities.

Victory came. Today the proclamation of peace and amnesty have been promulgated, and at the same time our generals have been notified that the civil government is supreme in the islands.

We have great problems at home to face. I am speaking in one of the great industrial centers not merely of America, but of the world. A million people stand grouped in a small radius around the spot where we now are. The growth of your cities within this radius has been one of the most striking phenomena of this day, and here, therefore, you are brought face to face with those problems which affected our entire civilization at the opening of this new century. The tremendous rush of our industrial department, which has brought in its train so much that is good and also of necessity brought somewhat that is evil, the very intensity of the progress that has been made, has meant that new and infinitely difficult problems have arisen which we must strive to solve as best we may.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

A Quiet Week, but Outlook For Fall Distribution Is Excellent.

NEW YORK, July 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Quiet conditions have prevailed in most branches of business, preparation for the holiday having more influence than usual, especially in those markets already affected by labor disputes. Heavy sales of fireworks and sporting goods bear testimony to the fact that the purchasing power of the people is not impaired, however, and arrangements for fall trade continue on a very large scale. Speculation in securities was restricted, but grain markets at the west were sensationally active. Money markets were not advanced, despite heavy dividend distribution, and relief will follow the lower internal revenue rates now in effect. Large interest payments testify to the prosperous condition of railways, industrial corporations and financial institutions, and aside from the labor troubles the half year just ended was remarkably satisfactory.

Railway earnings for June exceeded last year's by 6.4 per cent and those of 1900 by 19.9 per cent.

In the iron and steel districts there have been no developments of importance. Scarcity of fuel caused the banking of some blast furnaces, which reduces pig iron production, and deliveries are slowly falling behind.

Quotations of wool made a further slight advance.

Cotton prospects brightened with rain in the southwest, yet there was no weakness. The crop year closed with receipts of coffee at Brazil ports far surpassing all records, and prices remained at the bottom point.

Commercial failures in the first half of 1902 numbered 6,165, with liabilities of $80,374,856. Although this is an increase of $4,570,106 compared with last year and $18,311,923 more than the exceptionally favorable record of 1899, it is necessary to go back fifteen years to find another more gratifying showing than that of 1902.

PROPOSAL TO POPE.

Contract Submitted to the Vatican For Acquisition of Friar Lands.

ROME, July 5.—The proposed contract which Judge William H. Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, submitted to the Vatican puts the propositions explained in his note into a formal agreement. The contract shows that the lands which it is proposed to purchase are those possessed by the friars May 1, 1898. Payment of the first third of the entire cost of the land will be made a month after the transfer of the titles. The lands on which stand churches or convents will be transferred by the Philippine government to a person designated by the Vatican through the enactment of a legislative bill.

The contract provides that the withdrawal of the friars must be accomplished as follows: Those having charge of schools or universities must be gone within two years. The remainder are required to go half within nine months and the other half within eighteen months from the date of the first payment. The latter class during the time of their withdrawal are forbidden to preach, teach, do parochial work or superintend parishes.

The indemnity to be paid for the use by the Americans of ecclesiastical buildings in the Philippines will include damages for alterations expressly or tacitly authorized by officers commanding the troops, but will not include damage from unauthorized or criminal acts of private individuals or damage due to the ordinary course of war.

Fairchild In a Tight Place.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 5.—The sleeping cars on New York Central train No. 37, westbound, while being pushed up grade from Albany mounted a frog. The engineer on the first locomotive put on the brakes. The engine in the rear continued at work, and as a result the sleeping cars almost went over an embankment. Former Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild was in a stateroom of one of the sleepers, and the door was so jammed that he was released only by cutting down the door with an ax. No one was seriously hurt.

Elk Thrive In the Adirondacks.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 5.—Chief Protector Pond of the forest, fish and game commission states that the elk that were liberated about one year ago in the Adirondacks are doing finely and have a number of calves. The chief protector says that as the elk wintered well with an unusual depth of snow persons interested in the stocking of the Adirondacks with elk or other large game may be assured of the success of the experiment.

Hunting Outlaw Tracy.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 5.—Tracy, the escaped convict, slept in a barn at Ballard, six miles from here, Thursday night. He was seen to leave at 5:30 the following morning. Two companies of militia have started in pursuit. Neil Rowley, who was shot by the outlaw, is dead.

Aeronaut Killed.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., July 5.—An aeronaut named Hallbrook from St. Louis was instantly killed here. He made a balloon ascension, and the parachute failed to work. He fell a hundred feet and was dashed to death.

CANAL NEGOTIATIONS

Steps For Acquisition of Title to Begin Soon.

FEATURES OF THE TREATY OUTLINED.

A First Payment to Colombia of $7,000,000 In Gold—Complete Political Sovereignty Not to Be Insisted On.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The negotiations for the treaty between the United States and Colombia by which we will acquire the right to build the Panama canal will begin in about one week, Minister Concha of Colombia having conferred with Secretary Hay on the preliminaries of the negotiations. Mr. Hay will be out of the city for the next few days and on his return the negotiations will begin. Minister Concha has been fully clothed with authority to proceed with the treaty.

The main features of the treaty are pretty well settled, as the protocol signed some time ago was quite full in setting forth the prospective arrangement in case congress acted favorably on the Panama route.

The amount to be paid Colombia for a relinquishment of exclusive rights to the United States will be $7,000,000 in gold, payable on the exchange of ratifications of the treaty, and in addition Colombia is to receive an annuity at the end of fourteen years, to be determined by mutual agreement at that time. This annuity is expected to be $600,000 a year, as the immediate payment of $7,000,000 covering the period of the next fourteen years is considered a basis for fixing the annual rental at $600,000. In transferring the rights of Colombia to the United States the language used by the act of congress will be followed to a considerable extent, and there will be a transfer of such jurisdiction over the six mile zone as will permit the exercise of American authority, with American courts, sanitary officers, police, etc.

The question of transferring complete political sovereignty is about the only point which could raise obstacles to the negotiations, but it is expected that this point will be avoided, as the act of congress appears to contemplate a transfer of jurisdiction and not a transfer of political sovereignty.

The Colombian officials in Washington look forward to a successful consummation of the negotiations. They say, however, that there is far less popular demand in Colombia for the Panama canal than there is in Nicaragua for the Nicaragua route, and this apathy may delay the conclusion of negotiations. The treaty will have to be ratified by the United States senate and the Colombian congress before it becomes effective.

President Palma Congratulates.

HAVANA, July 5.—President Palma in a letter to United States Minister Squiers said: "I share with the people of the United States the happiness they enjoy in celebrating this holiday, the anniversary of the independence of the thirteen English colonies, which by the blessings of democratic institutions and the love of liberty have reached the highest standard and have become one of the most powerful nations of the world. I heartily wish that the American people will forever enjoy the greatest prosperity and happiness."

Certeorari For Gaynor and Green.

QUEBEC, July 5.—An unusually large crowd was present yesterday in court when Judge Caron ascended the bench to render judgment in the Gaynor-Greene case. The judgment was a short one and was satisfactory for the accused, as Judge Caron granted the motions made by their counsel for writs of certeorari addressed to Extradition Magistrate Lafontaine, ordering him to produce without delay all documents in his possession and in relation to these cases before the superior court here.

Bulgarian Brigands Killed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 5.—A detachment of Turkish troops recently surrounded a band of Bulgarian brigands at Patili, in the vilayet of Monastir. Thirty Bulgarians were killed. The remainder were made prisoners. Brigandage is spreading alarmingly in Monastir. Turko-Bulgarian complications are threatened in consequence of the forcible removal of the flag and coat of arms from the Bulgarian agency at Serres, Roumelia. Bulgaria has demanded satisfaction within three days.

Rainfall In Texas.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 5.—A splendid rain has just fallen here, the precipitation reaching an inch and a half. This is the first rain for over a month, and, while it came too late to benefit corn, it will be vastly beneficial to cotton and grass. The rain was general in this section.

Fatal Trolley Collision.

FINDLAY, O., July 5.—Two cars collided last evening on the Toledo, Fostoria and Findlay traction line between Findlay and Fostoria, killing a conductor and seriously injuring eight or ten people, three of whom, it is believed, are fatally injured.

Snowstorm In Wyoming.

EVANSTON, Wyo., July 5.—Snow has been falling here for twenty-four hours, and in the mountains it lies on the ground to a depth of three to six inches. The mercury fell to freezing point.

Fatal Chicago Accidents.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Three persons were killed and two others painfully wounded while celebrating the Fourth, and a sixth had his hand shattered by a giant firecracker.

TROLLEY CONSOLIDATION.

All this talk about a consolidation of the trolley interests in northern New Jersey must certainly have some foundation, no matter how small. Where there is so much smoke, there must be some fire. It remains to be seen, however, whether the attempt at consolidation will succeed.

It does not seem likely that a move would materially affect Plainfield. It might mean an improvement in the local service. As now, the local system would be but a very small and insignificant part of a large one. This has its advantages and disadvantages. It ought to mean better equipment and greater thorough facilities. As but a small part of a great system, there would not be the anxiety to keep the road running under all circumstances as would be the case were it independent of all other lines.

It is not likely, however, that Plainfield will be consulted in the deal. The old Plainfield Street Railway Compaany is now in the hands of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company and another change in ownership would not be difficult. The local franchises would remain in force and the new owners would be just as much bound to observe them as are the old. As has been the case before, some out-of-town official might attempt to inaugurate certain plans that would not conform with the contract with the city. It would then be necessary for the city officials to act. Otherwise the city could have nothing to say.

Now that the police have announced that unwilling guests at police headquarters will no longer be vaccinated, it is likely that the number of tramps will steadily increase. Since the police pursued that policy of vaccinating all comers, the genus hobo has fought remarkably shy of Plainfield except on one or two occasions when quite a party was rounded up. These knights of the road are not fond of vaccination and they have shown a disposition to keep away from the place where that operation is done so lavishly.

It is welcome news to the local commuters that the Jersey Central Railroad intends to abolish the present form of coupon books, now used as commution tickets, and substitute the old form of card tickets. The coupon books have proved a source of much trouble, not only to the commuters but to the conductors. It was the latter who appealed to General Manager W. G. Besler with the result that the change is to be made September 1.

Why is that the small boy cannot be content with simply burning powder on the Fourth and not adding himself to the combination? Yesterday was no different from any other Independence Day in that there was the usual number who looked down the muzzles of cannons, pocketed cannon crackers with burning fuses and otherwise exposed themselves to danger from fire and explosives.

The Union county Republicans are preparing to make up for the outing which they did not hold last summer. They declare that this year's effort will be the greatest of its kind but then that is the customary remark anyhow. There promises, however, to be enough booms under way by that time to keep all the politicians of the county busy.

Printers' Ink quotes an advertiser to the effect that there is trade in summer as well as in autumn and spring, and the fact that naturally there is less of it makes it the more incumbent on the enterprising business man to increase it by advertising. That advertising does actually create business is no longer doubtful, declares the Philadelphia Record.

Lieutenant Harry B. Kitchell has received his commission and has been sworn in. This new commissioned office in Company K is not only a very popular young man with the members of the company but he is an efficient officer well versed in tactics.

Summit has caught the municipal ownership fever and is investigating the success of the water and light plants at Madison. Municipal ownership is dead here until there is a settlement in the Greater Plainfield question.

Despite the remarkably cool weather which marked the month of June, all reports go to show that the attendance at the shore resorts was larger last month than it has ever been before.

AT THE NETHERWOOD.

The Programme for Tonight's Full Dress Hop and Tomorrow Evening's Sacred Concert.

The third weekly full dress hop of the season will be held at the Hotel Netherwood this evening. Following is the order of dances arranged for the event: Waltz, "Roses and Thorns," Loraine; two-step, "On Duty," Rosey; waltz, "Rose with a Broken Stem," Smith; two-step, "Mississippi Bubble," Haines; lanciers, "Tip-Top," Bernstein; waltz, "Could I but call her Back Again," Mackey; two-step, "The Gainsborough," Rosey; waltz, "Autumn Bub," Lesser; intermission; waltz, "Demon," Seeboeck; two-step, "Ma Moonlight Lou," Dillea; waltz, "Wild Roses," Childs; two-step, "Daisy and The Butterfly," Feist; lanciers, "The Real Thing," Haviland; waltz, "The First Violin," Witt; two-step, "Queen Folly," Harms; waltz, "Viola," Gustin.

A sacred concert will be given by the orchestra as usual Sunday evening. The prime feature of this concert will be the 'cello solo by J. J. dePool, the music for which has just been composed by Mrs. Bertram Sears, a guest at the hotel. Mrs. Sears will personally accompany Mr. dePool.

The following is the programme for the concert: March, "Militaire," Schubert; overture, "Golden Sceptre," Schleppegrell; concert waltz, "New Vienna," Strauss; intermezzo, "Arioso," Frey; meditation, "Ave Maria," Gounod; cornet solo, "The Holy City," Adams, J. B. Hollinger; intermission; selections from "The Bohemian Girl," Balfe; adagio from "Sonate Pathetique," Beethoven; 'cello solo, "Romance," von Hammer-Sears, J. J. dePool, accompanied by the composer; tone poem, "Sunbeams and Shadows," Keiser; reverie, "Traumerei," Schumann; selection, "Dolly Varden," Edwards; "America."

DEATH OF YOUNG MAN.

Theodore Kreutcfeldt Died at His Home in the Borough Yesterday.

The death of Theodore Kreutcfeldt, son of Mrs. Louise and the late Henry Kreutcfeldt, aged twenty-three years, occured yesterday at his home on Wilson avenue and Cedar street. He had been ill for some time past. The funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be in the North Plainfield cemetery. Rev. William Montgomery Downey, of the Church of the Holy Cross, will conduct the services.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will hold a regular meeting at the court house in Somerville next Tuesday.

THE FOURTH AT HILLSIDE

remained for luncheon, while for the dinner dance, the second of the series, given in the evening, there were sixty who remained for dinner. The music for the dance was furnished by Pound, of New York, and the orchestra also played during the latter part of the afternoon. The clubhouse was prettily dcecorated with lanterns and American flags and presented an attractive as well as patriotic appearance.

Another attraction at the club was the tennis tournament for the Fourth of July cups, men's singles and doubles handicap. The doubles were completed, but the singles will be finished today. In the doubles there was only one match in the preliminary round Howard Huntington and R. A. Beebe winning from Hartley Mellick and D. Bulkley by default. In the semi-finals A. H. Chamberlain and A. D. Beers defeated Howard Huntington and R. A. Beebe, 6-2, 6-1; and F. K. Fish, Jr., and F. W. Goddard defeated G. H. Taylor and W. S. Tyler, 6-3, 6-1. In the finals Fish and Goddard defeated Chamberlain and Beers, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

In the preliminary round for the singles F. W. Goddard defeated R. A. Beebe, 6-4, 6-2; Hartley Mellick defeated Gifford Cooley, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2; A. D. Beers defeated Arthur Lovell, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0; G. H. Taylor defeated F. K. Fish, Jr., 7-5, 1-6, 6-0. In the first round W. S. Tyler defeated Howard Huntington, 6-1, 6-3, and D. Bulkley defeated A. H. Chamberlain, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. The remaining matches in the first round, as well as the semi-finals, will probably be played today.

Later in the afternoon there was an approaching and putting contest and clock golf, a large number of entries being made for both events. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Patterson won the approaching and putting contest with a score of 7. This is the second time this year that a similar score has been made. This gives them a preliminary win for the Schoonmaker cups. The clock golf contest was won by Miss vanHerwerden with a score of 26. Her nearest opponent was Mrs. Edward J. Patterson with a score of 27.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The excitement in town yesterday consisted principally of baseball games. The Bound Brook team was expected to figure with the Dunellen A. C. but they failed to appear and the chief interest centered about the game with the Y. M. C. and the American Engine Works team from Bound Brook. The locals proved victorious to the team of 16 to 4 in a well played game. A game of ball was also played between two bridge teams in the morning but the score was lost sight of in the shuffle. In the afternoon the Dunellen A. C. journeyed to Raritan and despite the fact that the Raritans had four of the crack Safe Works team from Plainfield, including Burns the pitcher, they defeated them in a hot game by a score of 6 to 4. The score was 4 to 3 in the last inning when Dunellen by timely hitting gathered in three runs.

The celebration in Central Park by the Epworth League was not as big a success as hoped for, but still a fair profit will be gotten. Speeches were delivered in the afternoon and a good number took supper under the trees.

A number of small boys and girls are nursing burns as a result of yesterday's celebration. No serious accidents are reported, however.

Henry Garretson and family and Walter Clauson and family, spent yesterday at Midland Beach where they enjoyed the bathing.

Hugh Harris and family, of Brooklyn, have moved into the house on Front street, formerly occupied by A. A. Lake.

Charles Lake has returned home after spending his vacation out of town and will return to business Monday.

Dunellen A. C. against Safe Works will be the game on the Lincoln avenue grounds this afternoon.

Some good tennis was played yesterday on the Park's courts which were in use most of the day.

A considerable number from here entered the trotting races at Westfield yesterday afternoon.

George Richardson and family, of Pennsylvania, spent yesterday with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Firman Gise entertained a number of out of town friends yesterday.

Mrs. Randolph, of Front street, entertained relatives from out of town yesterday.

James Craig spent yesterday fishing at Perth Amboy and reports a good catch.

Mrs. Edward Brook and children are visiting relatives at Stockton, N. J.

Walter Vliet entertained a number of relatives from Elizabeth yesterday.

Daniel Richardson, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in town.

J. W. Day entertained relatives from Brooklyn yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

Yesterday was one of the quietest Fourths that this place has passed through in a number of years. Even the small boy did not seem to make as much noise with firecrackers as usual. In the afternoon the town was nearly deserted, almost every one going to the celebration at Plainfield. No serious accidents are reported as yet from explosions.

Peter Osborn entertained a few out of town friends yestreday. In the afternoon they attended the races at Westfield.

The baseball team will play at Dunellen this afternoon with the Y. M. C. team.

There are rumors of another factory to be established in town.

Peter Osborn has purchased a new rubber-tired road wagon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains observed the Fourth in the usual noisy manner from 12 midnight Thursday until morning it was impossible for those in town to sleep on account of the noise and dinn but as the Fourth only comes once a year no one found any fault. Fortunately no fires or serious accidents happened although there are a number of burnt fingers among the younger generation in town as the result of the day's sport.

Funeral services of the late Earl H. Smith, who died at his home on Westfield avenue, Thursday, were held from All Saints' church this morning at 10:30. Rev. Mr. Mulford, pastor of the deceased, had charge of the sad obsequies. Interment was made at Green wood cemetery, Brooklyn.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching followed by the monthly communion, at 10:45; Baptist Young People's Union meeting at 7; evening preaching, 7:45.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam and children, of Plainfield, have been visiting Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stillger and children, of Roselle, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Stillger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stillger.

Miss Florence Wade, who recently underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital, still continues to improve.

A number from Plainfield held a picnic and dance at Ivamy's pavillion, last night. Music was by Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra.

Howard D. White, principal of the public school, has left for Carlisle, Pa., his home, where he will spend part of his vacation.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., installed its newly elected officers at the meeting Thursday evening.

John Thys, of New York, was the guest the Fourth of his brother, Joseph Thys, of Terrell road.

Harry Messler, of Rahway, spent yesterday with friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

George Arrowsmith, Sr., has moved his goods from his former home on Front street to the Green estate, from which Jesse Dayton recently moved.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Voorhees, of Brooklyn were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorne, yesterday.

Miss Emma Manning has returned home after a short visit in Metuchen.

Harry J. Manning, of Arlington, spent yesterday at his home.

Miss Edna VanNest is entertaining company from out of town.

All-Day Celebration.

There wus an all-day celebration of the Fourth at the Filmore Avenue Baptist church. At 1 o'clock an elaborate dinner was served and the afternoon was spent socially, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. The festivities concluded with a concert in the evening.

Instruction in Air Brakes.

Of late the air brake instruction car of New Jersey Central has been making frequent trips over the main line and branches. On Monday and Tuesday of this week the car went over the High Bridge, where nearly all of the employes passed the examination.

Thirteen of Each.

A rather peculiar incident occurred at Jersey City last week. On Thursday there were thirteen weddings in that city and on the day following there were thirteen applications for divorce filed with the County Clerk.

Steel in His Eye.

Claude Roseberry, of West Front strret, is detained from work by a badly swollen eye. A piece of steel entered the optic while he was at work in the Potter Press Works a few days ago.

Council Meeeting.

The regular July meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening, when considerable routine business will be transacted.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building does picture framing cheaper than any other firm in the city. Artists materials are also sold at a very low price.

Pineapples, bananas, peaches, apricots, plums, blackberries and all fruit in the season, with an abundance of vegetables fresh every day in stock at R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue grocer.

Wm. H. Brower's Sons, the New York florists, have made a reputation for themselves in the metropolis. Orders are received at the residence of John L. Brower, of East Fifth street.

One can enjoy the summer a great deal better if they wear shoes that fit properly and are comfortable. John H. Dosne sells these kind of shoes and he is offering a big assortment to select from at prices within the reach of all.

Many of Plainfield's best homes were decorated with pretty flags, yesterday, procured from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's local store. The flags are only one of the many premiums which this company gives its patrons.

R. J. Shaw, the old established druggist, who recently removed from East Front street to West Front street, has retained all his old customers and secured many new ones. It simply goes to show what reliable goods and honest business methods will do.

The bargains that are constantly being offered at Hill & Shupp's big dry goods store are simply bewildering. Every department is filled with new goods that are seasonable and you can save considerable money by trading at this store. Special sales are being held every few days and it will pay you to watch the firm's advertisement.

A FEW ACCIDENTS REPORTED

MOST SERIOUS RESULTED IN LOSS OF FINGERS FOR ROBT. ADAMSON.

Usual Minor Accidents Were Reported, But Not as Numerous as in Other Years.

Yesterday was remarkably free from accidents for a Fourth of July. But two important cases and several minor ones were received at the hospital and the police reported none. There were the usual amount of burned hands treated by the local physicians.

One of the most serious accidents of the day occurred to Robert Adamson, of Clinton avenue, last evening. The premature explosion of a cannon cracker so disruptured the thumb that Dr. Endicott was forced to amputate it and a part of the index finger. The hand was also badly lacerated. Adamson was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital wnere he is getting along very nicely.

Johnny Schultheiss, son of Joseph Schultheiss, of Manning avenue, had the palm of his hand wounded with wadding from a blank cartridge, and his sister, May, had her fingers burned with firecrackers.

Arthur Walls, of Essex street, while celebrating on Hope Common, yesterday afternoon, shot himself through the hand with a cartridge. He was attended by Dr. Buchanan and then sent home.

Edward Gaalbraith, the son of John Galbraith, Jr., of West Third street, had his hand torn by the wadding from a blank cartridge lodging in the palm at the base of the little finger, causing a very painful injury. The wound was dressed by Dr. VanHorne.

Clifford Cole, the seven-year-old son of George W. Cole, the undertaker, while firing off blank cartridges from a revolver, inflicted an ugly gash in the palm of his left hand. Dr. A. Pittis was called and dressed the wound.

Lost a Wheel.

While John H. Webely was driving along Second street, near Richmond street, about 12 o'clock last night, his carriage was struck by a trolley car, tearing one wheel completely off and breaking the shafts. Mr. Webely was not injured.

G. A. R. to Attend.

Rev. Frank Fletcher will address the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A., hall tomorrow afternoon. Miss Clara J. Mears, a noted soloist, known as Mira Marisona, will sing. Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., will attend the meeting.

The Thrust of a Lance

is scarcely more agonizing than the recurrent pains in the abdomen which follow the eating of improper food or too free indulgence in ice-water. The immediate cause of cramps and colic is often the distention of the bowels by gas. Quick relief follows the use of Perry Davis' Painkiller. Careful housekeepers give it the place of honor in the family medicine chest.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. Gossip of Summer Finery of Various Kinds

Charming Transparent Slips—Quaint and Attractive Millinery—Catchy Silk Coats.

SARATOGA is again coming to the front as a summering place for the wealthy, and this season may see it again in its old-time glory, with its great hotels well filled with guests, its towns-people living in luxury brought to them by the wealth of New York—and its race courses patronized by fashion.

It is to be the latter attraction, probably more than anything else, that Saratoga owes this revival of interest. For a number of years society has virtually dropped the race course as it exists in this country. True, Derby day is the one great day of the summer social season in Chicago, but New York has nothing that equals the American derby, and has shown but scant partiality in the races at Sheepshead and Saratoga. Paris and London have both, however, kept up a social interest in racing, and at both places the great turf meets are well patronized by the fashionably gowned. What these places favored New York had to, and so it is that elaborate preparations are now being made for the appearance at Saratoga and the races.

By preparations, of course, is meant gowns. At several smart establishments I have had my attention called to these race grouns, usually of the tailor-made order, and I was led to note with many pleasurable sensations, the determined insistence of several representative elegantes for a studied simplicity. One gown there was that appealed to me instantly, as a creation assured of finding a fine "success." The material expressing it was a perfect quality of black camel's hair cloth, the skirt set in a series of broad box plaits, stitched down to within nine inches of the hem, and it was a trottoir skirt, by the way. Above came a little blouse coat, in the construction whereof the box plaits were repeated, while the fronts opened in an immaculate pouch, over a buff linen waistcoat, applied with spots of black linen, the smart V decollete filled in by a stock tie of cream esprit net, small black Chantilly motifs ornamenting the ends. While for the waist was supplied a novel-shaped belt of bright black leather. And for the crowning detail there was a charming Marquise toque of beige basket straw, its upturned brim, tempered to the face, by a black chrysanthemum straw lining, the crown carrying a light twist of vivid red ribbon velvet, caught either side by large jet cabochon, and eventually resolving itself into a great outspreading bow at the back.

Then I saw a white cloth costume—a rather busy evolvement perhaps, but nevertheless distinctive. Busy, that is to say, so far as the coat was concerned. Indeed, the creation was chiefly coat, a long shaped basque to a blousee upper part, obliterating altogether the major portion of the plain skirt. The decorative piece de resistance, however, lay in a large square-shaped collar of pale blue silk spotted over, in colonial fashion, with graduated spots, a shaped embroidered belt of gold defining the waist.

Though, even of more importance than the gowns, are the wraps and coats. While in no sort striking, or indicative of any particular original turn of thought, the three-quarter sacque coat, with the Talma sleeve is difficult to surpass in point of a smart workmanlike appearance, and after all this is the race wrap par excellence, since it is as easily carried as worn. Thanks, moreover, to an immense variety of tweeds and cloths, the most surprisingly effective productions, presenting herring-bone patterning, large line checks—very faintly suggested—etc., to say nothing of many admirable colorings and mixtures, there is every promise we shall be privileged to account these chic, and as "eminently "convenable" to summer services. Nor strangely enough to our latter-day taste and understanding, do these supremely sartorial evolvements strike the incongruous note one might justly imagine they would, worn over some summer frivolity of muslin and frills. Wherefore are they to be taken into the best consideration by those whose dress allowance requires to be carefully and economically maneuvered. And who with less provocation than a diminishing banking account might successfully repress a desire, to possess at least one of the more elaborate silk seductions, the which are being held in gentle abeyance to meet the exigencies of the midseason and Ascot.

TWO DAINTY MUSLIN SLIPS FOR SUMMER.

Someone, if I mistake not, murmured a desire to have a particular word written anent slips, preferably transparent slips of esprit net muslin. And it was a wish at once so reasonable and so seasonable, and so conducive to providing employment for the handy sewing maid, to say nothing of the girl who aspires to being her own modiste—a most laudable aspiration by the way, where blouses are concerned, though not quite the simple task dreamt of by an untutored intelligence—that it was a very real pleasure for me to comply.

The models picture veritable slips, lovely limp concoctions; that one at the top of ring spotted cream net, box plaited, and set on to a yoke collar and front piece of stitched "ciel" blue glace with chemisette of cream guipure.

The other, a dainty thing of pale mauve white spotted muslin relieved by a fine embroidered lawn, in one of the new medallion patterns, a further pleasing motive to be remarked being the "treillage" tucking at the top of the vest piece, a nice bit of workmanship that betokens the fingers of much delicacy and taste.

A perfectly charming sacque taffeta coat is that depicted in black with Amande" green Venetian satin facings and great collar of coarse beige lace.

The very acme of daintiness in summer gowns for evening wear has been revealed recently in the pretty white mousseline hand painted in some design of flowers arranged to accord with the special style and cut of the gown. The painting, if it is all that fashion intends it to be, is beautifully done, and roses in white and delicate tints are the favored flowers, sometimes in trailing design over the tunic overdress, and again decorating the deep flounce, headed by a scarf of mousseline caught across with crescent forms covered with brocaded silk or with little barbs of lace, two short ends falling from each crossing.

What the New Woman Is About

A YOUNG woman who was a witness in the trials following a noted murder tragedy tells a newspaper reporter that "liberty is bad for girls." She herself was a spoiled child who went to parties, balls and theaters at the age of thirteen; seems to have wandered about loose wherever she liked with youths of her own age and older ones. First her school lessons interfered with the social goings on; then the lessons were neglected; then next this precocious girl child abandoned the high school, where she would have graduated in a year more, to "have fun." From her own experience the shallow brained, vain creature utters the dictum that "liberty is bad for girls." Well, it depends on the girl and her mother. A babe, a lunatic or an idiot must be restrained to prevent self injury and hurt to others, but even a girl of thirteen who has ordinary common sense and has been properly taught is safe from all harm. A girl who has the right kind of mother knows the follies and the dangers that beset young women. The schoolgirl who has brains, too, will be protected by her love of study or favorite pursuits from running after boys to have a brainless, harmful "good time." If a mother is sensible and intelligent, if she is not restrained by what is really impure prudishness from properly instructing her children and if such a woman's daughter has average good sense, that daughter, though only thirteen, can be trusted to go around the world alone. If, however, she is of the idiotic sort of the seventeen-year-old experienced young woman who laid it down that "liberty is bad for girls," then the parents of such a fool should restrain her, by force if necessary, from running at large.

This morning I saw a well dressed young woman go out through the door of a restaurant and walk along the street chewing a toothpick!

It is curious to note how many English writers there are, from Ouida down, who indulge in ill natured flings at Americans whenever possible. Sarah A. Tooley, for instance, describing in a London periodical the crowning of a certain queen, says, "She had what our American friends call a most elegant coronation." Sarah, from her superior height of knowledge of the English language, would criticise such incorrect use of the word "elegant" as specially American. If Sarah knew as much as she thinks she does, she would be aware that this sense of the word elegant is not American at all, but was brought to us originally by British subjects themselves. In what, judging from her name, was her own native country did Sarah never hear mentioned "an ilegant wake?"

Clara Barton, the original Red Cross army nurse during the civil war and the American president of the Red Cross society, seems endowed with perennial youth. In Cuba with her nurses, doctors and supplies at the time of the war there, in Texas after the great storm devastated Galveston, she journeyed this year to far St. Petersburg to attend the Red Cross conference, where she has lately received an ovation that must have warmed and thrilled her heart. The Spanish delegates to the conference especially vied with one another in attention to her because of her kindness to their fellow countrymen in Cuba. By nature Miss Barton is of delicate build and rather fragile looking, but her enthusiasm for her beloved work keeps her young and strong.

Whatever important step we take, we generally wish we had not done it, for awhile at least. Still that is how we learn things.

The Chinese believe in reincarnation. A China woman who died not long since and knew she was going out of life expressed the earnest wish and hope that in her next incarnation she might be born an American woman. But American women themselves do not seem to appreciate this priceless heritage.

A woman in an address has made this gorgeously intense statement: "There is nothing this side of heaven like the beauty and power of consecrated womanhood." I wonder if she lives up to it.

Miss Nannie T. Daniel, a young lady with a strong, fine, intelligent face, is second vice president of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders.

Mrs. J. G. Laughlin of Seattle has manifested business talent that is remarkable. She had first to lose all the money she possessed before it occurred to her to manage her own affairs. Many a woman would have slumped down under such circumstances and gone to live with a burdened brother-in-law or some relative, but not Mrs. Laughlin. She established herself in an office as a real estate dealer. A woman's name upon the office door attracted the curious at first, but immediately she showed her ability, added other lines of business, was helped greatly by the Klondike boom and is now worth nearly a million, all acquired in comparatively few years.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

CHAPTER XII.

When the plunging carriage and its yelling escort of pursuers were gone, Griswold sat up and felt for broken bones. Happily there were none, and in a trice he was afoot and on his way back to the "Belle Julie," the handcuffs hidden by a bit of bagging. The flank movement was not of impulse; it was only the carrying out of a plan well defined at the outset; the determination to do the thing that the professional robber would not do.

The mate was at the heel of the footplank when he went aboard, and he saw the manacles.

"Hi, there, Gavitt!" he called, "what's to pay with you now?"

Griswold explained in barest outline.

"Who was it, then? Thugs, I suppose, after your bit of pay, and the cop hustled the wrong man, av course. How come ye to get *t*dot-loose?"

"Legged it. But I can't get these off."

"I'll bet you can't. Come with me; you did be doing me a damn good turn wan night, and I'm not forgetting it."

He led the way to his room, found a pair of handcuffs and a key, and freed the prisoner. After which he gave him a long-tailed coat, much the worse for wear, and an old hat.

"Take them and be off with you, before the cops come down to look for their bits of scrap-iron," he said.

Griswold would have thanked him, but speech—Gavitt speech—was not to be had.

Once on the levee again, with all the improbability of finding the negro and the treasure confronting him, he had an ill-turn that was most disquieting. But in the midst of it he found his man, who had successfully dodged the officer and saved the precious bundle.

Griswold promptly doubled the black's reward, and went his way to begin a series of metamorphoses. The series began in a pawnshop next door to the saloon which had seduced the detective. Here he made a change of clothing from top to toe, bought a handbag much too large to be filled with the cast-off garments of the deck hand, and sallied forth to seek a barber's shop of cleanly promise.

The shop and its bathroom made the next step in the series; and from thence Griswold went uptown to an outfitting establishment of the better sort, and made another complete change; made it with such ample provision for the future that he was obliged to purchase two traveling cases to hold the overflow. Here he explained that he was just up from a fever district, and begged the opportunity to burn all the cast-off clothing in the furnace of the steam-heating plant. It was given him, and when a cab was called to take him to the hotel, no one who had known him in New Orleans, or on the main deck of the "Belle Julie," would have recognized the clean-shaven, well-dressed young man who had tossed his traveling cases up to the driver and gave the terse order: "To the Marlborough!"

No one, I say; and yet it must have been the very irony of fate which sent to him the very cabman who had so lately assisted him in the hazardous escape on the levee. For, among all those who were most nearly concerned, surely none but the sharp-eyed little Irishman would have penetrated his disguise—as he did.

"'Tis the divil's own self he is," muttered the sharp-eyed one on the short drive to the hotel. "There's nothing left av him but thim eyes, and that cut on his forrud, and his manner of sp'akin'. But thim I'd swear to if I'd live to be as old as Father McGuiniss—rest his sowl."

CHAPTER XIII.

Putting this and that together, it was the Griswold of his earlier New York days—the days of the slender patrimony — who presented himself at the counter of the Hotel Marlborough. The clerk was graciously affable.

"Glad to have you with us, Mr. Griswold. Will you have a room?"

Griswold thought not; not in any case if he could get a late train to his destination. This brought on a question and answer. There was a train, and the clerk did know something of Wahaska; knew much, in fact, since he had lived there.

Griswold pumped the man dry, and at the end of the pumping process knew as much about the Minnesota town as he could have gleaned from a six months' residence therein. Afterward, he went to supper in the cafe, meaning to go thence to the waiting Pullman at the Terminal.

He was scarcely out of sight before the diminutive Irishman who had driven him came to the counter and made cautious inquiries of the clerk, touching the name, address and intentions of his late fare; all this on the pretext that the fare had overpaid him.

The clerk knew his man and indulged him, even going so far as to write Griswold's name and intended address on a card for him. Whereupon, instead of waiting for Griswold's emergence from the cafe, as he promised to, the cabman disappeared.

Griswold had a quarter of an hour of purely philistine contentment while he was waiting for his supper. At last the difficulties were all in the past. He would resume his name and his plans; and these last took on all the roseate hues of their birthday.

He would go to Wahaska, settle down to his work, study the people, be helpful and generous and brotherloving, using the money he had won for the betterment of his kind. And in time he would meet Miss Farnham on her own ground, and she would see the demonstration of his theory—see and be convinced. But just here he remembered that he could never convince her, because she could never know; and from this he passed to many curious questions touching his own feelings for this young woman who had been thrown in his way.

He had been calling her a faultless author's model; was she only that—to him? Assuredly she was much more, and when he had gotten that far, it was only a step to the admission that he was frankly in love with her. The admission opened up a prospect for which there was no word save grievous. For since he could never stoop to win her under false pretenses, she might never be won. He knew well enough that all the good deeds he could ever do with the stolen money would not atone; that in the moment of fruition her conscience would condemn him and cast him out.

Perhaps it was this thought, as much as the threat of coming illness, that made him lose his appetite as soon as his supper appeared. But lose it he did, and nothing the waiter could bring sufficed to tempt him. He forced himself to eat a little in sheer desperation, and afterward went to the great rotunda to smoke a cigar. To his great disgust, the tobacco brought on a return of the vertigo which had assailed him on the levee; whereupon he paid his score and took a cab for the train, meaning to go to bed and try the effect of forgetfulness.

The experiment was a success, temporarily, at least, and he was asleep before the Pullman porter came to adjust the screen in the window at his feet.

The train was made up ready to leave when a hawk-faced man sauntered up to the steps of the Pullman and pecked at the porter.

Bullock, executrices of the last will and testament of William H. Slape, deceased, are complainants and you are a defendant, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainants on or before the second day of August next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Ferdinand O. Smith and Ettie J. Smith, his wife, to Ella T. Slape and Lillian T. Slape, (now Lillian T. Bullock), executrices of the last will and testament of William H. Slape, deceased, dated February first, Eighteen hundred and ninety-five, upon lands in the City of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and you are made a defendant because you are the owner of the lands and premises described in said mortgage.

Cleaning Havana.

Uncle Sam has been to his Cuban wards if nothing more, at least a cleanly old fellow with soap and mop. Two pictures of Colon park, Havana, in the National Geographic Magazine, one squalid, the other beautiful, are unlike enough to suggest the famous saying of Hamlet to his mother. The Cubans did not like their new uncle's house-cleaning process. What was good enough for them once was good enough always. But they had to stand his scrubbing, like rebellious children having their faces washed, while he cleaned their city inside and out with 33,000 gallons of disinfectant daily, cut the weeds out of their parks, built a wall along the sea, making a fine promenade, swept from their streets the accumulated filth of years, and built new pavements.

Now that the work is nearly done, the Cubans are beginning to take pride in their city, and, growing in civic spirit, the vital text-words of our president are likely to keep up the work that others have started for them, and making their city one of the most attractive winter resorts in the world. —Youth's Companion.

Russian Exactions in Siberia.

It would appear that Russia is determined to run every profitable business by the state. The government has a monopoly of transportation, had preempted the spirit industry, and may at any time seize the tobacco trade. The state regulates wages, grants or refuses rights to work for precious and base minerals and to obtain fuel; in fact, leaves to the individual little but the cultivation of the soil and the raising of stock. The cry is, "Siberia is rich, and Siberia is for us Russians alone," and the state answers, not in words, but in deeds, "Siberia is for the Russians, and shall be rich by administrative order." The pioneer finds gold or stikes oil, then the pioneer is ousted and his field of operations reserved exclusively for exploitation by the state, when and as the state may deem it expedient to act. No one questions the right; many criticise the policy.—Outlook.

The Filipinos.

The Filipino, whether he be an educated or an uneducated person, is temperate. I do not remember to have seen a single Filipino drunk, except my own coachman, whom I had to dismiss, and he was a very good coachman. They drink, a great many of them, but they drink moderately. They drink the vino, which they purchase at small shops that are not loafing places as our saloons are, but are only shops. I have lived two years in Manila, and there are now, I believe, 450 shops, a reduction from 2,500, the estimated number in the Spanish times; but I have never seen a vino shop to know it, which is an indication that there is no publicity about it or any gathering of a crowd in its neighborhood. The few American saloons, 50 or 60 in number, in Manila, one can see a long distance off, but not so a vino shop. —Gov. William H. Taft, in the Independent.

Vienna an Early Closing Town.

In Vienna every man's home is his dungeon from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. Vienna is a city of flats, and at 10 p. m. the common entrance door of each block is closed and bolted. Thereafter persons passing in or out must pay a fine of four cents to the concierge until midnight and eight cents from that hour to six a. m. To go out to post a letters cost four cents, and the same amount to return. To prolong a visit to a friend after ten p. m. means four cents to get out of his house and four cents more to enter your own. A natural result of this irritating tax is that of all our capital cities Vienna is earliest to bed.—N. Y. Sun.

"What a remarkable coincidence," observed the fair contents of the hammock. "So do I."—Chicago Daily News.

London's Ingenious Pickpockets.

A plea for consideration was put forward on behalf of a pickpocket at Marlborough street on the ground that even a short sentence would carry with it the additional hardship to a gentleman of the prisoner's profession of being sequestrated during the coronation festivities. To the light-fingered fraternity this would certainly be a matter of serious loss. The plea reminds us of two men accused of pocket picking who tried to engage a now celebrated counsel to conduct their defense at the Old Bailey. There was one insuperable impediment to this consummation, namely, the absence of the necessary guineas. "Well, sir," said one of the men, "don't go away till we come back, and we'll see." Sure enough, they came back and produced the fee. Counsel was incautious enough to ask how they had come by the money. "Well, sir," was the reply, "we just went up the Strand and—we had a bit o' luck."—London News.

American "Prudishness."

In the face of foreign criticism, and in the face of one's own dismay at existing conditions with regard to divorce, we still sympathize with the retort administered to an alien critic of our people, who had declared, in private conversaion, that America seemed to be afflicted with the disease of prudishness. The answer was somewhat in these words (the incident occurred several years ago): "Yes, probably it is true that Americans are prudish, but consider the revelations that have recently taken place concerning certain circles in London, and considering the condition of a good part of the Parisian stage and of French literature, I, for one, am willing we should pay that price for the knowledge that, on the whole, Americans are the decentest people, in regard to the relations of the sexes, on the face of the globe."—Editorial in Century on Divorce.

The Death Valley Dinner.

Death valley, in the desert of the Great basin, is named for the great number of lives lost in the attempt to cross it. The best-known disaster connected with this desert overtook an expedition, consisting of more than 100 men, one woman and three children, which started for California in 1849. On Christmas day they found themselves in Death valley. Meanwhile they had been obliged to abandon their wagons, and, with the utmost difficulty, they succeeded in traversing the waste and the deserts beyond, reaching on February 4, human habitation in Soledad pass. To this day current rumor has it that all of them perished in Death valley, but the fact is that only four of them died. Twelve of them are still living, and every year, on February 4, they gather together for a dinner.—Philadelphia Evening Post.

Something Unusual.

A little girl living in East Second street had her picture taken recently, and a friend of the family who was calling at the house asked her how it seemed to sit for the photograph.

"Oh, I didn't mind it," she said. "You know I had that thing on my face you always have when you get your picture taken."

"Thing on your face?" queried the visitor. "What do you mean—a veil?"

"No, it's a—" and she stopped to think.

"Was it powder?" she was asked.

"No—er—it's—I'll think in a minute—er—oh, yes! It was a smile."—Duluth News-Tribune.

"No, I don't mean that. I want a change of menue. That sheriff seems to have tried to corner the corned beef supply of the world."—Baltimore American.

Sounds Silly.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," the little girl read from the book, and then she added: "How silly!"

"What's silly!" they asked.

"To think that any head could lie easy with a crown on it," she answered. "Crowns are only to be worn when sitting up."—Chicago Post.

GOLF.

Undoubtedly one of the best players for his size is little Arthur Peterson, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. He is quite small but plays like a veteran and is now in the lead for the Boys' cup at that club.

Among the new members of the Park Golf Club who have shown themselves clever players is Roberts De S. Newhall, who won the driving contest on Hillside Day. He has played at golf clubs at Cincinnati and Los Angeles and is now rapidly improving his form.

During July and August it is usually quiet on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. Many of the members go away from town to the seashore or mountains. Most of the members, however, keep up the game so that when they return in the fall they can continue in the local events.

S. St. John McCutchen has an excellent chance of becoming permanent owner of the President's cup, which is being contested for weekly at the Park Golf Club. Mr. McCutchen won the cup last season. According to the terms of the contest it must be won two seasons in succession to become the permanent property of any member. Mr. McCutchen now leads for the trophy by half a point and is playing a steady game.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Safe Works team plays in Dunellen today. Next Saturday it meets the Y. M. C. A. team for the third time this season.

The challenge of the Metuchen A. C. printed in Thursday's Daily Press will undoubtedly be accepted by one of the City League teams. Both the Safe Works and Y. M. C. A. teams have a number of open Saturday dates on which they could "take on" the Metuchenites.

Today's game between the St. Mary team and the Pearsalls, of Jersey City, ought to be one of the season's best. The latter is composed of semi-professional players and has defeated some of the best teams in the State. As the St. Marys are equal to anything in their class the contest should be a close one.

TO BUILD A NEW CHURCH

BUT THE SWEDISH PILGRIM CHURCH WILL CHANGE ITS LOCATION.

Decided Thursday Night to Build on New Street Instead of Plainfield Avenue.

The members of the Swedish Pilgrim church met Thursday evening and transacted business relative to selecting a new site for the church and receiving bids for the erection of the same. A lot was previously purchased on Plainfield avenue but afterward this was not considered a desirable location. Several days ago another lot at the corner of West Sixth and New streets was offered by C. W. McCutchen, and it was decided to take this one. The lot costs $1,000, but Mr. McCutchen contributes half that sum to the church. In the mean time an effort will be made to dispose of the other property on Plainfield avenue.

The bids for the work were then opened. Herman Hansen, of East Front street, was the successful bidder, his figures being $3,200. James Manning, the other bidder, submitted the figure of $3,500, but changes were made in the plans whereby the work will come within Mr. Hansen's figures. The latter takes the whole contract. The painting will be done by H. Zegar, of Perth Amboy.

The church will be chiefly of frame construction, gothic style, with tower on one end. There will be a large auditorium, a lecture room, a gallery in the main room, a study and a kitchen. The interior will be furnished in a plain, but attractive style and everything will be constructed in the most approved manner. It is the intention to start the work on the new church within a few days. The pastor, Rev. O. G. Norseen, was authorized to sign the contracts, which has already been done.

Two Gathered In.

In borough police circles the day was not more than ordinarily lively. A. R. F. Randolph was arrested yesterday afternoon on a technical charge, drunk and disorderly, by Chief Campbell. Charles Sirocher was pinched by the chief about 9:30 last evening on a similar charge. Both men will appear before Recorder Doud this evening.

NO FIRES ON THE FOURTH

INDEPENDENCE DAY WAS FREE FROM FIRES IN CITY AND BOROUGH.

One Alarm Sounded in City, But Department Didn't Turn Out—Borough's Single Alarm.

Not for many years has the Plainfield fire department had such a quiet Fourth of July as it enjoyed yesterday. The apparatus did not have to go out for a single blaze.

One alarm was actually sent in from box 12, corner of Front and Somerset streets, for a slight ignition of the awning over the entrance to Blatz's hotel, but owing to a short circuit, the whistle failed to sound more than once, and the apparatus did not turn out. At any rate the services of the firemen would have been superfluous, as the blaze was easily quenched. Yesterday marked a record Fourth in that direction, probably a matter of luck more than anything else.

Over in the borough there was a similar lack of things doings in the way of fires. Just as the holiday came into existence, between 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning, the department was called out for an alarm from box 135. The cause of the alarm was merely a bonfire at the corner of Fairview and Watchung avenues, and although the department responded promptly its services were unnecessary.

The remains of a burning fire cracker alighted on the awning over R. W. Barnes' grocery store on Park avenue at noon yesterday and caused a slight ignition of the canvass. The blaze was whacked out with a broom before much damage was done.

TOO ANXIOUS TO CELEBRATE

POLICE GATHERED IN MINOR OFFENDERS FOR PREMATURELY CELEBRATING.

Four Arrests Were Made for Building Bonfires—The Other Cases in City Court.

Premature celebration of the Fourth and the building of large bonfires in business streets resulted in the arrest of a number of Young Americans Thursday evening.

Rufus Larew and Peter Galbraith were caught by Patrolman Vanderweg building a large bonfire at Liberty street and Fourth. They were placed under arrest and when arraigned before City Judge Runyon, yesterday morning pleaded guilty. Sentence was suspended.

Harry Roberts and Elwood Staats started a big blaze on Madison avenue in the rear of the Babcock building. Patrolmen McCarthy and Higgins arrested them and they were arraigned in the city court, yesterday morning. They pleaded guilty and sentence in their case was also suspended.

William Reynolds persisted in discharging a large cannon in the business section after Patrolman Higgins warned him not to. He was arrested and later released to appear this morning but he did not keep his promises. He will be arrested on sight.

Other cases in the city court, this morning were as follows: Thomas Duffy, arrested by Patrolman McCarthy for allowing his dog to run at large, did not appear at the time mentioned; Charles M. Donnelly, Joseph Canova and Joseph Marscha found sleeping in a freight car by Officer Meyer and Gamo, sentence suspended; Dennis Kennedy arrested by Patrolman Gamo for vagrancy, sentenced to thirty days. Edward Jones was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman McCarthy on a charge preferred by Annie Kelley, of Dunellen. He was turned over to the Dunellen authorities.

FOR PRIZE ESSAYS.

Linden Bridgeman Won the Prize Offered to Class of 1902, P. H. S.

The prize offered by Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany to the members of the graduating class of Plainfield High School for the best essay on the probation officer, has been awarded to Linden W. Bridgeman; honorable mention, Miss Mabel Jenkins. The judges were Miss VanBoskerk and Judge Runyon. The essays have been sent to the office of the New Jersey Review of Charities and Corrections to compete for the prize offered through the Review recently for the best essay on the subject from members of graduating classes in New Jersey.

Death of Miss Comer.

Miss Frances Gertrude Comer, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Engroft, of Oak Tree, died at her home Thursday afternoon, from lockjaw. Miss Comer was thirteen years and three months old. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence to Hillside cemetery, Samptown.

Mrs. Weir-Lewis and daughters, the Misses Weir, of Washington Park; Mr. and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, of this city, were passengers today for Europe, where they will remain during the rest of the summer.

BASEBALL ON THE FOURTH

HOPES AND ST. MARYS BOTH WON TWO GAMES YESTERDAY.

Scotch Plains Also Netted Two Victories—The Scores of the Day's Games.

In addition to the other attractions in and about the city, yesterday, baseball was very prominent. Two of the League teams and other nines held forth and attracted good crowds.

The principal games in the city were those of the Hope and Decatur teams which were played in connection with the County Fair in the morning. The Hope team came out ahead in both games although they were close and good exhibitions. Six to two was the score for the first and 8 to five for the afternoon.

The scores by innings were as follows:

Morning.

Hope	1	1	0	0	1	2	0	1	0	—6

Afternoon.

Decaturs	0	0	1	2	0	2	0	0		—5
Hope	2	0	0	1	1	0	0	4		—8

The St. Mary team went out of the city for both its morning and afternoon games. In the morning they crossed bats with the New Providence nine and defeated it by a score of 5 to 3. Scott and Keefe were in the box and Keene caught. The New Providence team made only three hits.

Score by innings:

St. Mary	2	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	—5
N. Prov	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	—3

The Summit A. C. was the opposing team in the afternoon and the St. Mary's walked away from them. They made 17 runs to the Summits' 3. Scott and Keene formed the battery, the former allowing but five hits.

Score by innings:

St. Mary	0	3	2	0	5	0	0	5	2	—17

Scotch Plains added two more to its long list of victories yesterday when the team defeated the Rahway Field Club and the Garwood A. C.

The Rahway Field Club was taken into camp in the morning by the score of 7 to 5. The score while close was never dangerous, as Harvey, of the locals, pitched a steady game and kept the hits scattered and did not give a man a base on balls. In the afternoon the Garwoods, the only club which has defeated the team this season, were the visitors, and the team played to redeem itself, and succeeded, shutting the visitors out, while they batted and ran bases like veterans.

Following are the line-ups of the two games:

SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK.

Captured Valuables While Mrs. J. E. Meeker Was Picking Berries.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 5—While Mrs. Joseph E. Meeker was picking berries in the rear of her home, yesterday, sneak thieves entered the house and ransacked the rooms of the upper floor. Altogether they secured $5.75, two gold rings and a quantity of wearing apparel. A negro, who was surprised in the back yard by Mrs. Meeker, and a companion are supposed to be the thieves. The fellow had a spade in his hand and when caught by Mrs. Meeker said he had entered the yard to return it to Mr. Meeker but it later developed none had been loaned.

HIT THE MARK.

Baseball Thrown Put "Conjunction" Jones Out of Business.

Professor Walter Jones sometimes known as "Conjunction," who was the African dodger on the Hope fair midway, yesterday, was completely knocked out last evening. Jones puts his head through a curtain and dodges baseballs thrown at him. A strong armed young man unintentionally, secured an extra hard ball, and throwing it swiftly, struck Jones square in the mouth. The jawbone pressing on the brain rendered him unconscious and he remained so for some time. He was attended by Dr. Buchanan after which he was sent home.

RAIN STOPPED THE GOLFERS

Large Fields Started, But Many at the Golf Clubs Failed to Turn in Scores.

HILLSIDE TEAM WON.

Defeated the Crack Team From St. Paul's School 25 to 5—Reinhart and Abbott for Club Championship—S. St. J. McCutchen Leads for President's Cup at Park.

A hot wave and a shower both combined against the local golfers, Saturday afternoon. The regular competitions were played nevertheless and the Hillside team managed to handily defeat the crack players of the famous St. Paul's School. Of next importance was the semi-final round for the Club Championship cup at the Hillside Club in which F. O. Reinhart and Robert Abbott qualified for the finals.

In the regular competitions Arthur Peterson and Robert Abbott carried off the first honors at the Hillside Club and S. St. John McCutchen the first honors at the Park Golf Club.

HILLSIDE CLUB.

While the rain reduced the number of contestanrs who turned in their scores at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon, there was a large field to start. One of the chief attractions of the afternoon was the team match between Hillside and the team from St. Paul's School.

The visitors were outplayed throughout the contest, Hillside winning by the score of 25 to 5. Howard Wright and Robert Abbott each scored 8 points, while T. R. VanBoskerck made 7 points. N. P. Rogers, Jr., made the other two points. For the visitors, R. Storey Rowland, a member of the Hillside Club, scored 2 points, while Frank Talmadge, also of Hillside, failed to tally.

The scores were as follows:

Hillside.		St. Paul.
H. deP. Wright	8	Frank Talmadge	0
Robert Abbott	8	Wilber, Jr.	0
W. L. Glenney	0	R. S. Rowland	2
N. P. Rogers, Jr.	2	H. Griffin	0
Morris Dumont	0	B. Stockton	3

The other event for the afternoon was the weekly play for the Golf Committee cup. The heavy rain interfered with this play and it was rather late when the competition was concluded. Robert Abbott won first honors. He now holds second place in the weekly competition, while H. F. Baker holds the lead.

The scorss for the Golf Committee cup are as follows:

	G	H	N
Robert Abbott	76	0	76
H. deP. Wright	78	0	78
Walter Peterson	91	12	79
Dudley H. Barrows	92	10	82
T. R. VanBoskerck	93	10	83
E. T. Barrows	102	18	84

Howard C. Tracy	110	20	90
Chas. A. Stover	111	20	91
Jan vanHerwerden	97	6	91

The standing for the Golf Committee cup is as follows:

	Points.
H. F. Baker	8½
Robert Abbott	7
W. L. Glenney	6½
Howard deP. Wright	5½
Evarts Tracy	4
E. T. Newkirk	3½

AFTERMATH OF HOPE'S GREAT COUNTY FAIR

Profit of the Y. M. A. at Its Huge Undertaking is Still a Matter for Speculation.

A SETTLEMENT SOON.

SOME OF THOSE WHO DESERVE PARTICULAR CREDIT FOR THE AFFAIR.

There Were Thieves Among the Crowd and They Made Off With Several Valuable Articles Which Were on Exhibition.

The great Hope Y. M. A. County Fair is now a thing of the past but speculation is rife as to how much the young men will clear from their huge undertaking. At present the amount can only be estimated but something near the figure will be gleaned from the reports to be submitted at a special business meeting to be held tomorrow evening. The officials know enough to warrant their admitting they are well in the lead.

In giving credit for the success of the affair it would be hard to single out any one person, but too much cannot be extended City Judge William N. Runyon and one of his foremost assistants, William Schorb. The latter has had considerable experience in such enterprises and the matter of selecting the attractions and arranging the "midway" was placed in his hands. The fact that it was one of the most successful features of the affair is a guarantee that he performed his part in a most thorough manner.

To the discredit of some of the large crowd which attended, the association will lose a considerable amount through thieves. A number of valuable articles were stolen from the grounds, chief among them being an old Revolutionary saber belonging to George Fritts, of West Fifth street, and a costly silver watch. The saber is made of solid silver and bears the date of 1712. It was on exhibition early in the morning in a small tent and was taken during the brief absence of the attendant. There is absolutely no clue to the thief. While the Y. M. A. will recompense Mr. Fritts for his loss, in one way it is irreparable as the saber was in the family for years and cannot be replaced. The watch was one of the articles displayed on Matthew Sweeney's fishing pond booth and was also taken while he went a short distance away for change. It was valued at $40.

Among the booths doing the largest amount of business was the one where refreshments were sold. Three times the supply was exhausted and it seemed as if enough could not be obtained. For one item over 500 quarts of Tier's ice cream was disposed of.

EGG POWDERS.

Retailers' Journal Explains What They Really Are.

In the recent raid by the health officials of Great Britain against the sale of alum baking powders, which has resulted in freeing that country from these unhealthful mixtures, the officers were surprised to find a large number of powders which were made from alum and called egg powders. The dealers in these powders were likewise convicted and fined.

The Retailers' Journal, of Chicago, calls attention to what it styles an attempted deception in the so-called egg baking powders sold in this country. It says: "The manufacturers of this powder are trying to blind both the retailers and consumers by putting in a small per cent. of albumen. This does not make the baking powder any more useful, but makes a better showing (the large amount of extra foam) in their experimental tests for the benefit of the dealer. We believe its use in baking does not give as satisfactory results, as the stale egg imparts an unpleasant odor and toughens the dough."—Exchange.

Roadway is Lighted.

Through the generosity of Charles J. Fisk the driveway leading from the road outside of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds, to the clubhouse, is now lighted with oil lamps of the most approved pattern. This has always been a dark driveway and the improvement is greatly appreciated by those who visit the clubhouse in the evening.

Played in Concerts.

Fred W. Bowden, who recently returned from Cuba, where he was a member of a calvary band, played in two concerts with the Eighth Coast Artillery Band at Governor's Island, New York, Thursday.

COMPOSED BY GUEST.

Solo by Mrs. Bertram Sears at the Sacred Concert at the Netherwood Last Night Made a Decided Hit.

Notwithstanding the success scored by the patriotic ball at the Netherwood oon the Furth, enthusiasm for the regular Saturday evening hop was not in the least diminished. There were more people present then at any previous function at the hotel, not excepting the ball of Friday evening. The floor was well patronized at all times and the music was of the usual high standard. A large quota of Plainfielders were there and enjoyed the hospitality of the management. The hop was, as on all occasions, a full dress affair.

At the sacred concert last evening the chief interest centred in the third number of the second part of the programme, 'cello solo, romance, von Hammer-Sears. J. J. dePool, of the Netherwood orchestra, was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Bertram Sears, of New York, who composed the piece for the occasion. Mrs. Sears has composed music of a high order being known to the musical public under the name of Marie von Hammer. Mrs. Sears received an ovation at the conclusion of the solo, and responded to the encore with a repetition of the piece. It was a delightful production, enthusiastically received.

DROWNED OFF SANDY HOOK

WIFE AND DAUGHTER OF CAPTAIN T. N. HORN LOST LIFE IN ACCIDENT.

Catboat Capsized and Three of the Party Went Down Before They Could be Rescued.

A sad accident occurred off Sandy Hook yesterday morning, when Mrs. Horn, wife of Captain Tiemann N. Horn, commanding the 95th Company of Sea Coast Artillery; her three-year-old daughter, Frances, and Miss Alice McMahon, of Nyack, N. Y., were drowned. They were out in a twenty-foot catboat, with Captain Horn and Dr. Waterhouse, when it capsized and before assistance could be given the two women and the child had disappeared. Captain Horn is well-known in Plainfield, being a brother to Mrs. Joseph Sattels. His wife also has many friends in this city, and their daughter was beloved by all who knew her. Captain Horn presented the Plainfield High School cadets with a handsome silk flag four years ago.

When well off shore a sudden puff of wind out of the east sent the boom round to the side on which the entire party was seated on the bench in the cockpit. The weight of the boom and sail, added to the weight of the party, sent the boat over on its beam ends, and before Captain Horn and Dr. Waterhouse, the only other man in the party, could do anything to right the boat, she went completely over.

All the occupants of the boat were thrown into the water. A launch, said to be from Newark, which was some distance away, went to the rescue. Into this Captain Horn, Miss Horn, his sister; Dr. and Mrs. Waterhouse, and Captain Horn's youngest daughter and son were dragged. While this was being done Mrs. Horn, Miss Frances Horn and Miss McMahon sank. Those rescued were taken to Atlantic Highlands.

Yesterday afternoon efforts were made to recover the bodies, but without avail, and dynamite will be used today.

During the busy hours of the day two cars were operated on the Arlington avenue line. On the main line the cars were operated under ten minutes headway.

To Be Buried in Virgina.

The body of Miss Sarah Barrett, who died at her home on West Front street Friday, was shipped to Scottsville, Virginia, Saturday afternoon. Interment was made at that place yesterday.

Death of Infant.

Fred, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Nelson, of West Third street, died at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The interment will be this afternoon.

MANY MINOR CASES BEFORE CITY JUDGE

Seven Offenders Haled to the City Court This Morning on Various Charges.

MOST WERE DRUNKS.

EDMUND SCOTT WAS DRUNK, BUT THOUGHT HE HAD A MESSAGE.

Elwood Staats Wanted a Slight Reduction in His Fine for Fast Driving—William Packer Carted to Jail Again—Others in Court.

The old rule that business in the city court is dull after a holiday hasn't held good since the Fourth. At Saturday morning's session ten prisoners were arraigned and this morning there were seven more. All of today's were for minor offenses.

Elwood Staats was arraigned for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the latter consisting of driving a horse up and down Park avenue and East Front street, Saturday afternoon, very much beyond the speed limit. He pleaded guilty and was fined $6 or twenty days. After debating some time he decided to pay but incurred the wrath of the Cadi and came near having the amount made larger by asking to have it reduced to $5.

Edward Scott, colored, pleaded guilty to having a "religious" jag at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, Saturday night. He remarked, however, that Patrolman McGinley had no right to arrest him because the Lord gave him a message to deliver and that was what drew the crowd. There was no other disorder and sentence was suspended.

John Sutton, of Raritan, also pleaded guilty to being drunk, Saturday afternoon. He made a pathetic appeal for leniency and sentence was suspended on his promising to go back to Raritan and start a Sons of Temperance chapter with himself a charter member.

William Packer, who was unable to navigate Saturday night owing to his two wooden legs becoming unsteady from too much "red eye," was carried to headquarters from North and Park avenues. It took eight men to do the job as Packer was too far gone to tell how to take the wooden pegs off, which weigh almost as much as himself. The last time he was arrested he was carried to headquarters in a kindling wood wagon. He pleaded guilty but sentence was suspended.

William Reynolds was arraigned for shooting a cannon in the business streets, Thursday night, the concussion from which shattered numerous panes of glass in store and flat buildings. Sentence was suspended on his promising to pay the for the damage done.

Patrick Moran, of Plainfield avenue, didn't like the way Patrolman Higgins told him to go home, yesterday afternoon, when he was cavorting about the Boulevard. He told the officer so in language not fit for the parlor. His demand for free speech cost him $4.

Jacob Sacher, of the Boulevard, was ordered by Patrolman Higgins to appear in court for allowing his horse to run at large. He failed to appear and a warrant was made out for his arrest.

Runaway Overturned Wagon.

A horse attached to one of H. W. Marshall's laundry wagons, ran away on West Front street, near Grove this morning. In front of Mrs. Denton's flower store it collided with a rig belonging to Mrs. John L. Shank, of Watchung, and overturned it. One wheel of Mrs. Shank's rig was demolished and the harness was broken. The laundry horse was caught by Andrew Love, Sr., in front of the Babcock building, without any further damage.

Lookout for Stolen Horse.

Edward Whitehead, of South River, telephoned the local police at 1:30 this morning, asking them to be on the lookout for a rig stolen from him, last night. The horse is described as a sorrel mare, fifteen hands high, eight years old, foretop cut short and long mane and tail. It was attached to a new black top buggy.

Death of Miss Pierce.

Miss Eva A. Pierce, daughter of George V. and Evaline H. Pierce, died Sunday at Muhlenberg Hospital from heart trouble and a complication of diseases. The funeral services will be held at the parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son, Park avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

NEARLY KILLED ONE.

Hungarian Society, of Raritan, Celeorated Anniversary of Settlement of the Huns in That Place.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 7—The Hungarian Society of Raritan had a high time in many respects on Saturday. It celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the settlement of that people in Raritan as only the Huns can. There was a big street parade for which the Crescent Cornet Band of Raritan furnished music and afterwards a great picnic in Frelinghuysen's woods.

It was while the festivities were at the highest and fire water was flowing freely that several of the celebrants became very angry at the actions of each other and started to hammer their heads in with beer bottles. Before they could be parted several were badly injured and it is believed that John Horcar may die. He is in a critical condition. It is probable that arrests will be made as soon as his assailants can be located. None of the Hungarians will talk about the matter.

LIGHTNING UP TO TRICKS

SPLINTERED THE FLAG POLE NEAR CITY HIGH SCHOOL SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Severe Thunder Storm Accompanied by Vivid Lightning and Slight Fall of Hailstones.

An electrical storm of more than usual intensity broke over this city about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Following the excessive heat rain came down in torrents and in outlying sections of the city a slight fall of hailstones is reported. The storm came up from the southeast and the accompanying lightning left in its wake many fantastic freaks.

The flag pole on the grounds of the City High School was struck at the top, knocking a big chunk out of the wood just below the ball. The current played all the way down the pole, cutting away slivers as it passed, till it finally entered the ground.

The lightning also struck a board in the Park fence near Campbell's hotel on Park avenue. It ran along the barb wire on the top of the fence, played down another board, knocking a big hole in it, and tore up big lumps of sod at the point where it disappeared into the earth. A kennell situated near the fence, in which was fastened a dog belonging to Mr. Campbell, was overturned, and the chain holding the canine was snapped in twain. The dog ran howling down the street, but escaped the shock without injury.

Month's Outing at Hopatcong.

Members of the North Plainfield High School nine and a few of their friends will leave tomorrow for a month's outing at Camp Pipsiawah, Lake Hopatcong. Among those who will go are Fred Armstrong, George Owens, Clarence Rocap, Pete Emmons, George Conover, Harry Woodland, Arthur Humble, Hollis Powers, Harold Hegeman, Elmer Ackor, Edgar Adams and Robert Hand.

Funeral of Theo. Kreutefeldt.

The funeral services of Theodore Kreutefeldt were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home, corner of Wilson avenue and Cedar street, where a large number of friends gathered. Rev. William Montgomery Downey, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, conducted the services. The interment was made in North Plainfield cemetery.

Midnight Disturbers.

People in the vicinity of Park avenue and Fourth street indeed thought "Rip VanWinkle Was a Lucky Man" about midnight last night, when a band of rowdies stood on the corner whistling that popular song so they could be heard for several blocks. The attention of the police is again called to this crowd.

Borough Court Cases.

In the borough police court Saturday evening before Recorder Doud, A. R. F. Randolph, drunk and disorderly, was fined $10. Charles Sirocher, up on a similar charge, was fined $20. Joe Duffy, arrested by Policeman Adelmann Saturday night, comes up before the recorder this evening.

Lightning Started Fire.

During a violent thunder storm Saturday afternoon, lightning struck the barn of John Hartpence at Landsdown, Hunterdon county, and burned it to the ground, as well as a hay barrack near by. The loss was about $1,000 and the insurance was $400.

Rev. Geo. Bowers Spoke.

Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville, delivered the address at the Rescue Mission meeting in the First Church of Christ yesterday afternoon. Miss Bowers sang a solo.

MUSICAL SERVICE AT THE FIRST BAPTIST

Rendered by the Choir Under the Direction of E. J. Fitzhugh and Organist Case.

THOSE WHO TOOK PART.

A SERMON ON MUSIC WAS PREACHED BY REV. DR. JUDSON.

Enjoyable Service Given Last Evening—Regular Choir Was Assisted by a Few Others—The Selections and Those Who Sang Them.

The special musical service at the First Baptist church last evening was one of the most enjoyable yet given. The excellent chorus choir rendered the several numbers perfectly under the direction of E. J. Fitzhugh, who was in charge, with Howard Case at the organ. The choir was augmented by Miss Julia Carman, Miss May Mulford and Miss Lena Bass, sopranos; Stacy Reynolds, bass, and Willard M. Miner, tenor. Dr. Leonard Waldo assisted in the programme with a 'cello.

The programme opened with a selection by Schumann for organ and 'cello, followed with an anthem, "Whose Dwelleth," by the choir. After the invocation by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, an evening hymn "On High the Stars," was given by the choir and preceded by a bass solo, "O God be Merciful," by William Holmes, who sang in excellent voice. He was accompanied on the organ by Mr. Fitzhugh.

One of the most effective numbers was the alto solo and chorus, "Lord, How Long," by Mrs. F. M. Ward and the choir. Another delightful number was the soprano solo, "Hear My Prayer," by Miss Luella C. Harris, and a chorus part by the choir.

The offertory, a tenor solo, "Be Thou Faithful," by George W. Smith, was given in pleasing style. The offering was for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

After an anthem, "Evening Sacrifice," by the choir, Rev. Dr. Edward H. Judson gave a short talk on music in the church. He complimented the choir giving the programme last evening and thought that a chorus choir surpasses any kind of music for a church. He did not depreciate the quartette choir, but believed the chorus choir better.

Dr. Judson believed that the congregation should be taught to sing and thus make the services of the church more helpful and interesting. He believed that through songs of praise people are brought nearer to God and are lead to worship Him better.

Following the short discourse, another anthem, "Still, Still With Thee," was given by the choir, and after the congregational singing of "Abide With Me," the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Judson. The services throughout was impressive and the very large congregation present thoroughly enjoyed every number.

CAME MANY MILES.

Rev. Dr. Judson Came Down From Hamilton, N. Y., to Preach Here.

Rev. Dr. Edward H. Judson, of New York, who preached at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and evening, came all the way from Hamilton, N. Y., to fill the pulpit. He is spending his vacation at his summer cottage at Hamilton and simply because he loved the church and was desirious of being of help to it he came to Plainfield. He was entertained yesterday by S. B. Joseph, of the borough, who was a former officeholder in Dr. Judson's church in New York.

For Free Trolley Rides.

The following amounts have been received by the Plainfield Relief Association for the "trolley ride fund": Mrs. M. Tyler, $1; friend, 35 cents; friend, $5; Morris VanBuren, $5; three children, $1; Mrs. H. B. Newhall, $2; Miss Tweedy, $2; Mrs. Jackson, 50 cents. The total amount received to date is $20.85. Any person feeling so disposed can help to make many poor folks comfortable and happy by contributing to this fund.

Seven New Members.

Seven were added to the church membership at the Communion service at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, yesterday morning.

Council Meeting.

The Common Council will meet this evening in regular session, when several matters of importance will be considered.

TOO MUCH RAIN FOR BASEBALL

Saturday Afternoon's Shower Put a Sudden Stop to All the Local Games.

FEW INNINGS PLAYED.

Then the Rain Came Down So Hard That the Players Had to Quit—St. Marys Met Pearsalls—Hope Y. M. A. Against Clinton Avenue—Y. M. C. A. Went to Murray Hill.

Although there were no league games scheduled for Saturday afternoon, most of the local league teams had arranged to play. The games were started but the heavy shower of the afternoon put a sudden stop to them. A few innings were played and there was promise of some exciting contests when the rain arrived and continued so long that it was impossible to play afterward.

The sudden rainstorm which came up Saturday afternoon was all that saved the reorganized Clinton Avenue team from an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Hope nine. But two innings had been played when the downpour commenced and in that time the Hopes had secured six runs, all in one inning, while the Clinton Avenues were shut out, only one man reaching first base.

The Pearsalls, of Bayonne, met the St. Mary's on the latter's grounds. Rain stopped the contest at the end of the third inning. The visitors were of the quasi professional variety and proved too heavy a combination for the locals. They batted Doyle all over the field for a total of eleven runs in the three innings. St. Mary's failed to score. Doyle and Keene were the battery for the home team.

The Y. M. C. A. team journeyed by stage to Murray Hill to play the crack team at that place Saturday afternoon, but the downpour prevented the teams from lining up for a single inning. Y. M. C. A. returned home without the prospective scalps at their belts.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 7—Several hundred baseball enthusiasts were sadly disappointed on Saturday afternoon while the heavy showers put an end to the game of ball between the local team and the Xaviers deaf mutes, of New York. A little sprinkle of rain during the second inning made many seek shelter but the two teams played until the beginning of the heaviest downfall, which occurred in the second half of the third inning, the score at that time being 5 to 0 in favor of the home team. Several base hits in the first inning brought in the five runs but the Xaviers settled down and were able to shut the locals out in their second, and gave promise of repeating the trick in the third when the rain put an end to the game but Scotch Plains will have the pleasure of seeing the way mutes play the National game July 19, Manager Johnston having booked them again for that date.

Found the Bullet.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 7—Herbert Walsh, the young man who was accidentally shot by his brother last week, while the two were fishing on the river near Berkeley Heights, is expected to recover. It was found that the bullet, which has been successfully extracted, followed one of his ribs till it lodged directly in front of the stomach. Unless blood poisoning sets in the chances for recovery are excellent.

Exciting Experience.

Arthur Leland, of Providence, R. I., has been spending several days with his mother in West Fifth street. He left Providence last Thursday on the steamer Massachussets and early Friday morning the walking beam broke. The steamer had to be towed back to port, where a train was made up and the passengers did not get to New York until Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Roman Candle Exploded.

Herbert DuBois, of Putnam avenue, is obliged to do without the use of his right hand. On July 4, while sending off a Roman candle, it exploded and burned his hand considerably.

—George Egel, Jr., of Somerset street, has been secured by L. W. Randolph, the druggist, to assist at the soda water fountain during the busy season.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

At the recent convention of the National Dancing Masters' Association in Milwaukee, several new dances were introduced, including the new five-step. The novelties are: "The Delmar," "The Eros," "The Lric," "The Pompadour" and "The Sterling." President Bangert declares that all the delegates were unanimously of the opinion that the five-step is the coming dance.

This is not a new dance, it being what was called Redowa Schottisch. It is the general opinion that it will in time take the place of the popular two-step. The new dances favor the minuet-slow and stately.

Brigadier-General Gillmore, who has just been appointed to command of a brigade in the National Guard of New Jersey by Governor Murphy, is a son of Major-General Quincy A. Gillmore, and was born at West Point September 2, 1851, while his father was military instructor at the academy. The son graduated from there in 1873 and entered the United States service as a lieutenant in the Eighth Calvary. He spent eight years campaigning in the far west, and then was ordered to West Point to act as military instructor in cavalry tactics, at which duty and that of quartermaster at the academy he spent five years.

Then he rejoined his regiment and served with it until 1897, when he was retired with the rank of captain.

He served in most of the Indian campaigns in the West, especially in that against the Sioux in 1890-91, and spent nineteen months with Lieutenant, afterward General, Lawton, in the pursuit and capture of the famous Indian chief, Geronimo.

Captain Gillmore spent ten years campaigning in Texas alone. When the Spanish-American War began, Governor Voorhees appointed him lieutenant-colonel of the Fourth New Jersey Volunteers, he afterward becoming its colonel.

When the State National Guard was reorganized after the Spanish war, Colonel Gillmore was elected commander of the Second New Jersey, with headquarters at Trenton. He has been also detailed by the War Department as military instructor at Rutgers College, and is likewise military instructor at the State Reformatory, Rahway.

Brigadier-General Gillmore has a wife, two sons and one daughter. His oldest son, Quincy A. Gillmore, is now a West Point cadet, and was born there while his father was military instructor at the post, history thus repeating itself in the cases of father and son.

NEW WELL DRIVEN.

Now Old Well, Near the Cemetery, Has Gone Dry.

Michael Geary, who lives near the Hillside cemetery, has just completed driving a well on his property. The well is 163 feet deep and those who have tasted the water claim it to be of the finest quality. In connection with this there has been a shortage of water at the house in the cemetery grounds, which some claim is due to the new driven well. During the past few days the well in the cemetery grounds has been dry. Whether Mr. Geary's well has affected the other one is not known definitely, but many believe it has.

J. W. Yates and family, of East Seventh street, have gone to Lake Minnewaski to spend the summer.

Mrs. Robert Lowry, of Putnam avenue, has been spending a few days in Germantown, Pa., visiting friends.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

IN MEMORY OF JERSEYMEN

MONUMENTS ARE TO BE ERECTED ON ANTIETAM BATTLEFIELD.

The State Commission Appointed to Establish Them is Considering a Location.

The State Commission appointed some time ago, to erect monuments at Antietam in honor of the New Jersey regiments and battalions that participated in that battle, Sept. 17, 1862, met in New York. The commission consists of Chairman James O. Smith, of Newark, Thirteenth New Jersey Volunteers; Lieut. Joseph E. Crowell, of Paterson, Thirteenth New Jersey Volunteers, and Col. John J. Toffey, of Jersey City, Thirty-third New Jersey Volunteers. Col. Toffey is the former State Treasurer and is now Port Warden of Jersey City.

Chairman Smith reported the result of a conference with Gov. Murphy as to the work of the commission, which has full power to go on with the erection of the monuments and markers of the New Jersey regiments participating in the engagement at Antietam. Two of the commissioners, Smith and Crowell, have already visited the battlefield and are familiar with the ground, while Chairman Smith at Washington last week held an important conference with Brig.-Gen. Ezra A. Carman, formerly Colonel of the Thirteenth Regiment, and who is now Commissioner in charge of the Antietam Cemetery.

The site of the main monument, which will be a handsome affair, will not be definitely decided upon until after a careful inspection of the battlefield by the entire Commission. Mr. Crowell put in a strong plea to have it located at about the spot where Capt. Hugh C. Irish was killed and where the Thirteenth Regiment received its "baptism of fire," which is at the side of the Hagerstown pike, and about three-quarters of a mile from the famous "Dunker Church." It is quite possible that the main monument will be located somewhere in that vicinity, as it is one of the most prominent spots on the battlefield.

The contracts for the principal monument will be awarded to the one who offers to do the best job for the smallest sum, without choice or favor, and the contract will include the designing, execution, transportation and putting up the monument complete, under the jurisdiction of the Commission. So far as possible the work will be confined to residents of New Jersey.

TWO POPULAR OFFICIALS

Railroad Employee Has Something to Say About the Jersey Central Officials.

"The Railroad Employee" has the following to say concerning two popular and efficient officials of the New Jersey Central "A man who has within the past few years risen to prominence in the railroad world is President Geo. F. Baer, of the Reading, and New Jersey Central roads. Mr. Baer, without inherited wealth or influence, has risen from a humble tiller of the soil on his father's farm in Somerset county, Pa., to his present position.

"Mr. Baer is a lawyer by profession and as such entered the employ of the Reading back in 1877. He is acknowledged as one of the ablest railroad managers in America and in the short time he has been president of the Reading he has mastered the details of the office, increased the earnings, and inaugurated a policy which has created a more reciprocal feeling between the employees and the company than has ever before been known in Reading circles.

"General Passenger Agent C. M. Burt, of the New Jersey Central, is a firm believer in publicity and the advertising matter which is being put out by Advertising Manager Hayden is of the highest artistic order. The most recent production of the passenger department is a descriptive booklet on Atlantic City, which is well worthy of preservation as a work of art."

Uses Only Hygeia Ice.

The house committee of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club announces that hygeia ice is now used exclusively at the clubhouse. Heretofore there has been some objection to using the natural ice and the committee feel it due to the absolute safety of the health of the members that the manufactured ice be used.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

THE POPE'S JUBILEE.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Coronation Celebrated at the Vatican.

ROME, July 7.—All the members of the American college at Rome, including Rev. Dr. Thomas Kennedy, rector of the college, and Fathers McCate, McCourt and Mullin of Philadelphia, were present last evening at the fetes held at the Vatican in celebration of the pope's jubilee in honor of the twenty-fourth anniversary of his coronation.

The entire papal court and thousands of members of all the Catholic societies represented in Rome assembled at 6 o'clock in the evening in the great Belvidere court of the Vatican and paid homage to his holiness. The court was beautifully adorned with tapestries and a profusion of plants and flowers. The pope occupied an especially constructed and richly decorated gallery.

The fete was brought to a close by the pope pronouncing a pontifical blessing, after which he was again acclaimed. A great flock of pigeons sent to Rome from all the chief towns of Italy was then released and flew off to their homes, each one bearing an announcement that the ceremonies had taken place.

The pope, who was delighted with the fete, was in excellent health, and his physicians announce that he has improved both in health and spirits in the past year.

ANARCHY IN VENEZUELA.

President Castro So Proclaims on Departing From Caracas.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, July 7.—News has reached here from an official source in Caracas that President Castro left the capital of Venezuela today for Valencia, in the state of Carabobo, to take command of the 4,500 government troops concentrated there, who are to oppose the main army of the revolutionists, which, under the commands of Luciano Mendoza and General Solagnie, is marching toward Valencia from Barquisimeto. The revolutionists are estimated to number more than 3,000 men. Barquisimeto was captured by them last week.

Preparatory to his departure from the capital President Castro published a proclamation to the nation in which he says he recognizes the fact that anarchy exists in Venezuela and promises to re-establish peace shortly. During the absence of the president from Caracas General Vicente Gomez, first vice president, will act in his stead.

Battle Over a Tin Cup.

LACROSSE, Wis., July 7.—Growing out of a quarrel over the possession of a tin cup at a street drinking fountain, a riot was precipitated here which in point of numbers and intensity of excitement surpassed anything of the kind ever seen in this city. The battle was between the Assyrian colony of the north side and several hundred railroad men. About 300 of the 800 Assyrians of the colony were engaged. The fight lasted for an hour. Several shots were fired, but most of the battle was fought with clubs. Knives also came into play. None of the bullets took effect, but one man was stabbed several times, and several were badly beaten.

American Steamer Aground.

LONDON, July 7.—The American steamer Rappahannock, Captain Buckingham, is aground at Holyhead, Wales. As a result of a collision with the British steamer Dalegarth, Captain Henry, the Rappahannock has a large hole in her port side amidships. Her second hold and her cross bunkers are full of water, and there is eight feet of water in her engine room. The collision occurred in a fog off South Stack light, on the island of Holyhead. One man was killed and two were injured on board the Dalegarth. The vessel's bows were stove, and her forepeak was filled with water. She proceeded for Birkenhead.

Gold Heels Lowers World's Record.

NEW YORK, July 7.—On a track that was lightning fast and before a crowd of 25,000 persons F. C. McLewee & Co.'s Suburban winner, Gold Heels, favorite in the betting at 13 to 10, galloped home an easy winner in the Brighton handicap at the Brighton Beach race track. He not only lowered Jack Points' record of 2:04 3-5, made in 1900, but established a new world's record for a circular track. The time was 2:03 4-5.

Germany's Exports to United States.

BERLIN, July 7.—The total of Germany's exports to the United States for the year ended June 30 is $101,714,064, an increase of $1,827,050 over the amount for the year ended June 30, 1901. The exports of this last year reach the record figure. In 1898 they amounted to $74,250,000, in 1899 to $84,000,000, in 1900 to $98,000,000 and in 1901 to $99,887,014.

Slavs and Poles Fight.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 7.—A terrific race riot between Slavs and Polish miners and coke workers occurred at the Paul mines of the Rainey company, near Vanderbilt, three miles from here. One man was killed. Thirty Slavs, men and women, were all more or less injured in the terrific hand to hand fight that took place. Thirty arrests were made.

AGUINALDO SET FREE

The Former Insurgent Leader Afraid to Venture Out.

HE CALLS TO SEE GENERAL CHAFFEE.

Possible Vengeance For the Killing of Luna—The Ryan Court Martial—Major Gardener's Trial Is Now Completed.

MANILA, July 7.—As a result of the proclamation of amnesty July 4 the guard of American soldiers has been withdrawn from the house where Aguinaldo lived in Manila, and Lieutenant Johnston, the custodian of Aguinaldo, brought the Filipino yesterday to see General Chaffee. It was the first meeting between the American general and the leader of the Filipino revolution. Lieutenant William E. McKinley of the Ninth cavalry acted as interpreter.

Aguinaldo was told that he was free to go anywhere he pleased, and General Chaffee asked him if he had any complaint to make of American discourtesy or harshness. Aguinaldo replied that he had no such complaint to make. He told General Chaffee that he was going to visit friends at his home, in Cavite Viejo, Cavite province, and inquired what protection the American authorities would afford him. He seemed to be afraid to venture out. General Chaffee replied that Aguinaldo would get the same protection as any other citizen.

The former Filipino leader then asked General Chaffee to prevent the courts from requiring him to testify in civil suits. General Chaffee replied that he had no authority to grant this request. He advised Aguinaldo to make a social call upon Acting Civil Governor Wright. This Aguinaldo said he would do, but that he would go at night, as he was timid about appearing on the streets in daylight.

The release of the former Filipino leader has renewed speculation as to possible vengeance upon him by friends of Luna and his other enemies.

Luna was a Filipino leader whom Aguinaldo caused to be killed in 1899.

The court martial which is trying Captain James A. Ryan of the Fifteenth cavalry on the charge of being unnecessarily severe with the natives of the province where he was stationed has admitted for purposes of cross examination the entire report of Judge Rhode which forms the basis of the charges against the captain.

The cross examination of Major Cornelius Gardener, governor of Tayabas province, Luzon, by the board which has been investigating the charges of cruelty, etc., brought by the major against American officers and soldiers has been completed.

The sultan of Bacolod, Mindanao, has sent an insultingly worded letter to the commander of the American expedition to Lake Lanao, in Mindanao, in which he threatens to begin offensive operations in August. The sultan of Bacolod is at present strengthening his position.

Mysterious Death In a Bathroom.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 7.—While their son and daughter were entertaining their friends at their home Charles J. McCormick, a Great Northern conductor, and his wife were dying in a bathroom upon the same floor. Their bodies were found some hours later by their young son. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick had been driving in the evening, and both appeared to be in excellent health and spirits. Returning home, they informed their son and daughter that they were going to take a bath. Later the daughter was asked to bring them some clothing, and this was the last seen or heard of them alive. No satisfactory explanation of the tragedy could be given, though the evidence points to poisoning. An inquest will be held. Mr. McCormick was one of the oldest conductors on the Great Northern. He was known as President Hill's favorite conductor and was always selected to take charge of the president's private car.

To Investigate Panama Title.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Russell is completing his preparations and within a week will start for Paris to investigate the ability of the new Panama Canal company to give to the United States a satisfactory title to concessions and property on the isthmus. When this preliminary work shall have proceeded to a certain point, the attorney general, according to the president's expressed wish, will probably go over and personally look into the matter. He has invited Senator Spooner to go along and assist him, in view of the senator's well known familiarity with the matter and the attorney general's opinion of his ability, and hopes that he will go.

Cattlemen Arouse Indians.

ARDMORE, I. T., July 7.—Grave trouble between cattlemen and Indians in the Choctaw Nation is feared because of the killing during the past week of nearly 400 cattle, supposedly by the Indians. The trouble arises from the violation by the cattlemen of the law providing that noncitizens of the nation shall have no more than ten head of cattle each. It is asserted that the cattle owners have violated the law with impunity and aroused the hostility of the Indians.

Big Fire at Clinton, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 7.—A special to the Observer from Wilmington, N. C., says that a fire at Clinton, N. C., has destroyed forty-two stores and residences, causing a loss of $100,000, on which there was small insurance. Among the buildings burned was the Episcopal church and the Western Union telegraph office.

MIDSUMMER FLOODS.

Immense Damage Done In Western New York.

THE DESTRUCTION IS WIDESPREAD

Houses and Bridges Swept Away, Live Stock Killed and Crops Destroyed—Loss of Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars.

BUFFALO, July 7.—A terrific rain and wind storm has swept over western New York. Rivers and creeks rose rapidly, overflowing their banks and sweeping away houses and barns and live stock. The loss will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, and communication with small towns in Wyoming, Niagara and Cattaraugus counties is difficult to establish. This city was not in the path of the storm.

A dispatch from Arcade says the flood at that place claimed one victim and did many thousand dollars' damage to property.

There were many narrow escapes. At Yorkshire, two miles below Arcade, the approaches to the bridge were washed away, but the bridge is standing. Miles of roadway are so gullied or buried in debris that they will have to be rebuilt. At Sandusky, a few miles from Arcade, it is reported that two houses were washed away. From everywhere come reports of live stock killed. The loss to individuals will be very high, and the loss to the town from the destruction of bridges and roadbeds will also be high.

From Attica come reports that the Tonawanda creek is swirling over its banks. It has never been so high before. The reservoir of the Attica Water company, two miles south of here, gave way under the pressure, and the east end of the dam at the Attica mills was washed away. Lower Main street, in the village, is four feet under water. Dead cattle, wagons and wreckage of all kinds were washed down stream on the crest of the flood. Seven iron bridges in the town were carried away. The damage to the highways and bridges will reach $8,000. Hundreds of acres of hay and crops are ruined. The railway roadbeds are badly washed out.

Town Under Water.

PIKE, N. Y., July 7.—Pike was under four feet of water yesterday. Almost every bridge over creeks in Niagara and Allegany counties and in the southern part of Wyoming county has been washed away. It is estimated that the damage in this town and in the immediate vicinity will amount to a quarter of a million of dollars. Among the buildings washed away in Pike were Elwell's market, Powers' store and opera house, Lathrop's drug store and postoffice, Woodbury's home and the village warehouse. Much stock was killed, but so far as known no person is missng.

Damage at Hornellsville.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., July 7.—A tremendous downpour of rain yesterday caused one of the worst floods of the year in this vicinity. All of the lower part of the city was soon flooded. Great alarm was felt for the safety of some of the people living in the low lying land, and the fire bell was rung to arouse them. Railroad traffic in both direction was completely tied up all day, and not a train arrived in the city after 2 a. m. The storm came on suddenly, and great damage was done. Three houses were undermined, and carried away. No casualties have been reported.

Freshet In Genesee Valley.

PORTAGE, N. Y., July 7.—The worst storm ever known in this section is now sweeping down the Genesee valley. Rain has fallen heavily for twenty-four hours, and a cloudburst sent the streams over their banks. The river is now a torrent a mile wide. Every one living in the lower part of the town has had to abandon his home. The farms are laid waste, and no field crops can be saved. Houses and barns were swept down the river. The roadbed of the Pennsylvania railroad is washed out in many places.

Warsaw Badly Damaged.

WARSAW, N. Y., July 7.—The loss from the floods in this city will reach $100,000. Oatka creek, flowing through the principal streets, carried devastation in its path, wrecking houses and barns, many of which were swept bodily down stream together with an immense amount of debris brought down from the surrounding hills. The electric light plant is under water, and the village is in darkness. The city water supply for fire and domestic purposes is cut off.

Acres of Farm Lands Flooded.

BATAVIA, N. Y., July 7.—The heavy rains for the last six days have swollen Tonawanda creek to a degree never before known even in the worst spring freshets. The situation is perilous for persons living near the river. The country looks like a lake for miles around. Hundreds of acres of farm lands are under water, and the damage will be great.

Two Miles of Track Washed Out.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 7.—Two miles of the New York Central tracks on the Niagara Falls-Rochester branch between Middleport and Medina have been washed out by the flood. An eastbound special freight train ran upon the weakened roadbed and was wrecked. Many cars were wrecked, and others are embedded in the mud up to the axles.

Cloudburt In Idaho.

HOPE, Ida., July 7.—A cloudburst at Ellisport, east of Hope, swept away twelve or more houses and washed out two miles of track on the Northern Pacific. There was no loss of life. For a considerable distance around Ellisport the country is flooded. The creek is wide and swift, and all the trestles are gone from Clarkfork to Hope.

Eleven Bridges Gone.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., July 7.—Canadaway and Walnut creeks are over their banks, and the towns of Arkwright, Pomfret and Hanover are under water. Eleven bridges at Arkwright were washed away, causing damage estimated at $10,000.

KING IS BETTER.

Hopes to Leave Palace at End of the Month.

LONDON, July 7.—King Edward's progress continues to be good. It is said that if his improvement proceeds at the present rate he will probably by the end of the month be well enough to be transferred to the royal yacht in Southampton water.

Yesterday Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria visited Marlborough House, where they attended divine service with the Prince and Princess of Wales. The queen stayed within Buckingham palace for the rest of the day.

Most of the churches in the United Kingdom celebrated the announcement that King Edward was out of danger with informal thangsgiving services, special music and the singing of the national anthem.

The government has issued orders that the Indian and colonial troops now in London shall postpone their departure indefinitely. These orders are due to the strongly expressed desire of the Indian contingent to especially see the king before they return home, and they also indicate an intention to retain the troops here until the coronation. The colonial and Indian troops will participate in the reception to be given Lord Kitchener when he arrives in England, about July 12.

The King's Great Dinner.

LONDON, July 7.—London is still talking about the great dinner which King Edward provided for the city's poor and which was attended by upward of 500,000 people. The king's guests were scattered in about 400 halls, schools and parks in varying numbers, the greatest number of the royal beneficiaries being at Stepney, where no less than 45,000 enjoyed a dinner such as they seldom partake of. The king received many telegrams of thanks and congratulations from the scenes of these festivities, declaring that the pleasure of the occasion was vastly enhanced by the tidings that his majesty was out of danger.

THE PRESIDENT'S VACATION.

Roosevelt's Stay at Oyster Bay Is For Rest and Recreation.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 7.—In discussing the president's stay at Oyster Bay Secretary Cortelyou today said that there seemed to be considerable misapprehension as to some features of it. He stated that there would be no elaborate office established and that the only clerical force maintained would consist of two stenographers. Arrangements have about been concluded for the use of two rooms in the bank building for office purposes, and it will be there that the president will transact most of his business when he comes into town.

Both the president and his secretary have planned to make their brief holidays as restful as possible and to that end will transact in Oyster Bay only the most immediate public business. Everything else will be transmitted to Washington for attention there, either by the regular White House force or, in cases where other action is required, by the various departments.

The meager hotel accommodations here will go far toward giving the president that rest and freedom from unnecessary official cares which he has made it plain to every one he desires. What scant accommodations there are have been already pre-empted, and persons arriving here from this time on during the president's stay will probably find themselves without a place to sleep.

The president spent a restful night at Sagamore Hill. He arose early yesterday and attended services at Christ Episcopal church.

The people of Oyster Bay seem to resent the presence of secret service men, as they believe that the president is perfectly safe from bodily harm. The strictest surveillance is maintained, however, despite these protestations.

Organ Grinder's Fatal Shots.

READING, Pa., July 7.—Another was added to the list of victims of Antonio Taddai when John Trayer, aged thirty-two, died last night. Taddai, an Italian, was grinding a street piano on Fourth of July night when one of the bystanders playfully pointed a large firecracker at him. Taddai at once emptied a revolver into the crowd, killing George Stitzel, aged twenty-four, and wounding Trayer and Edward Hartman. The latter is also expected to die. Taddai is in custody.

MITCHELL STEALS AWAY.

A Secret Visit to New York—The Strike Goes On.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 7.—President Mitchell of the miners' union has left here for New York. He slipped out of town so unexpectedly and so quietly that only two or three persons around strike headquarters knew of his departure. As he did not announce he was going to New York there is an element of mystery about his journey, but it is learned on trustworthy authority that he went to the metropolis for the purpose of meeting leaders of other labor organizations.

Today begins the third month of the strike. There have been many rumors and opinions published that certain coal companies would within a few days attempt to start up one or more collieries. The officials of the big companies who are willing to talk deny all knowledge of any attempt of their respective companies to start work. They say, however, that the number of men applying for work is growing larger each week. Many of them are given employment, and the names of the others are placed on the waiting list. The number of miners among the applicants who are applying for work is very small, and so long as the miners themselves refrain from going to the collieries no coal can be mined.

Of the 147,000 men and boys employed about the mines approximately 36,000 are miners. Under the laws of the state no company can employ a man to cut coal unless he has a miner's certificate showing that he has had two years' experience in the anthracite mines. These certificates are awarded by examining boards composed of miners appointed by the county courts. Therefore if 100,000 men and boys were willing to return they could not lawfully operate collieries unless the striking miners also went to work.

The labor leaders are unanimous in the belief that the strike will be on Sept. 1 if the operators make no concessions, and the company officials are of the opinion that the price of coal during the remainder of this year will not go below present figures, but, on the other hand, may go higher. One superintendent is quite emphatic in his reply, he saying:

"I don't think the price will go down under any condition during this year."

Rhode Island Strike Ended.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 7.—The union of the motormen and conductors held a meeting yesterday afternoon, and President Arno formally ruled the street car strike on the United Traction company at an end. Many of the men who were out expect to go to work this week, and hostilities will be at an end in this city, although the employees of the Pawtucket Street Car company will continue the strike. Mr. Vetter said that in the discussion of the strike two things appeared prominently. One was that there were too many weak kneed men in the organization, and the other was that the constitution of the international body provides for $5 a week strike benefits, which had not been paid. He declared that these were the two main causes of the failure of the strike begun on June 3.

A Costly Chicago Blaze.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Fire yesterday destroyed the buildings from 305 to 313 Wabash avenue, causing losses aggregating over $325,000. For a time the fire threatened widespread destruction, as it was only through the most strenuous efforts of the firemen that the flames were prevented from spreading to the department store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., fronting on State street and separated from the burning buildings by only a narrow alley. Much excitement was caused among the guests at the Auditorium hotel, directly across Wabash avenue from the burning buildings, and at the Auditorium Annex.

Chicago Freight Handlers to Strike.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The freight handlers, numbering nearly 9,000 men, employed in the different railway warehouses and depots in Chicago at a special meeting last night decided to go on strike within forty-eight hours to enforce their demand for higher wages. Several days ago the freight handlers' union submitted a proposition to the general managers of the various railroads asking for an increase in the scale of wages. The request was refused.

Catholic Summer School.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 7.—The eleventh annual session of the Catholic Summer School of America at Cliff Haven, on Lake Champlain, has opened. The Rev. Michael J. Lavelle of New York is president of the school. The lecturers for this week are Thomas A. Mullen, A. B., of Harvard university and James A. Rooney, one of the editors of the Brooklyn Eagle.

Three Boys Drowned.

DETROIT, Mich., July 7.—Three young boys, Tony Henkel and Oscar Rosenberg of Detroit and a boy whose name is not known, were drowned in the middle channel at the St. Clair flats by the capsizing of a sailboat. The accident occurred about 200 feet from Savage's hotel, where young Henkel and Rosenberg were stopping.

Three Drowned Off Sandy Hook.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The wife of Captain Tiemann N. Horn of the Ninety-fifth company, seacoast artillery, his daughter Frances, aged seven, and Miss Alice McMahon of Nyack, N. Y., were drowned in Sandy Hook bay by the capsizing of a sailboat. Captain Horn is stationed at Fort Hancock, on Sandy Hook.

THE TERRIBLE TRACY

Oregon Outlaw Outwits Seattle Pursuers.

TAKES FOOD AND REST AT FARMHOUSE

Family Held Up and Forced to Do His Bidding. Then Left Bound and Gagged—He Escapes in Boat Down the Sound.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—Harry Tracy, the Oregon convict, has escaped from the vicinity of Seattle and crossed the sound to Fort Madison, where he bound and gagged four people, cooked and ate a meal, shaved, changed his headdress and impressed a man to row a boat. He departed in the direction of the Hoods canal country.

According to information received at the sheriff's office here, Tracy slept in a cemetery on the outskirts of Seattle after his battle Thursday night with Seattle officers. On Friday morning he proceeded to the ranch of a man named Fisher, secured food and slept and rested in the woods all that day and night. Early Saturday morning he appeared at Meadow Point, in the water front, three miles north of Seattle, his original point of landing. There he compelled a Japanese fisherboy to row him to Madison Point, twelve miles across and down the sound from Seattle. He dismissed the boy, declaring the latter would be killed by Tracy's pal if he told of the trip. They landed near the home of Rancher Johnson, and Tracy watched the house for an hour to make sure of the number of men there. Finding but two, he entered and announced that he intended to kill every one on the ranch and take charge of the place for a few days. He added: "But after seeing your pretty little girl I will kill no one if you all mind me. I will be here all day."

The family prepared breakfast for Tracy and put one plate on a table against the wall.

"This is not right," declared the convict. "Put the table in the middle of the room, and all sit down with me," which was done.

Tracy then read Friday evening's papers and, after learning how Mrs. Van Horn had betrayed his presence in her house to the butcher boy, said he had been careless in not keeping every one in that house constantly under his eye.

"My carelessness in this respect made it necessary to kill two officers," he said.

He forced the Johnsons to give him a bundle of clothing and hats and six days' supplies of food, clothing and blankets made into bundles.

At 8 o'clock he bound and tightly gagged the Johnson family, made their hired man, Anderson, carry the bundles to Johnson's rowboat, put Anderson in the boat at the oars and started down the sound.

Mrs. Johnson released herself and the others two hours later and notified Deputy Sheriff McKay, who lives at Madison Point. McKay secured a boat and sent word to Seattle. Sheriff Cudihee was summoned from Bothell and at 10:30 o'clock yesterday, with several men, started down the sound in the Sea Lion, an electric tugboat, looking for the desperado and the farm hand. However, as Tracy had fifteen hours' start it is believed he will make good his escape. The supposition is that he will row all night, probably kill Anderson, sink the boat and disappear into the wild forests of northern Washington, where he may live many days on his supply of food.

Morgan In German Eyes.

VIENNA, July 7.—The Neue Freie Presse has published a satirical editorial article on the fact that J. Pierpont Morgan took luncheon with Emperor William on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern at Kiel July 3. The paper remarks, "Without his checkbook Mr. Morgan would never have been the emperor's guest." The article harps throughout upon the probabilities of misfortune overtaking "the Napoleon of finance" and says that, gilded by the imagination, his trusts appear to be excellent, but that the first moment public confidence is disturbed the system will undergo a severe trial.

Thirteenth Victim Dead.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., July 7.—Motorman William Dodge of the runaway car on the Mountain Lake railroad is dead at Littauer hospital, making the thirteenth victim of the wreck of Friday night. It is probable that George Fisher, whose skull was fractured, will die, and Edward Schell is in a very serious state. Coroner Palmer has commenced an investigation.

Kaiser Goes to Norway.

BERLIN, July 7.—Emperor William started on his voyage to Norway on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern today. He was accompanied on the trip by Generals von Kessel, von Scholl and von Moltke, General von Huelsen-Haeseler, chief of the military cabinet; Baron von Senden-Bibran, chief of the marine cabinet, and Captain von Grumme, aid-de-camp.

A Fatal Storm.

WELTS, Minn., July 7.—A wind and rain storm has passed over this section, doing great damage. Four miles west of town it demolished one of the largest barns in the county, killing E. R. Cook, its owner. His wife and son were also in the barn and were pinioned down by timbers, each unable to assist Mr. Cook. A number of horses and cattle in the barn were also killed.

Grand Stand Burned.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 7.—The grand stand at Kirk park has been burned, causing a loss of $8,000. The fire was probably of incendiary origin. The races this month will be held as advertised.

REMOVE IT.

It certainly looks as if that unsightly stone curb in the roadway in front of the west bound station of the Jersey Central Railroad is soon to be removed. The new management has shown itself able to look from the popular standpoint and the result has been that many changes, inaugurated during the regime of Vice President Warren, have been done away with and a return made to the former methods. There is no reason why this case will not result as the others have.

If the report is true and the company is willing to remove the curb if the city will agree to keep the hacks back where they belong, it is certainly up to the city to see that its part of the agreement is carried out. The hack ordinance and the control of the hackmen has long been a troublesome subject. It ought not, however, to be beyond the power of the city officials to devise some means whereby the hackmen may all obtain equal privileges and yet not encroach on the rights of the public.

North avenue is the widest thoroughfare in the city and it is too bad that a stone curb or wall should mar the appearance of it at the widest part and right in front of the principal railway station in the city. This curb has really been of little or no use and it has been decidedly in the road at times when there has been a large assemblage of carriages at the station. General Manager Besler has shown himself thoroughly in sympathy with the public and the patrons of the Jersey Central and he can undoubtedly see as well as anyone else what a useless thing it was to place the curb there. Report has it that Mr. Besler has agreed to use his influence for its removal if only the city will care for the carriages and keep the hackmen back to their proper place. That is no more than fair and there should be no difficulty or delay in bringing this desired end to pass.

It can honestly be said that Independence Day in the year 1902 was the most successful Fourth of July that Plainfield has enjoyed in many years. Not a fatal accident marred the day's pleasure and the number of serious accidents was remarkably few. Then there was not a fire, even of sufficient importance to send in a still alarm. Furthermore not a drop of rain fell all day and the pleasure seekers were free to enjoy themselves from early morning to late at night without a single drop of rain to interfere. There was plenty of entertainment and the entire city seemed to find full enjoyment for the day.

For the last few days there has been a story current to the effect that the man who prophesied the eruption of Mount Pelee and the destruction of Martinique had declared that on July 6 the city of Plainfield would be destroyed by an earthquake. There was not, however, any remarkable exodus and the city of Plainfield still remains on the map. Evidently the prophet, if he really does exist, went wrong when he selected Plainfield. He made a mistake when he placed Plainfield in the Sodom and Gomorrah class.

The only thing lacking now to make Plainfielders happy is the introduction of water meters or some new arrangement with the Plainfield Water Company whereby the rates are established on some equitable basis.

result was just the reverse, Reinhart defeating Wright, 4 up and 3 to play. This will bring Reinhart and Robert Abbott together today in the finals, while Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Dudley H. Barrows will play the finals for the consolation cup.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

A good field of golfers turned out Saturday afternoon in the weekly competition for the President's cup at the links of the Park Golf Club. But just as things were going most happily, a brisk young thunder shower wandered over the mountain. Of the score who started only eight finished and half that number completed their rounds in a drenching rain.

First honors for the day went to S. St. John McCutchen, increasing his lead for the trophy. Charles B. Morse, who was a close second, divided second honors with William R. Faber and still holds second place in the race. The course was in as good condition as on the Fourth. The great heat of the first part of the afternoon and the rain which followed were not conducive to low scores.

The scores, better than 100 net, were as follows:

	G	H	N
S. St. J. McCutchen	108	17	86
Charles B. Morse	109	20	89
William R. Faber	117	28	89
Henry C. Wells	118	25	93
C. E. Murray	126	30	96
J. H. Simpson	107	9	98

The standing for the President's cup is:

SHORE RESORTS.

Unequalled Service to Them Offered by the Jersey Central.

New Jersey is the natural summer resort for New Yorkers and for the easterner as well for the simple reason that it is accessible. Exceptional train service, fine locations, wonderful bathing facilities, and a marvelous climate are the chief attractions.

The popular route is the Sandy Hook, which leaves New York, Pier 8, N. R., and runs to Atlantic Highlands, where connection is made with the New Jersey Central for all New Jersey coast resorts, including Seabright, Normandie, West End, Monmouth, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Allenhurst, Ocean Grove, Avon, Belmar, Spring Lake and Point Pleasant. The boats which comprise the fleet are models in convenience and equipment, and are the fastest plying from New York. The sea trip is delightful, and the rail portion of the journey is close to the water's edge.

The New Jersey Central also operates a rail line to these resorts, passing Shrewsbury, Red Bank, Matawan, Beach Haven, Atlantic City, Ocean City and Cape May. Its trains are fast, frequent and finely equipped, and the principal ones have buffet parlor cars. The general passenger department of the New Jersey Central, Sect. G. B., has just issued a hotel book, giving information regarding the principal hotels and boarding houses on its line. It's free for the asking; send for it. c

Sea Shore Service.

The New Jersey Central has arranged a through sea shore car service between Mauch Chunk and Point Pleasant, by which one is saved the vexatious Junction changes which perplex and bewilder the tourist and traveler. A through coach will be run on the train leaving Mauch Chunk at 11:18 A. M., arriving at Point Pleasant at 5:00 P. M., and 11:35 A. M. train from Point Pleasant will have through coach to Mauch Chunk. c

At Felmly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Arnold and daughters, Edith and Marguerite, of Plainfield, arrived at Felmly Farms Saturday for their usual summer vacation. Mr. Arnold is the efficient cashier of the Plainfield National Bank, and fills other responsible positions in his native city. His fancy horses and elegant carriages are a valuable acquisition to the Felmly Farm boarding stables.—Clinton Democrat.

DUKE'S FARM AT RARITAN

FAMOUS ESTABLISHMENT IS WELL WORTH A VISIT.

Can Readily be Reached by Trolley —Some Beautiful Landscape Effects.

Those desiring a delightful afternoon's outing should take a trip to Raritan and visit the famous farm of James Duke, the tobacco king. Many have already availed themselves of the opportunity and were delighted with the trip. Mr. Duke has beautified for his own pleasure a great acreage of land. He has laid it out in beautiful drives and walks, filled it with the choicest of flowers, dotted it with pretty lakes and waterfalls, scattered about it cooling groves, imported for it expensive statuary, and has then thrown wide open the gates and bidden the public a hearty welcome.

Every fair day crowds visit the place, and on Sundays and holidays the walks are thronged. The visitors are from Somerville, Bound Brook, Plainfield and other nearby places. There are no policemen to keep people from roaming over the lawns or from plucking flowers. Mr. Duke has confidence that his guests will not abuse the privilege given to them, and his confidence has not been misplaced. People go to enjoy nature in its best garb, and they are too appreciative of this privilege to break any of the rules of the place. Such signs as "Kindly keep off the grass," and "These roads for pleasure driving only," suffice to keep the visitors informed as to the rules.

A magnificent fountain, purchased in Paris by Mr. Duke, occupies a conspicuous place near the entrance. On the road leading up to the residence the stone walls are covered with clusters of climbing roses. Two pretty fountains play continually before the residence. The verandas are nearly hidden from view by the palms and potted plants among them.

The stable is a rich piece of work, being of stone and surmounted by a tower in which is a clock. The public is admitted to the stable to admire the large oil paintings of hunting scenes, the blooded horses and the elegant equipages. The floors are of hardwood, covered with matting. The stable is a good representation of what one could expect to find in "Spotless Town."

The approach to the conservatory is made interesting with bronze statutes, large ornamental urns, and great beds of flowers. A wealth of rare plants of all descriptions with a fortune of orchids hold the attention here. The collection is complete and has been favorably compared to the one in Horticultural Hall, Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

The place can readily be reached by driving or by trolley. If the trolley is used, at Bound Brook an excursion ticket should be purchased for fifteen cents, thus saving a couple of fares. The trip up the hills, through Somerville to Raritan is a picturesque one. Alight at Nevius street, Raritan, and it is but a short walk to the Duke grounds. Mr. Duke is preparing to build a $500,000 house on his estate.

Lost Stack of Hay.

The brief thunder storm of Saturday afternoon cost Alonzo Greene, a farmer living near Metuchen, about $200. A stack filled with hay valued at that amount was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. The ground for many feet around the structure was furrowed by the bolt as if with a plow.

Former Plainfielder Preached.

The pulpit at both morning and evening service in Hope chapel, yesterday, was occupied by Rev. Fred B. Newman, of Trenton, son of H. Otis Newman, of West Fifth street. It is expected that Pastor L. R. Howard will return from New York State in time to conduct Sunday's services.

Put Fire Alarm Out of Business.

The lightning Saturday afternoon struck the borough fire alarm wires, causing the bell to ring twice. The system is still out of order.

DUNELLEN.

David S. Mundy, an employe of the Central Railroad, met with a severe accident Saturday while loading piling at West Eighth street, Bayonne, which will keep him from his work for some time. In some peculiar way his leg became caught between two heavy logs and was badly lacerated from the thigh down. The knee cap is badly injured and although no bones are broken the injuries are serious. The injured man was brought home and Dr. Brakeley was called.

An interesting game of ball was played Saturday afternoon on the Lincoln avenue grounds between the Y. M. C. and the New Market team. The locals won out by a score of 7 to 5 in seven innings. The batteries were for New Market Whitely and Nelson and for Dunellen Ayers and McMahon. Nelson did exceptionally good work for New Market behind the bat.

The game Saturday between the Safe Works and Dunellen was called in the third inning because of the hard rain which made the grounds unfit for playing. At the time the score was 3 to 2 in favor of Dunellen.

Regular services were held yesterday in all the local churches. As it started to rain just as the Methodist church was dismissed a large number were unfortunate enough to get caught and were thoroughly soaked.

The Craig Manufacturing Company have been granted a permit for its new factory by Building Inspector Doane, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Walter Vliet is still in a very critical condition. A large number of relatives and friends called upon her yesterday.

A number of leftover "drunks" from the Fourth made things lively around town Saturday night.

Mrs. T. W. Day's parents from Brooklyn who have been visiitng her, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. L. B. Nelson, of Prospect avenue, entertained a number of out of town relatives yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop have returned home after a stay of several days at Ocean Grove.

Chas. Lake has accepted a position in New York and went to work this morning.

Miss Sheppard, of Front street, entertained out of town relatives yesterday.

Thomas Conley has practically recovered from his recent severe illness.

Charles E. Sharpe, of Plainfield, visited friends in town yesterday.

Wm. Woodruff entertained out of town relatives over Sunday.

NEW MARKET.

A young son of E. Eisman, who is summering in town, was thrown from a swing Saturday night and sustained a peculiar injury. He landed directly on his face and ran a rusty nail into his nose for some distance. He was taken to Dr. Brakeley and the wound was dressed.

The New Market A. C. defeated a strong team from Metuchen Fourth of July by a score of 5 to 8 in one of the best games of the season. Van-Auken, of Plainfield, did the twirling for the locals.

Services were largely attended in the First Baptist church yesterday. The pastor preached at all of the services.

The daughter of Rev. L. E. Livermore has recovered from a slight illness.

S. T. Dane, of Newark, spent yesterday in town with friends.

Tha baseball team played in Dunellen Saturday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. Mr. Bindenberger, who has been spending two weeks with friends in town, has gone to his home at Cranford. Mr. Bindenberger hopes to be able to resume his duties as pastor of the Methodist church after an extended vacation taken for the benefit of his health.

The large pipe organ in the auditorium room of the Baptist church has been repaired and was heard for the first time in several months at the services in the church yesterday.

The old stump, which was left standing at the corner of Park and Westfield avenues when the old tree was cut down, has been removed as it was a menace to pedestrians.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott T. Collins, of Brooklyn, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Collins's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Collins, of the borough.

Trolley cars were run on an eight-minute schedule yesterday but the threatening weather kept the usual Sunday pleasure riders at home.

Mrs. Cass Acheson and son, of Hazlet, this State, are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, of Front street.

"The Fathers' Care," was the topic of the Baptist Young People's Union meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

Miss Jennie Johnston led the weekly meeting of the Epworth League in the Methodist church last night.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. George H. Johnston.

Mrs. Wm. S. Terry, of Plainfield, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Buckley.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A number of the local Baptists will attend the twelfth internnational convention of B. Y. P. U., to be held at Providence, R. I., July 10, 11, 12, 13.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

They do a rushing business at the New York Bargain Store, 324 West Front street. Exceptional offers are being made in shoes and clothing for this week.

There are special bargains to be secured at I. H. Boehm's, West Front street, throughout this week. Pique skirts and shirt waists are being sold at prices away below their value.

John G. Bantle, the Watchung avenue tailor, can put you inside of the neatest and finest suit of clothes that you ever put on your back. And it won't be a heavy strain on the pocket either.

The season is becoming late for some vegetables but they are still to be found in a great variety at T. L. Walsh's North avenue market. Shoppers leaving their orders can have them delivered at their homes.

Fish, that is, fresh fish, is always relished. If it has been out of the water for weeks it is best to be without it. The fish that the Rogers Sea food Company sells is strictly fresh as it comes directly from the nets.

LICENSE TO HUNT.

Considerable Confusion Concerning Provisions of the Game Laws Passed Last Winter.

Considerable confusion exists in the minds of many sportsmen, both in and out of the State, concerning the provisions of the act passed at the last session of the Legislature to require non-residents to secure licenses before hunting or gunning in the State. The law is very plain, and a careful reading of its provisions will not admit any misconstruction. It requires non-residents to take out a license, which will be issued by the county clerk of any county in the State upon the payment of a fee of $10 and an issuance fee of fifty cents.

The license holds good for one year from the date of issue, and authorizes the owner to hunt and kill in any part of the State during the open seasons of the year. To all non-residents who are the owners of freehold estate in any lands in the State, who reside thereon a portion of each year and who pay taxes thereon, the license will be issued without any charge except the issuance fee of fifty cents.

The act does not apply to hunting or gunning on game preserves at present established, or to gunning or hunting for wild water fowl, snipe or mud hens. The law then prescribes the right of arrest upon failure to show a license, and the method of proceeding to collect the penalty for violation of the act.

Wouldn't Submit to Operation.

Following instructions from Dr. VanHorn, Miss Kate Dunham, of Plainfield avenue, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, suffering from appendicitis. On arriving at the institution she refused to be operated upon and there was nothing to do but return her to her home. Her condition is serious, but she has remained obdurate and the physicians are powerless to aid her.

Sang Effectively.

At the service at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, Miss May Minto, formerly of St. Thomas' and St. Bartholomew's churches, New York city, sang effectively "The Light of the World" and "Open the Gates of the Temple." The pastor delivered a patriotic sermon on "Our Nation's Glory."

Dr. Raymond Will Not Accept.

Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, president of Union College, has announced that he will not accept the call to the pastorate of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational church, of Brooklyn. Dr. Raymond received the call several weeks ago.

CASING A WATCH.

How Ordinary Watch Works May be Made More Efficient and How Finer Ones May be Preserved.

Ordinary watch works may generally be made effective timekeepers by careful and strong casing. The finest grades of watch works require very strong casing to protect their delicate mechanism. The best of all cases for either class is the Jas. Boss Stiffened Gold Watch Case.

This is a gold case stiffened in the center with a plate of hard metal to prevent it getting thin and weak and bending down on the works, as a gold case does after a few years' wear.

The outside plate of gold is very heavy, much more than is ever worn from a solid gold case and much more than can be worn off in a third of a century's hard service. In fact this outside plate of gold is a quarter of an inch thick when the process of rolling down commences. At any rate, the Jas. Boss case is guaranteed 25 years, and none was ever known to wear out.

The styles of the Jas. Boss case are very elegant—the same as the finest solid gold cases—beautifully hand carved, superbly finished—very thin or very massive, as fancy may dictate—and in all sizes, for men and women's wear. The price is much lower than that asked for a solid gold case—the reason is that the Jas. Boss case saves you paying for gold that is never seen and never used.

Jewelers everywhere keep a full stock of these elegant cases—they have sold more than 7,000,000 of them in the last 35 years. Ask your dealer to see them, or for the book showing why a Jas. Boss Stiffened Gold Case is better than a solid gold case, write to the Keystone Watch Case Company, Philadelphia.

"Ping-Pong," a Catchy New Comedy in Chicago

Opened June 9, at the Studebaker—Other Mention of the Plays and Players.

With the coming of summer days, and especially of summer nights, when a glaring room has fewer attractions than the cool outside air, we cannot stand such heavy bills of fare at the theaters as we enjoyed back in the winter. Comic opera, comedy farce and vaudeville serve us better now, and we like to go where we can be amused with the least expenditure of effort on our part.

"Ping-Pong" has nothing heavy or oppressive about it. It bounds as lightly as its name would suggest, and the action is correspondingly rapid. "Ping-Pong" is a clever farce-comedy, presented this month, for the first time on any metropolitan stage, at the Studebaker theater in Chicago. The play is in three acts. It deals with amusing complications arising from the beliefs and disbeliefs of the several characters in spiritualism, and these complications "bounce the characters from one difficulty to another"—hence the title, "Ping-Pong."

It is a happy title, attracting the numerous lovers of the game, who are bound to compare all through the farce the bound and rebound on the stage with the ups and downs of the little balls of their favorite sport. And as ping-pong, played on the veranda continues to hold its own in these warm days, we feel safe in prophesying that the farce-comedy "Ping-Pong," played to summer audiences, will gain in favor and rival its name-source.

The "Ping-Pong" company consists of as clever a group of farce comedians as can be found together on the American stage. Mr. Clay Clements, the author of the play, has created several characters of strong eccentricity and individuality; and when in addition to the good characterization we have a lively plot, brisk dialogue and many ridiculous situations, there could not help being "go" to "Ping-Pong." The dressing is elaborate and attractive, though the scene remains the same throughout.

A play with a pretty name and a pretty setting is "Under Southern Skies." The place is Louisiana, the time the year 1878. We are not treated in this play to north-and-south problems, but are shown a charming glimpse of southern life.

Maj. Edward Crofton and his daughter Lelia live on an old plantation, the center of interest throughout the story. The hospitable old house, with its broad, pillared verandas wreathed about with climbing roses and honeysuckles makes a very lovely picture. The rural charm is further increased by a blossoming orange tree in the foreground and a rustic bench nearby in which to loiter and dream under the blue southern skies. The scene makes a southerner's heart beat at sight of it, recalls fond old memories; and it makes a northerner wish he had in his possession some such rich memories, bids him journey southward and feast his eyes on such beauty of nature and such classic outline of architect's art.

We are called upon to share, along with neighbors and friends, the festivities attendant upon the observance of the eighteenth birthday of Miss Crofton. Gifts and congratulations are the order of the day, and for awhile all goes as merry as a marriage bell. The scene is idyllic, the flowers, the light, the merry maidens and handsome youths. But the shadow of inevitable evil and sorrow creeps over the bright landscape and threatens to drive out all sunshine. There are two lovers hovering about the beautiful Lelia, the one happy in her favor, the other raging over the rejection of his suit. The fathers of these young men are the typical southern colonels, not at all averse to defending their honor at the slightest challenge.

Matters become complicated for Lelia when there appears on the scene her mother, whom Lelia has believed long dead. Sixteen years the mother has been to her child as one dead, but now she comes to life at a most inopportune time for the girl and the man of her choice. The rejected lover, who knows of the mother's past, uses his knowledge, and enlarges upon it, to threaten the girl into accepting him for her husband.

The second act shows a very interesting and characteristic southern scene, a Hallowe'en celebration, where the merrymakers indulge in a jack-o'-lantern dance to the accompaniment of singing from the negro quarter. Singing within and banjo playing also enliven the evening, and permit the introduction of the simple and beautiful darky melodies. And on this night given over to mystic rites, maids, after the time-honored fashion, seek to lift the veil that hides from them the form of future mates.

But to go on with the story. Lelia, thinking to save the family name, consents to marry the suitor that threatens to unlock the family skeleton. She goes so far as to put on her bridal costume, but at the last moment is unable to make the final sacrifice. This scene, where the bride refuses to take the vows, is a strong one and works the audience up to quite a respectable thrill. It is needless to say that Burleigh Mavor, the lover approved by the girl, wins Lelia in the end.

The part of Lelia is played by Miss Grace George, played very sweetly and acceptably. Miss George has lately made her debut as a star, and we congratulate her warmly on the success she is winning. She is the wife of the manager, Mr. W. A. Brady, who takes great delight in the laurels coming her way. The story is told that a pretty little domestic scene between the two, one not meant for the public, was inadvertently presented to that public on the night of the first production of "Under Southern Skies." Everything had gone off so well, after the descent of the curtain at the close of the third act Mr. Brady, by way of showing his joy, rushed on the stage in his great coat and exuberantly embraced his wife. The audience, also wishing to offer congratulations, made signs that they wanted the curtain raised. Somebody obligingly responded, and the aforementioned tableau was revealed.

"Under Southern Skies" is the product of Lottie Blair Parker, one of the several successful woman playwrights. Mrs. Parker is esteemed unusually happy in her delineation of country life and in the picturing of home scenes. Her "Way Down East" has been very popular. It is said its last season's profits mounted up to $250,000. In that play Seth Holcomb and Martha Perkins were characters that stood out vividly and reflected great credit on their delienator. In "Under Southern Skies" the colored servants are very good, as also Col. Daubeny, the gentleman that keeps his "gun" within convenient reach.

Most of the theatrical folk are beginning to lay aside wig and stage costume for summer neglige, to lay down the artificial circumstance and pomp of "the boards" for a simple, natural, healthful way of living. According to divers tastes and fancies they seek the recreation that is to repay them for the arduous work of past months, and is to build them up for future labors. Mr. Fields, of Webber and Fields, that company of artists that are honestly, irresistibly funny, will send golf balls scudding over the links in the neighborhood of his cottage near Long Branch. Lillian Russell, of the same company, will indulge in out-door life at Far Rockaway, L. I. Miss Julia Marlow goes to Europe for rest, change and clothes.

THE WOMAN WHO WEEPS.

When Real Trouble Comes, She Is No Good.

I am not going to speak now of the woman whose heart is bowed down with grief, the woman who weeps because her heart is full. The particular woman I have in mind is the human watering pot whose tears will splash down her cheeks at the slightest notice and sometimes at no notice at all.

She is usually a woman of great feeling or fancies she is. "I feel so much. I am so sympathetic," she quavers, and even as she says this the moisture comes to her eyes.

If a girl announces her engagement, she cries. If the same girl breaks it off, she cries again. If she hears of the death of a caterpillar, she will weep buckets, and when she is enjoying a novel she does so from first chapter to last with a damp wad of a handkerchief packed tightly in her hand. Everything may be going dead wrong in her house from attic to cellar. The children may be screaming and the servants quarreling, but still she weeps on, bowed with grief at the death of the heroine.

THE DEATH OF THE HEROINE.

And when real trouble comes do you suppose this most sympathetic woman is any good? Not a bit of it. She sits on a stool and enjoys the utmost luxury of weeping while the victim of it all goes about dry eyed with her heart almost breaking trying to do the work of two.

CAROLYN WARD.

A GIRL'S ROOM.

The Great Share It Plays In Forming Her Character.

As soon as a girl has entered her teens she should have a room of her own. The closet should contain her dresses, the bureau her lingerie and ribbons, there should be a bookcase to hold her books and a little desk where she may write notes to her friends.

Giving a girl her own room fosters within her the love of home. It makes her orderly, methodical. It also is a help to her in controlling herself when things go wrong. She can retire into her little den secure in the thought that no one will disturb her. If she has a talent for writing or for drawing, she can indulge in it to her heart's content at her desk. Unconsciously but surely the influence of her room goes toward making her a woman.

Let the girl, then, have a room of her own, be it ever so small. Paper the walls in cheerful colors, have the woodwork white and the furniture, too, if possible. Let the walls be hung with good prints of pretty scenes, landscapes or attractive women by leading illustrators. Put in some low shelves or a bookcase and fill it with inexpensive editions of good works. Teach her how to keep her desk in order, what paper to use, how to write a dainty note.

Above all, insist that the room be kept in perfect order and show her how to take care of it herself.

HELEN CLIFTON.

MUSLIN GOWNS.

Creations Both For Dressy and Ordinary Occasions.

The fine summer weather will permit of the wearing of much muslin. The frivolous gown of muslin is a mass of dainty frills and lace, with the goods cut out from underneath in order to show a dainty slip of taffeta or lawn in some pale color. The useful type of muslin is of a more solid substance, the muslin not transparent and corded in a stripe or check design strewn with floral sprays of colored blossoms.

Organdie muslin has lost none of its charms and is now so silky in texture and so charming in coloring that it is used for fete and garden party gowns. The finer swiss muslins, with pompadour groups and bouquets of flowers, are as transparent and closely resemble mousseline de sole.

When tucks appear on the skirt, a cluster of them makes a nice finish for the back, or tucks in grouped lines can be arranged around the skirt, letting one group form the center line of back and front. The muslin gown, however, fits as tightly around the hips as the skirt of silk or wool.

A handsome organdie gown is the subject of the sketch. The waist is made with a soft front of white chiffon. The fullness opens over this blouse fashion. There are a frilled collar and elbow sleeves with many frills. The skirt fits very closely about the hips and has three frills around the bottom. The dress is trimmed with narrow black insertion and medallion trimmings of ecru guipure.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

LINEN GOWNS.

They Play a Large Part Among the Outing Costumes.

Linens of every hue are being a great deal worn. They are made into tailor made suits and also little tucked dresses trimmed with medallions of lace and touches of black velvet.

Blue serge is being revived, and handsome outing costumes are made of it with little jackets, short in the back and coming down to a long point in the front. These coats are very smart when not overdone. Serges also lend themselves admirably to the Russian blouse, with a big collar of lace glace or tucked net.

In outing dresses of this sort there must be strapping of some kind. Braids, too, are excellent when they are simple, but somehow glace taffeta seems more adequately to meet the demand for trimming, as it is not injured by dust.

LINEN COATS.

Pretty outing hats of rough straw are simply trimmed with a scarf of lace having long ends in the back.

Two pretty models for linen coats are here shown. One has a plain blouse, double breasted, with a collar of dotted silk and lace. The other has a box plaited front and back, the front box plait being fastened down with tiny buttons.

The hat worn with the first coat is of white felt trimmed with a red scarf. The second is of rough straw trimmed with a blue and white foulard.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

"Much of a load to-night, George?"

"No, sah; mighty light. Nobody yet but de gen'l'man from the Marlborough."

"A gentleman from the Marlborough? When did he come down?"

The porter knew the hawk-faced one only by intuition; but Griswold's tip was warming in his pocket, and he lied at random and on general principles.

"Been neah all de evenin'; come down right soon after supper and went to baid like he was tarr'd."

"What sort of a looking man is he?"

"Little, smooth-faced, narr'-chisted gen'l'man; looks like he might be—"

But the wheels began to move, and the hawk-faced one had turned away. Whereupon the porter cut his similitude in the midst, picked up his carpet-covered step, and climbed aboard.

CHAPTER XIV.

In the day of its beginnings, Wahaska was a trading post on the Indian frontier. Later it became the market town of a wheat growing region, and it was of the wheat growing era that Jasper Grierson was a product. He was a young man when he went overland to Colorado in the wake of the Pike's Peak excitement, and his townsmen saw him no more till he returned in the vigorous prime of age, wealthy, and the father of a daughter who presently began to reconstruct the social fabric of Wahaska upon a model of her own devising.

In this charitable undertaking Jasper Grierson abetted his daughter as the magnate of a small town may. He built a mansion at the lake-edge and called it Mereside; and when it was done gave a house-warming to which the biddings were in a certain sense mandatory, since by that time he had a fiduciary finger in nearly every industrial pie in Wahaska.

After the house-warming, Margery Grierson's leadership was tacitly acknowledged, though the women still discussed her with more or less frankness in the sewing circles. Crystallized into accusation, there was little to be said against her, save that she was pretty and rich, and that her leaning toward modernity was sometimes a trifle startling. But the charitable seamstresses made the most of these drawbacks, edging them now and then with curious speculations about Margery's mother, whom neither Jasper Grierson nor his daughter ever mentioned.

HE WROTE GRISWOLD'S NAME AND INTENDED ADDRESS ON A CARD FOR H.M.

None the less, the big house by the lake continued to set the social pace. Afternoon teas began to supersede the sewing circles; not a few of the farmers' wives attained to the formal dignity of visiting cards with "Wednesdays" or "Thursdays" printed in neat script in the lower left-hand corner; and in some of the less conservative households the principal meal of the day drifted from its noontime anchorage to unwonted moorings among the evening hours.

For these innovations Miss Grierson was responsible. She had ambitions, but she was wise enough to make the most of present opportunities. It was better to be a leader in Wahaska than to be an humble follower in a great city; but she admitted this without prejudice to a fixed determination to revolve in the larger orbit when the time should come. She was content to wait, but she aimed high. Unquestioned social recognition, won or compelled; that and nothing else would atone for the obtrusively unlovely past tholed in privation and squalor in the Colorado mining camps. Miss Grierson was barely 22, but she had lived much.

But there were obstacles to be surmounted even in Wahaska. From the first there was a perverse minority which refused to bow the head in the house of Rimmon. The Farnhams were of it, and the Raymers, with a following of a few of the families called old, as age is reckoned in the newer west. They were loath to admit the omnipotence of Jasper Grierson's wealth, and at the housewarming they had been represented by variously worded regrets. Miss Margery laughed defiantly and set her white teeth on a dauntless resolution to reduce this inner citadel of conservatism. Accordingly she opened the campaign the next morning at the breakfast table.

"Poppa, who is the treasurer of St. John's?" she asked.

The magnate did not know, and said so.

"But you ought to know," said Margery, with conviction. "Isn't it Mr. Raymer?"

"Why, yes; he is the man, come to think. What do you want of him?"

"Nothing of him. I want a check payable to his order. A hundred will be enough, I think."

Jasper Grierson laughed. "Going in for respectability right, ain't you?" he said, but wrote the check on the spot.

Two hours later Miss Grierson's trap, tooled by herself, paraded in Main street to the delight of the eye esthetic. The big English trap horse, the high-swung, stylish vehicle and the faultlessly-gowned young woman on the box were three parts of a harmonious whole, and more than one pair of eyes looked, and turned to look again.

Miss Margery drove daily in good weather, but on this occasion the outing had an objective other than the spectacular. Wherefore, when the high-stepping English horse had measured the length of Main street he was sent on across the railway track and was finally brought to a stand before the office of the Wahaska iron works.

Raymer was at his desk when the trap drew up before his door. A moment later he was at the fore wheel, bareheaded, and offering to help Miss Margery down.

"No, thank you, I'll not come down," she said. "Duke doesn't stand well. Can I see Mr. Edward Raymer a moment?"

Raymer bowed and blushed a little. he knew her so well, by eye intimacy, at least, that he thought she must know him. But he was a fair man, fair to redness, as his hair and beard attested, and he blushed easily.

"That is my name. What can I do for you, Miss Grierson?"

"Oh, thank you," she rejoined, impulsively. "I was afraid I might have to introduce myself. I—"

The interruption was of Raymer's making. One of his employes appeared opportunely, and he sent the man to the horse's head with a gesture and once more held up his hands to the perched one.

She let him lift her to the sidewalk, and the ease with which he did it gave her a pleasant little thrill, of the sort that comes with the realization of a thing hoped for. Next to social triumphs, strength, strength in a man, was a thing to be admired.

Raymer held the office door open for her and placed a chair at the desk end.

"Now we can be comfortable at shorter range," he said. "Will you pardon the interruption, and tell me what I can do for you?"

"Oh, it's only a little thing. I came to see you about renting a pew in St. John's; that is our church, you know."

Raymer did not know it, but he was politic enough not to say so.

"I am quite at your service. Shall I show you a plan of the sittings?"

She protested that it wasn't at all necessary; that any assignment he chose to make would do. But he got out the plan and dusted it, and in the putting together of heads over it many miles of the gap of unacquaintance were swiftly and safely overpassed.

When the sittings were finally chosen she found her purse.

"It's so good of you to take the time from your business to wait on me," she said. "I—I asked poppa to make out a check, but I don't know whether it's for enough."

Raymer took the order to pay and glanced at the amount.

"It is twice as much as we get for the best locations," he demurred.

"Wait a moment and I will write you a check for the difference and give you a receipt."

But at the word she was in a flutter of protest.

"Oh, please don't!" she pleaded. "If it is too much, put the difference in the missionary box, or in the—the rector's salary, as a little donation from poppa, you know."

Thus the small matter of business was concluded, and Miss Grierson rose to go.

"I am so glad I had the courage to come and see you this morning. We have been dreadfully remiss in church matters, but I am going to try to make up for it now that we are comfortably settled in our own house. I'm sorry you couldn't come to us last evening to help us christen Mereside. Please tell your mother and Miss Raymer that I hope we'll meet some time. I should so dearly love to know them. Thank you, so much. Good-by."

Raymer went out with her, put her on the box and watched her drive away. His smile was meant to be satirical, but it became openly approbative.

DOCTORS IN ONE BLOCK.

Sixty-Five Medics Have Their Shingles Out in That Space in Philadelphia.

New York has the most thickly populated block in the United States, and many curious congregations of men may be seen in its street. But Philadelphia has the prize block for one species of aggregation. Sixty-five physicians live in one block in that city. It is also stated that within a radius of four blocks in that city more than one-seventh of its medical practitioners is located, reports the New York Herald.

From the tendency of physicians and dentists to congregate in one street certain blocks of this city present an almost unbroken array of doctors' signs upon the house fronts. It might seem to a casual observer that none but members of the medical profession reside there.

In Chestnut street, Philadelphia, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, this is almost literally true. Sixty-five physicians have offices there. Many of the most prominent practitioners located there many years ago, and younger physicians have of late years been attracted thither. Another factor in the surfeit is the area mentioned is almost the center of the city.

Yet neither in Philadelphia nor New York are there as great a number of physicians in proportion to the population as there are in the District of Columbia.

VERSATILITY OF AMERICA.

Our Artists Paint "Old Masters" and "Imported" Soap, Wines, Etc., Are Made at Home.

There are some articles which seemingly cannot be produced in America, but we must remember that "Things are not always what they seem, skim milk masquerades as cream," as Gilbert says. We are told that there are artists here in New York, who are making a good living painting some of "the old masters," which bring large prices at auction. Imported wines are now made in California, the labels alone being French. It is a very common-place soap factory that cannot turn out Castile soap, and Maine herring are shipped to France, and returned as French sardines, says "Vest Pocket Confidences," in Four-Track News. Up in northern New York they are making all manner of imported cheese, and down in Kentucky they are turning out many successful brands of Scotch whisky. Nor does this Yankee ingenuity cease in its endeavors to supply the demand for foreign goods, for western manufacturers are making maple sugar from ingredients that never came within the shadow of a maple tree, and are actually buying Vermont newspapers in which to wrap the cakes so that the unsuspecting purchaser will think he is buying genuine Green Mountain maple sugar. The land of wooden nutmegs is no longer a curiosity.

FIVE INTELLECTUAL FEET.

Library That Is Long Enough to Furnish Information Sufficient for the Needs of Any Man.

According to President Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard university, there is no good reason why the normal human being should not have an intellectual training that would meet the requirements not only of our advanced civilization, but be up to the highest standard as fixed by the learned president himself, for recently he said: "A library that will go on a shelf five feet long is enough to give an intellectual training to any human being that ever came into the world," says the New York Herald.

Just think of it! You can hold the five feet of volumes between your extended palms, and all you have to do is to transmute their contents into memory cells that can, at the will, be put into action for the production of understanding.

Only five feet! I have taken the trouble to put the rule on this and apply a little mathematics. As books in the library average, five feet means 37 volumes; which is not an array calculated to frighten a reader.

Again, an average shows that these 37 books contain 30,000 pages, made up of 1,000,000 words. Not so very much material from which to imbibe intellectual training.

Authority on the Crops.

There is an old fellow out in Chicago who has written so much on the subject of crops, and written so honestly and entertainingly, that he has become a power in the land. He signs himself S. Thornton K. Prime, his full name being Samuel Thornton Kenneys Prime, says the New York Press. Born in Connecticut, educated in Rahway, N. J., and trained in the western school of journalism, he early became a specialist in domestic and foreign crop statistics, and is to-day in all probability the highest living authority on the present and prospective condition of corn, wheat, oats, etc. The markets of the world swear by Prime regardless of the lying of bulls and bears. He is sixty-eight years old, with a country home at Dwight, Ill.

Ping-Pong Dinner Parties.

The ping-pong dinner party is the latest thing. The guests come to dinner; and after the feast, which is not a very long one, they repair to the drawing room to wait until the dinner table is cleared. They all come back to the dining room, the net is spread and the ping-pong game begins.

Tokio's Public Baths.

The city of Tokio has 800 public baths, where some 300,000 persons bathe daily at a cost of about one cent each.

WHAT A LIBRARY IS.

George R. Peck Defines It as an Epitome of the World.

A Scholarly Plea for Literary Culture—Dreams, Fancies and Imaginations Contribute Much to Human Happiness.

Galesburg, Ill., dedicated its new public library not long ago, and Mr. George R. Peck, the well-known attorney of Chicago, was the orator of the day. His address, like all of his "occasional" efforts, was scholarly in style, happy in illustration, and particularly felicitous from a literary point of view. Mr. Peck's close sympathy with books and his wide reading eminently qualified him for a task of this kind. His address was a strong tribute to the intellectual forces, and an eloquent appeal for literary culture, as not only productive of mental growth, but as destructive of what is obnoxious to that growth. From his point of view the library should be organized, not alone for the dissemination of useful knowledge, but for the encouragement of dreams and fancies and imaginations. He believes there is more help to average minds in "The Odyssey," "Don Quixote," "Les Miserables," or "The Newcomes" than in all the scientific treaties, however important they may be in their place. While proud of the conquests of science in the present epoch, he yet has the courage "to long for the literature that used to be" and the faith to believe that it "can be brought back by clinging to it." In these practical days it is pleasant to read the thoughts of the scholar and the dreamer, and such an eloquent plea for literary culture as that made by Mr. Peck at Galesburg. He spoke in part as follows:

"A library is an epitome of the world. Though it has no speaking tongue, no lips to proclaim the wisdom and the beauty enshrined in its volumes, yet the searcher whoever he may be, finds both wisdom and beauty, and takes them into his own life, undisturbed by the noise and clamor of crowds. There is a calm delight in seeking the refreshment and repose of a cloistered seclusion. At such time he may forget how rapid the tired earth is compelled to revolve on its tired axis, to give us assurance of a rising and a seting sun. And yet, while he thus rests, he grows; he inhales a diviner air, and becomes, by the contact with other minds, and by the habit of meditation thus formed, more and more 'man thinking,' and more and more man 'looking before and after.'

"Some one has said that all which has actually happened in the world is small and unimportant compared with what has happened in the dreams and fancies and imaginations of genius. That is the secret of Shakespeare's unrivaled power in the intellectual world. His creations are real. His Lears, his Mercutios, his Falstaffs, his Shylocks, would be ours if we possessed his genius, and—let us be thankful—are ours even without it. A library which has Shakespeare in it—as every library worthy the name has—where we can feast upon the inexhaustible resources of him whom Coleridge called 'myriad minded'—is equal to every demand of the intellect. To know Shakespeare is culture, in that fine sense which Steele had in mind when he said of Lady Hastings, 'to love her is a liberal education.'

"And this is why I plead that you do not shut your hearts against the great imaginative works that constitute the world's best literature. Let them come in; and you may find, as when strangers enter your doors, you have thereby entertained angels unawares."

Harrison's Burial Place.

The United States government is negotiating for the land where the first President Harrison is buried, on the north bank of the Ohio river, a few miles below Cincinnati. It is a commanding site, viewed from a passing steamer, but much neglected.

Reliable Key to Stature.

The Paris Academie des Sciences is examining a remarkable theory to the effect that the key to human nature lies in the gland situated in the throat under the larynx. By artificially stimulating this gland it is claimed that any child can be made to grow to maximum height.

He Wanted Particulars.

A Rockland (Mass.) teacher described the landing of the Pilgrims, and asked the pupils to draw from imagination a picture of the Plymouth rock. One little fellow immediately inquired: "Hen or rooster?"

John Scheuffer, Frank and John Kammern, of Brooklyn, have returned home after a visit to Charles Blanken, of West Second street.

Mrs. J. P. Emmons, of Washington avenue, who has been seriously ill, was today taken to the Flower Hospital, New York, for treatment.

Miss Elsie Tier, daughter of J. H. Tier, Jr., of Bank place, spent a happy Fourth at the home of her grandfather, J. C. Crater, of Newark.

The Misses Eleanor and Jennie Demarest, of Freeport, Ill., are visiting friends in Plainfield and vicinity. At present they are guests of J. W. Gavett, of Westervelt avenue.

SHOT IN THE HAND.

Wm. F. Arnold, of City National Bank, Meets With an Accident.

William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, met with an accident at Lebanon, Hunterdon county, on July 4th, which nearly cost him his left hand. He with his nephew was discharging a large Dewey cannon, and the cannon was loaded to the muzzle for a final explosion. The charge did not go off the first time and Mr. Arnold was examining it to learn the cause. His left hand was close by when the charge went off. The small finger on the left hand was just filled with powder and the next finger was also injured. Since then Mr. Arnold has suffered much pain and has had the hand under treatment. He thinks it is miraculous that he did not lose the best part of his hand.

METHODS TO ATTRACT INDUSTRIES TO CITIES

Jersey City Journal Has Some Suggestions to Make on That Subject.

PROPOSES GENERAL LAW

TO AUTHORIZE GRADED RATES OF TAXATION ACCORDING TO EMPLOYES.

It Claims That Some Cities Show Favoritism to Manufacturing Concerns That Are Not Possible in Other Cities—Wants It Fair.

How to attract industries to locate in this city has been a subject often discussed at the meetings of the Board of Trade. Any hints along that line are of interest to Plainfielders as well as to the residents of any other city. The Jersey City Journal recently published an editorial on the subject, referring particularly to a solution of that problem in Jersey City but containing many things which apply to all cities alike.

The Jersey City Journal said:

"Tax exemption through legislation and favoritism became a public scandal thirty years ago, and everybody was satisfied when, in 1875, the State Constitution was amended to provide that property shall be assessed for taxes under general laws and by uniform rules, according to its true value; but the operation of the law has not been quite satisfactory.

"Without going into particulars about the manner in which railroad property and other property has been valued for assessment, there is one point at which the law has operated against this city. When an individual or a corporation wants to erect a manufacturing plant in this city, one of the questions asked is what will the taxes and water rents be? Many cities and towns can make reductions in civic taxes in order to induce employers to locate. This city cannot legally do so; therefore it loses.

"It would be a good idea to have a general law, which would classify manufacturing plants and authorize graded rates of taxation according to the number of hands employed. If the arrangement was publicly and legally made there would be no objection to it. The objection was to arrangements secretly and illegally made.

"A factory that will employ 500 or 1,000 men is a gain to a city; therefore the city can afford to give something to induce a manufacturer to locate in the city. For instance, it could say that the money invested in a plant should be valued at 60 per cent. of ascertained cost where 500 men will be employed, and at 50 per cent. where 1,000 men will be employed. It could make a rebate on the charge for water supplied on similar scale, and the city would be the gainer by the transaction. Such a law could be made general, and the classification could be made on an equitable scale.

"If there were such a law now in existence there would be many more large manufacturing plants in this city, and each would provide employment for many of our citizens, besides bringing population, thus increasing the number of dwellings and bringing work for our artisans and trade for our merchants.

"It is unwise to assess manufacturing plants at full value, or even at seventy-five per cent. of full value, because buildings erected for a specific purpose are of no use for any other purpose, and machinery that has been used is second-hand machinery and unsalable. Some manufacturers are favored in spite of the law, and others are not, or there is inequality in the amount of favor shown, and this breeds suspicions or scandals. It would be far better to legalize the proceeding under a fixed scale. It would benefit the employers by providing a legal rate for valuation, and it would remove possible temptation or scandal, and would induce employers to locate in this city."

Forfeited Franchise.

The Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway, has forfeited its franchise to operate a street railway from Westfield to Springfield. According to the terms upon which it was granted, cars were to be in operation by last week but not a rail has been laid.

NEW QUARTERS FOR THE STATE LABORATORY

Will Establish the Quarters Where Two Old State Laboratories Will Consolidate.

IN OFFICE BUILDING.

HEALTH BOARD'S QUARTERS WILL BE LOCATED IN OLD STATE HOUSE.

Destruction of State House Meant That Laboratory Would Have to Move—The Other Laboratory Was Located at Princeton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 7—Notwithstanding the expansion of the State House and the generous improvements that have been made during the past twelve years, the State of New Jersey has been obliged to go house-hunting, or rather office-hunting, and will become a tenant on the top floor of the sky-scraper of the Broad Street National Bank building. There in a few days will be established the State Laboratory. A suite of rooms have been secured and are to be at once equipped with laboratory apparatus.

Up to this time the State Laboratory was a divided deparment. That of the State Board of Health was located on the grounds of the Princeton University. This was the bacteriological laboratory, and the other was in the Senate building, directly over the apartments of the president of the Senate. There bad butter was examined and milk adulterations searched for.

Under the new food act, which recently went into effect, the Dairy Commissioners' department was absorbed by the State Board of Health, and this body has decided to unite its laboratory force and secure the benefit of a complete new equipment. State Chemist Wallace, who has had the chemical search shop over the Senate chamber, was soon to be ejected because of the erection of the new Senate chamber. This compelled the State House Commission to take up the problem of furnishing new quarters for the State chemist. They could make no promises of quarters in the building that is about to be erected. They did not want to mar the beauty of the grounds surrounding the State House by the erection of a special building for the laboratory, so they were forced to go outside for a place to establish this improvement, a branch of the State Government.

The only few residences that could be secured in the vicinity of the State House were not adapted for such work, which demanded light and ventilation and mechanical conveniences. The bacteriological laboratory at Princeton answered its purpose. It was secured through the offices of the late Charles E. Green, but the secretary of the State Board of Health found it inconvenient to have the laboratory so far removed from the State House, too much time was consumed in journeys made to it. The consolidation the secretary regards as an absolute necessity, because it gives him complete control of the two branches of the department. He states that it may seem strange that with all the additions that have been made and are still being made to the Capitol, the State should be obliged to go outside of the State House to secure quarters. The suite of rooms secured in the bank building are not to cost over $700 a year rent, and they are adapted to the uses for which they are needed.

There is a notable increase in the State Laboratory work. It is not generally known that the entire medical profession of the State of New Jersey are assisted in the detection of disease, where there are elements of doubt, by the work of the Bacteriological Laboratory, and many of them are availing themselves of the State's generosity. While they are assisting themselves, they are aiding the general medical profession by the discoveries that the numerous experiments develop.

Under the New Food law the State proposes to watch many articles of general consumption, which they could not do before because of the lack of facilities.

So far as known, the laboratory in the bank building is not temporary. It may remain there for many years. There is a proposition that emenates from the State Board of Agriculture to the effect that the State may some day unite the laboratory of the State Board of Health and the State Experimental Station at New Brunswick on one of the farms which the State owns.

—The Democratic city committee will organize Thursday night. The committee will meet in Justice Moffett's office.

—The house of J. C. Martin, of Duer street, is quarantined on account of the illness of his son Arthur with scarlet fever.

BRUNSWICK'S NEW LIBRARY

THE PLANS NOW BEING PREPARED BY ARCHITECT S. K. PARSELL.

Some Idea of the New Library Building Soon to be Erected at New Brunswick.

Architect George K. Parsell, who is preparing the plans for the Carnegie Library at New Brunswick, says that the plans would be ready for bidders by July 15. The grounds have already been staked. The plans are now well under way and provide for a complete, ornamental and convenient building.

The foundations of the building will be of stone and the upper part of light brick. The library will be reached from the sidewalk over a concrete pavement. The vestibule will be circular in shape and will have four niches in which statuary will be placed. Four columns of granite will support the roof entrance. Two ornamental lamps on pedestals will grace the entrance. The vestibule will open into the delivery room, which will be 30 feet square. This room will have a tiled floor. To the left of it will be the general reading room, 20 by 32 feet, and in the rear of this will be the librarian's and cataloguing room, 30 by 20 feet. This last will be connected with the basement by a lift and staircase.

On the right of the receiving room will be the children's reading room, 20 by 26 feet, and back of it a reference library room, 19 by 20 feet. In the rear of the main building will be the stack room, circular in shape, and 60 feet in diameter. It will contain metal stacks for books and a brick vault for the storage of cards and books of minutes, etc. This part of the building will be as nearly fireproof as Mr. Parsell can construct it.

The rest of the building is to be of ordinary house construction. The floor between the first and second doors of the stack room are to be of glass, so as to provide all the light possible. There will be no dark corners in the stack room. The ceiling of the delivery room is also to be empanelled with glass, which will necessitate a skylight in the roof over the top of it.

A stairway at the left of the entrance will lead to the trustees' room and down to the basement. The receiving room and unpacking room will be located in the basement. On the left will be an outside entrance to the lecture hall on a level with one of the terraces. This will lead into a large vestibule, which will open into the lecture hall, where there will be seating accommodations for 150 people. Seats will be arranged on an inclined floor, so that all may have an unobstructed view of the stage, which will be 22 feet square. The trustees' room will be located over the vestibule in the front of the building.

There will be a sub-cellar for the storage of coal and ashes and for the boiler.

SUMMER TOURS TO THE NORTH.

Two Tours to Canada via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the summer of 1902 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to run two personally-conducted tours to Canada and Northern New York. These tours will leave July 19 and August 13, including Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, Rapids of the St. Lawrence, Quebec, The Saguenay, Montreal, Au Sable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, and Saratoga, occupying fifteen days; round-trip rate, $125.

Each tour will be in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, assisted by an experienced lady as chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies.

The rate covers railway and boat fare for the entire round trip, parlor car seats, meals en route, hotel entertainment, transfer charges, and carriage hire.

For detailed itinerary, tickets, or any additional information, address tourist agent, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 1196 Broadway, New York; 860 Fulton street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia. 7 7 2 m

Up in Hunterdon.

Mrs. J. F. Grandin entertained a party of Plainfielders at her beautiful home, Grandin Mere, Hunterdon county, from Thursday until Monday. The party consisted of Borough Councilman and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force and daughter, Miss Lillian A. Force. The grand scenery and air of old Hunterdon county were greatly enjoyed by all, as was the hospitality at Grandin Mere, and all were loath to leave for home this morning.

Charles Kellar and Dennis Baglin, of the borough, Henry Soeller, Chas. Strohmann and Charles Blanken, of West Second street, returned home last evening after spending a few days at Atlantic City.

MORE TENNIS AT HILLSIDE

TOURNAMENTS CONTINUED THERE ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Rain Stopped Finish of Semi-Finals in the Handicap Tournament for Singles.

The men's singles at tennis were continued on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday morning and in the afternoon the rain put a stop to the semi-final play between G. H. Taylor and Duncan Bulkley, the score being 5-1, when they had to stop. They will play off next Saturday, when the finals will be played also.

This is a handicap tournament and the matches in the first round were completed in the morning when G. H. Taylor, with 2-6 of 15, defeated A. D. Beers, with 1-6 of 15, 6-0, 7-5. F. W. Goddard, scratch, defeated Hartley Mellick, with 15 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.

The first match of the semi-finals completed was between W. S. Tyler, with 2-6 of 15, and F. W. Goddard, scratch. The latter won 6-3, 11-9. G. H. Taylor, with 1-6 of 15, and Duncan Bulkley, with 3-6 of 15, played one set, as stated, the score being in favor of Taylor 5-1, when the rain stopped the match.

This play will be completed next Saturday, when either Taylor or Bulkley will play Goddard in the finals.

Miss Alys Chandor, of East Ninth street, has returned from a visit with relatives at Montclair. Miss Adelaide Leonard, her cousin, returned with her for a visit.

COMMON COUNCIL COULDN'T FIND WHO WAS ITS LEGAL ADVISOR

Corporation Counsel Marsh Had Sailed for Europe Without Sending in Name of His Substitute.

A LEGAL QUESTION CAME UP.

LOTS OF ROUTINE BUSINESS DONE AT THE JULY MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL HELD LAST EVENING.

The Arlington Avenue Sewer Ordinance Was Passed on Its Final Reading—Ordinance Introduced Providing for Extension of Sidewalks in West End—Question of Taxation of New Trust Company Came Up, But No One to Refer It To—The Other Business.

The question of who is corporation counsel was one of the most important questions before the Common Council at its regular July meeting last evening. Mr. Marsh has gone to Europe and so far as the Council could learn last evening he had made no provision for any one to act in his place while he is away. Mr. Mellick offered a resolution that Nelson Runyon be made corporation counsel during Mr. Marsh's absence, but he afterward withdrew it because Mr. Buckle believed that some provisions might have been made by Mr. Marsh.

The Board of Assessors of Plainfield are in a quandary as to whether the Plainfield Trust Company should be assessed this year. The State Board of Assessors say that the company should not be assessed if the capital stock was not paid in on May 20 or before. At any rate the Council has been sought for enlightenment, and although Mr. Mellick, who is a director of the trust company, declared the capital stock was not paid in before that date, the Council wants legal advice. Finally, Mr. Mellick was instructed to seek information at Mr. Marsh's office and if none was obtainable there, to seek legal advice elsewhere and the Council will stand by him. All this is necessary because the assessors will fix the rate before Mr. Marsh returns home.

Mr. Marsh has heretofore arranged with Nelson Runyon to act in his absence, but not even his son, City Judge Runyon, could give the desired information at the meeting last evening.

Another matter of importance before the Council was the ordinance introduced by Mr. Tolles providing for the construction of a storm sewer in Arlington avenue. The ordinance was adopted on its third reading, and the plans, specifications, etc., were ordered filed and the customary two weeks notice was ordered given in the Plainfield newspapers that the Council will receive and open bids for the work on Monday evening, August 4.

Mr. Tolles followed up this matter by introducing another resolution that the streets and sewer committee be authorized to buy the necessary sewer pipe, the same to come out of the street appropriation. This he explained by saying that the customary delay in getting pipe can be overcome in this way. The resolution was adopted.

The same member introduced an ordinance which called forth much objection from Councilman Daniel. It was in reference to the laying of sidewalks in certain parts of the West End, including portions of the Third ward. The ordinance included Randolph road and it was to this that Mr. Daniel objected. He said that there were but few houses on that road and it would be a long time before such an ordinance would be necessary there. It was explained to the objecting member that the ordinance did not make the matter compulsory, but simply included the prescribed territory so as to avoid confusion later on. The ordinance was adopted, Mr. Daniel alone voting in the negative. At the next meeting of the Council a date will be set for a hearing when objectors can appear before the Council and state their aversion to the ordinance, if they have any.

Mr. Tolles introduced another ordinance providing for the macadamizing of Prospect avenue, between Hillside and Woodland avenues, in the customary manner, that is the property-owners must deposit $765.20 as their share befor the work is started. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised.

Mr. Lee reported on the petition of property-owners for three fire hydrants on Randolph road, Park avenue and Moffett avenue, and on his motion two hydrants were ordered installed, one four-way at the corner of Park avenue and Railway road, where the new hospital will be located and the other a two-way on Moffett avenue, off of Park avenue.

Mr. Lee introduced an ordinance providing for the proper inspection of electric wiring in all kinds of buildings in Plainfield before the current is turned on. He explained that at present a Newark inspector working for the National Board of Fire Underwriters now makes the inspections in Plainfield and takes nearly $300 in fees out of the city a year. This he said could be kept in the city by having the building inspector do the work. He explained that the ordinance was drawn by the corporation counsel and it provides a fixed rate for all kinds of electric work. These fees are to be turned over to the city treasury the first of every month. Violations of the ordinance calls for a fine of $20 for each offense. At Mr. Buckle's suggestion the ordinance was referred to the fire and building committee for further consideration.

Mr. Mellick called up on the final reading the school tax ordinance, which provides for the assessment and collection of $61,600, exclusive of the county tax.

Mr. Mellick moved that H. C. Van Emburgh, who has been employed by the city to make the necessary changes on the city map in the transfers of property at a salary of $100 a year, be continued during the coming year under the same conditions.

Regarding a communication from the Borough Council asking that the Plainfield Council appoint a special committee to confer with a like committee from the borough to consider the provisions of the bills which provide for consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield, Mr. Mellick stated that the corporation counsel has the bills in his possession for consolidation and that he intends to report to the Council. Mr. Mellick moved that the communication from the Borough Council be tabled until a report from the corporation counsel is received.

Mr. Mellick reported back the petition of Albertus Swalm asking that a certain amount be deducted from his tax bill as he is an exempt fireman and that he and not his wife owns the property in question. The opinion of the corporation counsel is that Mr. Swalm should not be exempt from that particular tax, that his wife has always paid the tax and should continue to do so. Mr. Mellick moved that the petition be not granted. A similar motion prevailed in the case of the petition of Mrs. Henry W. Wheeler, as the corporation counsel could see no reason why the personal tax should not be paid.

In the case of John W. Turner, of Somerset street, who asked a remittance of $1.25, poll tax, for the year 1889, on the ground that he was not then of age, Mr. Mellick moved that

NEW BRIDGES.

Union County Board of Freeholders Authorized Two for Plainfield.

The Board of Freeholders at its last regular meeting, held July 3, authorized the building of two new bridges in Plainfield, one on Berckman street to cost $3,000 and the second on Jackson avenue to cost $1,500. These are the bridges which the Common Council asked for and were granted on a resolution offered by Freeholder Westphal. The plans are completed for the bridges and bids will be received within a short time. It is expected that work will be started this month.

MORE GUESTS AT NETHERWOOD

SOME OF THE RECENT ARRIVALS AT HOSTELRY ON THE HILL.

New York and Brooklyn Furnish a Majority of the Guests Who Have Recently Arrived.

Y. M. A. CAMP.

Arrangements Made for Trip to Northern Jersey by Members of Hope Y. M. A. to Camp Out.

At a special meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. officials, held last evening, preliminary arrangements were made for the camping trip which the association is to go on early in September. A committee, consisting of City Judge William N. Runyon, George E. Firstbrook and Thomas Muir, was appointed to select a suitable site. They will visit the northern part of the State next week and will probably choose a spot somewhere in the vicinity of Lake Hopatcong.

The committee is especially desirous of securing the names of all members of the association who wish to join the party by this evening, when they can be handed in at the business meeting. In all probability, forty of the young men will enjoy the week of outdoor life.

Fell Off Fence.

While walking along the top rail of a fence at his home, yesterday afternoon, Walter Merrill, the young son of Charles Merrill, of Watchung avenue, fell and broke his left arm in two places. The little fellow was also badly cut about the face by his fall. Medical attendance eased him somewhat, but he still suffers great pain.

To Exhibit New Apparatus.

The combination hose wagon and chemical engine now being built for the Plainfield fire department by a Baltimore firm, is to be exhibited in New York for a few days after its completion. The firm claim that it will be one of the best machines of the kind made in this country.

Returns From Fair.

A business meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. will be held this evening when all matters pertaining to the recent County Fair will be transacted. A full attendance is requested.

To Install Chiefs.

Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M., will install officers, Thursday evening. Deputy Grand Sachem Robert Humphrey and staff will be in charge.

PLANS FILED FOR CHURCH

SWEDISH PILGRIM CHURCH WILL BUILD ON NEW LOCATION OFFERED.

More Room for Aluminum Press Works—Permits Also Granted for Several Residences.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has granted a permit to O. G. Norseen, on behalf of the trustees of the Swedish Pilgrim church, for the erection of a new house of worship at the corner of West Sixth and New streets. The building will be 33 feet front by 50 feet deep, auditorium and gallery. B. Fosgate is the architect.

J. W. Leary, on behalf of the Aluminum Press Works, has filed plans for the erection of a machine shop, one story, 30 by 100 feet, on the property at the corner of North avenue and Berckman street. A. Cole is the architect and Wm. Pasch the carpenter.

A. L. Marsh, architect, on behalf of Mrs. Mary W. Alpaugh, has been granted a permit for the erection of a dwelling two story and attic, 46 feet front by 45 feet deep, on the middle of the lot at the corner of East Sixth and Sycamore streets. The masonry will be done by Tallamy Brothers and the carpenter work by John Abbott.

A permit was issued to John McCarthy for the erection of bow windows to his residence on Kensington avenue, and Pine Yitman was allowed to start work on a barn on his property, Filmore avenue.

NO TROLLEY FOR SPRINGFIELD

FRANCHISE OF ELIZABETH, PLAINFIELD AND CENTRAL JERSEY CO. FORFEITED.

Little Chance of Connecting Village in One Corner of County With the County Seat.

The Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway company has forfeited its franchise, which has held for three years, to construct a trolley line from Westfield through Springfield, as was told in yesterday's Daily Press. The time under which the grant was operative expired last week, and, although the Springfield Township Committee has had a meeting since, no efforts to have the time extended have been made by the trolley people. As a result, the chances of Springfield securing trolley service appear extremely vague.

For nearly ten years past the citizens of the township have desired freedom from its isolation, and as a means of its liberation it has agitated trolley and has dealt with the question in various ways. Its location, just over the boundary line of Essex county, is off the railroad line, and it is as entirely without communication with surrounding localities as when the first colonist settled there in 1717. Its people trade largely in Newark, and its interests are closely identified with those of Essex county. A large portion of its citizens seek employment in Millburn, the Oranges, Newark and New York, and they travel by way of the Lackawanna Railroad from Millburn or the trolley from Maplewood. A way stage from the village to the trolley goes five times daily.

The average citizen visits the county seat — Elizabeth—but a few times in the year. When he does go, if he is not the possessor of a horse, he makes the trip by the roundabout way of Newark. It was this state of affairs that faced the people ten years ago when they first embraced the idea of a trolley line. Shortly afterward they granted a franchise to a New York and Philadelphia company, which had a stormy financial experience and collapsed. The scheme then rested until three years ago, when Colonel E. W. Hine appeared before the citizens and asked for a franchise for the Central Jersey Company. This was granted as were three time extensions.

The more recent prospect for trolley came this past spring when a number of the township's leading citizens held a conference with Frank Bergen, who promised a trolley through from that city to Summit. Maps were prepared, and as it was said to have the support of the Kean interests, it was thought to have been an assumed fact. Only within a short time it was announced the scheme had been abandoned.

Awarded the Prize.

The members of St. Patrick's Alliance have at last located the holder of the ticket which won the Morris chair at their recent drawing. She is Miss Delia Flatly, of Stamford, Conn., and the chair has been turned over to her.

CHINAMAN TO TALK.

Chinese Christian Will Address Y. M. C. A. Meeting Sunday.

For the first time in the history of the local association a Chinese Christian will address the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall next Sunday afternoon. Rev. Huie Kin, connected with the Chinese missions of the Presbyterian church in New York, will be the speaker of the occasion. Dressed in native Chinese costume, he will relate his experiences and exhibit a number of Chinese idols. Miss Giles, of Plainfield, will sing a solo at the meeting. Rev. Huie Kin will also sing.

INSTALLED AT QUEEN CITY

BIG TIME FOR ODD FELLOWS AT THE MEETING LAST NIGHT.

District Deputy King and Staff Did the Installing—Then Followed Entertainment for All.

In connection with the installation of the officers which are to govern its affairs for a half year, Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., entertained its members at an informal entertainment, last evening. It was one of the enjoyable affairs which promotes the fraternal feeling in Odd Fellow circles and which is characteristic of Queen City.

The work of installing was performed by District Deputy Grand Master George King, of Elizabeth, and his staff as follows: Grand Marshal D. Rittenhouse, Grand Warden Harry Spicer, Grand Secretary Robert Hansen, Grand Secretary Augustus von Bischoffshausen, Grand Inside Guardian William Titus. The officers were installed as follows: Past grand, B. W. Hand; noble grand, R. J. Neal; vice grand, William Leithausser; recording secretary, H. E. Humphrey; permanent secretary, F. D. Fuller; treasurer, J. P. Allis; warden, Chester Dennis; right supporter to noble grand, Guillermo Thorn; left supporter to noble grand, Peter VanFleet; right scene supporter, Alex. Kumatat; left scene supporter, J. H. Anderson; right supporter to vice grand, A. Muir; left supporter to noble grand, H. H. Hoffman; inside guard, George Moorehouse; outside guard, F. G. Walsh.

Following the exercises the entertainment committee provided refreshments and during their disposal a musical programme was rendered consisting of phonograph selections under the direction of Alex. Muir and Edwin Langley and vocal selections by the visiting members. Speeches were also made by Past Grand B. W. Hand and Noble Grand R. J. Neal.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of T. C. Smith, R. E. Humphrey and H. H. Hoffman.

WILL OBEY HEREAFTER.

Jacob Sacher First Thought Policeman's Orders Were Only a Joke.

Jacob Sacher's self-formed opinion that when a policeman tells him to appear in the city court, without producing a warrant, it's all a huge joke, cost him $3 this morning. Sacher allowed his horse to run loose about the West End, and when Patrolman Higgins cited him to explain to City Judge Runyon, he ignored the summons. He was arrested this morning and held until trial time. In court he paid the $3 and readily agreed to keep his horse confined and also to obey policemen's orders.

WILL NOT ACCEPT.

Rev. John R. Atkinson Announced Sunday That He Would Not Come.

Rev. John R. Atkinson, rector of Trinity church, Elizabeth, announced at the morning service Sunday that he had decided not to accept the call extended by Grace Episcopal church, of this city. The rector stated that his desire and that of his congregation was that he should stay in Elizabeth. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson will leave on July 26 for an extended trip to Europe.

Pleased With Music Hall.

Prospects for the opening of Music Hall are still somewhat encouraging. Two parties are now engaged in looking over the premises with a prospect of buying and both appear to be well pleased with the prospects. In the event of their coming to terms with the owner, it is said repairs could be made soon enough to have the opening this fall.

At Freedom Castle.

At the meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 42 Knights of the Golden Eagle, this evening, the quoit pitching tournament will be continued. The teams are very evenly matched and, as the tournament draws to a close, the rivalry is intense.

REINHART WON AT HILLSIDE

Defeated Robert Abbott 5 Up and 4 to Go in Finals for Championship Cup.

PLAYED IT YESTERDAY.

School Boy Played a Plucky Game, But Could Not Beat Reinhart at His Best—Abbott Lost Chance for Closer Match by Two Poor Putts—The Detailed Account.

Playing in grand form, Frank O. Reinhart scored the first win for the Club Championship cup on the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, yesterday afternoon, when he defeated Robert Abbott, 5 up and 4 to go. Reinhart was at his best but the plucky school boy made a hard fight for it and but for two unfortunate misses on the putting green would have made it necesary to play the full compliment of holes to decide it. It was good golf and the course record came very near taking another drop.

Lacking the confidence acquired by the Princeton champion through frequent play in tournaments, Abbott sliced his first drive into the long grass and required two to put him back on the fair green. Reinhart spoiled his approach and won the hole in a five. The second hole was halved in four, par golf. Another drive into the long grass, combined with an over-approach, cost Abbott the third hole, Reinhart making bogey figures, four.

On the fourth, Reinhart drove in the road but recovered splendidly to divide honors in a par four. The fifth was also halved in five, which is bogey. Reinhart missed his second putt and stymied his opponent, otherwise both should have made a four. Another stymie lost the short sixth hole for the school boy. A par five halved the seventh. Then Abbott regained one of the lost holes by a long putt on the eighth green which gave him a three. Reinhart laid the ball dead on his third shot in the journey over the road, giving him the hole in four, one better than bogey. That ended the outward journey with Reinhart three up.

Reinhart's drive on the tenth struck the top of the banker on the left of the green and bounced on the green. Abbott sliced his drive in the bushes, losing the hole three to four. The eleventh, which is 468 yards long, saw Reinhart on in two. He holed out in four, one to the good on bogey. Abbott was one more. The twelfth was halved in a perfect five, although Abbott mised a five foot putt which should have given him the hole in four. He repeated the performance on the next hole, where he failed on a three foot putt for a three, which would have given him the hole. Reinhart then had the match well in hand, dormie five. Abbott is ordinarily very accurate on the green and should have been three down and five to go.

The fourteenth hole completed the match. Both were on the green in two. Abbott's only chance was a long putt which he missed by a few inches. To beat the course record it was decided to finish out the eighteen holes.

Both scored a three on the fifteenth and Reinhart missed a four on the next after a magnificent brassey shot from a poor lie by a slow putt. He drove on the seventeenth green but failed for a two by an inch. An unfortunate kick to the ball gave him difficult approach and he had to take five for the last hole. It made a total 74, which is one of the course record made by himself a few days ago. Abbott's total was 79, good going for anybody.

The cards of the two players, including the last holes played after the match was finished, were as follows:

Reinhart, out, 5 4 4 4 5 3 5 4 4—38
Abbott, out, 6 4 5 5 4 5 4 5 3—41
Reinhart, in, 3 4 5 5 4 4 3 5 3 5—36—74
Abbott, in, 4 5 5 5 4 4 3 4 5 4—38—79

BRISK BLAZE IN WEST END

Butcher Shop and Barn of C. S. Tharp, on S. Second St., Were Destroyed by Fire.

TOTAL LOSS OF $1,300.

Quick Work by Fire Department Prevented a Serious Conflagration—Adjacent Double House Was Partially Damaged by Flames—Loss Covered by Insurance.

Flames which broke out mysteriously shortly after 11 o'clock last night, destroyed the barn and butcher shop of Charles Sarvie Tharp, at 1011 South Second street, and partially burned a large double house at Nos. 1007 and 1009, entailing a total loss of $1,300. Quick work on the part of the fire department was all that prevented a serious conflagration as there are many residences in that vicinity clustered together. Of the loss $600 is placed on the structures at 1011, $400 on the contents and $300 on the furniture and second part of the double house occupied by F. M. Ward. It is all covered by insurance.

When the fire was first discovered by George Fisher, of Manson place, the butcher shop and barn, which are connected, were wrapped in flames which had evidently been smoldering for some time as residents tell of smelling smoke at 9 o'clock. He ran shouting "fire" but before he reached a box an alarm had been turned in from box 47 by Patrolman Saunders. Within two minutes the West End Hose Company had two streams on the blazing structures and on the arrival of the headquarers apparatus another was played on the flames. The chemical engine was devoted to saving the double house which had caught fire on the west cornice and was burning merrily.

Only a portion of one side was injured but a short delay in getting a stream on would have ruined half the building. The furniture of the Ward's was damaged by water to the extent of $75 which is covered by insurance.

There were rumors last evening to the effect that the origin of the fire was incendiary but this is scouted by Chief Doane. He made a thorough investigation this morning and discovered nothing which would warrant his believing so. Everything seemed to show that flames had originated in some mysterious way and had smoldered until the whole interior was afire.

FOR CHARITIES.

Endeavorers of Trinity Voted $15 to Three Worthy Charities.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church at its meeting last evening voted the sum of $15 to the three fresh air camps, King's Daughters' Baby Camp, the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, each receiving $5. The funds now stand as follows:

COMING HERE.

Hargraves' Big Railroad Shows Will Visit Here This Week.

Hargraves' Big Railroad Shows are now on their sixth annual tour and will make a second visit to the city this week. The circus will exhibit on the West Fourth street grounds, Thursday and Friday, giving two performances each day. Those who attended the show last year know that it was thoroughly clean and that its programme consisted of some of the best acts obtainable. This year it is larger and better than ever and among the artists are some who are recognized leaders in their respective lines. A feature this season are the noted Cousins, regarded as the most expert bareback riders in the world.

Expect to Pay.

The sale of the Calvary Baptist church is scheduled for tomorrow, but it is reported that the officers of the church have collected the necessary money to pay off the indebtedness.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

It was just a year ago last Friday that Col. Julian Scott, the artist, died, and on that day his brother, H. P. Scott and several friends, visited his grave at Hillside cemetery and placed beautiful flowers about it.

Patrick Lyons, company F, First Infantry, a former Plainfield young man, now with the U. S. army in the Philippines, writing under date of April 27, from Catbalogan, Samar, says that the surrender of the island of Samar occurred at 3:30 in the afternoon of that day, to General Grant. Catbalogan is the greatest of the Samar islands, and the First Infantry have the honor of the surrender. Mr. Lyons says the campaign is practically over, and that the soldiers are now expecting easier times, after an unusually severe and trying period of service. The day of the surrender Lyons was appointed by Captain Buffington orderly to General Grant.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The orders issued for the encampment of the Second Brigade, N. G. N. J., at Sea Girt, show that General Gillmore, the new commanding officer of the brigade, proposes that the week's tour of duty of the soldiers by the sea shall not be a mere outing for pleasure. It will be a week of hard work for officers and men, with an opportunity to profit by the instruction they will be given in military manoeuvres. It is fortunate for the State and for the brigade that General Gillmore is a thorough disciplinarian, who knows his business.

Preparations are also being made for the annual cruise of the New Jersey Naval Reserves on the training ship Portsmouth, the start to be made the last of this month. It is believed that a large number of the amateur tars will take advantage of the opportunity to secure practical knowledge of seamanship. The reserves during the Spanish War showed that they were something more than play-sailors, and peace has not dulled their enthusiasm.—Newark News.

Hahne & Co.'s Great July Sale.

Hahne & Co., of Newark, announce their annual July sale. The announcement this year, aside from the features which have heretofore applied to their sales, has a peculiar interest, inasmuch as it will be the first "July sale" in their new building. The sales in their old store were associated with the keenest of money saving on the best of seasonable merchandise, but assurance is given that this event will eclipse and outshine all previous efforts, and that its economic advantages are the most potent it has been their pleasure up to the present time, to announce.

Miss Adelaide Carney, of Somerset street, is visiting friends in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Charles Potter, of West Seventh street, is staying at the Grove House, Grove, New York.

The Misses Evelyn and Annabella Simonson, of Duer street, are spending a few days at New Haven, Conn.

Robert Derringer, of Derby, Conn., is spending two weeks with his cousin, Charles Derringer, of Liberty street.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

LITERARY.

As usual, the American Boy is full and running over with good things for the American youth, and this July number is a patriotic number. "The Independence of Ad Hunter" is the leading story for this month. It is written by one of the most famous writers for boys and tells how a boy struck for independence and got it. "The Fourpenny Good Hopes" is a story of how a boy lifted a mortgage from his mother's home by his luck and foresight and his knowledge of rare postage stamps. "How the Boys Beat Governor Tryon," by Fred Myron Colby, is a story of revolutionary times very well suited to a Fourth of July number. Of practical interest to boys are the articles: "How to Make a Balloon;" "Tricks With Handkerchiefs" and the usual departments; "The Amateur Journalist and Printer;" "Familiar Talks With Boys," "Boys as Money-makers and Money-savers," "The Boys' Brain 'Gym,'" "The Agassiz Association," "Boys in the Home, Church and School," "Boys and Animals," "Boys in Games and Sport," "Oratory and Debating," "The Order of The American Boy," "The Boys' Library," "The Boy Stamp, Coin and Curio Collector," "For Boys to Think About," "The Boy Photographer," and the "Puzzle Department." Handsome illustrations adorn every page. This best of all boys' magazines is published by the Sprague Publishing Company, Detroit, Mich. Subscription price $1 per annum.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. R. A. Martin, of Jackson street, says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning, just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Missing Man Found.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., July 8.—Word was received here that George Robertson of Depeyster, who has been missing since October and was believed to have been murdered, has been found alive and working in a quarry at Swanton, Vt. There are strange complications in this case. Robertson's wife reported him dead and married again. The district attorney began an investigation, and searching parties have been scouring the woods and dragging lakes for two weeks looking for Robertson's body and evidences of some crime. Now that Robertson has been discovered he refuses to return home.

Thirty Shocks of Earthquake.

VIENNA, July 8.—The Neue Freie Presse publishes a dispatch from Salonika, European Turkey, saying that since last Saturday thirty shocks of earthquake, eight of which were violent, have been experienced there. The populace of Salonika is now camping in military tents. A very violent shock which occurred after midnight on Sunday caused damage to the villages of Guvesne and Zelisova, in the vicinity of Salonika. Other dispatches received here from Salonika say that the shock of Monday morning destroyed 150 houses and killed a child at Guvesne and that two people were killed at Salonika.

Hobson Opened Winona Assembly.

WARSAW, Ind., July 8.—Richmond Pearson Hobson, hero of the Merrimac, opened the Winona assembly regular Chautauqua programme for the eighth season with an address on "The American Navy; Its Traditions and Victories." The summer school faculty gave a public reception last night, at which speeches were made by Thomas Kane of Chicago, president of the Winona association; John M. Studebaker of South Bend and Professor Stanley Coulter of Purdue university. This season's assembly programme will continue until August.

Peace Envoys Heard From.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 8.—Two commissioners sent by General Vorgos-Santos, one of the leaders of the Liberal or revolutionary party in Colombia, who is now in New York, have reached the Chiriqui district, which was last reported as in the possession of the revolutionists. The commissioners bear instructions from General Vargos-Santos and the terms of peace between the government and Liberals which he has proposed and which he hopes to have accepted.

Great Damage by Storm.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 8.—Reports continue to be received here which show the wide extent of the damage wrought along the coast by the recent storm. Many fishing craft are ashore, scores of boats have been destroyed, and much fishing gear has been ruined. The losses were particularly heavy along the southern and eastern coasts of Newfoundland, where whole settlements have lost nearly all their nets, which were in the water when the storm arose.

Jumped From Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A man about forty years old, shabbily dressed, jumped from the middle span of the Brooklyn bridge at 2:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was probably killed, as his body was not seen to rise after he struck the water. Hundreds of persons on trolley cars and walking the promenade witnessed the suicide. No one was near enough to prevent the man taking his fatal jump.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Six persons were killed and twenty-seven injured in a railway accident in Portugal.

Six deaths and a score of prostrations occurred in Pittsburg from the heat.

No news has yet been received of the Jeanie and Portland, vessels carried into the arctic regions by ice.

The steamers Cumberland and Admiral Farragut were in collision near Boston light. The former was badly damaged.

The Lowe Coke and Gas Securities company of New York city, with a capital of $30,000,000, was incorporated in Dover, Del.

HAVOC WIDESPREAD

Loss by Flood Unprecedented In Western New York.

WATER HIGHER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Many Villages Damaged and Crops Ruined—Stock and Farm Buildings Swept Away—Bridges Wrecked by the Score.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 8.—News from the flood devastated districts in this section of the state are coming in slowly. Reports from Medina have been received which show that the cloudburst did thousands of dollars damage.

From Churchville come reports that Black creek is the highest ever known, even in spring freshets; is out of its channel and causing great damage to growing crops along its banks. Hundreds of acres of peas, corn, beans and potatoes, sugar beets and the other crops are under water and ruined. The dam at Byron is reported broken, and the creek is still rising at a great rate.

Honeoye reports six bridges, including an iron structure on Mill creek, washed away and heavy damage to crops. The total fall of rain at that point Saturday was 2.82 inches.

Leroy reports that the water in Oatka creek attained the highest point in years, but crops escaped much damage.

Penn Yan says that many thousands of dollars damage has been done to residences along the course of the creek flowing through Hammondsport, and cattle were rescued from flooded pasture land with great difficulty.

Mount Morris reports the Genesee at that point easily two feet higher than the best previous record at any time of the year. It broke through its banks east of the village and has ruined thousands of dollars' worth of crops on the fertile flats below here. Many fine farms have been entirely ruined by the swift current washing them into deep gorges and carrying away the soil. Barns have been washed away and cattle drowned. The loss to farmers is extremely heavy.

At Williamson lightning struck the residence of Paul Van Cruyningham, and the baseboard of a bedstead in which his two daughters were sleeping was demolished. Neither of the occupants of the bed was seriously injured. Isaac Van Dee Boegh's evaporator was struck by lightning and demolished. Undoubtedly other damage was done in this section which as yet has not been reported.

West Rush reports great damage from the cloudburst. The Genesee river and Honeoye creek are out of their banks, and the entire valley is under water. The crops of the lowlands are a total loss.

Nunda reports the greatest flood in the history of that section. The state footbridge over Kishiqua creek has been washed away, and the town is in darkness. Large fields of growing crops have been washed away, ground and all. Dalton has also suffered greatly. Portageville, Pike, Lamont, Roseberg, Fillmore and many other towns have been under water since Sunday morning.

The tracks of the Pennsylvania are washed away, and a new roadbed will have to be laid at many places before trains can be moved.

Pike reports the loss of a large iron bridge, the postoffice building, Powers' store and opera house, a meat market, cheese factory, drug store, two dwelling houses and the village warehouse.

At Lamont the milldam has gone out, washing away a bridge. Large numbers of dead cattle were seen floating down the river during the day.

Middleport reports all dams swept away in Johnson's creek, with damage of hundreds of thousands of dollars, and all business is at a standstill. The crop damage is also considerable. Five bridges in the town are gone.

Mohawk Valley Under Water.

UTICA, N. Y., July 8.—The Mohawk river has risen above its banks from Rome eastward, and water now covers thousands of acres of heavy grass ready to harvest and all the bottom lands devoted to mixed farming. In some places in the Mohawk valley farmers have lost nearly all the crops of this year. They will be covered with dirt and debris and thus spoiled.

Lightning Causes Oswego Fire.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 8.—During a severe electrical storm last night the Cumberland Flour mill was struck by lightning and was totally destroyed by the fire which followed the stroke. The mill was situated but a few feet north of the large Kingsford starch factory, and the efforts of the firemen were directed to save the works. Several firemen narrowly escaped injury by the falling walls. The Cumberland mill was owned by the Kingsford Starch company and was operated by Michael J. Cummings. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

Virginia Mines Running.

ROANOKE, Va., July 8.—It is said at the Norfolk and Western railroad general offices that more coal was mined last Saturday in the Pocahontas-Flat Top fields than on any Saturday during the month of June and that almost every man in the fields has returned to work. Three carloads of men for the West Virginia mines passed through Roanoke from eastern Virginia.

Cornell Summer School Open.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 8.—The annual summer session of Cornell university has opened, with the largest attendance in its history. The number enrolled is over 500. The school covers a period of six weeks, ending Aug. 16.

ARBITRATION LIKELY

End of Chicago Freight Handlers' Strike In Sight.

NINE THOUSAND MEN ARE INVOLVED.

But There Seems to Be a Lack of Unanimity Among the Strikers. Railroad Officials In Favor of the Proposed Conference.

CHICAGO, July 8. — Hopes of a speedy settlement of the strike of the Freight Handlers' union which was declared yesterday are entertained by officials of the union and members of the state board of arbitration. The officials of the union at a conference last night told Chairman Job of the board of arbitration that they were willing to permit employees of the different companies to meet officials of the same to discuss the wage scale providing a joint conference should be held at which officials of the union would be permitted to act as advisers to the men. The arbitration board is now working on the matter in an effort to bring about a conference between the railway managers and committees representing the men. As the railroad officials have favored this step from the beginning of the controversy there is little doubt that the strike can be settled satisfactorily to both sides if the conference shall be arranged.

Lack of unanimity already permeates the strike. The Chicago Federation of Labor was ignored when the order was issued for the men to quit work, and its executive officials are somewhat offended and are inclined to let the freight handlers fight out their battle in their own way. There are 2,000 freight handlers in and about the various freighthouses of the twenty-four railroads centering in Chicago. Of this number more than 9,000 are now involved in the strike. Some of the men who quit work did so under protest. Notably this was the case in the freighthouses of the Lake Shore and Michigan Central roads.

The men there employed were receiving all the consideration they had asked. They were forced to strike, however, by the order of the executive committee of their union. Before going out the men informed the railway officials of the situation and said they would seek an immediate return under orders from the authority that ordered them out.

The sudden suspension of customary operations by the freight handlers occasioned considerable trouble in and about the various railroad warehouses and depots, but the inconvenience and delay were but a drop in the bucket to what will happen tomorrow and later in the week if the strike shall not be settled sooner.

To add to the present difficulties of the railroads the Teamsters' and Truck Drivers' unions threaten to join in a sympathetic strike. If this shall occur, it will affect all incoming and outgoing freight of every kind.

Leishmans Received by the Sultan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.—John G. A. Leishman, United States minister to Turkey, Mrs. Leishman and their two daughters, Spencer Eddy, secretary of legation, and A. A. Gargiulo, interpreter to the United States legation, dined at the Yildez palace and were subsequently received in audience by the sultan. The visitors attended an operatic performance at the palace. The sultan presented Mr. Leishman with a souvenir of the visit, to Mrs. Leishman he gave the grand cordon of the Order of Nichan-I-Chefakat, and to the minister's daughters he presented the decorations of the second and third class of the same order.

Revolutionists at Bluefields.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 8.—Private advices received here from Nicaragua are to the effect that a revolutionary expedition of over 1,000 men has landed near Bluefields, Nicaragua, and has been joined by a large number of Conservatives. The landing of this expedition is said to be the beginning of a strong movement against the government of President Zelaya. Such a movement would be of considerable benefit to Colombia, it is believed, in that country's difficulties with its revolutionists, as it would prevent help reaching the Colombian Liberals on the isthmus from Nicaragua.

Bullet Proof Shield Tested.

ROME, July 8.—The bullet proof shield invented by Signor Beneditti has been successfully tested at Villa d'Oria in the presence of the war minister, General Count di San Martino; Major John P. Porter, U. S. A., of the judge advocate general's department; Judge James F. Smith of the supreme court of the Philippines and Captain Lewis H. Strother of the Twenty-second infantry, who were the objects of special courtesy.

A $10,000 Daily Rake Off.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 8.—The concluding evidence for the defendant in the trial of Chief of Police Ames of Minneapolis has been given. He is being tried on a specific indictment charging him with taking a fifty dollar bribe. Evidence for the state was offered to show that the "rake off" of the workers of blackmail and Mayor Ames' brother, the chief, was about $10,000 a day.

Dr. Adams Critically Ill.

REDLANDS, Cal., July 8.—Dr. Charles Kendall Adams, former president of the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, is so seriously ill at his home here that there is little hope of his recovery. He is suffering from kidney trouble.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; warmer; fresh south winds.

NEGOTIATIONS AT ROME.

Vatican Prides Itself on Expedition In the Matter.

ROME, July 8.—A member of the committee of cardinals which is examining the propositions submitted to the Vatican authorities by Judge Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, with regard to religious affairs in the archipelago has unofficially informed Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, S. D., who is a member of Judge Taft's party, that the committee expects to be able to reply to Judge Taft's propositions, submitted July 3, by next Thursday night.

The Vatican is priding itself upon the expedition with which this business is being done on its side.

The note to be given by the Vatican to Judge Taft will, as did Judge Taft's note to the Vatican, contain a sort of contract, with clauses of agreement, to be signed by both parties.

Great difficulty continues to arise as a result of Judge Taft's request that the friars in the Philippines be withdrawn. The cardinals especially insist that the friars of other than Spanish nationality, although they may belong to the four religious orders concerned, remain, as well as a sufficient number of Spanish friars to teach the Spanish language in their universities in the islands.

Threadmaker Clark Dead.

NEWARK, N. J., July 8.—Word has been received here that William Clark, the thread manufacturer, has just died in England. Mr. Clark was one of the largest manufacturers of thread in the world. He was born at Paisley, Scotland, in 1841. He came to this country in 1864 with his brother George and in a small way began the manufacture of cotton thread in a little building on the banks of the Passaic river in the upper part of this city. From that beginning there grew the great works, having a branch in Paisley, Scotland, and covering with immense buildings many acres on both sides of the Passaic in this city. Mr. Clark retired from active work some years ago and had lived in Scotland for the last five years.

Lord Kitchener's Farewell.

PRETORIA, July 8.—Lord Kitchener's valedictory to the troops, dated June 25, after extolling the conduct of the British soldiers in the face of great hardships and difficulties and against dangerous and elusive antagonists, commends the kindly and humane spirit displayed in all ranks and concludes as follows: "This message would be incomplete were no reference made to the soldierly qualities displayed all through the campaign by our quondam enemies and the admirable spirit displayed in carrying out the surrender. Many of those who contended until the end have expressed the hope that they may have in the future an opportunity to serve side by side with his majesty's forces."

Vanderbilt's Gift to Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 8.—Frederick W. Vanderbilt of New York has made a gift to the Sheffield Scientific school of Yale university. Mr. Vanderbilt is a graduate of the school in the class of 1876. His gift is for the establishment of a dormitory system for the Scientific school and includes an extensive and valuable tract of land in the square bounded by Wall, Temple, College and Grove streets and also a dormitory building to be erected. The value is estimated at $500,000.

Two Killed by a Fall.

READING, Pa., July 8.—Edward Lekicker and John Gingrich, carpenters, fell from the roof of the new St. Peter's Catholic church and were instantly killed.

CORONATION DAY.

An August Date In View of King's Steady Gain.

LONDON, July 8.—King Edward's condition continues favorable, and the verbal report given out is that his majesty is still doing well.

The use by the Prince of Wales of the word "recovery" when he referred to the king's progress at the inauguration of the Raphael Nurses' home of Guy's hospital is regarded in many quarters as indicating that the royal family considers the king's case most hopefully.

King Edward will be crowned the second week of August. His recovery has been so rapid and satisfactory that the above decision has been arrived at. No official announcement of the fact has yet been made.

The pageant through the streets and the ceremony at Westminster will be much curtailed from the original plan.

Their majesties will drive from Buckingham palace through the Mall to Whitehead and thence to the abbey, the same route as taken at the opening of parliament.

In the house of commons A. J. Balfour, the government leader, announced that an autumn session of parliament would be necessary, beginning about the middle of October, and that the house would adjourn early in August.

Queen Alexandra's teas to 10,000 domestic servants of London commenced yesterday. The local mayors and officials presided at the various gatherings, and many prominent ladies gave their assistance. Each one of the queen's guests received gifts from her majesty, consisting of a box of chocolate and a silver gilt brooch. The proceedings were very enthusiastic.

Tracy's Whereabouts Unknown.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 8.—Nothing definite is known about the whereabouts of Harry Tracy, the Oregon convict. Three posses are at Anacortez, eighteen miles below Whatcom, and their leaders express the belief that the outlaw was in the vicinity of Deception pass Sunday evening in a sailboat. Deception pass is a very dangerous spot for craft the size of Tracy's boat, but the officers believe that he went through on a favorable tide and has effected a landing on the mainland on this side or has put through the strait of San Juan de Fuca. Two steamers are actively engaged in patrolling the shores of Puget sound in the neighborhood of the pass, while the posses are guarding vantage points on the mainland.

Proposed Cuban Loan.

HAVANA, July 8.—The reply of the bankers of Havana to the request made by the government to present projects for the raising of a loan of $4,000,000 to assist the sugar cane cultivators of Cuba was received yesterday. The bankers sent Senor Montes, secretary of finance, a communication in which they said they did not consider that the loan in question could be raised. This answer was conveyed by Senor Montes to the cabinet at yesterday's meeting. The finance secretary also informed the cabinet that he had received two offers to supply money, one of which was from a New York firm. Both of these bids were referred to Senor Montes.

New Witness In Disbrow Case.

GOOD GROUND, N. Y., July 8.—Subpœnas for several new witnesses in the Disbrow case have been made out and signed by Judge Foster. Deputy Sheriff Rogers will at once take steps to serve them. It is understood that the new witnesses will testify as to Disbrow's exact movements on June 9 and 10 just before and after the tragedy on Tiana bay. More than forty subpœnas have been issued in all by the prosecution. The names of only about twenty-five witnesses are known.

Beveridge Not a Candidate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 8.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge in answer to a query whether he would be a candidate for vice president in 1904 said: "I will under no circumstances become a candidate for vice president, and at no time have I been considering the matter. I am content with my work in the senate." Senator Beveridge said he had heard his name used before in connection with the vice presidency, but he repeated emphatically that he has no idea of becoming a candidate.

Dorsey Weds at Seventy.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Former Senator Stephen W. Dorsey of Arkansas was married yesterday to Miss Laura Bigelow at Grace church by the Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington. Mrs. Bigelow, widow of John Bigelow, who was financial agent of the United States government in London for twenty years, gave the bride away. The ceremony was witnessed by a few relatives and was marked by its simplicity. Mr. Dorsey is seventy years old, twenty years older than his bride.

Socialist Riots In Italy.

LONDON, July 8.—A special dispatch received here from Rome says that socialist riots occurred at Orte, on the right bank of the Tiber, during the municipal elections held there. The polling place was wrecked, and several policemen were stabbed. The police and the military fired on the mob. Over forty persons were wounded in the affray, and half of this number were among the carbineers. Troops have been ordered to Orte from Rome.

New Yorker Wins at Henley.

HENLEY, England, July 8.—C. S. Titus of the Union Boat club won his first heat for the Diamond Sculls, defeating his old rival, Louis Scholes of the Don Rowing club, Canada, by a length and a half in 8m. 33s., within four seconds of the single scull record for the Henley course.

CHAMBERLAIN HURT

British Colonial Secretary In the Hospital.

THREE INCH CUT ACROSS FOREHEAD.

Cab In Which He Was Riding Collides With a Post—Wound Not Considered Dangerous—His Skull Not Crushed.

LONDON, July 8.—While Colonial Secretary Chamberlain was driving in a hansom along Whitehall yesterday the vehicle collided with a post at the foot of the Canadian coronation arch. Mr. Chamberlain was thrown forward, and his forehead was knocked against a window of the cab. The window was shattered.

A constable assisted Mr. Chamberlain from the hansom. The secretary's forehead was bleeding profusely. The constable summoned surgeons, who attended to Mr. Chamberlain and then accompanied him to Charing Cross hospital.

Mr. Chamberlain's injuries, although not dangerous, are likely to detain him in the house for the remainder of the week. He has already canceled his engagements until next Thursday, and it is extremely doubtful if he will be permitted to attend the coronation banquet to be held in the Guildhall Friday or the reception to Lord Kitchener Saturday on his return from South Africa.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

The colonial secretary has a nasty crescent shaped cut across the forehead three inches long and penetrating to the bone. Pieces of broken glass were found imbedded in the wound. There was no concussion, but the bone is bruised. Mr. Chamberlain also sustained a slighter cut under the right eye.

Upon finding that he must remain in the hospital the patient asked if he might be placed somewhere where he could smoke. He was thereupon carried to a room on the next floor. Mr. Chamberlain treats the matter of his accident lightly. He has informed a political friend that he hopes to resume his official duties Friday.

Murdered by Thieves.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Mrs. Margaret Kelly, sixty-five years old, wife of an employee of Whitelaw Reid at his summer residence, near White Plains, is dying as a result of injuries received at the hands of thieves. Mrs. Kelly was approached as she stood in front of her home by two men. She turned to go into the house when one of them struck her with a stone wrapped in a handkerchief. Her skull was fractured. The thieves then robbed the house. Two suspects are under arrest.

Five Killed by Lightning.

OFFERMAN, Ga., July 8.—Three white men and two negroes killed, one white man and one negro injured, is the result of a severe thunder and lightning storm here. The men were all employed in the construction department of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company and were stretching wire when struck by lightning. The construction force were working in two sections about five miles apart. One lightning bolt killed the five and injured the two.

Lord Pauncefote's Resting Place.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—It has been determined that the body of Lord Pauncefote, late British embassador at Washington, shall be interred at Stoke, near Newark, in Nottinghamshire, England, instead of at the old Pauncefote estates at Preston. Stoke is a short distance from London and is the seat of Sir Henry Bromley, who occupies Stoke hall. The Bromleys are a branch of the Pauncefote family.

Glass Workers Meet.

CLEVELAND, O., July 8.—The Glass Workers of America met here in annual convention yesterday. The meeting will continue throughout the week. About 100 delegates are in attendance. President Denney of the organization said: "The past year has been the best the glass workers have known in many years. The men have had an abundance of work at good wages. The outlook is good for the coming year."

World's Cycle Record Broken.

PITTSBURG, July 8.—At the Coliseum last night Howard Freeman broke the world's bicycle record for twenty miles by going the distance in 29m. 8 4-5s. as against Harry Elkes' time of 29m. 19s.

Court Refused to Ipterfere.

TRENTON, N. J., July 8.—The court of errors has refused to interfere in the cases of Lafayette Gruff, Camden county, and Peter Herri, Bergen county, both of whom were convicted of murder.

NO TROLLEY.

With all this remarkable spread of the trolleys, which has been so general during the last five years, the little village of Springfield, which lies close to the border between this county and Essex, has been left out in the cold. If ever a place needed the trolley to develop it, Springfield is the place but its calm and peaceful existence promises to go on untroubled by the whir and clang of the trolley cars for some time to come.

The same company, which controls the local trolley system and owns the line between this city and Elizabeth, has held a franchise for a trolley line between Westfield and Springfield for three years. Several times the rails have been scattered over a greater part of the route and the public was informed that work would start at once. There was a hitch somewhere, however, and not a rail has ever been laid.

Although the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company has been given several extensions of time, its franchise finally expired last week and Springfield is now without a trolley or any likelihood of it. It is to be regretted for Springfield's sake at least that the company's plans failed. Springfield is in the extreme corner of the county and its citizens have to follow a long and round-about way to reach the county seat. While Springfield flourished during the height of the bicycle season, there is no activity there now and there is little promise of any until some easy means of transit reaches the village. It is a quaint historic place with much to please the wanderer interested in the Revolutionary times but its material prosperity is sadly in need of the trolley or some other means of opening up the place.

There was nothing surprising in the victory of Frank O. Reinhart for the championship of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. For some time he has been admittedly the best golfer of Plainfield. While there were times, perhaps, when he might have been beaten, Reinhart at his best game is better than anything else that Plainfield can boast. He has been steadily improving his game while other of the local golfers have not been up to their old form. The showing made by Robert Abbott was very creditable to that young man. Although yet a school boy, he promises to develop into one of the finest players in the State and rank with Reinhart and Kenneday.

The City Baseball League games will be resumed Saturday. Interest in the games seems as high as ever and the cranks are just as willing to talk about the teams today as they were a week ago. The league has brought to light four remarkably evenly matched teams. It is still an open question as to which team will win.

Readers of The Daily Press, who are planning their summer vacations, should be sure to have this newspaper sent to their summer address. There is no extra charge and it will be pleasant to keep in touch with the happenings at home.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Gavett has a fine line of large garden pots, in many shapes, in new styles and colors.

S. Schener & Company are having a demonstration of Norka Malted Oats, a prepared food. Stop in and try it.

Smalley Brothers, North avenue, have a well-stocked, well-kept butcher shop. When you buy your meat at Smalley's, you know that you have a good article.

The repairing of watches and clocks is the specialty of William Brown, of Watchung avenue. He has had years of experience in the business and is thoroughly competent.

Don't postpone it any further. You must be convinced by this time that a straw hat is an absolute necessity. And it will be an economy to get one at J. R. Blair's, Park avenue.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, has made a reputation for his store on account of the high quality of the goods, and the excellent service always maintained. Prices will be found reasonable.

Poor time is worth nothing, but when you buy a watch of J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, you are sure of getting the very best. His watches have a reputation for always being on time.

During the warm summer days good wholesome ice cream is very refreshing and when you purchase cream at Campbell's confectionery on West Front street, you are sure of getting the pure article.

There is no excuse for people not wearing comfortable clothing when M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier is offering such bargains in clothes for men and boys. His assortment and the price will surprise you.

If you want any painting or papering done see Charles Conover & Company, of Elmwood place. This firm has the reputation for doing work in a most satisfactory manner. Estimates on all kinds of work will be given cheerfully.

The constantly increasing trade which Wm. Lindsay & Son are receiving is deserving praise for the excellent milk furnished by this firm. There is no question about the absolute purity of this milk. A postal card will bring it to your home.

When in doubt as to what to have for dinner don't go any further than R. H. Keenan's West Fifth street grocery. Everything that should be in a modern store is there and all of the best. Orders telephoned will be brought direct to your door.

The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company, corner of Front street and Park avenue, keep a large stock of all kinds of hardware of the best make. Their stock of screens, refrigerators, garden hose, garden and farming implements is complete and the prices will compare favorably with those in New York.

What to select for dessert should never be a puzzler after seeing Neuman Brothers' display of fruits. They have strawberries, blackberries, red and black raspberries, peaches, fresh apricots and plums. All are received fresh every day and are the best to be obtained. Neuman Brothers' line of vegetables is the most complete in the city.

PERSONAL.

C. W. King, of East Ninth street, has gone to Old Forge, New York, to spend the summer.

Miss Eva Noe, of New York, is spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. E. B. Noe, of East Ninth street.

Miss Clara Denton, who is spending the summer at Belmar, is visiting at the home of Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue.

Among the arrivals from Europe Saturday in the steamship Philadelphia were Mrs. John Gray Foster, of Mercer avenue, and Miss Jennie Foster, Hegeman Foster and Eugene Foster, of New York.

Something About Corsets.

A long experience has taught us that ladies are particular about Corsets. In catering to the wants of an exacting trade we have learned much about the Corset business. One of the things we have learned is to buy only Corsets of reputation derived from real merit. We never experiment with Corsets. We must have positive proof that they will meet all the requirements of our customers before we purchase. The result of all this is a complete, well-rounded-out assortment of the most popular Corsets made. We mention a few below:

At 2.00 W. B. Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil of fine quality. Good shape, fit well, beautifully finished.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, long hip, long waist, low bust, made of fine batiste, lace trimmed. Cool and comfortable for stout figures.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, straight front, short hip, contil, good shape. A remarkably durable corset.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets in both black and white, long hip, low bust. A ready seller for medium figures.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets, straight front, bias gored hip, made of French contil. They fit stout figures well.

At 1.00 R. & G. Girdles made of fine batiste. Designed for golfing, tennis, cycling and athletics in general.

At 1.00 R. & G. Tape Girdles, one of the latest summer novelties. Positively the coolest corset made and is popular with good trade.

Ferris Good Sense Waists for ladies, misses and children.

Double V Waists for children; Drawers to match same.

At 2.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil, beautifully modeled and good sellers. As nice as 3.00 imported goods and fit better.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating Corsets in medium and extra long. Probably one of the best summer corsets made. They fit perfectly.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating, straight front corsets, short hip and low bust. Good for medium figures.

At 1.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Chic Corsets. Dainty little batiste corsets. Short low bust, excellent for slight figures.

At 1.00 Warner's "Rust Proof" Corsets, straight front, low bust, made of batiste. It is a generally admired, dainty corset of splendid shape and will fit almost any figure.

At 50c Batiste Girdles, the sweetest little Summer Corsets you ever saw for that price. Shape is so good and the finish so perfect they would readily pass for $1.00 goods.

The Half-Price Crockery Sale Goes Merrily On.

Notwithstanding the heavy selling of the past few days, we still have plenty to supply all who come. This is, without exception, the greatest Crockery Sale this city has ever known. It is seldom you have an opportunity of securing bright new goods at such prices as these—just half price.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A lecture will be given in the Methodist church July 17 by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of Plainfield. The subject of the lecture will be "Impressions of England." Mrs. Thomas McDonald, of Plainfield, will sing. A free will offering for the benefit of the church fund will be taken up. Dr. Snodgrass is favorably known as a lecturer and a large audience is looked for.

The members of the Dunellen band feel greatly encouraged over the showing they made at the Hope chapel fair, Fourth of July. The playing was all that could have been desired and the members of the band made a neat appearance in their new hats. They hope the day is not far distant when they will be able to have a complete uniform.

Thomas MacNamara, formerly of the crack Newburg team from New York, will probably play with Dunellen in the future as a second baseman. He has lately moved into town and as his presence will greatly strengthen the local nine it is hoped he can be secured.

Letters are advertised at the postoffice this week for Arnodes Michaeli, Mrs. Dewitt & Co., Harry Crossman and Mrs. Greenhouse.

The postoffice inspector visited here Monday and found everything in the best of order and condition.

The Borough Council held its regular monthly meeting last week and transacted routine business.

The West Ends were defeated by a picked nine at Dewey Park on Sunday by a score of 8 to 7.

The Dunellen A. C. will play Clinton Avenue on the home grounds Saturday.

The Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening.

Albert Giddes spent Sunday with his brother, Arthur, in Staten Island.

Harry Apgar, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the home of his parents.

The Juniors will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening.

Mrs. John Logan has been entertaining out of town friends.

NEW MARKET.

Principal H. H. Pittinger, of the New Market school and Township Supervisor Harry Cathers have returned after a two weeks' outing trip. They went by boat from Philadelphia to Baltimore, from there to Fredericksburg where they visited the scene of the great battle. They then went to Washintgon and after enjoying the sights of that place went to Atlantic City and from there home, ending a most pleasant and instructive trip.

The United States postoffice inspector visited the local postoffice yesterday and made a minute inspection of the books. He found everything in excellent order and complimented Miss Gaskill on the condition of affairs.

Letters are advertised at the postoffice this month for J. F. Haines, M. D., Miss Lizzie Ludlow and The Swanscot Machine Co.

The prospects are that the hay crop throughout Piscataway will be exceedingly small this year.

Miss Emma Nelson entertained the G. E. Club Saturday evening in a pleasant manner.

It is expected that Abram Nelson's new house will be ready for occupancy by August 1.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold an important meeting in its rooms this evening. Supervising D. D. G. R. Gibbey will be present and a full attendance of the members is desired

A meeting of the Township Committee was held in the town rooms last night. A number of bills were ordered paid and other routine work transacted.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stillger and children, who have been spending a few days with Mr. Stillger's parents, have returned to their home at Roselle.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist church was held in the church parlors Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alberts, of Montague avenue, are entertaining friends from New York for a few days.

Richard Hart, who has been visiting his sister, Miss Katie Hart, has returned to his home in New York.

Mrs. James Buckley has returned from a visit with relatives in Plainfield.

Miss Susie Parse was the guest of Newark friends, Monday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Henry A. Meeker has secured a position as stenographer and typewriter in the Central Railroad station of Jersey City. He began work July 1, and will continue in his present position until September.

Russell Bond, of West Virginia, who is at present staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph, of Madison and Second street, Plainfield, was in town yeysterday.

Mr. Anderson and family, who recently took up their residence in the mill-house, have moved to Front street, Plainfield.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has begun operations on the new bridge which they are putting up here near the station.

The regular bi-monthly covenant meeting of the First Baptist church will be held tonight in the church lecture room.

The time of the Tuesday evening prayer meeting of the Baptist church has been changed from 7:30 to 7:45.

Philip P. Smith started work yesterday in Mr. Miller's pharmacy on Park avenue, Plainfield.

Communion will be administered next Sunday morning at the Baptist church.

LIBERTY CORNER'S FOURTH.

Sale and Supper Given by Women of the Presbyterian Church.

The Fourth of July was celebrated by the people of Liberty Corner and vicinity by the holding of a sale and supper on the grounds of the Presbyterian church. The large crowd present, which included many summer visitors, enjoyed the hospitality of the women of the church, who furnished a bountiful supper in the lecture room. Outside a large tent had been erected, in which were booths for the sale of ice cream, candy, etc., while the many Chinese lanterns which were everywhere hung, both furnished light and added to the beauty of the scene.

A pleasant feature of the occasion was the presence of the Mendham band which, from an improvised band stand, played througbout the entire evening. The entertainment closed with a display of fireworks and an old-fashioned auction sale. The proceeds of more than $100 will be devoted to the interests of the church.

Building New Houses.

Three new houses, which Patrolman James Totten is having erected in the West End on West Fourth street, near Monroe avenue, are rapidly nearing completion. The genial officer has already had erected several residences in that vicinity which has induced other property owners to follow suit with the result that the entire section is rapidly being built up.

Daily Press March.

Chris Sorensen, Jr., of this city, who was recently made leader of the orchestra at Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre, has composed an enlivening march. It has been named the "Daily Press March" in honor of the Plainfield Daily Press, and is now in the hands of the leading metropolitan publishers.

Sunday's Preacher.

Rev. Dr. Pogson, of the Baptist church, New Brunswick, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist church Sunday. The collection in the morning will be for the Old Ministers' Home.

the remittance be made as the claim was substantiated by fact.

Mr. Mellick offered a resolution transferring $500 from the general fund to the poor fund and $2,500 from the general fund to the fire fund, and another resolution for borrowing $2,500 on account of the sewer improvement in South avenue.

As to the extra compensation which the law allows the custodian of school money, Mr. Mellick offered a resolution allowing City Treasurer W. F. Arnold, who is custodian of school money, compensation for the balance of the year at the rate of $550 and requiring him to furnish a bond in the sum of $25,000 for the faithful performance of such duties. It is understood that Mr. Arnold will arrange for his bondsmen out of the salary received.

Mr. Mellick reported on the petition of Mrs. Sarah Runyon for an exemption from certain tax and moved that the same be not granted. Upon the advice of the corporation counsel it was recommended that Mrs. Runyon endeavor to settle her differences with the other persons involved.

The annual report of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room was presented which showed that everything is in a satisfactory condition. In the general fund it is reported that the balance on hand June 1, 1901, was $2,789.85, and the receipts for the year were $7,741.48 and the expenditures $5,301.69, leaving a balance on hand May 31, 1902, of $2,439.97. The Babcock fund shows a balance on hand June 1, 1901, of $8,225.24. The receipts including rent from property on Madison avenue and Sixth street, were $1,092 and the interest from fund, $231.02. The disbursements were $3,141.90, leaving a balance on hand May 31, 1902, of $5,780.82.

The report of City Judge Wm. N. Runyon for the second quarter showed that there were before him 160 cases, of which number thirty-six were fined, 114 sentence suspended, thirteen were committed and three dismissed. The amount of money received was $171. There was paid $27.55 to Chief Kiely for expenses, leaving a balance of $143.45 turned over to the city treasurer.

Building Inspector Doane reported that during the past month eighteen building permits were granted. A petition was received asking for an electric light on McKinley place near East Second street. The petition was referred.

A report was received from the corporation counsel regarding the payment of the bills of the members of the board of registry and election. Mr. Marsh advised that the petitions be denied until the validity of the claims is established by the courts. He did not believe that the cases cited by the petitioners have any bearing in these cases. Mr. Mellick made the report and he moved that the clerk instruct the petitioners to that effect.

A communciation was received from the League of American Municipalities asking the Council to send a delegation to the next convention to be held at Grand Rapids, Mich., August 27, 28 and 29. Mr. Mellick moved that the communication be acknowledged but the invitation be declined as none of the members will be able to attend.

A petition was received from residents of Dunellen avenue, between Compton and Clinton avenues, asking that flagging be laid, but as the ordinance introduced early in the evening takes in this territory, no action is necessary in this particular case. Another petition from the same neighborhood asking for more electric lights on Dunellen avenue and Mariners avenue, was referred, as was also the petition of Mrs. Mary Hague, of Dunellen, asking for exemption from personal property at 1047 West Front street as she has not lived there since 1899.

Roundsman John J. Flynn, through his counsel, Nelson and William N. Runyon, asked that he be reimbursed for the killing by dogs of 126 very valuable and choice fowls. The chickens were killed on May 31. The petition cited the fact that Mr. Flynn always kept his chickens in a modern and well-appointed place and that these dogs dug a hole beneath the ground and forced their way into the coop. The matter was referred.

The petition of Charles L. Strong, of the Plainfield Hotel, asking that his license be transferred to the Plainfield Hotel Company, was referred to Mr. Gloak, chairman of the license committee, and afterward he informed the Council that he desired to investigate the matter before reporting on the same.

This finished up the business of the evening and the Council adjourned.

In the Public Eye Abroad

What the Nations of the World Are Most Greatly Interested in Just Now.

ENGLISH newspapers have for the past half dozen years been harping on the American commercial invasion of these "tight little isles," but the harping has never made any great impression upon the great mass of the English people. "Made in America" is not stamped upon every little household convenience that crosses the Atlantic from the States to find a purchaser in Britain or the real significance of this invasion might be more appreciated by the people.

But what the importation of manufactured products from the United States failed to do the initial exportation to the United States of the White Star line of steamers has done. It has aroused English pride and English ire. The taking from British control, even though it never amounts to more than that, of this line of steamers is as though Uncle Sam had crossed the ocean and levied upon the English navy for the Royal Sovereign and a few others of the best of England's fighting craft. The White Star line has stood for England's unity; its steamers were the connecting link between the mother country and the world-wide colonies; they carried his majesty's mails; they represented commercial England, and England's rule of the sea.

The two great trans-Atlantic steamers, the Oceanic and the Celtic, are among the queens of the sea, but they are but two in a fleet of 26 steamers that have been Morganized, as it is referred to in England. When the Oceanic was built she was the largest ship afloat, far surpassing the historic Great Eastern The 17,274 tons, 705½ feet length, and 30,000 tons displacement of the former quite eclipsed anything previously attempted in the history of shipbuilding. That leviathan was permitted but a short supremacy, for 18 months later, in July of last yer, the Celtic set forth on her maiden voyage, possessor of all the records, with her 20,904 tons weight, her 14,000 horsepower, her nine decks, and accommodations for 2,859 passengers and over 300 crew. These two monsters opened a new chapter in the story of shipbuilding, and their constructors, the famous Harland and Wolff, were justifiably proud of their work.

THE OCEANIC AND THE CELTIC.

Among the other boats of the line may be mentioned the Teutonic. This vessel was immensely admired at the naval review of 1889, when the German emperor inspected her. That was her first year. She was one of the finest vessels at the Diamond jubilee review in 1897, when, carrying 16 guns, she took her place in the line. The Majestic, which was barely a year younger than the last-named vessel, played a very important part in the transport of English troops to South Africa. The Cymric, built four years ago, was the largest of the transports. The Britannic, which first left the stocks in 1874, and whs the first to place the line ahead in the matter of speed, was the vesesl to convey troops to Australia upon the inauguration by the prince of Wales of the Australian commonwealth. The Afric, the Suevic, the Medic, three of the company's Australian liners, as well as the Delphic, a boat engaged in New Zealand service, all had important shares in the transport of men and horses to the front.

Such is a brief glance at the great English fleet of merchant vessels that have been Morganized, and in England Morganized means Americanized.

Decline in Value of Turkish Rugs.

The manufacture and exportation of rugs form one of the most important features in the industry and commerce of the Ottoman empire. The annual exportation exceeds $1,450,000 and includes about 52,000 pieces.

Of late years, the demand in Europe for rugs of a purely Turkish origin has suffered a marked decline. (It is to be noted that a considerable fraction of the rugs sold by Turkish dealers come originally from Persia.)

This slackening demand has led to an investigation of its causes by those chiefly interested in the trade. The results of this inquiry are summarized in the Turkish journal Ikdam. It is found that the decline is chiefly due to the marked inferiority of the wool now employed in the rug weaving districts. The best grade of wool for this purpose comes from the pastoral regions along the southern half of the frontier between Turkey and Persia. Nearly all of the wool produced in this region is now exported into Persia, and but little finds its way westward into the industrial centers. It is hoped that with the construction of the Bagdad railway, the new transportation facilities will change the current of this important product and render it more accessible to the weavers of Anatolia.

From my own observations, I judge that this falling off in the demand for the rugs of Anatolia and Kurdistan is not due entirely to the quality of the wool employed. Two other factors favor the rug production of Persia in the markets of the west. The first is the more extended use in Turkey of the brilliant but fugitive aniline dyes. In Persia, the less vivid but permanent vegetable coloring matters retain their ancient vogue. Again, the artistic sense seems more highly developed in Persia; at least, there is more conformity to occidental canons of beauty as far as designs and color combinations are concerned. There is no doubt that these three factors are seriously affecting the demand for the products of Turkish looms.

There is an interesting development in the rug industry at Harput, based upon American capital, directed by a native who has been trained in carpet factories in the United States. The labor supply comes from the orphanages founded and supported at this point by American benevolence.

I am glad to note that the dyes used are exclusively of vegetable origin. The establishment seeks to cater chiefly to American tastes, and has received various orders to execute special designs for individuals in the United States.

THOMAS H. NORTON.

River Navigation in German East Africa.

The governor of German East Africa is giving considerable attention to the improvement of the waterways of that province and to the construction of steamers capable of ascending the slight rapids encountered in the streams emptying into the Indian ocean. Already a side-wheel steamer has temporarily been placed in operation on the Rufidjy river, from its mouth to Kungulio, while the upper reaches of that stream, known as the Manga, are being surveyed by the military station of Mahenge. Systematic surveys will also be made of the Wamis river, with a view to furnishing an outlet for the rich agricultural district of Kilossa and for the mining district of the Mugru mountains.

RICHARD GUENTHER.

Swearing a Gift.

Thomas Nelson Page once told this story to illustrate the gift of after-dinner speaking, which gift he said he envied, but did not possess: "An English bishop was traveling in a third-class carriage with an individual who was swearing most tremendously, originally and picturesquely. Finally the bishop said to him: 'My dear sir, where in the world did you learn to swear in that extraordinary manner?' The latter replied: 'It can't be learned, it is a gift.'"

FASHION CHANGES.

Tight Fitting Waists Are Things of the Past.

The tight fitting bodice with many seams is quite a thing of the past, and vests blouses and bodices are almost universally pouched in front and worn with a band or belt. The back is short and invariably tight fitting, and the short waisted back and elongated front created by the fashionable straight front corset are now characteristic of the prevailing fashions.

Sleeves are so varied in style that every taste should be suited. The full, banded sleeve is extensively patronized, and this, too, is arranged with some variation. In soft fabrics the sleeve droops in Turkish fashion and is exceedingly long in the back, but the bishop sleeve has grown smaller and is now simply an almost tight coat sleeve drawn into a wristband. This is the effect, but the cut is simplicity itself.

The cut shows a tailor made costume of navy blue linen dotted in white. The jacket is made with an open Eton front and a fitted back having hip pieces. The sleeves bag at the wrist and show the latest style of cuffs. The skirt is perfectly plain, with a habit back and a single gored flounce. The entire costume is trimmed with bands of stitched taffeta.

The hat is white straw, decorated with black lace and white flowers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY HINTS.

Hats Trimmed Under the Brims. Amateur Milliners.

It is far easier to make a smart little dress at home than to trim a hat. There is no article of a woman's wardrobe so difficult to choose as a hat. It seems hard to give out one's good dollars for a little straw shape trimmed with an apparently simple twist of foulard or velvet when the material costs half the price, but dangers lurk in these simple little hats. It takes a particular skill to make a tailor made bow, and the amateur can more successfully trim even a picture hat.

Those who cannot afford much should be careful not to purchase anything exaggerated, as they are sure to get tired of it, for fashions in millinery change very quickly, and even good models often get vulgarized. The hat for everyday wear should be chosen with the utmost discretion. It should be well made and of lasting qualities, for it will be worn four days out of the seven at least.

In regard to more elaborate hats a great many of them are being trimmed under the brim. Crushed flowers are used for this, together with leaves and dainty buds. Some of the flowers used on hats this year are very charming, and the mixture of fruits and flowers, though often incongruous, is always chic.

The smart French hat in the illustration is of tuscan straw trimmed with upright bands of red ribbon velvet and finished with a bow in the back. Clusters of buds and poppies are placed under the brim.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Elbow Sleeves In Vogue—Pouched Waists.

Elbow sleeves are in great favor, but the long, clinging sleeves of transparent net or lace are too becoming to be ignored by the fashionable.

The lace collar is worn a great deal, and so are cascades and fichu arrangements or collars of lace put on very full and draped on the fronts in same fashion.

Pongee dresses are decorated with openwork embroidery and made over pale blue silk linings. The belt, sleeve rosettes and collar are of pale blue ribbon to match the lining.

OLD ROSE CHAMBRAY.

Materials made up without linings frequently have the waist pouching both back and front. The pouching in the back is merely a trifle, but it gives a careless and rather smart effect which the waist would not have if the thin substance were drawn down plain.

The illustration shows a dainty cotton frock for a child. The material is old rose chambray. The waist has no collar and is ornamented with a deep round yoke of yellow lace run through with narrow black velvet ribbon. The sleeves are very full and terminate below the elbow with a deep frill. They are also threaded with the black velvet ribbon. The skirt has a double effect and is laid in fine plaitings.

The hat is of ecru straw trimmed with rose colored ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DAINTY COSTUMES.

A White Evening Bodice—Popularity of Tea Gowns.

A charming white evening bodice seen in a smart shop recently was of white accordion plaited chiffon with a bolero and elbow sleeves of fine white mousseline de soie embroidered with silk spots in black and white and trimmed with strappings of black velvet ribbon brought down to a point both back and front and secured with tiny diamond studs. The bolero was edged throughout with vandyke applique. The same lace appeared also on the sleeves, which were finished at the elbows with soft frills of white chiffon. In the center of the front there was a rosette bow of black velvet ribbon fastened with four small diamond buttons.

Princess dresses are often made of wide meshed tulle or piece lace covered with a trelliswork of velvet ribbon.

Tea gowns are gaining in popularity, and soon no well dressed woman will be without one of these dainty gowns. The prettiest are made with princess sides and backs and full soft fronts of chiffon.

In the illustration is shown a dainty evening gown of pale blue silk mull. The waist is made with a lace and embroidery bolero, and below this the fullness is laid in shirrings. The sleeves, which fall off the shoulders, are elbow length and terminate in five ruffles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

"She is a shrewd little strategist," was his comment; "but, all the same, she's a mighty pretty girl. I wonder why mother and Gerty haven't called on her?"

He carried the query home with him in the evening, but when he had given an account of Miss Grierson's visit it seemed injudicious to put it. Mrs. Raymer's comment left something to be desired, but her glance across the table in Gertrude's direction was significant.

"The 'regrets' did that," she said; and Gertrude nodded.

Having thus mined the Raymer outworks, Miss Grierson next turned her batteries upon the Farnhams. They were Methodists, and she soon learned that the doctor's hobby was a struggling mission in Norsk Hollow. Accordingly, the paternal check book was again called into requisition, and the stylish trap made an excursion to the doctor's office in Main street.

"Good morning, doctor," she chirped, bursting in upon the elderly hobbyist as a charming embodiment of youthful enthusiasm. "I'm running errands for poppa this morning. Mr. Rodney was telling us about that little mission in Norsk Hollow, and poppa is very anxious to be allowed to help. But we are not Methodists, you know, and he was afraid—that is, he didn't know how you might—"

It was an exceedingly clever bit of acting, and the good doctor capitulated at once, discrediting for the first time in his life the intuition of his womankind.

"It was very thoughtful and good-hearted of you, Miss Margery," he said; "the more so as you must have a great many calls upon your charity. We have been wanting to put a trained worker in charge of the mission, and this good deed of yours makes it possible."

"It is a kindness to us to be allowed to help, I'm sure," murmured the little lady. "You will let me know when more is needed? Promise me that, doctor."

"I shouldn't be a good Methodist if I didn't," laughed the doctor. Then he remembered the housewarming, and was moved to make amends for the regrets. "I'm sorry we couldn't be neighborly the other evening, but my sister is very frail, and Charlotte doesn't go out much. But they will call before they go south for the winter."

But for some reason the doctor's vicarious promise was not kept, and the Farnhams held aloof, notwithstanding Margery's praiseworthy activity in St. John's; and the Oswalds relinquished the public library project when it became noised about that Jasper Grierson and his daughter were moving in it. Margery possessed her soul in patience, and was placably persistent; but when the winter wore away and spring came and found the conservative opposition increasing rather than diminishing, she grew vindictive, as who would not.

"They think I'm a jay!" she said to herself one day, when the Raymers, mother and daughter, had apparently taken pains to avoid her at the corners in Thornwalden's. "They need a lesson, and they're in a fair way to get it. I'm not going to sing small all the time!"

The next afternoon she met Raymer as he was coming out of the First national bank. They were fairly good friends by this time, and the young man stopped willingly enough to exchange commonplaces with the president's daughter. In the midst of them she astonished him.

"Mr. Raymer, please tell me what I have done to offend your mother and sister," she said, abruptly; and half of the deferred payment of triumph was discharged on the spot by Raymer's blundering attempts at disavowal.

"Why, Miss Margery! I don't know—that is—er—you really must be mistaken!"

"I'm not, and I'd like to know," she persisted, looking him hardily in the eyes. "I am sure it must be something I have been doing, and if I can find out what it is I'll reform."

Raymer got away as quickly as he could; and when the opportunity offered was besotted enough to repeat the question to his mother and Gertrude.

Mrs. Raymer smiled. "The mere fact of her having said such a thing to you ought to be a sufficient answer, I should think."

"I don't see why," Raymer objected.

"What would you think if Gertrude did such a thing?"

"Oh, well; that is different. In the first place Gerty wouldn't do it; and—"

"Precisely. And Miss Grierson shouldn't have done it. But if you really want to know why we haven't cultivated her I can tell you. There are a few of us who think she wouldn't be a pleasant person to know socially."

"But why?" insisted the obtuse one. It was his sister who undertook to make it plain to him.

"It isn't anything she does, or doesn't do, particularly; it is the atmosphere in which she moves. If it wasn't for her father's money she would be—well, it is rather hard to say just what she would be. But she always makes one think of the bonanza people—the pick and shovel one day and a million the next. I believe she is a frank little savage at heart."

"I don't," said Raymer, doggedly. "She may be a bit new and fresh for Wahaska, but she is clever and bright, and honest enough to ignore a social code which makes a virtue of hypocrisy. There isn't one young woman in a thousand who would have had the courage to do it."

"Or the impudence," added Mrs. Raymer, when her son had left the room. "I do hope Edward isn't going to let that girl come between him and Charlotte."

Gertrude laughed. "I should say there was room for a regiment to march between them as it is. Charlotte has been home a week now, and he hasn't been over yet."

"But he is going over to dinner with us to-morrow," amended Mrs. Raymer, complacently. "He promised me yesterday."

Gertrude was arranging the centerpiece for the dinner table, and when she spoke again it was of another matter.

"Did you know Mrs. Holcomb has found a boarder at last?"

"No; who is he?"

"A young man who has been sick at the St. James for two or three weeks. He is from New York, I believe she said; but she didn't have time to find out much about him. He had a relapse last night; and today, when she sent for Dr. Farnham, he was delirious."

"Dear me! That will be hard for Martha. What is his name?"

"Kenneth Griswold. She says he is an author, but I don't recall the name in any of our reading."

"Nor I," said Mrs. Raymer. "Poor Martha! We must go over and see if there is anything we can do."

ORIGIN OF BICYCLE-DIVING.

Feat First Performed by a Roman Youth on the Banks of the River Tiber.

The idea of diving on a bicycle originated with a bright and clever Roman youth of 22, named Umberto Diamanti a feat which called for nerve and daring of a high order, together with the ability of a powerful and rapid swimmer. The idea was to ride along the top of the artificial embankment of the Tiber and plunge into the river beyond. The diver must retain control over the machine, not only after leaving terra firma and plunging dizzily into midair, but also during the awful and breath-catching descent to the surface of the water. After sinking deep down with the machine, he must swim to land with it—a most awkward and even dangerous "rescue" to effect when beyond one's depth. Thus it may be seen that the contest was one which called for more than the average amount of physical endurance, as well as for a steady head and unshaken nerve, says Pearson's Magazine.

A very interesting contest was arranged between young Diamanti as a cyclist and his rival, Borghi, on foot. This weird and extremely novel race was easily won by the iron-nerved cyclist, both as regards time and clean jumping.

There was tremendous excitement just before the race came off, and dense crowds lined the high embankment that skirts the Tiber. The excitement was quite at fever heat when the order was given—"Go!" and both cyclist and foot runner started off at a terrific pace. It seemed hardly possible that any sane man could deliberately ride a bicycle over so appaling a precipice; but, what is much more remarkable, Sig. Diamanti not only did this, but actually retained his presence of mind throughout the entire descent through the air as well as on striking the water, and even beneath the surface, for he brought his troublesome mount to land with little or no exertion, amid the frantic applause of the spectators.

EDIBLE PETROLEUM.

Salad Oil Butter and Cooking Oil Are Being Worked Upon at the Present Time.

Cottonseed oil, corn oil and linseed oil, there is good reason to believe, will probably have a rival at a not distant day in edible petroleum oil. Recently the editor of the National Provisioner was asked this question: "What is the difference in edible oils?" The question suggests the reasons for present experiments. "As a matter of fact," declares our contemporary, "petroleum has been successfully desulphurized and demineralized. Certain other solids and ingredients have been extracted from it, and the production of a fairly good edible oil has already been produced. The cost of this evolution, however, has as yet been so great as to remove the product from the field of competition and utility. Petroleum stock has, it is claimed in a well-informed quarter, already taken its place as a soap grease. Why not? It has always been a good hand and sore wash, and it is healthful. It may cause a sense of nausea to think of petroleum salad oil, petroleum butter and petroleum cooking oil, but such things are being worked upon right now. Their names will be changed for commerce. Science is vivisecting them."

A CHESS-PLAYING TOWN.

One of the Requirements of Every Inhabitant of a Village in Hungary.

There is in Hungary a village probably unique among the world's towns, in that it not only encourages chess as a pastime, but insists that the king of games shall be played by every man, woman and child in the place.

It is just as necessary in this out-of-the-world spot for the inhabitants to be proficient chess players as it is for them to be able to read, write and cipher. Prizes are given to the school children for proficiency in chesse. Problems are given to the scholars that they are expected to take home and work out in their spare hours in addition to their other tasks.

Hungary has long been famous for her chess players. Indeed, this little village has, as can be well understood, turned out more than one player who has been considered fit to rank with such giants as Lasker, Steinitz or Tchigorin.

Every Christmas a great tournament is held in the village, and the burgomaster gives prizes for the best juvenile and adult players.

The Risk of Ballooning.

Considering the risks aeronauts necessarily take every time they make an ascent the science or sport or trade (for it partakes of all three) is extraordinarily free from fatal accidents, says the London Chronicle. Mr. Charles Green, who made over 600 trips, died at the age of 84 in 1870. Twenty years later M. Eugene Godard, who had made quite 2,000 ascents, died in his bed. On the other hand, among British balloonists, Capt. Dale was killed before he had completed 200, and Capt. Whelan also, in 1892, met his death in his three hundred and fifteenth ascent. Mr. Percival Spencer, our most noted living English aeronaut, has probably beaten all these records, and has in addition made parachute descents on all the continents and in most of the seas surrounding them.

Swedes Are Healthy.

Sweden's last census records the lowest death rate yet attained by a civilized nation. During the last ten years it only averaged 16.49 per 1,000.

GOOD JOB FOR NAST.

Cartoonist Now Is Consul General at Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Although Born Abroad He Is an American of the Highest Type—The Father of Pictorial Art in Weekly Journalism.

Thomas Nast, the veteran cartoonist, is again prominently before the public, having recently been appointed consul general to Guayaquil, Ecuador. Nast was born in Landaff, Bavaria, in 1840. His father was a musician of ability, and held a position in the Bavarian army; but in '46, having received a timely warning of the approach of the revolution which later swept over Europe, he emigrated to America, where he became a member of the famous Philharmonic society of New York city. The son, Thomas, was educated in the public schools of that city, and early displayed marked artistic ability. After a few months of study under Theodore Kauffman, he began to furnish sketches of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, which accepted and appreciated his work from the first. Before he was 20 years of age the New York Illustrated News sent him to England to sketch the great international prize fight between Heenan and Sayers. Soon after that memorable affair, Mr. Nast went to Italy and joined the army of Garibaldi, and served throughout the victorious campaign in Sicily and Calabria. During this time he contributed numerous "battle pictures" to the illustrated press of New York, London and Paris, and as an aide on Gen. Garibaldi's staff he was entrusted with several diplomatic missions of importance.

Returning to the United States in 1861 with an experience and training enjoyed by no other American artist, he was well equipped to prove himself a factor in the stirring days of the civil war. He was connected with Harper's Weekly, and his work in that periodical soon placed it among the foremost journals of the day. Mr. Nast espoused the cause of the union, and it is said that President Lincoln once remarked that Mr. Nast's pictures were the best recruiting sergeants on the side of the north.

THOMAS NAST.
(First to Realize Power of Pictorial Art in Journalism.)

It was, however, during the reconstruction period, after the close of the war, that Mr. Nast did his most memorable and historic work. In the campaign against William M. Tweed and the political rings which had control of the various departments of the New York city government, his humorous cartoons exposing these frauds and corruptions so influenced public opinion that investigation was ordered and the rings were broken up. Tweed once remarked that he cared little for the published stories of his shortcomings, but he would admit that he was much afraid of Tom Nast's graphic pencil. Nast's colored caricatures of well-known men in the "Bal d'Opera" show strikingly his ability to portray the individuality of a subject by caricaturing some characteristic pose or peculiarity of apparel, never leaving a doubt as to the identity of the object of his satire. His work in this direction was one of the pioneer efforts in the substitution of the topical cartoon for the "leader" of the old-fashioned newspaper. Comparatively few would read and appreciate the former, but the latter appealed to all classes. Many symbols which are the common stock of present-day cartoonists were originated by Nast, notably the American tiger for Tammany, the republican G. O. P. elephant, the democratic donkey, and the inflationist rag baby. As a painter he has also attained signal success, and for beauty of execution and conception he ranks high in American art. His largest painting is called the "Departure of the Seventh Regiment," and hangs in the regimental armory in New York.

Mr. Nast has made several successful lecture tours, and all of his entertaining and witty talks were accompanied with off-hand sketches and caricatures in colored crayons. Some of his best efforts in the latter line were published in a weekly paper which he started in '92, and called Nast's Weekly.

It was Thomas Nast who first realized the power of pictorial art in journalism, and his signal development of its possibilities made him famous.

Case for Hague Court.

The international court of arbitration has been notified of the conclusion of an agreement between the United States and Mexico to submit to the court the dispute regarding the payment of damages in connection with certain church property in California. If this convention is ratified it will be the first case to come before the court.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Little Eagles defeated the West End Field Club yesterday morning by the score of 22 to 15. Donald Nugent played a star game for the Little Eagles.

The St. Marys are a good team but they are evidently not in the same class with the Pearsalls, whom they went up against Saturday afternoon. Eleven runs in three innings is pretty fast playing and it is said the Jersey City boys didn't exert themselves either.

Rapid Transit Booth's services as pitcher have been much in demand since he was released by the Safe Works. Friday afternoon he twirled for the Hopes and Saturday he was in the box for Scotch Plains. He has also been engaged by several other local teams for games within the near future and there is a possibility that he may be retained by one of them.

"Teddy" Shortman, who has been covering third for the Hopes, has been transferred to shortstop, exchanging places with Captain Martin. This puts both in their old positions and will in all probability be the way they will remain until the close of the season. A new first baseman will also be seen on the Hopes, Saturday, as Gus Feiring has withdrawn for a few weeks.

Considerable annoyance was caused both spectators and the Y. M. A. management at the last Hope-Y. M. C. A. game, on the Hope grounds, by the sudden raise in the price of grandstand seats from fifteen to twenty cents. Most of the objections were aimed at the Hope officials, but they were entirely blameless in the matter. The grounds were rented for the day to the Y. M. C. A. management and it was they who ordered the increase, as it was what they received for grandstand seats on Pittis Field, which they formerly controlled. The Hopes had always been charging fifteen cents and they have informed all teams which have engaged the grounds for future games that nothing beyond this will be allowed, else all contracts will be declared void. On the St. Mary grounds the established rate has always been twenty cents for the grandstand.

ROD AND GUN.

The well-known sporting paper "Field and Fancy," in speaking about the annual tournament of the New York State Sportsmen's Association for the Protection of Fish and Game, held at Rochester, gives Neaf Apgar, a former Plainfielder, the following complimentary notice:

"The Peters Cartridge Company scored another brilliant victory at the forty-fourth annual tournament of the New York State Sportsmen's Association for the Protection of Fish and Game, which was held under the auspices of the Rochester Gun Club, Rochester, N. Y., June 9 to 13 inclusive.

"In the open events lasting three days the grand average was won by Neaf Apgar, who scored 495 out of a possible 525 targets. He shot Peters Ideal factory loaded shells, and to demonstrate the excellence of this shell for the various smokeless powders he used in different events King's, Dupont, Hazard, E. C. & Schultze, making a very impressive demonstration of the adaptability of this shell to the various powders, and substantiating the claims of the manufacturers that all powders shoot well in the Ideal Shell.

WEDDED LAST SEPTEMBER.

Miss Mertie Randolph and Frank Kellogg Have Just Announced It.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mertie M. Randolph, of Park avenue, to Frank Kellogg, son of E. P. Kellogg, of Mt. Pleasant, which was celebrated at Manch Chunk, Pa., September 2, 1901. The couple is well known in this city and vicinity and the announcement came as a great surprise to all, even the parents of the bride and groom, who did not know of the event. The bride is a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church and quite active in the various lines of work there.

MORE NEW PLAYERS.

Presented at Meeting of City Baseball League Executive Committee.

At the regular meeting of the City League executive committee, held last evening, the following names of new players were presented: By Hope, William Rushmore; by St. Mary, Michael Crotty. Patrick Melvin was added to the list of umpires and with J. B. Young will officiate at the Hope-St. Mary game Saturday. The Safe Works-Y. M. C. A. game will be umpired by Brown and Townley.

TWO INVITATIONS.

Exempt Firemen's Association Accepted Them Both Last Evening.

The Exempt Firemen's Association transacted a great amount of business at the regular meeting, held last evening. Two invitations were received, both requesting the presence of the firemen at different affairs, and both were accepted. One was from the Y. M. C. A. to attend sergire in the hall, Sunday afternoon, and the other from the Exempt Firemen's Benevolent Fund Association of Wards 23 and 24, New York to take part in a parade and games afterward at Morisania Park, Labor Day.

Reports of the recent Exempts convention at Trenton were read by Secretary Thorn and the association was presented with a portrait of the Hawley, Pa., fire department and a piece of metal from the cannon which exploded at the North Avenue depot, killing Henry Jennings, of Gazelle Engine Company. The meeting adourned until October.

CAME OF AGE.

Friends Remembered the Occasion With a Surprise Party.

In honor of his twenty-first birthday, Wm. Skinner, of West Third street, was given a complete and enenjoyable surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, of South Secend street, last evening. Refreshments were served at midnight. The young man was presented with an array of presents.

Light Attack.

Arthur Martin, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, of Duer street, has a very light attack of scarletina, which has necessitated the establishment of quarantine at the home. Mr. Martin for the present is stopping with his sister, Mrs. Charles Steiner, of Jackson avenue. The lad is not ill enough to be in bed, but to be on the safe side the home is quarantined.

MORE ROOM IN IRVING SCHOOL

Plainfield Board of Education Has Leased Other Quarters to Relieve Overcrowding.

THE OTHER BUSINESS.

Engaged Sunday-School Rooms of Monroe Avenue Church for Accommodation of Classes—Increase in Surplus—Various Repairs Recommended in the Schools.

Ample provision to alleviate the congested condition of the Irving School for a long time to come, was probably the most important matter of business transacted at last evening's meeting of the Board of Education. By the unanimous vote of the members the Monroe Avenue church Sunday-school rooms were engaged for the purpose at an annual rental of $500. The newly acquired building will house many pupils and will allow of many improvements to be established in the school building proper.

In the way of routine business nothing of any importance was transacted. The yearly report of the custodian of school moneys was presented and it showed a highly gratifying state of affairs in regard to the treasury. The board has on hand $11,000 more than the same time last year, the surplus being gained by practicing rigid economy in all departments. The full report was ordered published in the daily papers.

For the month the custodian showed a balance on hand of $2,283.82 and Tax Collector Smith reported receiving $3,251.59. During the month of June forty-two pupils were examined by the medical inspectors. The latter, Drs. T. H. Tomlinson and A. F. VanHorn, were appointed for another year at the present salary. The committee on rules and regulations presented its report and it was ordered printed to the number of 300 copies.

Through Chairman Abbott, the committee on buildings presented its report and recommended repairs to the various schools to cost in all about $1,654.50. Among some of the improvements asked for was the establishment of cesspools at the Whittier building, a new flag pole in the yard of the High School, drinking fountains and a cesspool at the Irving and the installation of new furnaces at several of the buildings. The Wadsworth school was reported to be in very bad condition and the committee recommended that it be disposed of as soon as possible. The report was accepted entire and the clerk was instructed to ask for bids to have the necessary work accomplished before the fall session.

The Plainfield Electric Light Company was granted permission to erect three poles on the edge of the sidewalk surrounding the Wadsworth property with the proviso that they were to be removed whenever the board so desired. The Whittier school lease was also renewed on the condition that the Seventh-Day Baptist trustees have certain repairs made. The annual rental is $500.

In regard to the Monroe Avenue church lease, it was specified that the rental should include heating, playground, coat room and other accessories. The building was taken for one year with the express understanding that the board should have the privilege of as many more as it desired. In connection with the lease the question of an assistant janitor for the Irving school was discussed but this was left over until the proper committee investigates the matter more fully. It is desired by some of the members to have a woman assistant as she can take of the Monroe part and also help out at Irving.

Home From East Indies.

Hugh McGauley, of this city, returned home last evening after being one of Uncle Sam's men in the Philippines for the past three years. He was a member of the Nineteenth New York Volunteers. After remaining in town a few days he expects to take a permanent position in New York.

Vacations for Police.

The members of the local police force have commenced taking their annual vacations. According to a draw Patrolman Overbaugh will be the first to go. His ten days will be spent at various points of interest, including a stay at Paxinosa Inn, Easton, Pa.

NELSON RUNYON WILL ACT.

Given Out at Corporation Counsel's Office That He Will Continue.

On inquiry at Craig A. Marsh's office as to who represented Mr. Marsh as corporation counsel during his absence it was learned that Former Judge Nelson Runyon would act for Mr. Marsh as usual while Mr. Marsh is abroad. Mr. Marsh's brother said that he was very much surprised that there should be any doubt about it as Judge Runyon has acted for Mr. Marsh in that capacity for the past ten years while Mr. Marsh has been on his vacation.

LITTLE BUSINESS.

Monthly Meeting of the Somerset County Freeholders Was a Very Tame Affair.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 9 — The regular monthly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, held in the Court House here yesterday, was a very tame affair. Very little business was done.

The Somerset Lighting Company was given permission to lay its pipes on Union avenue, between this place and Bound Brook.

Engineer Doughty and Supervisor Taggart reported the progress of the work on the Skillman county road.

A party of people appeared for the purpose of stirring up the board about a petition for a stone road in the vicinity of Davidson's lane. This petition had been filed five years ago, but the board did not take any action in the matter.

A meeting will be held at Hub Hollow Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The County Collector was authorized to borrow $25,000.

EVERY FACILITY.

The First National Bank is Well Equipped to Do Banking Business.

The First National Bank is now equipped with every facility for the transaction of banking business and has every accommodation consistent with good banking rules to offer customers. It transacts a general banking and collection business, has a foreign exchange with letters of credit available in all parts of the world and allows interest at the rate of two per cent. on current accounts of $1,000 and over. Of all interest bearing accounts, the interest will be computed on daily balances for the actual time the money is on deposit and credited to the account every six months.

CHURCH PICNIC.

Members of St. Peter's German Lutheran Spend Tomorrow on Mountain.

The members of St. Peter's German Lutheran church will picnic all day tomorrow at Mrs. Koch's park at Watchung. All friends of the members are also invited to attend. The park is reached by the Somerset street trolley and stages from the terminus. Richard Warneck and a committee will be in charge during the day and plans have been made to entertain a large crowd.

First Chance.

This is ideal weather to be at the seashore where ocean breezes help to make life worth the living. The first opportunity of the season will be given tomorrow to Plainfielders to spend a day at the seashore. The First Baptist church Sunday-schools have arranged for a delightful time at Asbury Park. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and returning leave Asbury Park at 6:40 o'clock tomorrow evening. As many as possible should plan to go on this first excursion to the popular seaside resort.

Death of Mrs. Loftus.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 9.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Loftus, seventy years of age, was held here yesterday in the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. Father Bogaard officiating. She died at the home of her son, John Loftus, from heart disease. Mrs. Loftus was formerly a resident of Plainfield and the remains were taken there for burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

Dinner to Typewriter Men.

The representatives of the American Writing Machine Company, of New York, were given a dinner last evening at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Among those present to enjoy the festive occasion was James A. Stafford, of this city, the hustling representative for this part of New Jersey.

Gathering of Knights of Columbus.

About thirty members of Watchung Council, K. C., accompanied by their wives, went over to Riverside Park Monday evening, where there was a social gathering of knights from different parts of New Jersey. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

WHEN THE EXCURSIONS GO TO ASBURY PARK

Dates for Day's Outings at the Favorite Shore Resort of Most Plainfield People.

LAST WEEK WAS LIVELY.

FOURTH OF JULY SAW A HUGE CROWD AT THE PARK AND THE GROVE.

Governor Murphy Visited the Park Twice Last Week—New Contract for Music—Full List of Excursions on the Jersey Central.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 9—There has been another week of prosperity for this section of the seacoast; fairly typical of a Fourth of July week, although the holiday comes rather late this year in the seven days. All the hotels were well filled, and most of the attractions were kept busy. Governor Franklin Murphy came here Monday of last week and assisted in the inauguration of the First Methodist church bazaar. The Governor made a speech and was heartily received. The Governor's presence proved a big card, for over $400 was cleared by the church for that evening alone. The bazaar continued all the week.

The Governor came back to the shore again Friday and presided at the Fourth of July exercises in the Ocean Grove Auditorium. The oration of the day there was delivered by Congressman R. Wayne Parker. It was the thirty-second time that Ocean Grove had celebrated Independence Day.

A triangular plot of the bench has been fenced off in the corner formed by the Asbury avenue pavillion and the board walk, for the use of James J. Taylor, the sand artist. The fence has the sand banked against it, and on this Artist Taylor gave his first exhibition Tuesday. As usual, a prize of $250 has been offered to the artist who can excel Mr. Taylor.

Early last week there was some doubt expressed whether the fishing yacht Emma B. would be here this summer, but Wednesday morning sunrise disclosed her at anchor off Asbury avenue. She has been repainted and otherwise improved. She made her first trip Thursday.

The contract with Ander's band for the summer music was approved last week. It had already been executed. It provides that the band shall be permitted to be away for the week of July 12—19, when it has to be with the First Pennsylvania brigade in summer encampment.

The excursions which came here last week over the Central Railroad were as follows: Wednesday, Park church, Newark (two sections); Friday, Epworth League, Newark, and Hudson County Christian Endeavor, Jersey City; Saturday, half holiday, Newark, and DeGroot M. E. church, Newark. The list of Central excursions for the summer is as follows:

July 7, Garfield Post, Newark; July 8, Ladies' Catholic Lodge, Newark, and Bayonne Forty-ninth Street Sunday-school; July 9, First Presbyterian, Newark; July 10, Baptist church, Plainfield, and Newark M. E. church; July 12, Bee Hive Association, Newark; July 17, Trinity Reformed church, Plainfield; Westfield Sunday-schools and Cranford Presbyterian church; July 22, Newark Y. M. C. A. (two sections); July 24, Plainfield Presbyterian church; July 25, Somerville Reformed church; July 26, Chorus of St. Elijah at Ocean Grove, from New York city; July 30, Plainfield M. E. Sunday-school, Elizabethport Y. M. C. A., Newark Washington Temple of Honor, Newark German Presbyterian churches; August 2, Clark's O. N. T., Newark; August 5, Westfield Presbyterian Sunday-schools (two sections); August 6, Elizabeth Orphan Asylum, Irvington Sunday-schools; August 7, Somerville Second Reformed church, Plainfield Crescent Avenue church; August 14, Newark united churches (two sections); August 16, Plainfield Hope chapel; August 19, conductors' excursion; August 20, Newark Y. M. C. A.; August 21, Jr. O. U. A. M. of Newark and Plainfield (two sections); August 26, Perth Amboy M. E. Sunday-school; August 27, Keyport M. E. Sunday-school (two sections); August 28, Plainfield Warren chapel; September 1, Newark A. O. U. W. (two sections).

A half holiday excursion will be run every Saturday from Newark until August 30. There will also be numerous excursions over the Penn-

LEWIS THOMAS IS ALIVE

LETTER JUST RECEIVED FROM HIM WRITTEN IN JAPAN.

He Left Philippines Four Days Before the Other Thomas is Reported to Have Disappered.

Friends of Lewis S. Thomas, formerly of this city, but lately a Government school teacher in the Philippines, are gratified to learn that he is alive and well and not murdered as supposed. This news was received by his old chum, Robert Craig, of Dunellen, in a letter Monday evening. The letter was dated Nagasaki, Japan, June 13, and states that Mr. Thomas has been in the latter place since June 10.

Mr. Thomas says that he left the Philippines on June 6, which was four days before the disappearance of the other school teacher Thomas, who is believed to have been murdered. Judging by the letter Mr. Thomas has had no intimation of the newspapers reports of himself for he makes no reference to them at all.

He says that in company with two other teachers he sailed on a Japanese collier for Japan on June 6. They were four days in reaching Nagasaki. He is much pleased with what he has seen of Japan and evidently has no desire to return to the United States. He will undoubtedly resume teaching next year.

Mr. Thomas has corresponded with Mr. Craig ever since he left home and this last letter telling of his safety brings great relief to his many acquaintances in Plainfield and vicinity.

BOTH WANT FARM.

Mrs. H. Smith Will Try to Eject the Tenant on the Ground That No Rent Has Been Paid.

A summons has been issued in a landlord and tenant case by Mrs. H. Smith against one Sweinfurth for the possession of a farm in Warrenville. The case will be called before Justice Smalley at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, W. G. DeMeza appearing for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Smith, alleges that the defendant, Sweinfurth, leased from her for the period of three years the farm on which he has been located for the past six months, and up to the present has refused to pay one dollar of rent as compensation for the same. Whatever Mr. Sweinfurth's defence may be the fact is that he remains on the farm and refuses to be ejected. The case promises to be an interesting one.

COULDN'T USE BACK WAY.

That Was Reason Captain Hand Gave for Not Moving Goods.

Through his counsel, George Ball, of this city, Captain William Hand secured a verdict in his favor in Justice Harbison's Westfield court, Monday, in the suit brought against him by Theodore Miller, of Westfield.

The plaintiff sued for $200 damages which loss he suffered, he claimed, through Captain Hand's men refusing to move his household goods at a time agreed upon. Counsellor Ball brought proof that Miller objected to the men using the front door of his home to carry the goods out and ordered them to go around back which they could not do owing to a narrow driveway.

Dimensions of the driveway prepared by a surveyor were shown in court and one of the vans used by the defendant was brought to the court room door where it could be seen by the jury. The defendant also filed an offset for $20 and the jury allowed him $10.30. Miller was non-suited.

It was one of the mostly hotly contested trials that has ever taken place before Justice Harbison and required a whole day. Counsellor W. S. Angleman, of this city, represented Miller.

Had a Charge There.

Rev. Dr. Pogson, who will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church next Sunday, is not pastor of the New Brunswick Baptist church, as stated. He formerly held that charge, but now represents the Old Ministers' Home for Baptists. He lives in New Brunswick.

Changes in Choir.

At the First Presbyterian church, Sunday, Frank McDonald presided at the organ in place of Clifford Braider, the regular organist, and Morris C. VanArsdale and Ralph K. Miner sang in the place of Elmer D. Cutting and Sydney R. Titsworth, who were out of town.

Back to Old Quarters.

The W. C. T. U. will take possession of its old rooms in the Babcock building tomorrow afternoon for the first time since the fire. The room has been put in the best of condition and meetings will be held regularly.

COUNTY CLERK SOMERS PLAYED THE HOST

Annual Dinner to Members of Somerset County Freeholders and Other Officials.

GIVEN AT HIS HOME.

ANNUAL EVENT PROVED AS GREAT A SUCCESS AS PREVIOUS ONES.

Counsel John W. Frech Made a Speech in Behalf of the Visitors—Those Who Enjoyed the Hospitality of the Host and Hostess.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 9—County Clerk and Mrs. Frank W. Somers entertained the members of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders and other Somerset county officials at their home yesterday afternoon. Mr. Somers is making this an annual event and it is a great source of pleasure to those who are lucky enough to enjoy it. The home was lavishly decorated with flowers and in every detail the affair was an enjoyable one.

Under the skillful management of Mrs. Somers the following menu was served:

Little neck clams on half shell
Turtle soup
Fillet of beef
Soft shell crabs
Broiled spring chicken
Mashed potatoes Baked tomatoes
Green peas, cold slaw, celery, olives,
Plum pudding, brandy sauce, cake, fruit, nuts
Coffee, cheese.

During the dinner nineteen selections were given on a gramaphone, some being dedicated to members of the board. Each guest received a handsome bouquet of flowers and as a souvenir in the shape of a large framed photograph of the host and hostess.

John W. Frech, counsel of the board, made a short speech on behalf of the members, thanking the host and hostess for the entertainment and stating that it was no political gathering, but one of both parties to participate in a feast given by Mr. Somers, better known as "Frank," who is a Republican to both Democrats and Republicans. The genial John said that if he and the county engineer, Eugene Doughty, Jr., who are not married, could find women who could manage and cook such a meal as they had enjoyed, they would get married. Following other speeches, three rousing cheers were given to the host and hostess.

The guests were Freeholders—Director William J. Logan, Andrew Lutkins, Richard W. Hoagland, Eugene V. Cruser, Edward B. Hoagland, David Philhower, Thomas B Gibson, Joel Codington, Augustus Mobus, John A. Whitenack, Jr., Oliver H. Perry. Clerk of the Board A. P. Sutphen, Counsel John A. Frech, County Engineer Joshua Doughty, Jr., County Physician Dr. S. O. B. Taylor, William Wright, Otto Lauber and J. C. Somers.

COL. COLLINS NOW.

New Commander Was Chosen for the Second Regiment, at Trenton, Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 9—Lieutenant-Colonel D. F. Collins was elevated last night to the colonelcy of the second regiment, succeeding Brigadier-General Gilmore. Major Joseph F. Cline, of Burlington, was made lieutenant-colonel; Captain Horace M. Reading, of Lambertville, was raised to a major, and Captain John M. Rogers, of this city, chosen regimenal adjutant. Owing to General Gilmore's absence at Saranac Lake, N. Y., Assistant Adjutant-General Gilkyson presided.

Invited to Atlantic City.

Warren Engine Company has received an invitation from an Atlantic City fire company to take part in a parade and celebration at that place at the time of the convention in September. The communication having been received since the last regular meeting of the company no action has yet been taken on the matter.

How to Keep Cool.

If you want to forget your troubles these warm sultry days it is only necessary to take one of those delightful Turkish baths at Dr. Cooley's place on Somerset street. They are refreshing and cooling.

MARIONS BIG TIME.

Perth Amboy's Baseball Team Will Conduct Athletic Tournament.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, July 9—The Marion Baseball Club will run an athletic tournament Saturday, when the Millburns will be the opposing team in the usual game of ball. Terry Mc Govern will umpire the game and then box three rounds with his brother, Hugh McGovern. John Oliver will run 100 yards against time, and Hans P. Hansen, the Danish wrestler, will give an exhibition bout with one of his wrestling partners.

FEARED FIRE.

So the Mouse Took Refuge Under Coat of Fireman Manning at Monday Evening's Fire.

The saying that "in times of fear men and beasts fly together for protection" was exemplified at the Tharp fire Monday evening. While Howard Manning, of No. 3 hose company, was working his way through the thick smoke of the barn, he felt a peculiar sensation about his left shoulder. He brushed the spot several times but to no purpose and thinking it was due to something in his rubber coat he withdrew from the scene to investigate. With Patrolman Vanderweg's assistance he shed the coat and found a large lump beneath his small coat. This too, was removed and clinging fast to his shirt he found a terribly frightened little mouse that had flown to him for succor. The little rodent made no attempt to get away and Manning placed it in his pocket for safe keeping. It had evidently leaped on Manning's clothing in a moment of terror and had luckily discovered the unique hiding place.

LOST TWO FINGERS.

When Robert Horn Dropped a Casting He Forgot to Remove Fingers.

While at work in the Pond Tool Works, yesterday, Robert Horn, of South Plainfield, met with a peculiar accident which may cost him the loss of two fingers, one on each hand. The lad is only seventeen years of age and was trying, unaided, to lift a heavy casting from the floor. He raised it a short distance and then found it too heavy and let it drop but forgot to remove his hands. Several fingers were badly crushed but at Muhlenberg Hospital where he went for treatment, the physicians hope to save them all but two.

HARGRAVES' CIRCUS.

Is Expected in Plainfield Tomorrow and Friday.

Hargraves' circus will arrive in this city tomorrow and pitch tents on the grounds at Fourth street and Spooner avenue. It will remain two days, Thursday and Friday, and in that time four performances will be given. This show enjoys the distinction of being one of the best popular priced organizations giving an entertainment under canvas. The bill includes funny clowns, daring trapeze and bareback riders, supple acrobats and Professor Fred Locke's wonderful trained Arabian horses and Shetland ponies.

Final Act of Consolidation.

Friday evening the final act of consolidation of Paughcaughnaughsinque and Miantonomo Tribes, Improved Order Red Men, will be consummated by Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn, who has been authorized to act as Great Sachem on that occasion.

Ready for School.

The North Plainfield High School is being interiorly renovated in preparation for next season's work. The walls are being revarnished, the floors oiled and the blackboards repainted. The work is being done by Richard McDonald, the janitor.

Foundations for Tanks.

Wm. Hand & Son have just completed erecting brick foundations beneath three large tanks at the rear of the electric light works on Second street. The tanks are of iron, 15 to 20 feet high, and the largest is about 9 feet in diameter.

For Husband's Birthday.

Mrs. Thomas Gough, of Prospect place, gave a party Monday evening in honor of her husband's birthday. A large number of young people attended and a most pleasant evening was spent in a social way.

Business Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a regular business meeting Friday evening, after which the devotional service will be held. The subject will be "The Father's Cure."

In Justice Hand's Court.

A suit on contract has been instituted in Justice Hand's court by Mrs. M. D. Hunt against Mrs. E. Wright. The hearing is set down for Monday at 2 o'clock. W. G. DeMeza appears for the plaintiff.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR THIS CITY

Survey Being Made for Big Iron Works and Machine Shop, Near Evona.

EMPLOYS MANY MEN.

A Philadelphia Concern Has Purchased Tract of Land Between West Front Street and Railroad, Just West of Evona Station—Engineers are Surveying Plot.

The West End is in luck. Another tremendous boom is in sight for that section of the city. Engineers may have been noticed for the last two days engaged on a survey on that strip on West Front street, running west from Clinton avenue station parallel with the Jersey Central Railroad tracks.

It has leaked out that a large Philadelphia concern, one of the most prominent industrials in the east, has quietly but successfully negotiated for the purchase of the property and will erect thereon a massive machine shop, a large brick structure, the main building of which will cover an area of 40,000 feet.

The company concerned is the Pederick & Ayer Company of Philadelphia. The Jersey Central Railroad Company is interested in the deal, the land having been purchased from the Central Land Improvement Company.

The new concern will give employment, it is understood from authoritative sources, to 800 men or thereabouts, the majority of whom will be skilled mechanics. Work on the construction will be commenced as soon as the survey is completed if no hitch occurs.

Much secrecy has been maintained about the location of the company in Plainfield. The property negotiations were carried on in the quietest manner. No permit for the new building has yet been filed with the building inspector.

LACK OF EVIDENCE.

Case Against George Jones Was Dismissed by Justice Nash.

The case of George Washington against George Jones, on a serious charge, was called before Justice Nash, yesterday afternoon, but was dismissed for lack of evidence. The plaintiff was not represented by counsel, but Assemblyman William Newcorn appeared for the defendant, while Lawyer Francis J. Blatz represented Mrs. George Washington. Several witnesses were called, but the evidence was considered worthless by Justice Nash and he dismissed the case. Jones declares he is entirely innocent.

Concert at Watchung's Chapel.

The Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel at Watchung was filled with an appreciative audience last evening, when Martin Korff's orchestra of twelve pieces from this city presented an attractive programme of ten selections. The musicale was given for the coal fund of the chapel and a goodly sum was realized. After the entertainment the chapel comimttee served refreshments and a social time followed.

Tally-Ho Party.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Parker, Miss Marryman, Miss Coons, Miss Parker, Neilson T. Parker, Austin Smith and F. W. Parker, of New Brunswick, composed a jolly tally-ho party to Plainfield last evening. They arrived at the Plainfield Hotel at 6:15 o'clock, where they had dinner. It was about 7:30 o'clock when the party made the start on the return journey.

To Paint Steeple.

The work of painting the high steeple on Trinity Reformed church was commenced this morning by George W. Bilyeu, the painter. Mr. Bilyeu made all arrangements yesterday for his hazardous work so that he could start on it today.

Injured in Fall.

J. W. Graham, superintendent of the Metropolitan Insurance Company in Plainfield, suffered a very painful injury yesterday by falling and straining one of the tendons in his left arm, necessitating a tight bandaging of the entire limb.

Business Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a business meeting Friday evening preceding the regular meeting.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The July number of Outing contains a very interesting article on shad fishing, illustrated with photographs, from the pen of William A. Stimpson, formerly of the reportorial staff of The Daily Press. Mr. Stimpson is now with The Daily Press, of Asbury Park. His recent efforts in literary work have been very successful.

A clergyman and his wife of New York attended a large reception given by a friend and were invited by the hostess to meet a special friend in the library, away from the crowded drawing room. The wife looked at the rather shabbily dressed man and his attractive wife and inwardly congratulated the hostess for her tact in not making the poor country clergyman as she supposed him to be, face the fashionable crowd. On her return home she said to her husband,

"I felt very sorry for the poor country parson we met in the library."

"Who do you mean?" inquired the husband.

"Why, the poor country minister, rather shabbily dressed. I think his name was Sage," was the answer.

The husband roared as he exclamed, "Don't you know that was Russel Sage, the great financier?"

THEATRICAL.

There is no diminution in interest of attendance upon the Proctor entertainments. All of the playhouses on the big circuit are in full swing, and will remain open all summer. The Proctor Stock Company remains the leading feature of the diverting programmes, and good vaudeville is, as usual, interlarded between acts.

Frederick Bond, general stage director of the Proctor Stock, is in active harness, and is playing at the Fifth Avenue in a series of lively comedy revivals. Beatrice Morgan is the leading woman on the Fifth Avenue branch of the big organization, and other favorites at Manager Proctor' Broadway house are: Florence Leslie, Bessie Lea Listina, Ada Levick, William Gerald, Charles M. Seay and Daniel H. Jarrett.

Ideal summer vaudeville programmes are offered at the Twenty-third Street, where the weekly change in bills brings forward the best acts to be found in the vaudeville field. There are always twenty or more star acts on the big continuous bill, and there is no let up in the entertainment from noon till nearly midnight. The Twenty-third Street, like the other Proctor theatres, will remain open all summer, and vaudeville will be the exclusive offering.

Up in Harlem the Proctor Stock Company continues to occupy popular attention, and the summer is bringing new records for tremendous crowds to the credit of this favorite up town resort. Edna Archer Crawford is the leading women of what may be called the Harlem branch of the Proctor Stock, others who have won favor in the permanent organization being Helen Sallinger, Florida Kingsley, Drene de Wolf, Richard Lyle, Jas. Castle and E. M. Bell. Sunday concerts are a feature of the weekly programme at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, as they are at the other Proctor theatres in New York City.

Proctor's, Newark, continues the presentation of the best vaudeville twice daily, as its summer plan. The daily bargain matinees—when 25 cents admits to any seat in the house—are immensely popular, and the attendance upon the evening entertainments is on the capacity order. In Montreal and Albany the Proctor Stock Company is enjoying a summer of phenomenal prosperity, and "All's Well" over the entire circuit.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

Freight Handlers and Managers to Hold a Conference.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Through the efforts of Chairman Job of the state arbitration committee a series of meetings have been arranged between the general manager of each of the roads and a committee of five men from each line.

Chairman Job went to each railroad separately and asked the general manager if he would receive a committee of the strikers. In every instance he was informed that the committee would be received if it was understood that it came from the employees of the road and not from the freight handlers' union. Then Mr. Job reported to the men his success with the railroads and secured their consent to the meetings. It was arranged that each committee should consist of five strikers.

Chairman Job thinks that he has inserted the entering wedge for the settlement of the strike. "The men have all along insisted," he said, "that they would not meet the managers unless they were received as members of the union. The managers have said that they would confer with the men at any time provided they came as employees of the road with a grievance to be adjusted. Of course I cannot tell what will come from the meetings, but the differences in the demands of the men and the concessions of the roads are so slight that recognition of the union is practically the only thing at issue."

A Dinner to Colonial Premiers.

LONDON, July 9.—The Prince and Princess of Wales gave a dinner last evening in the state apartments of St. James' palace to the colonial premiers now in London and fifty other representatives of the colonies and their ladies. Mr. Chamberlain, of course, was unable to attend, but Mrs. Chamberlain was present. St. James' palace was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the dinner was most pleasant and not particularly formal.

Dollar Corn In Sight.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Such a wild and record breaking movement as that of yesterday was never before seen in the corn pit. J. W. Gates' prediction of ninety cent corn was verified. Now all the talk is "dollar corn." It is the theory of traders that the corner in July corn is to be worked out within a few days, and it is believed Gates and his party have decided to push the price to the limit and force a settlement by the shorts at once.

Warships Ordered Ready.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The navy department has ordered that repairs on the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts at the New York navy yard and the cruiser Olympia at the Boston yard shall be completed by the 15th inst., so that the north Atlantic squadron may get out to sea and be in shape for the coming summer meneuvers in conjunction with the army.

Queen of the Belgians Very Ill.

BRUSSELS, July 9.—La Chronique says that Marie Henriette, queen of the Belgians, who has been ill for some time past at Spa, Belgium, has suddenly grown worse and is in an alarming condition.

KING WANTS IT ENDED.

Edward Anxious to Have Coronation Over With Now.

LONDON, July 9.—It is said at Buckingham palace that King Edward's progress is in no way retarded.

It is learned that the pressing forward of the coronation is due to the personal insistence of the king. His doctors were at first opposed to such an early date as Aug. 15, but the king declined to agree to any other plans until he is crowned, and the doctors, finally realizing that more danger was likely to arise in opposing his majesty on this point, agreed to it. They now see that the king was right and that it is far better for him to get through the turmoil of the coronation as soon as possible than to have it hanging over him for months.

King Edward has determined not to break up the court at Buckingham palace until after the coronation. He may go on board his yacht for a few days' cruise, but he is more likely to remain in London till the affair is over and then take a prolonged holiday.

TRACY AGAIN ESCAPES.

Surrounded In a House, Outlaw Gives Officers the Slip.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 9.—Half a hundred deputies had Tracy surrounded in the Gerald House at Renton, but he gave them the slip and was gone ten minutes before the deputies knew it. The deputies then closed in and found Anderson, the man he kidnaped, tied to a tree back of the house. Bloodhounds are now on Tracy's trail.

Tracy was yesterday afternoon at a farmhouse one and a half miles east of Renton, a suburb. The news was sent to the city at 2 o'clock by Charles Jerry, who lives at Renton. Tracy and the man Anderson, who has been with him since Saturday night, came to Jerry's house shortly after noon and gave him two of the watches they had previously taken from others and told him to go out and dispose of them. Instead of doing this Jerry came at once to Renton and telephoned the news to the sheriff's office.

Moose For the Adirondacks.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 9.—Two bull and four female moose, the first of a consignment of twenty procured by the forest, fish and game commission, have been set free in that portion of the Adirondack region known as Uncas road. The moose were all yearlings and arrived in excellent condition. The place in which the moose were liberated is remote from civilization and calculated to give the animals every advantage in adapting themselves to their new home.

The South African Garrison.

LONDON, July 9.—The Daily Mail this morning says the permanent garrison in South Africa is to be 50,000 men, under the command of Lieutenant General Lyttleton. Besides this force the system of having a large number of reservists scattered throughout the country, either on farms or in official positions, will be extensively followed. The reservists could be called upon for service in case of an emergency.

Armor Plate Tested.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—A six inch Bethlehem plate representing side armor for the new protected cruisers of the Colorado and Pennsylvania class has been tested at the Indian Head proving ground. Three shots were fired at the plate at velocities of 1,895 foot seconds each. The plate stood an excellent test and appeared to be fully up to the standard of the armor now being supplied for the navy.

Aged Physician Honored.

LYONS, N. Y., July 9.—The Wayne County Medical society has celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation by presenting a solid silver loving cup to Dr. Darwin Colvin of Clyde, the oldest surviving member and treasurer of the society. Dr. Colvin was born eighty years ago and commenced practicing fifty-eight years ago. He joined the society fifty years ago. Dr. Colvin is still practicing.

Ragtime Melodies at a Funeral.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The ragtime melodies which John Stromberg composed in life were played yesterday during the funeral services held over his body at Masonic temple by the members of Weber & Fields' orchestra. There was scarcely a dry eye among the many friends of the dead musician when the muffled strains of "Come Back, My Honey Boy, to Me," were heard.

Corn Promises Well.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Under very favorable temperatures, says the weather bureau's weekly report, there has been a general improvement in the condition of corn throughout the central valleys, and the outlook for this crop in the principal corn states is encouraging, although in the states of the Missouri valley it has suffered considerably from lack of cultivation.

Twelve Boys Poisoned.

LONDON, July 9.—In a dispatch dated Shanghai the correspondent there of the Daily Express says that thirteen English and American boys attending the Inland Mission school at Chefu were seized with illness after partaking of chicken pie. Twelve of the boys died, says the correspondent, supposedly from ptomaine poisoning.

Special Session In Ohio.

PUT-IN-BAY, O., July 9.—Governor Nash has decided to call the legislature to meet in special session Aug. 25 to enact a municipal code bill for the several cities of the state. Prominent Democratic and Republican leaders are here to aid in the framing of a bill that will embody the needs of the various cities.

PLAN TO AID MINERS

A National Defense Fund to Be Raised.

ALL ORGANIZED LABOR TO CONTRIBUTE

President Mitchell Accepts the Plan With the Understanding That It Is Only to Be Used as Last Resort.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 9.—A national defense fund to which all organized labor and the public in general will be asked to contribute is the latest proposition placed on foot to help the striking anthracite coal miners if they need assistance in their struggle for higher wages and a shorter work day. Harry White of New York, secretary of the National Garment Workers and member of the conciliation committee of the National Civic federation, held a long conference with President Mitchell yesterday, during which the plan was approved by the miners' chief, and Mr. White will at once begin preparations to carry out the plan. President Mitchell wants it understood, however, that the miners' union will accept no aid until their own resources are exhausted. Mr. White came here authorized by several labor organizations to place the proposition before President Mitchell.

After the conference President Mitchell had nothing to say about the matter beyond the brief statement that he approved of the plan. Mr. White gave out the following statement:

"President Mitchell will accept the co-operation and whatever aid may be rendered by the labor organizations of the country and others, but with the understanding that it is only to be used when their own funds become exhausted, which will not be for some time. Mr. Mitchell says that before soliciting outside support the miners at work must set the example themselves by contributing a considerable portion of their earnings to sustain their fellow members in the hard coal fields who are fighting their common battle. This will be determined upon at the Indianapolis convention. Mr. Mitchell also welcomed the aid tendered by men of means and influence outside the ranks of organized labor.

"Efforts will also be made to originate a movement throughout the country so that the unions and others may be prepared to collect funds when the time is propitious.

"Public men will also undertake an independent movement and solicit subscriptions from those not connected with labor organizations. This movement will be inaugurated in New York city, and the labor organizations and sympathizers in all the principal cities of the country will be called on to appoint committees to carry on similar work."

President Mitchell had nothing to say regarding his trip to New York beyond repeating what he had said in that city. He had no information from the West Virginia strike. Neither had he anything to give out concerning the situation in this region.

The Lehigh Valley Coal company has succeeded in starting up its Henry washery at Plains. The coal thus taken from the culm banks is not sent to market, but is used in the company's boilers.

Hanna Still Has Hopes.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 9.—Congressman George R. Patterson of Ashland says he spent most of Monday in conference with Senator Hanna at Washington acquainting the latter with the situation in the anthracite coal region. Mr. Patterson said Senator Hanna intimated that the Civic federation has not yet lost hope of bringing the striking miners and operators together. Congressman Patterson said Senator Hanna assured him that whatever action was taken by the Civic federation looking toward a settlement of the strike should not be in any way derogatory to the miners.

Fearful Sandstorm.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—While parts of the country were suffering from floods a sandstorm did $1,000,000 damage in the Indio valley, on the Southern Pacific railroad, in the Colorado desert. An artificial oasis of 900 acres had been made by digging artesian wells and planted in melons. Judging by last year, when only sixty acres were in cultivation, a profit of more than $1,000 an acre would have been made. Three hundred carloads of melons, for which $1,200 a car had been offered, were almost ready for shipment when the storm broke. For three days it raged, with the thermometer 126 degrees in the shade, and when it was over every bit of vegetation had been destroyed.

Choate a Presidential Possibility.

LONDON, July 9.—Speaking at the annual dinner of the Hardwicke society in London, Don M. Dickinson of Detroit, who was counsel for the United States before the international high commission on the Bering sea claims in 1897, referred to Joseph H. Choate, the United States embassador, as a possible candidate for the presidency of the United States. The company consisted of several hundred members of the English bar, law lords and judges.

Money to Move Crops.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The first money for the movement of crops was shipped from the treasury yesterday, $100,000 to New Orleans and $500,000 to Chicago. The demand for money from the interior promises to be somewhat heavier than last year. Since Jan. 1 $[illegible] has been transferred against $3,000,000 for the same period last year.

EDUCATORS GATHER

Fifteen Thousand at National Convention In Minneapolis.

MANY MEN OF NOTE ARE TO SPEAK.

Governor Van Sant and Acting Mayor Jones Welcome Delegates to State and City—President Butler of Columbia Delivers Address.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 9.—Minneapolis has within her gates 15,000 or more delegates to the National Educational association convention. Some of the largest delegations are yet due, and the total will reach close to if it does not exceed the 20,000 mark when the delegates are all in. The meetings yesterday were confined to the national council, the Indian department and the general sessions. Today the real work in detail will commence.

The speakers at the different meetings of the convention are all men of widespread reputation. Men of letters, men of educational note, politicians, inventors, publishers, representatives of the church and the state and national government will have places on the programmes.

The cities in the race for the next convention so far are Boston, Portland, Me., the north Pacific coast cities, which are working together, and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Yesterday afternoon Governor S. R. Van Sant on behalf of the state welcomed the association. J. W. Olsen, state superintendent of public instruction, delivered an address on behalf of the educational branch of the state government, and Acting Mayor D. P. Jones welcomed the visitors to the city.

Superintendent of the Minneapolis Public Schools Charles M. Jordan spoke of the system of public education conducted by the state and city.

Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president of the State university, made a welcoming address which by a happy mingling of wit and eloquence held closely the attention of the 5,000 educators who made up the audience, and when he finished the applause was deafening.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, spoke on "Some Problems" for nearly an hour. His address was pronounced a model of oratory. He spoke of the profession of teaching in general, and his speech was really the address that marked the regular opening of the convention proper and the beginning of the work in earnest.

Dr. E. A. Alderman, president of Tulane university, New Orleans, also spoke at length to the convention, and his words were apparently scarcely less appreciated than those of the orator-president of Columbia.

Beef Under American Control.

LONDON, July 9.—The newspapers here all print details of the combination formed by the American packing houses, but no opinions of beef experts are published. The Daily Mail quotes an authority in reference to the American attempt to control the English meat markets. He admits that the Americans are going ahead not only in London, but throughout the provinces, the reason being that they supply better meat and handle it by better methods than English houses. The result is that stock is being placed on the market in better and cleaner condition than English beef killed sixty miles away.

Newfoundland Coast Disasters.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 9.—Reports continue to arrive here of disasters on the coast as the result of the recent storm. Whittle's craft, with five men, was lost off Cape St. Mary. Hennessy's schooner, with twenty-five men and two women on board, barely escaped foundering in Maddox's cove. Eighty boats were destroyed in Pouch cove. The loss in fish nets and gear sustained by the settlements in the vicinity of St. John's is estimated at $40,000.

Accused of Proselyting.

WASHINGTON, July 9. — Complaints have been received at the war department that certain teachers in the Philippines have been trying to influence Catholic children to become Protestants. The complaints have been forwarded to Acting Governor Wright, with instructions to have the practice, if it prevails, stopped. The teachers will be informed that it is no part of the policy of the government to have any religion taught in the schools.

Last Chance Spurned by Strikers.

BLACKSTONE, Mass., July 9.—The gates of the Sarnac mills of the American Woolen company at Waterford were thrown open again yesterday in another attempt to secure the return of the striking weavers before imported help is put in their places, but none accepted the offer. The mill officers announced that the weaving department would be started at once with 150 Hungarian and Armenian operatives.

A New Gould Road.

TOLEDO, O., July 9.—It is announced that the Goulds are to establish a through freight and passenger service about Aug. 1 between this city and Detroit, using the tracks of the Ann Arbor railroad, which was recently purchased by the Goulds, from Toledo to Milan Mich., and the Wabash tracks between Milan and Detroit. The distance is sixty-eight miles.

Chamberlain Is Better.

LONDON, July 9.—Austen Chamberlain, son of the colonial secretary, reports that his father's progress is so satisfactory that he expects to leave the hospital today.

MUTINY FOLLOWS MURDER.

A Sensational Story of Crime on the High Seas.

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 9.—A sensational story of mutiny and murder on the high seas is told by Captain McDonald of the American schooner Mary Sanford, which has arrived here after an eventful voyage from Bluefields, Nicaragua. During the voyage one man was killed, and the crew were in almost constant mutiny, clamorous for the blood of the man who murdered their shipmate. The murderer, First Mate Nicholson, was placed in jail soon after the arrival of the Sanford in this port.

The Mary Sanford left Bluefields June 24, and when four days out A. G. Nicholson, the first mate, killed Fred Reed, a negro, because he did not perform some duty to suit the ideas of the mate.

When Captain McDonald saw what had happened, he ran and overpowered Nicholson, took the pistol from him and threw it overboard. The mate was then placed in irons and kept under strict guard until the vessel reached the Pensacola quarantine station, when the United States marshal's office was told of the murder on the high seas, and Nicholson was brought here and locked up. He will be given a preliminary trial before United States Commissioner Tunison.

One of the ship's officers said that immediately after the killing four West Indian seamen, countrymen of the dead man, openly resented the murder of Reed and threatened to hang Nicholson from the yardarm. The captain, two mates and steward were the only white men on the vessel, and the combined watchfulness of this quartet prevented a marine session of Judge Lynch's court.

Reed's body was wrapped in sails and buried at sea a few miles from where the shooting occurred.

Wireless Telegraphy Tests.

WASHINGTON, July 9. — The navy department has in contemplation a plan to establish a wireless telegraph station in San Francisco harbor. The department now has no adopted system of wireless communication, but expects soon to begin a series of experiments at different points throughout the country with several foreign systems. Lieutenant Hudgins of the naval bureau of equipment, who was sent abroad to purchase apparatus for trial, was expected here some days ago, but the department is now advised that he has changed his plans and will leave Germany on July 11 for New York. He will bring with him the apparatus of two French and two German systems of wireless telegraphy, and these will be tried, together with the Marconi system, at New York, Annapolis, Washington, San Francisco and other points.

Kitchener's Reception.

LONDON, July 9.—The programme for the reception of Lord Kitchener upon his arrival from South Africa is similar to the one carried out upon the occasion of the home coming of Lord Roberts, the commander in chief of the forces. After his elaborate welcome at Southampton Lord Kitchener is expected to reach London at noon of July 12. He will be escorted to St. James' palace, where he will be entertained at luncheon by the Prince of Wales. The prince will act for the king, and it is said that his majesty, were it not for his illness, would have honored Lord Kitchener by entertaining him at luncheon, as he did Lord Roberts when the latter returned. A resolution has been adopted by the London county council to tender Lord Kitchener the congratulations of London upon the successful termination of the South African war.

A WEDDING AT LENOX

Sloane-Field Nuptials of Regal Magnificence.

WEALTHY NEW YORKERS ATTEND.

Mr. and Mrs. Field to Spend Honeymoon at the Biltmore Estate In North Carolina—A Year's Travel Abroad.

LENOX, Mass., July 9.—In picturesque Trinity Episcopal church, surrounded with lavish floral decorations and under sunny skies, Miss Lelia Vanderbilt Sloane, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Sloane of New York and Lenox, and Mr. William Bradhurst Osgood Field of New York were married here yesterday.

The assembly of guests, the accouterments of the ceremony, the value of the wedding gifts and the wealth and social prominence of all interested parties made the event the most magnificent of its kind that ever took place in the Berkshire country. More than 200 guests, including representatives of the most wealthy New York families, were present. The church was most elaborately decorated.

Rev. Dr. David H. Greer of St. Bartholemew's church, New York, officiated, assisted by Rev. Harold Arrowsmith, rector of Trinity church.

The bride's costume was of ivory satin. Her veil was the one worn by her elder sisters, Mrs. James A. Burden, Jr., and Mrs. John H. Hammond, at their weddings.

Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at Elm Court, the country house of Mr. and Mrs. Sloane. The house decorations were of roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Field drove over to Pittsfield behind the bride's own roan hackneys on a buckboard. They took the afternoon train for New York. They are to spend their honeymoon on George W. Vanderbilt's Biltmore estate in North Carolina, following a custom established by the bride's sisters. Late in August they will go abroad for a year's travel on the continent.

Rev. O. C. Burt In Disgrace.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 9. — At the conclusion of the trial before a committee of ministers of Rev. O. C. Burt of the Quarryville M. E. church, which has been in progress here during the past two days, Presiding Elder A. G. Kynett issued the following statement: "The charges and specifications against Rev. O. C. Burt have been fully sustained, and he stands suspended from the exercise of all ministerial functions until the next annual session of the Philadelphia conference." Rev. Mr. Burt, who has a family at Quarryville, had planned to elope with Miss Anna Shank, a member of his congregation. Upon the discovery of the intended elopement he was beaten by the girl's father.

An Indian Territory Volcano.

GUTHRIE, O. T., July 9.—Great excitement has been caused at Ardmore, I. T., owing to the discovery by surveyors working north of that place of cracks in the sides of mountains, as though from great pressure underneath. Gas is escaping from the fissures, and a continual hissing and roaring can be heard. On the extreme top of the highest hill there has been a small volcano at work, raising up large bowlders and tossing them aside. Experts say it is a great oil and gas field and that pressure from a great depth has caused the commotion.

Two Farmers Commit Suicide.

HINTON, W. Va., July 9.—William A. Mahan and Charles H. Blaker, two prominent farmers of Sweet Springs, Monroe county, committed suicide by shooting themselves. It appears they had before threatened to kill themselves and were being closely watched by their relatives. At an early hour they left their homes with their guns and said they were going hunting. Their families thought but little of their going until later in the morning, when they heard two gunshots. A search revealed the men dead.

Whole Family Murdered.

ENID, Okla., July 9.—Near Prudence, thirty miles southeast of here, the bodies of a man, a woman and two children, apparently members of one family, mutilated into almost unrecognizable shapes, have been found. The bodies had been stripped of all clothing, leaving no means of identification. It is supposed that the family were strangers traveling overland and that they were robbed and murdered by men who then made off with their team and belongings.

Jessie Morrison Sentenced.

EL DORADO, Kan., July 9.—Jessie Morrison, convicted June 28 of murder in the second degree for killing Mrs. Olin Castle at the latter's home here in June, 1900, by cutting her throat with a razor, has been sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial was overruled. Miss Morrison, who has gone through three trials, took the sentence with little show of demonstration. The case will be appealed.

Titus Wins Again.

LONDON, July 9.—C. S. Titus of the Union Boat club, New York, who won his preliminary heat with Louis Scholes of Toronto in the Diamond Sculls, yesterday beat W. J. Fields of Exeter, Oxford, easily by three lengths; time, 9m. 17s. The betting is now even money on Titus' chance of winning the trophy.

TO IMPROVE THE CITY.

Councilman Daniel and a number of other people have a mistaken idea of the provisions of the ordinance now before the Common Council, regarding the laying of stone sidewalks in the Third and Fourth wards. As a matter of fact, this proposed ordinance, like others of the same character which have gone before, does not provide for the laying of stone sidewalks in the district named but gives the Common Council the authority to take such action as circumstances shall warrant.

Since this new policy has been followed by the Common Council, a great deal of valuable property has been opened up to pedestrians and all quarters of the city greatly improved. During the three years that the Common Council has been working on these lines, more new walks have been laid than in any equal time in the history of the city. While some property owners have complained at the enforced hardship, there is no doubt that the policy has done much to build up and make desirable sections of the city which might otherwise have been neglected.

This new ordinance, now before the Council, takes in a portion of the Third and Fourth wards, giving the Council the right in the future to compell the laying of such sidewalks as it deemed necessary by resolution and without the passage of a special ordinance. If the property owners do not do the work, it is done by the city at the owner's expense. While there are some parts of those two wards which are sadly in need of substantial sidewalks to replace the present mudholes, part of the territory included is not likely to be affected for a long time to come.

The real object of this and similar ordinances is to fit cases where there is a real need of sidewalks on much frequented thoroughfares and in cases where an unimproved property spoils the effect of the improvements which have been made by the more progressive property owners on all sides. The usefulness and advantage of the system has long ago been demonstrated and the city in general has been much the gainer by the Council's policy along these lines.

There are two very important reasons why the officials of the city fire department should insist on a strict observance of the rule which only allows wearers of fire badges to ride on the apparatus. It is designed that the apparatus shall reach the scene of the fire with all convenient speed and it is not intended that any of it shall serve as a means of transportation to the fire. It is necessary that the firemen reach there with the apparatus. Nobody else, except the police, is wanted. Then the habit of catching rides on the hurrying apparatus is likely to result disastrously for some unfortunate individual, especially if he happens to be unused to catching rides in that fashion. There have been serious accidents but fortunately none have yet resulted fatally. The time to act, therefore, is before such accident does happen and not wait, as the saying is, until the horse is gone before locking the stable door.

Cranford will decide at a meeting this evening whether its annual event, the carnival on the Cranford river, is to be held this summer or not. The carnival was abandoned last year on account of lack of interest but this season circumstances seem quite auspicious and it is very likely that the decision at this evening's meeting will be in favor of holding it.

The Somerset Messenger in its last issue says: "Somerville's 'big four' was seen coming down Main street in an automobile on Monday." Many Plainfielders are anxious to know who are entitled to this distinction at the county seat.

The sooner the curb is removed from in front of the North Avenue station, the better is will be for all concerned. General Manager Besler has taken that view. Action ought to follow his approval with but little delay.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Tile setting in all its branches is the specialty of R. B. VanArsdale, of Central avenue. To be convinced that he is a thorough workman give him a trial.

Ben Fowler, of East Front street, recently added another wagon to his ice cream delivery service. The truth will out-every time. Fowler's cream leads.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" and so does the poor mortal who hasn't one of those cane couches that Powlison & Jones sell. It's the proper thing for a nap in warm weather.

This is the season when you need plenty of ice and you don't want to pay a fancy price for it. McDonough Bros., will sell you the pure kind at a low price and they will deliver it promptly.

Before going on your vacation consult Willett & Son, the shoe dealers in Park avenue. They will sell you the proper kind of shoes for outing purposes. Their stock of shoes for men, women and children is complete.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants on West Front street, are now carrying a most desirable stock of goods for summer wear. There are lots of things one needs before going on a vacation, and this firm can supply you for a very reasonable sum.

Ever notice how nice a man looks in one of Harry Werner's suits? That's because they are made right. Ever stop to think how long one of Werner's suits lasts? If not, try one and see for yourself. They are to be had in every style and size and at 'way down prices.

One of the best appointed drug stores to be found in this State is that of J. W. Randolph's on West Front street. He keeps a full stock of the best drugs, toilet articles, Huyler's confections, while his soda water has a reputation all over the State of being the best.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schultz, of New York, have been guests of Plainfield friends.

Rev. and Mrs. George B. Shaw, of Central avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkner have returned from their honeymoon and taken up their residence in Plainfield.

Lafayette Rosenstiehl and Charles Tollman, of Somerset street, left yesterday afternoon on a trip up the Hudson.

Charles Tripney, of Norristown, Pa., has returned home after a few days' visit with his sister, Mrs. Walter Bradford, of West Fifth street.

Mrs. J. T. MacMurray, of Westervelt avenue, is summering in the Berkshire Hills. Mr. MacMurray has also been spending a short time there.

J. Harvey Blazure, formerly in charge of the housefurnishing goods' department at Woodhull & Martin's store, was a visitor in Plainfield yesterday. He is now with Sidney, Shepard & Co., of New York, dealers in metal work of all kinds.

Something About Corsets.

A long experience has taught us that ladies are particular about Corsets. In catering to the wants of an exacting trade we have learned much about the Corset business. One of the things we have learned is to buy only Corsets of reputation derived from real merit. We never experiment with Corsets. We must have positive proof that they will meet all the requirements of our customers before we purchase. The result of all this is a complete, well-rounded-out assortment of the most popular Corsets made. We mention a few below:

At 2.00 W. B. Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil of fine quality. Good shape, fit well, beautifully finished.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, long hip, long waist, low bust, made of fine batiste, lace trimmed. Cool and comfortable for stout figures.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, straight front, short hip, contil, good shape. A remarkably durable corset.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets in both black and white, long hip, low bust. A ready seller for medium figures.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets, straight front, bias gored hip, made of French contil. They fit stout figures well.

At 1.00 R. & G. Girdles made of fine batiste. Designed for golfing, tennis, cycling and athletics in general.

At 1.00 R. & G. Tape Girdles, one of the latest summer novelties. Positively the coolest corset made and is popular with good trade.

Ferris Good Sense Waists for ladies, misses and children.

Double V Waists for children; Drawers to match same.

At 2.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil, beautifully modeled and good sellers. As nice as 3.00 imported goods and fit better.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating Corsets in medium and extra long. Probably one of the best summer corsets made. They fit perfectly.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating, straight front corsets, short hip and low bust. Good for medium figures.

At 1.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Chic Corsets. Dainty little batiste corsets. Short low bust, excellent for slight figures.

At 1.00 Warner's "Rust Proof" Corsets, straight front, low bust, made of batiste. It is a generally admired, dainty corset of splendid shape and will fit almost any figure.

At 50c Batiste Girdles, the sweetest little Summer Corsets you ever saw for that price. Shape is so good and the finish so perfect they would readily pass for $1.00 goods.

sylvania, mainly from southern parts of the State and Pennsylvania.

The raise in the temperature Wednesday and Thursday sent an increased number of bathers into the surf. Wednesday morning the first rescue of the season was effected when Al Mintzner, bathing guard at the Asbury avenue grounds, plunged in and brought out a woman who had gotten beyond her depth and couldn't reach a lifeline. She was more frightened than hurt.

A Western manufacturing company has the honor of having sent the first prize contributed for the baby parade. It is a go-cart which can be converted into a dining chair and which can be carried under the arm in a public place, such as a railroad car.

It is said that several hotel-keepers asked Mayor Bradley to increase the size of the band and charge people ten cents for the privilege of listening. The Mayor vetoed the proposition emphatically, saying that as long as he controlled the beach its attractions would be free to all.

Ocean Grove has added four more policemen to her force. Asbury Park has also filled her quota of officers, including Vought Burke, the Englishtown giant. Burke can be seen daily on the boardwalk. He measures close to seven feet. His uniform consists of a blue suit, made to order, helmet and white gloves.

The Ocean Grove Citizen will make its first appearance next week. The proprietor, Tali Esen Morgan, has a number of unique ideas for his publication, one of which is to place the heading in the middle of the first page.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held an interesting semi-monthly meeting in its rooms last night. A pleasant visit was enjoyed by the Council from Supervising D. D. G. R. Gibbey, of Summit.

The local baseball team will go to Roselle on Saturday afternoon to cross bats with the Roselle team. Quite a number are arranging to accompany the team.

TOO MANY ON THE TRUCK

CROWD SO GREAT THAT ONE OF THE SPRINGS WAS BUCKLED.

Stopped the Truck Monday Night and Chased Off Uninvited Guests —To Arrest the Next Time.

Despite the fact that warning has been given by the councilmanic fire committee and Chief Doane that the habit practiced by outsiders of jumping on the fire apparatus will not be tolerated, the practice continues.

Monday evening so many men leaped on the hook and ladder truck that one side of the aerial ladder turntable sagged and came in contact with the front wheel. Foreman Addis was compelled to stop the machine on the way to the fire and put off everyone who had no authority to ride. Yesterday the front of the truck was examined and it was found one of the springs was buckled and will have to be replaced. The work will be done at once and the West End truck will be placed at headquarters.

Some time ago when Chief Doane gave orders for all outsiders to keep off the apparatus, the warning was heeded. It has now become as bad as ever and he has instructed all foremen to have arrested anyone without a firemen's badge using the department apparatus to reach a fire. The police will also be on the alert and in this way it is hoped the nuisance will be abated.

DELEGATES GONE.

Scotch Plains Delegation to B. Y. P. U. Convention at Providence, Left Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 9—A delegation from the local Baptist Young People's Union left here last night to attend the international convention to be held at Providence, R. I., Thursday and Friday of this week. The delegates are Rev. G. M. Shott, Mrs. Shott, Miss Ruth Shott, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dunn, Miss Nettie Atwood and Edward Johnston.

After attending the convention the party will on Saturday go on an excursion trip down Narragansett bay as far as Narragansett pier. Sunday Rev. Mr. Shott will preach at divine service in a church that has been allotted to him for the purpose. Monday the party will go in an observation car to Boston, taking in Charleston, Bunker Hill, Cambridge, Brookline, and other historic points of interest throughout this section which is so closely linked with the early history of the country. On Tuesday a side trip has been arranged to Plymouth, where the party will listen to an interesting lecture on Plymouth Rock. The party will leave Plymouth in time to take the boat for home on Tuesday evening.

HEARD ABOUT CAMP.

Endeavorers of First Presbyterian Church Held Special Meeting.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church, a service was held in the chapel Sunday evening in the interest of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. Russell Bond led the meeting and T. Edward Burroughs gave a short talk concerning the camp at Westfield. Howard George read the experiences of several of the young campers showing their interest in the annual outing. During the service Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross sang a solo. A collection was taken for the fresh air work and the sum will amount to about $40.

Chess and Checkers.

The Chess and Checker Club met at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Monday evening and spent a pleasant time. All friends are invited to these meetings of the club every Monday evening.

Two Initiated.

At the second outing of the Sagen Nichts Club Sunday at Bridgeport, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Blimm were initiated. Mr. Blimm received the hat.

FOUND THE WATCH.

Small Boy Returned Time Piece Stolen From Booth at Hope Y. M. A.'s County Fair.

Through clever detective work on the part of George McComb, the Hope Y. M. A. had returned to it, last evening, the silver watch stolen from Matthew Sweeney's fishing booth at the recent county fair. It was found in the possession of a small boy whom Mr. McComb had seen loitering about the booth and who he suspected as the culprit has been in the police court several times for committing acts of a like character. The lad was watched closely and enough evidence was secured to warrant the lad's parents being informed. His mother confronted him last night and he immediately produced the timepiece.

It is a solid silver affair and is valued at $40. The works will have to be repaired as the boy had tampered with them to a serious extent and, providing his parents pay the bill, the association will not press any charge against them.

STILL UNKNOWN.

No Exact Figures Yet Learned as to the Proceeds of the Recent County Fair.

The Hope Y. M. A. held a special business meeting, last evening, for the purpose of settling all accounts incurred by the recent County Fair. After the expenses were ordered paid and deducted it was found the association had a comfortable amount left but the exact figures are not to be given out. Other business for the evening was the election of two new members and the discussion of affairs relating to the September camping trip.

PITCHING QUOITS.

The quoit pitching contest was continued last evening by the members of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, when several cnanges were made in the standing for the prizes. The scores to date are as follows:

Kirch and L. M. Hummer, 750 per cent.; Niles and L. A. Hummer, 715; Kinney and Hoagland, 667; Bush and Runyon, 667; Vail and Kohler, 625; Carver and Forestell, 500; Cranston and Cranston, 500; Day and Martin, 333; Currin and Voorhees, 333; Bowman and Randolph, 286; Allen and Lucky, 167; Fisher and Clark, 000; Kenyon and Rosentheil, 000. Buchanan and Vail and Vardon and VanOrden have played no games as yet.

NEW HATS.

Uniform Headgear Given Out at Meeting of I. C. T.

At a business meeting of the I. C. T. Club, held last evening, two new members were admitted and several applications were received. The club completed arrangements for several trolley parties to be held during the summer and a number of outings, one of which will be to Atlantic City. The members received their new uniform hats which are considered by the makers to be the best yet seen in this city. They are made of white flannel with the club's monogram in red, orange and blue displayed conspicuously in front.

Store and Flats.

Architect E. V. French is preparing plans for the erection of a three-story frame store and flats, 47 feet front by 50 feet deep, for George Egel, of Somerset street. The new building will cost in the vicinity of $5,000, with tin roof, patent plaster, open plumbing, gas fixtures, plate glass and all modern improvements.

Named As Receiver.

In the Circuit Court, yesterday, Judge Kirkpatrick appointed George D. Hallock, of the borough, receiver for Bay State Gas Company of New Jersey. A bill was filed against the corporation by Frank L. Day, Henry B. Day and William H. Remick in which they stated the capitalization of the company was $1,000,000.

RECENT ATHLETIC PERFORMANCES RESULT IN BROKEN RECORDS

IT is regarded as highly significant of a greatly improved condition in American college athletics that the two greatest track and field events of the year—the twenty-seventh intercollegiate meet at Berkeley Oval, in the east, and the second annual conference athleic meet, of the west should be so productive of record feats. New marks galore were made at both of these meets and in some cases at both the Berkeley Oval and Marshall Field meets, the winners might have added to their distinct advantages had there been any incentive for more strenuous work.

Never before has an athlete covered 100 yards in 9:3-5, the established and recorded time of Arthur Duffy, the little sprinter of Georgetown university. To get into the finals, where he made this great record, Duffy had to beat Cadogan, the California sprinter. This, Duffy did easily in 9 4-5 seconds—the record for intercollegiate contests held by B. J. Wefers, who was a contestant in amateur events, wearing the colors of Georgetown. Shick, of Harvard, was the main contestant for Duffy in the finals when he made his record, and according to the winner, he won from Shick by summoning all of his nerve and strength.

Getting a rather poor start, Duffy was surprised after going about 70 yards to see that his Harvard rival was running with a wide stride and rather easily. Time and again Duffy has made the distance in 9 4-5. He had become possessed of the idea that no timers would ever catch the time any less.

"All I want is the fifth less than even time," said Duffy to himself, and then began one of the most marvelous performances a man ever made. Duffy stepped higher than ever, dug his spikes into the cinderpath and, throwing all his weight on the ball of his foot at each step, made strides that were eight feet or more. His pace told, and he took the race.

According to E. L. Sarre, the old Mercury Foot athlete, there will not be any disposition on the part of critics of athletic events to discredit the time. Four of the best men who ever held a split watch on a field of sprinters caught the time. All agreed, with one exception—Charlie Hughes, the nestor of timers, had it :09 2-5.

Duffy is going to England and the continent in a few days. He will take part in a number of athletic meets, and on the strength of his world's record performance will be an object of considerable interest abroad. For many years the foreigners have been trying to develop men like Wefers and Duffy, but with little success.

East and west the pole vault was a matter of exciting competition, and records were broken at each place. But in the "Big Nine" meet the unexpected happened when first honors were not given either to Capt. Dvorak, of Michigan, or Jerome Magee, of Chicago. The pole vault had been looked upon as a dual affair, in which case these men had everybody beaten. But when the bar had been moved to 11 feet 6¼ inches—just a half inch higher than the record height held by Dvorak, what was the surprise of thousands of spectators to see H. T. Chapman, the Drake student, clear it, and Dvorak and Magee wearied by the strain of the afternoon fail to clear it. True, the record was broken, but only a half inch. When Dvorak clears a bar he generally does it with inches to spare. Had the Michigan man been a little more fortunate, the desired 11 feet and say 10 inches might have been accomplished. As it was the little Wolverine captain took to chewing gum more vigorously than ever, and vaulted off the tie for second place with his rival, Magee, winning the points and getting the same height as the Drake man got. In the east, D. S. Horton, the Princeton man, broke the record, clearing the bar at 11 feet 7 inches. Here the mark was only a half inch better than that made in the "Big Nine" meet. In practice, Horton, Dvorak and Magee all have done better than 11 feet 7 inches. Why then could not these athletes make it a little better in the competition? No trainer will undertake to tell, but it is thought that nervousness develops so rapidly when the bar gets over 11 feet that the men are bothered in the take off and do not get the full vault. Besides, the vaulters who have had poles break under them while vaulting, become timid when the bar gets so high they have to use all their force to get over. A break, and—well, the jagged point is quite likely to pierce the athlete, and make a fatal wound. Coach Knipe, of Iowa, who was one of the interested spectators of the conference meet, said he would advocate the sheathing of vaulters poles with a casing of aluminum, so that in case the tough wood splintered the pole would not have a ragged and jagged point.

Of all the men who captured record honors, the little University of Wisconsin student, George R. Keachie, who reduced the mile run record from 4:33 to 4:31 2-5, is the most unlike the proverbial miler the critics know about. Keachie won when the celebrated Capt. Hahn, or the Badger team, was unable to do better than fourth. Five minutes after he had traversed those four laps of hard cinders, Keachie was attired in his street clothes, darting in and out among the athletes taking snap shots with a 4x5 camera for his own personal photograph album. Not a trace of weariness appeared in his makeup. Why, a moment after he had finished in the lead of the bunch of weary athletes, this lad was standing in front of me, waving to his student friends in the crowd and exchanging greetings with the coaches and trainers. "I've made a record," he said with all the fervor of a college athlete. "Good for you, Georgie," said the trainers and coaches, and when Keachie returned to his varsity, at Madison, he was a hero. Wisconsin had missed points it had been depended upon to get and this helped Michigan to win premier honors.

Twice within a few days did John R. Dewitt, the idol of Princeton students, defeat Plaw, the young California hammer thrower. The last defeat given to the boy who is said to have thrown the weight 170 in practice was in the championship event at Berkeley Oval, where he hurled it 164 feet 10 inches. Plaw could do no better than 163 feet 8 inches. In the dual meet with Princeton and California as the contestants western critics were prone to concede the hammer throw to Plaw. Was the youngster from the coast who turns around three times in the circle before releasing the handle not the marvel of the country? Yes, but Trainer Christie, who had a great deal to do with the development of Plaw knew a young man who turned six times in the circle before letting go of the weight, and yet he could not get the distance Plaw did. Dewitt is one of the seasoned high-class athletes of Nassau. It was predicted that when the young man who wears a kid glove when he essays the hammer throw went against such a Hercules as Dewitt, the horny-handed and seasoned athlete would beat his marvelous work.

So, in the dual meet, when this Princeton tackle—what a ground-gainer he was on the gridiron for the Tigers—set aside Plaw's intercollegiate record of 154 feet 4½ inches with a throw of 164 feet 4½ inches he won easily from his California rival and gave promise of a record throw when his varsity needs the points in the intercollegiate games. Dewitt has put the 16-pound shot 42 feet 10 inches and might have won a place in this event at Berkeley Oval had not Beck of Yale set a record by putting the shot two feet further than his best mark.

N. A. Kellogg, of Michigan, is another of the record-breakers this year entitled to special mention for his prowess. This wolverine two-miler, at last year's conference meet stalled off the rush of the Badgers at the end and won the race in 10:09 3-5. He clipped off 2 3-5 seconds this year, duplicating his work of a year ago by taking victory from the distance men of the rival university.

TAFFETA COSTUMES.

All White Dresses of This Silk Very Smart.

There is a craze for taffeta petticoats of every description. They have almost entirely taken the place of the white cambric and muslin underskirts. The evening petticoats are most elaborate, some being made of peau de soie trimmed with lace and insertions, while the cut is quite as important as that of the outer skirt. When all is said, the taffeta skirt is not so much of a luxury as one would imagine, especially for the evening, when pale shades can be worn many times without their getting soiled. They save the hem of one's frock as well as the laundress' bill, for a lawn petticoat can seldom be worn twice without a visit to the washtub, which is likely to prove expensive, as the skirt of the hour is compounded of a multitude of frills and tucks.

In the picture there is a smart white veiling gown. The waist has a tucked collar and short yoke; the rest of the fullness is laid in horizontal tucks and trimmed with three wide bands of lace applique. The sleeves are very full and reach to the wrists. The skirt clings about the hips and has two gored ruffles around the bottom.

The hat which goes with this is of scarlet geranium.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DETAILS OF DRESS.

Children's Pique Coats—Yachting Costumes.

Silk gloves are the proper thing to wear now that warm weather has set in.

Pique coats are very fashionable for children, and these little garments are trimmed with bands of embroidery. The wide collars are made also of the embroidery. Sometimes wide beading is used around the collar, and black velvet ribbon run through it.

The new white pique skirts are very fancy, and even those intended for golf are trimmed with embroidery bands. The gored flounce is being superseded by the skirt, which is laid in wide tucks stitched down flat, but allowed to flare around the ankles.

Yachting costumes of white pique and white mohair trimmed with bands of taffeta will be as much worn as ever this summer. Even the shoes and stockings will be white to match.

The new shades of pale blue are less on the turquoise than last summer.

A little girl's summer costume is here depicted. The jacket is of white pique with a wide collar of embroidery in a double breasted effect. The gown worn under it is of tucked white organdie. The leghorn hat is trimmed with three huge rosettes of soft blue ribbon and a wreath of green leaves and berries. JUDIC CHOLLET.

BLACK AND WHITE.

The Perfect Black Gown—Taffeta Much Tucked.

A great deal of all black and all white is being worn this summer by those who are weary of the crude colors presented to public notice early in the season.

Although there is a saying that black is no color, the perfect black gown is composed of many shades, being made not of one black, but of many. Take, for instance, the dead black of crepe de chine mixed with the beautiful cloudy effect of chiffon. It would be probably trimmed with a glimmer of satin and a becoming black chenille or velvet and further lightened with jet of varying shades. Then indeed it is a black dress which is a glorious creation and charming in every detail.

There is a great demand this season for black chene afternoon frocks, and these are a little newer than taffeta. They are useful and smart for summer wear, as the surface is an excellent protection against the dust.

To introduce a new note in taffeta it must be either stitched, strapped or tucked and should be decorated with soft lace and velvet.

A little child's white pique coat is the subject of the sketch. It is made on the highwayman pattern, with three capes stitched and edged with white wash braid. The belt is of stitched pique. The buttons are of pearl. The garment is unlined.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

UNLINED DRESSES.

They Are a Feature of the Summer Fashions.

The unlined dress is a feature of the summer. It is chic and comfortable whether made of foulard or linen.

Foulard, by the way, has almost ceased to be a dressy material except in the very palest shades. It is now made up shirt waist style with a flounced skirt and a strapped waist fastening down the back with small buttons.

The newest ribbon girdle has a three-quarter length bow of ribbon with two bias ends.

Gowns of linen glace in old rose shades are the fad of the hour. They are made very much tucked and trimmed with black velvet ribbon.

The reign of the shirt waist is nearing its close, according to all fashion authorities, and it will in future be relegated to sporting and traveling costumes. But even for the latter dresses of serge and china silk are being used.

The cut illustrates the very latest style of chiffon neck ruffle. Unlike the old fashioned boa, it is composed of three wide, flat ruffles lying out on the shoulders. These come down to a point in front, where they are joined to long streamers of narrow velvet ribbon.

The smart tailor made hat is of sunburned straw, trimmed with black velvet ribbon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

CHAPTER XV.

When Margery entered her father's private office after her small triumph at Raymer's expense, her plan of campaign had taken a more definite shape. The president was busy at his desk, but he turned to say: "Want to see me, Maggie?" And when she nodded, he reached for his check-book.

"No, it isn't money this time. Has Mr. Raymer an account with you?"

"Yes."

"Is it an accommodation to you?"

Grierson's laugh was of contempt.

"Hardly. The shoe's on the other foot."

"You mean that he has borrowed from you?"

"Not yet, but he wants to."

"What for?"

"To enlarge his plant. He's like all the other fools; ain't content to grow with his capital."

"Are you going to stake him?" Margery waged relentless war with her inclination to lapse into the speech of the mining camps, but she still stumbled now and then.

"I guess not; I've never had much use for him."

"Why haven't you?"

"Oh, I don't know; it's a stand-off. He hasn't much use for me. I offered to incorporate his outfit for him six months ago, and told him I'd take 51 per cent. of the stock myself; but he wouldn't talk about it."

Margery's laugh might have meant anything from applause to derision.

"How singular! But now he is willing to let you help him?"

"Not that way. He wants to borrow money of the bank and give a mortgage on the plant. It's safe enough, but I don't believe I'll do it."

"But I want you to do it."

"The dickens you do! Say, little girl, do you know you're carrying things with a pretty high hand?"

"I haven't made you lose any money yet, have I?"

"No, I guess not."

"Well, I'm not going to begin now. Lend him what he wants; you say the security is good."

"I'll be hanged if I can see what you're driving at."

"You don't have to see," she said, imperturbably. "But I don't mind telling you. His mother and sister have gone out of their way to put me down."

"BUT I WANT YOU TO DO IT."

Grierson's laugh was a guffaw.

"That won't work a little bit, Maggie."

"Why won't it?"

"Because he ain't the man to go to his women when he gets into trouble. They'll go on bluffing you just the same."

She looked at him through narrowing eyelids. "You know a good deal, poppa mine, but you don't know everything. Mr. Raymer's interest in the iron works is only one-fourth. The other three-fourths belong to Mrs. Raymer and Gertrude."

The magnate nodded intelligence, and made a memorandum. "I savez; I'll break the syndicate for you."

"You will do nothing of the kind. You'll let Mr. Raymer get into deep water, and then, when I say the word, you'll pull him out."

"The mischief I will! Do you know how much he wants to borrow?"

"No, and I don't care. The more the better."

Jasper Grierson thought about it for a moment. Then he made a check-mark against the memorandum on the calendar pad.

"All right; go ahead, but you'll have to keep tab yourself, and say when. I can't be bothered keeping the run of your society tea parties."

"I don't want you to. Don't be late to dinner to-night. The Rodneys are coming."

When she was gone Jasper Grierson tilted back in the pivot-chair and lighted a cigar. After a bit his reflections found voice.

"By jing! I believe she thought she was fooling me! But it's too thin. I suppose she does want to make the women kowtow, but that isn't all there is to it, by a jugful. All the same, I'll back her to win."

Accordingly, when Mr. Edward Raymer came out of the banker's office the next morning he was treading upon air, and in his mind's eye there was a picture of a great industry to be builded upon the extension of credit promised by Jasper Grierson.

CHAPTER XVI.

Griswold had landed in Wahaska on the day following his flight from St. Louis, too ill to care much about anything. But he was sane enough to find a bank, to rent a safety deposit box and to lock the treasure into it before he resigned himself to the inevitable, allowing himself to be put to bed in his room at the St. James, with hot water bottles at his feet and a bag of chopped ice on his head.

For a fortnight he hung tremulous on the verge of collapse, and was kept from tumbling in only by a just horror of being seriously ill in a hotel. At the end of the fortnight he made shift to go out and find a boarding place; and the effort, coupled with the conviction that he might safely trust himself in the hands of motherly Mrs. Holcomb, pushed him over the verge.

Here Dr. Farnham found him tossing in delirium, and his verdict was promptly pronounced.

"Typhoid-malaria, Mrs. Holcomb; and a relapse, at that. What are you going to do with him?"

"What should I do but take care of him?" said the motherly one.

"You can't do it alone; it's no woman's job."

"Then we must get a man. There's Sven Oleson; he's out of work."

The doctor smiled. "Nobody but you would ever think of making a nurse out of that great, overgrown child. But maybe he'll do. I'll hunt him up and send him over. Where did you say this young man hails from?"

"New York, he says."

"Humph! that's odd. I should say he has been soaking himself full of malaria in the Yazoo swamps. But how about the expenses? Has he any money?"

"Plenty, I think. He paid a month in advance, and when he went to bed he told me where to find his pocket-book."

"Poor fellow! I guess he was glad enough to find somebody he could trust. Well, we'll do what we can for him, and I'll send Sven."

So it came about that the mild-eyed Swede was installed as Griswold's nurse. Luckily Oleson understood but little English, and the sick man's ravings about the bank robbery meant nothing to him; but Dr. Farnham heard them and wondered. Curiously enough a small thing satisfied the wonder, and that was the mention made by Mrs. Holcomb of his patient's calling.

"H—m; an author, is he? That accounts for his harping so continually upon that bank robbery story. It's a part of his plot."

It was the first of May when Griswold took possession of Mrs. Holcomb's spare bedroom; and it was a full month later when Dr. Farnham pronounced him out of danger and in a fair way to recover if he took care of himself.

During the weeks of convalescence he met many of Mrs. Holcomb's friends and neighbors, and among them the Raymers. The mother and daughter came with dainties for the widow's invalid; and later on they brought Edward, who was bookish enough in his leisure moments to be interested in one who was even a potential writer of books.

That acquaintance ripened into friendship, and Griswold's first outing was a ride in Raymer's buggy to the iron works.

Here the two young men met upon new common ground. Raymer was, or he meant to be, a model employer; and when he found that the convalescent was an enthusiastic student of the vexed problem of master and man, he unbosomed himself freely.

"I've been enlarging, as you see," he explained. "But when I get on my feet and out of debt I'm going to try a plan my father had in mind—profit-sharing with the men."

"Good," said Griswold. "I wish I might be in it with you. I'd like to flail that out with you when I'm fit."

"So you shall, but not yet." They were on the way back to Mrs. Holcomb's, and Raymer asked if the drive had tired him.

"No indeed; I feel better for it."

"Are you equal to an evening out?"

"I guess so, if it's sufficiently mild."

"It'll be mild enough. You know we have a magnate here, Mr. Jasper Grierson?"

"Yes, I've heard of him."

"Well, he has a daughter, and this is her 'evening.' I'm commanded to produce you as soon as you're able."

"I'll go, though I shan't know anyone but your mother and Miss Gertrude."

ANIMALS OF THE DESERT.

The Addax Antelope and Loder's Gazelle Frequent the Lands of Thirst and Sand.

In the northern Sahara two animals are found which seem specially adapted for life in this forbidden land. They are the addax antelope and Loder's gazelle, says the London Spectator. The addax is an ugly, awkward-looking animal, with spiral horns and very widespread hoofs, which enable it to go at a great pace over the sand. Pliny knew of its existence, and was naturally interested in it, for as South Africa was as yet unvisited, this was one of the few species of antelope known to the ancients. It was not rediscovered till Ruppell found it near Dongola. As it is rather a large antelope, it requires a considerable amount of food and the difficulty which suggested itself was to discover where it found its food. It is now nearly certain that the addax follows the rains which fall at certain seasons, and probably travels vast distances in the wake of the season's storms. The immense area of desert in northern Africa makes this possible, though without special knowledge of the meteorology of that part of the continent it would be unsafe to assert that there is always rain going on in some part of the desert fringe. How the addax supports itself in these absolutely dry intervals is not known. Gazelles are mainly desert animals, but Loder's gazelle seems to have rather more than the family leaning toward the land of thirst and sand.

HAYTIAN HONESTY.

Uncounted Couriers Carry Loads of Wealth Over Desolate Mountain Passes in Safety.

Hayti is the only country in the world "where black rules white." Although the present republic is not successful because so large a portion of the citizens are lazy and uneducated, yet the people have many good qualities which, according to Mr. Hesketh Pritchard, show themselves in unexpected and contradictory ways.

"One of the things that strike one most is that Hayti is a country of extremes and contrasts. Logic is always at fault. A Haytian's honesty is like a Haytian's mind; it is apt to surprise you round odd corners.

"For example, hundreds of thousands of Haytian dollars pass annually along the lonely track between Jacmel and Port au Prince. The men who bear them are low-class Haytians; ragged, uncouth, uneducated, wild and untutored. Yet only once have the dollars failed to arrive. I have heard it said that ten dollars might tempt the Haytian's cupidity, but $10,000 awes him into immaculate honesty.

"During the last 30 years uncounted couriers have made the desolate journey over the mountain passes, each with his load of wealth, and there is only this one instance known of the betrayal of trust. A fine record!"

HOW SOON BEHEADING KILLS.

A French Physician Says That Death May Not Ensue for the Space of Three Hours.

Considerable attention has lately been given in France to the old question as to whether death follows instantaneously upon decapitation. A French physician asserts that it does not. In his opinion the blood which flows after decapitation comes from the large vessels of the neck, and there is hardly any call upon the circulation of the cranium, says the London News. The brain remains intact, nourishing itself with the blood retained by the pressure of the air. When the blood remaining in the head at the moment of separation is exhausted there commences a state, not of death, but of inertia, which lasts up to the moment when the organ, no longer fed, ceases to exist. It is estimated by the physician in question that the brain finds nourishment in the residuary blood for about an hour after decapitation. The period of inertia would last for about two hours, he thinks, and absolute death would not ensue till after the space of three hours altogether. Possibly this may be some consolation to those about to be guillotined.

Highest-Paid Mail Carrier.

The bigness of our country is emphasized every now and then by some obscure governmental routine. Away off in the Philippines we are delivering mail in canoelike boats, and, on the other hand, says Harper's Weekly, a contract was let for carrying the mail in Alaska by dog-sleds. The successful bidder was Oscar Fish, and his route lies between Eagle and Valdez, a distance of 414 miles. He makes two trips a month, and receives nearly $1,500 a trip, or $35,000 a year. Only 300 pounds are carried per trip, and this is usually made up of letters, few newspapers. Postoffice department officials say that the sum paid Fish is very reasonable when it is considered that he makes the trip by dog-sled, and that he has the most dangerous route of any mail carrier in the world.

Underground Mountains.

The conductors of the Trigonometrical survey in India have made a singular discovery. They have reason to believe that there is in the middle of India an underground, or buried, mountain range, a thousand miles in length, which lies parallel with the Himalayas. The conclusion is based on the peculiarities of the local attraction of gravitation, the plumb-line being deflected southward on the north side of the supposed underground chain, and northward on the south side. The inference is that a great elongated mass of rock of excessive density underlies the two observing stations.

DOG NURSES CHICKS.

A Truly Remarkable Example of Brute Intelligence.

Odd Alliance Between a Dutiful Little Fox Terrier and a Clucking Old Hen on an Indiana Poultry Farm.

George Ullrich, of Hammond, Ind., is the owner of a dog that is, perhaps, the most remarkable example of brute intelligence ever heard of outside the fairy books of Grimm and Andersen. Mr. Ullrich, who is a poultry raiser on a small scale, noticed a few days ago that one of his setting hens was in the habit of frequently leaving her nest and remaining away for a long time. Fearing that he might loose a brood of chickens through the hen's neglect, he set about to make arrangements for keeping the eggs warm during her absence, and to that end decided to transfer the nest to the basement, alongside the furnace.

Upon entering the henhouse, however, he discovered that his wishes had been anticipated by his pet dog, Princess, a female fox terrier, which he found crouching on the eggs. He endeavored to induce the animal to leave the nest, but she refused to do so until the hen returned to her duties.

This state of affairs continued until the eggs were hatched. The moment the hen would leave the nest the dog would dash into the henhouse and "sit" upon the eggs until the clucking biddy had finished her outing and was ready to assume her rightful place.

As soon as the chicks were out of the shell Princess asserted her right to share with the hen the care of the progeny.

Last week a reporter of the Chicago Record-Herald called at Mr Ullrich's home, which is situated on Conkey avenue, on the outskirts of Hammond, and found Princess out in the yard with her adopted young about her. A few yards away the hen scratched and clucked, but the chicks seemed to prefer the society of their foster mother.

The day was damp and cold and "as a hen gathereth her chicks under her wing" so Princess with gentle paw and persuasive nose was trying to cuddle the peeping brood into the shelter of her maternal breast.

To the reporter Mr. Ullrich said:

"I put 15 eggs under that hen, and every one hatched out a chicken. A pretty good record, wasn't it? But that was due to Princess. The eggs didn't have a chance to get cold or spoil. At first I was afraid the dog would break them, but when I saw how carefuly she 'set' upon them I decided to let her alone. In fact, she was a better sitter than the hen."

Just then one of the chickens attempted to run away, when, quick as a flash, Princess opened her mouth and for a brief space it looked as though the dog had swallowed "a warm bird," but in an instant the chick was dropped to the ground unharmed. The canine instinct which prompts a mother dog to carry her young in her mouth had momentarily asserted itself.

"Don't be afraid," said Mr. Ullrich, in answer to the reporter's startled look of anxiety, "she does that often, but never hurts them."

As the newsgatherer made ready to depart a strange dog entered the yard.

"Now you will see some fun," said Mr. Ullrich.

But it was the hen that came to the rescue. With outstretched wings she flew at the invader and chased him ignominiously from the premises.

"Old Biddy has perfect confidence in Princess. But woe to any other dog that tries to come near," said Mr. Ullrich. "I have tried several times to wean her from the chicks by keeping her in the house, but it was of no use. The moment I would let her out she would make a dart for the henhouse and whine until I let her in. By and by the chicks will begin to scratch for themselves, and then I don't know what Princess will do."

Bullets Made of Garnets.

Bullets made of precious stones are rarities in warfare. But during the fighting on the Kashmir frontier, when the British troops defeated the rebellious Hunzas, the natives used bullets of garnets incased in lead. The British preserved many as curiosities.

Still Keeps Strange Vow.

Among the Boer prisoners at Bermuda is one whose hair now reaches his shoulders. At the beginning of the war he vowed he would not have his locks cut until the Dutch had conquered in South Africa.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Captain Martin wishes every member of the Hope team to bear in mind that they are to appear on the field in uniform, Friday evening, for two hours' practice.

William Rushmore, the new Hope player passed upon by the League committee, Monday evening, will go in the box. He has pitched for Amherst College and the Montclairs.

The Y. M. C. A. team is fortunate in numbering "Berry" Egan among its players. As a first baseman he ranks among the best in the city and he has been doing some very good batting.

The Safe Works aggregation is keeping up hard practice work this week. It doesn't propose to get back in the rear and from the showing the boys are making it is hardly likely they will.

Teddy Overton will be absent from the Hope team for the next few weeks, as he has commenced his vacation. The outfield in the meantime will consist of Roseberry, Gordon, Mague and Monro.

League games scheduled for Saturday are as follows: Hope against St. Mary on St. Mary grounds; Safe Works against Y. M. C. A. on Hope Common. Both games will be called promptly at 3 o'clock.

Manager Muir, of the Safe Works team, declares The Press was in error in stating that the Dunellen team was in the lead when Saturday's game was called. When the third inning was completed the score stood 8 to 3 in favor of the Safe Works while three men were on bases.

Dick Scott is getting back into last season's shape as a pitcher. The two trials he had on the Fourth with New Providence and Summit prove conclusively that the St. Mary's will not be stumped if anything should deprive them of the services of Keefe and Doyle. He may be worked in a League game before long.

The Young Crescents and the Third Street Specials crossed bats on the New street grounds this morning. The Crescents forged ahead and when in the third inning the score stood 4 to 2 in their favor, the Specials became disheartened and quit the field. Casey and Brown formed the battery for the Crescents and Nestler and Ennis acted in a similar capacity for the Specials.

It is not at all improbable that Manager Monahan will make arrangements shortly with the Pearsalls, for the game that was cut short, Saturday. The two innings played resulted rather disastrously to the St. Mary's, it is true, but it takes nine innings for a game and a victory is often gained in the last one. The Pearsalls have several open dates which may allow of a game being arranged.

GOLF.

F. O. Reinhart, who has distinguished himself in golf, will be one of the aspirants for further honors in the contest for the National championship which will begin July 15 over the Glen View course at Chicago, when a new system will be experimented upon.

The events on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday will include the weekly competitions for the Golf committee and Boys' cups, and regular play for the Ackerman Handicap cup in the morning and the Gilbert cup, mixed foursomes in the afternoon. During the balance of July and through August there will be the weekly competitions only as a majority of the members will be away on their vacations.

An unfortunate incident marked the play of Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course on July 4. He entered the competition for the club championship cup and the kicker's handicap, and thoughtlessly forgot to enter his name in the competition for the Holiday cup. When he finished his round he learnned that up to that time he held the lowest score a 77 net, with excellent chances of securing first honors. But because he failed to put his name on the card his score failed to count. His disappointment was somewhat lessened when he learned later that Geo. T. VanBoskerck was low man with a net score of 76.

CYCLING.

The bicycle corps will go out for a run Friday evening. The cyclists will leave the Y. M. C. A. hall at 8 o'clock, led by the physical director.

TENNIS.

The next play at tennis for the Mellick cup will be on Saturday morning, August 2, at 10 o'clock.

LICENSES TO PHYSICIANS

ISSUED TO FORTY BY STATE BOARD OF MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

Twenty Medical Colleges Represented by the Applicants—The Officers of Board Elected.

The annual meeting of the State Board of Medical Examiners was held in Newark, last week, when licenses to practice medicine in this State were awarded to those candidates who had successfully passed the State examination at Trenton on June 17 and 18. Forty-eight candidates were examined; forty were licensed, one was expelled for cribbing and seven failed to attain the average required for a medical license, making a rejection of 16.6 per cent.

Twenty medical colleges, located in Boston, New Haven, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Raleigh, Sewanee and Naples, Italy, were represented, the greater part of whom received their medical education in Baltimore. Of the twelve midwives who took the June examination for State license, fifty-eight per cent. failed to pass. Since the last annual meeting the certificate of license to practice medicine issued by this State has been accepted by a number of other States in lieu of an examination.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. John J. Baumann, Jersey City; secretary, Dr. E. L. B. Godfrey, Camden; treasurer, Dr. A. Uebelacker, Morristown.

DAY ON MOUNTAIN.

Members of Miss Gertrude Tier's Sunday-School Class on a Picnic.

Miss Gertrude Tier's Sunday-school class at Trinity Reformed church is enjoying a picnic today on the mountains near the Mountain Park Inn. The young folks made the trip to the mountains by trolley and after finding a well-shaded spot spent the day in a pleasant and comfortable manner. The party took lunch with them and at noon the repast was partaken of. Those comprising the class include Miss Edna Force, Miss Mamie Davenport, Miss Anna Bodine, Miss Ethel Lorton, Miss Luella Day, Miss Pansy Luckey, Miss Mabel Scribner and the teacher, Miss Gertrude Tier.

HAD NO LICENSE.

So Patrolman Lunger Took a Hand in the Peddlar's Business.

With a great load of vendable wares but no license to sell them, Charles Hudson, of New York, commenced business on his own account in the business section, yesterday. Patrolman Lunger took it upon himself to be appointed receiver and terminate the business. This morning Hudson pleaded guilty in the city court to having no license and was given ten minutes in which to get out of town.

Col. Abernethy Resigns.

Col. Hugh H. Abernethy, formerly police commissioner in Jersey City, and recently finance commissioner under appointment by Mayor Fagan, of that place, retires from the latter position July 15 for the reason that he wishes to devote more time to regaining his health. Col. Abernethy formerly resided in Plainfield and it is believed that he will return to this city after giving up his position.

Stricken While Working.

While at work in McCullough's planing mill, yesterday morning, George Butscher, of West Fourth street, was taken with a paralytic stroke. He was removed to his home in a carriage and Dr. Boone was summoned. The physician has remained with him ever since, but his condition is rapidly growing worse.

To Boynton by Trolley.

The members of the Plainfield Retail Clerk' Mutual Benefit Association will go to Boynton Beach by trolley tomorrow evening, where they will enjoy a dance. Already a large number of members and friends have signified their intention of taking the trip.

Camp Song.

The Y. M. C. A. boys, who will attend Camp Wawayanda, have prepared a camp song entitled "Over in the Orange Hills," to be sung to the air of "Away Down on the Suwanee River."

Church Picnic.

The congregation of the German Reformed church has decided to hold a picnic next month. No date or place has yet been selected.

The Folly of Oversensitiveness.

Over-sensitive people are usually very fine-grained, highly organized and intelligent, and, if they could overcome this weakness, would become capable, conscientious workers. This failing—for it is a failing, and a very serious one, too—is an exaggerated form of self-consciousness, which while entirely different from egotism or conceit, causes self to loom up in such large proportions on the mental retina as to overshadow everything else. The victim of its feels that, wherever he goes, whatever he does, he is the center of observation, and that all eyes, all thoughts are focused upon him. He imagines that people are criticising his movements and his person, and making fun at his expense; when, in reality, they are not thinking of him, and perhaps did not see him.—Success.

Hedghog and Viper.

A resident at Versailles, M. Guignet, sends a vivid account of a duel he saw between a hedgehog and a viper. The two enemies knew very well at first sight who was who and eyed each other as if they knew a moment's inattention would be fatal. The viper was first to get tired of gazing and it began to glide away. Just then the hedgehog rushed for the viper's tail, and having nailed it fast with its teeth, it rolled itself up. The hedgehog was very careful, however, not to cut the tail off. The viper curled back, and delivered furious assaults on its aggressor, wrestling and rolling with the curled-up hedgehog all over the place. At length the snake, wounded in a hundred places, died. The hedgehog began its repast on the tail of its victim, and was careful not to eat the head.—Nature.

Character in Laughter.

Clearly a person's character is shown by the manner in which he laughs, or rather by the sound which he makes, it is maintained by a European psychologist. The following according to him are unerring indications: "Those who laugh in 'A,' or who make a sound like 'A,' are frank, loyal and fond of bustle and movement and are generally of a versatile character. Those who laugh in 'E' are phlegmatic and melancholy. Those who laugh in 'I,' as most children do, are timid, irresolute, candid, affectionate and ever ready to work for others. Those who laugh in 'O' are generous, bold and self-confident. Those who laugh in 'U' are misanthropes."—Detroit Free Press.

BABCOCK LOSS WAS SETTLED

Insurance Companies Will Pay $95,000 For the Loss on Babcock Building.

IT TOOK FOUR MONTHS.

Babcock Estate Will Undoubtedly Rebuild, But Two Executors Are Away and It Will Take Some Time to Prepare Plans and Estimates For Changes.

Just four months after the big fire in the Babcock building the loss has been adjusted on the building. As has been reported from time to time there was first one thing and another which caused delay in the settlement. This was largely due to the fact that nearly every company doing business in Plainfield was represented in the loss. This necessitated the calling together the representatives of these companies. Some lived at a distance and the work of adjusting was naturally very slow.

Tapscott & Hardingham, local agents, took up the work at the start of adjusting the loss, but the task was one of much magnitude that other and more experienced people had to be called in to assist. The well-known firm of adjustors, Miller & Maltby, which adjusted the loss for Woodhull & Martin, was engaged and they were assisted by Tapscott & Hardingham in the work. The Babcock estate secured the services of John Abbott to make an estimate as to how much it would cost to rebuild the structure. His figures are not known exactly, but it is reported that they were a trifle over $100,000. The insurance companies generally believed this sum to be too high and they figured on a lower basis. After a number of conferences the loss was finally settled for $95,000, which is considered to be a fair adjustment. Mr. Webster, of Newark, a well-known insurance broker, represented the companies, making one of the three parties selected to adjust the loss. This proved to be the only feasible and practical plan, thus bringing about the settlement.

There seems to be no doubt that the building will be rebuilt, but it will doubtless be on somewhat different lines. When the work will be started is not known. Wm. M. Stillman, one of the executors, has gone to California, while Mrs. G. H. Babcock is at her summer home at Watch Hill, R. I. Before any definite plans are made it will be necessary for them to be consulted. The chances are that the building will remain in its present condition this summer, as a good part of the season is gone and it will require some time to prepare plans, get estimates, etc., for rebuilding. The fact that Mr. Stillman recently left for the Pacific coast leads one to believe that the matter will be held up for the present at least.

SHEPHERDS CHOSE LEADERS.

Election at Meeting of Star of Plainfield Lodge Held Last Evening.

Star of Plainfield Lodge, No. 25, Shepherds of Bethlehem, held a regular meeting last evening at which time the following officers were elected: Commander, Mrs Hannah Westphal; vice commander, Mrs Ellis; chaplain, Mrs. Laramour; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Nash; accountant, Mrs. Angleman; scribe, Mrs. Emma Cox; outside guard, Mrs. Jennie Bowden; inside guard, Mrs. Mary Bowden; mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. W. J. Ford; past commander, Miss Ada Nash; trustees, Mrs. W. J. Ford, Mrs. Ellen Terry, Mrs. Ellis.

After the election refreshments were served by Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Gunn, and a social time followed. At the next meeting two new members will be initiated and the officers will be installed. There will also be an entertainment provided by a committee appointed for that purpose.

Trinity's Annual Event.

The annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and Marconnier chapel to Asbury Park is scheduled for Thursday, July 17, and the usual good time is promised all who go along. The excursionists will remain at the shore until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Green Turtle Party.

Joseph Miller, formerly of Plainfield, will give a green turtle party this evening at his place, corner of Westfield and Morris avenues, Elizabeth. A number of Plainfielders will attend.

WILL PASTOR STAY.

Swedish Lutheran Church Will Consider Question Sunday Night.

Rev. Mr. Arnfelt, the new pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, has been staying in Plainfield this week at 313 West Front street. Sunday evening one of the elders of the church, Rev. Mr. Nelsenins, will preach and also conduct a business meeting for the purpose of determining whether the pastor can arrange to reside in Plainfield. At the evening service to be held at 8 o'clock there will be infant baptism. Those having children to be baptised should notify John Gjettlesen, 132 East Second street, before Sunday.

JERSEY OFFICIALS' OUTINGS

HOW PROMINENT STATE OFFICERS ARE SPENDING THEIR VACATIONS.

Governor Murphy Will be at the Shore Most of the Time—Where the Others Are Staying.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 10 — New Jersey's officials have started on their vacations and the Capitol promises to be a quiet spot for the next two months. United States Senator Dryden is at his handsome summer home at Bernardsville, in the hills of Somerset county; Senator Kean is at his home, "Ursino," in Union county, and Governor Murphy has taken his family to his cottage at Elberon. The Governor, who but recently returned from a fortnight's trip to Canada, where he spent the time in the woods, will devote the rest of the summer to Elberon and the little "White House" at Sea Girt.

Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson left for Europe on Saturday to be gone for two months. Supreme Court Justice Hendrickson, who has been accustomed to summering at Ocean Grove, has also gone abroad. Clerk in Chancery Edward C. Stokes has been planning a trip to Europe, but his time is so occupied with business and politics that it does not seem probable that he will get any protracted vacation. As the acting chairman of the Republican State committee the chances are that he will be kept very much occupied during the coming months. He spends his evenings at Ocean Grove.

The seashore is the principal point of outing of State officials. Attorney-General McCarter, with his family, has already taken up his abode for the summer at Seabright. Banking Commissioner William Bettle, who has been seriously ill for some months, will remain at his suburban home, Oaklyn, in Camden county. Chief Justice William S. Gummere is at Point Pleasant; Justice Bennet Van Syckle has taken his family to Saratoga, Justice Dixon is at Allenhurst, Justice Fort and Chancellor Magie are at Spring Lake, while Justice Collins is at Stonington, Conn. Vice-Chancellor Reed, whose family spend the greater part of the winter season in New York, enjoys farm life on an immense farm in Mercer county during the summer months.

Justices Pitney and Garretson enjoy the pleasant surroundings of their Morris county homes during the heated term. Supreme Court Clerk William Riker has removed his family from Orange to the Thousand Islands, where he has a pleasant summer home. He will have for his guest for a brief spell former Governor Foster M. Voorhees. John L. Swayze, secretary to the Governor, with his bride, will spend the summer months at Asbury Park.

Theatre to Open.

The Plainfield Theatre, West Second street, near Park avenue, will be opened this evening by Grimshaw's Stock Company, in the glorious farces "Lend Me Five Shillings," "Sarah's Young Man," and "Mr. Cartwheel's Troubles." The bill for next week will be announced later. This company is reputed to be a good one. Popular prices will paevail.

W. H. Lunger Will Speak.

At Reform Hall, this evening, in connection, with the customary service, William H. Lunger, of North Plainfield, will address the meeting. The song and devotional services will be in charge of B. W. Hand. An interesting programme has been arranged and at the close refreshments will be served. All are cordially invited to attend.

Salt Water Day.

Tomorrow will be "Great Salt Water Day" for colored church and Sunday-schools at Boynton Beach. This place is one of the most popular excursion resorts in this section of New Jersey and can be reached easily by the New Jersey Central or the trolley.

INITIATION DID NOT SUIT YOUNG HEBREW

So He Had Twenty-two Boys Haled Before City Judge For Abusing Him.

HE WAS A NEWCOMER.

AND THE BOYS GAVE HIM A MUD BATH AS FIRST INITIATORY DEGREE.

Told the Story of It All in City Court This Morning When All Twenty-two Were Arraigned—Sentence Suspended by Judge Runyon.

More defendants than were ever in the city court at one time before faced City Judge Runyon, this morning. They were all boys—twenty-two of them, and they were accompanied by eighteen or more friends. Arrayed against them was another boy—Harry Shrager—who related a long tale of grievances that he had suffered at the hands of the gang when he visited the favorite West End "swimmin' hole" Monday evening.

When he arrived at the pool, he said, there was a mud fight in progress, and somehow, nobody could explain why, he suddenly became the target for all the experts in the crowd. He objected but his objections were overruled. He then doubled his fist and made a "pass" at Larry Bray. Lary retreated to a safe distance and then "heaved" back a pair of shoes which struck Shrager amidship. They were succeeded by more mud and during the shower a couple of fists he says belonging to Sam Bowden, landed on his cranium.

As if that wasn't enough, the crowd formed a ring around him, he says, and exclaimed "throw the Jew in the brook and there'll be one less." Fearing they would fulfill their threat he beat a retreat, but the gang was so inconsiderate as to cut off the customary path and force him through a swamp which has more water in it than grass hummocks.

Arriving home he elicited the sympathies of his father, Julius Sharager, and the latter preferred complaint against the twenty-two. It took Patrolman Higgins and McCarthy all day yesterday to serve summons on the lot.

While it was made up of typical West End boys there were some distinguished ones in the lot namely, a nephew and namesake of Chief Kiely, a brother of Patrolman Higgins and a brother-in-law of Patrolman McCarthy. Patrolman Higgins' brother, Thomas Higgins, was selected as spokesman but despite assuring nods from the crowd in the rear he became tangled and pleaded guilty to everything that came along. All the rest that wished to followed him.

They claimed Shrager came down looking for "scrap" and got it. It was customary, they said, for every newcomer to the swimming hole to go through a little initiation. Shrager was being put through the mud bath but not being a thoroughbred he objected.

The court coincided with the defendants that it was done for no evil intent but after warning the boys to leave Shrager alone in the future, he suspended sentence on all.

Shrager and his father implored the court to permit them to carry revolvers for future protection but their request was denied.

The twenty defendants were as follows: Lawrence Bray, Thomas Higgins, Charles Waldron, John Lyness, Jacob Schlick, Jr., Samuel Bowden, William Jerbloman, Dominick Muldowney, Thomas Fosbro, Edward Mattell, Thomas and Joseph Cavilier, John Kneeland, John Donnelly, William Simmonds, Partick Kiely, Charles Gulick, Martin Flatly, William Motley, Arthur Robinson, Caesar Grove, Fritz Nessler and Thomas Kane.

Prizes For New Members.

The Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. has received the first consignment of 200 gold watch charms with the insignia of the order beautifully enameled in the centre. One of these emblems will be presented to each one bringing in a new member. The designing and manufacturing of these charms come through J. Hervey Doane, the jeweler, of Park avenue.

Special Music.

A stringed orchestra will be present at the Rescue mission meeting in the First Church of Christ this evening. A most elaborate programme has been prepared. At the conclusion cake and lemonade will be served free to all.

NEW PRIMARY ELECTION LAW

COMMISSION IS NOW AT WORK GETTING DATA ON SUBJECT.

Will Probably Provide for Holding Primaries in Similar Fashion to Regular Elections.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 10—The commission appointed under the legislative resolution of last winter to investigate primary election systems, and report a bill embodying its view, will be ready with such a measure when the time comes. The commission consists of Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland; George L. Record, of Jersey City, and Joseph L. Munn, of Newark. They are gathering a few tons of documents bearing on the subject from nearly all parts of the country, and especially from Wisconsin, Ohio, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana and Louisiana.

The most drastic system the commission has yet run across is that of Louisiana, where no conventions of any sort are to be held under the new law, recently passed, but all nominations of every sort will be made by direct vote of the people. This, it is thought by some persons, is probably a little too radical for New Jersey. The basic principles of primary reform are that all primary elections be held by both parties at the same place on the same day, and conducted by election officers, and with all the usual formalities, with booths, official tickets, etc. This, say some, seems to be essential, and will probably constitute the main features of the bill the commission will draft.

Grand Rapids, Mich., and Cleveland, O., have adopted the direct vote system, and no conventions are held. The same system is in operation in Gloucester county, N. J., except as to the selection of delegates to State conventions.

The principal object of the reform will be to convince the people that the nominations made represent the will of the party, so that when a man is beaten for the nomination he will not be able to think that he was cheated or manipulated out of it.

NO REPORT TONIGHT.

Committee Will Not Tell of Greater Plainfield Question at This Evening's Meeting.

The report that was to have been made at the meeting of the Borough Council, this evening, on the advantages and disadvantages of annexation and consolidation will not be presented. Although such a report has been actually completed, it will not be placed before the board, owing to the fact that Councilman Nichols will not sign the majority report and has no minority report in readiness. After consultation with the committee, Councilman Clark, the chairman, has decided to withhold the report until the minority has its side of the case in readiness. The third member of the committee is Councilman Arnold.

Councilman Nichols will set to work at once to complete a report setting forth his views, as the minority of the committee, on the annexation and consolidation question.

CONTROLLED BY OTHERS

Manning, Maxwell & Moore Are Said to be Largely Interested in Firm Which Will Locate Here.

The new indsutry to be located in the west end of the city, for which surveys are now being made, and exclusive mention of which was made in The Daily Press of yesterday, will be devoted, it has been learned, to the construction principally of hydraulic machinery.

Although the Pederick & Ayer Company, of Philadelphia, are the immediate movers in the matter, that firm is under the control of the larger concern of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, of New York. Roger Maxwell, of the latter firm, is well known in this city, and was formerly president of the Jersey Central Railroad Company.

Milliken Brothers, civil engineers and contractors, have the contract for the construction of the building. L. J. H. Grosshart, a representative of the firm, is now in this city and is prepared to hire laborers and carpenters immediately.

Granted Pension.

A. R. Vail, of Duer street, a veteran of the civil war, has been granted a pension by the U. S. pension commissioner. The pension amounts to $6 per month.

Soon to Wed.

C. O. Smith, of Somerset street, and Miss Annie Kirch, of West Front street, will be married at the residence of the bride's parents Thursday evening.

LEGAL BATTLE BEGUN TO DISCOVER OWNER

F. W. Bird Claims Ownership of Lot in Park Laid Out By L. V. F. Randolph.

WHO BOUGHT JUDGMENT

LEGAL COMPLICATIONS MAKE IT DIFFICULT TO SAY WHO OWNS IT.

Execution Issued on Judgment and Sheriff Was to Sell It When Restraining Order Was Obtained—To Be Argued Monday.

A case has just been started in the Supreme Court, the outcome of which will be watched with unusual interest. Frederick W. Bird, of East Front street, claims a lot in the centre of the handsome park recently laid out by Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph opposite his residence on East Front street. Mr. Bird now wants to get possession of this land and has engaged Hetfield & Hetfield to recover the same.

The history of the lot, as given by the plaintiff in the action, is rather a lengthy one. The late Elisha Coriell, of North Plainfield, held a judgment against Mr. Bird for about $300. This was in 1899. Mr. Coriell agreed with Mr. Bird that if the latter would convey to him a vacant lot at 58 Elm place and pay $35 the cost of the suit, he would cancel the judgment against Mr. Bird on the land on East Front street. Mr. Bird had the deed prepared, but in the meantime Mr. Coriell died and it was never signed by him.

Mr. Bird then went to the executrix, Mrs. Carrie C. Boice, and tendered the deed and $35, and asked her to cancel the judgment. She refused to do so. In the meantime Mr. Randolph bought this property opposite his residence and laid it out in a park, which included lot, 50x83, claimed by Mr. Bird. A driveway was put through the lot and the grounds were graded. About that time Mr. Randolph, it is said, went to Mr. Bird's father, Morgan Bird and told him that if his son would take $25 for the lot he would give that sum, otherwise he would buy up the judgment and get the lot any way. The Boice judgment was the only one to buy and it is believed that Mr. Randolph purchased it.

An execution was issued on the judgment in the name of Mrs. Carrie C. Boice and it was assigned to John A. Potter, her son-in-law. This has been placed in the hands of the sheriff and he has advertised the lot for sale at the court house on July 30. Hetfield & Hetfield filed a bill in chancery against Mrs. Boice and John A. Potter asking the court to compel a specific performance of the contract of Elisha Coriell, compelling her to carry out the original argeement and cancel the judgment and praying in the bill that the sheriff be restrained from selling the lot in the Randolph tract.

Vice Chancellor Pitney granted a rule to show cause why the sheriff should not be enjoined from selling this lot, and that is returnable before the vice chancellor Monday morning in Jersey City at 11 o'clock.

In the meantime a notice has been served on Mr. Randolph demanding possession of the lot in question. Possession has been denied. As a result an action of ejectment has been commenced in the Supreme Court against Mr. Randolph and the declaration and summons were filed today with the sheriff to recover possession of the premises from Mr. Randolph and damages amounting to $2,000.

Overcome By Heat.

John Paliermo, an Italian laborer, was overcome by heat yesterday afternoon while engaged on the cellar excavation for Lafayette Rosenstiehl's new building on Somerset street. He was carried to the surface and after a few hours was sufficiently revived to walk to his home.

Methodists' Excursion.

The Methodists, of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, will go to Asbury Park on their annual excursion Thursday, July 31, and not July 30, as stated yesterday.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

A summons, returnable on Monday, has been issued in Justice Mattison's court in the contract case of Frank S. Link against Charles D. Derbus.

STREET WORK.

Borough Street Committee is Active and Has More in View.

The borough street committee has recently been very active in the matter of improving the public thoroughfares. Under the direction of Chairman Arnold of that committee the work of macadamizing Somerset street from Greenbrook road to Howard street has just been completed. Myrtle avenue has also been macadamized and the gutters have been cleaned out. Like treatment has been accorded to West End avenue. Race street will now receive a share of attention and the roadway will be ploughed up and the gutters put in first class order.

MANY MASONS WILL GATHER

FOR LAYING OF CORNERSTONE OF CRANFORD'S NEW MASONIC HALL.

Now Scheduled to Take Place Saturday Afternoon, July 26—A Banquet to Follow.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 10—The cornerstone of the handsome new Masonic Hall building being erected here as the future home for Azure Lodge, F. and A. M., of Roselle, which is to be removed to this place, will be laid Saturday afternoon, July 26, with a grand programme of exercises. Members of all lodges in the fifth district will attend the ceremony in full regalia.

The cornerstone will be laid by M. W. Grand Master W. Holt Apgar, of Trenton, who will be accompanied by the other grand lodge officers. These are: Deputy Grand Master John H. Wilkens, of No. 51 of Newark; Senior Grand Warden Benjamin W. Wakefield, of No. 48 of Passaic; Junior Grand Warden Walter Chandler, of No. 126 of Elizabeth; Grand Treasurer Charles Bechtel, of No. 5 of Trenton; Grand Secretary Thomas H. R. Redway, of No. 19 of Trenton; Deputy Grand Secretary William D. Rutan, of No. 55 of Newark; Grand Chaplain Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, of No. 33 of Elizabeth; Grand Chaplain Rev. Dr. W. H. Morgan, of No. 1 of Newark; Grand Chaplain Rev. Dr. W. Strother Jones, of No. 120 of Trenton; Grand Instructor Henry S. Haines, of No. 32 of Burlington; Senior Grand Deacon Austin H. McGregor, of No. 51 of Newark; Junior Grand Deacon Cooper H. Prickitt, of No. 32 of Burlington; Grand Marshal H. M. Doremus, of No. 25 of Newark; Senior Grand Marshal Fred F. Martinez, Jr., of No. 90 of Bayonne; Junior Grand Steward H. B. Bannard, of No. 28 of Long Branch; Sword Bearer William E. Speakman, of No. 87 of Woodbury; Grand Pursuivant Ira C. Leedon, of No. 28 of Bordentown; Grand Organist Powell G. Fithian, of No. 177 of Camden; Grand Tyler Luther S. Skillman, of No. 50 of Trenton.

The district deputies will also be present. They are: Benjamin F. Roray, of Bridgeton; Joseph H. Hough, of Camden; William F. Burke, of Trenton; George E. Warren, of Barnegat; W. D. Wolfskeil, of Elizabeth; Elmer E. Smith, of Newark; Joseph Parker, Jr., of Arlington; Thomas Rodgers, of Paterson; Allton H. Sherman, of Orange; Morris S. Faust, of Belvidere; Adolph Klee, of Hoboken, and Robert H. Ingersoll, of Atlantic City.

Following the exercises connected with the laying of the cornerstone a banquet will be held in the main audience room of the Cranford Opera House, and arrangements are now being made to furnish refreshments for nearly 300 visitors. The committee in charge of the day is busy hustling all details. Work upon the foundations of the new home for Free Masons is rapidly progressing, and unless exceptionally wet weather sets in everything will be in readiness for the cornerstone earlier than the date announced for its laying.

Two Stands.

Alfred Lacey, Union News Company agent at the North Avenue station, expects to take possession of his new stand the first of next week. The old stand on the north side of the track is to be removed and a news stand will be placed inside the westbound station. An assistant will be in charge of that stand.

Dentists to Meet.

The annual convention of the New Jersey Dental Association will be held at Asbury Park next week Wednesday. Among those from this city will attend are Drs. Frank S. Wells, Frank Clawson, William Stelle and Charles M. Luckey.

Installation and Collation.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will have installation followed by a collation at the regular meeting this evening.

NINE HUNDRED OFF FOR THE SEASHORE

First Excursion of the Season From Plainfield Started This Morning.

WENT IN TWO SECTIONS.

ANNUAL OUTING OF FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL AND CHAPELS.

Sun Was on Hand to Bid the Excursionists a Pleasant Trip, But the Traditional Rain Came for a Short Visit.

"First to go" were the members of the First Baptist and Mount Olive Baptist church Sunday-schools who left in a happy frame of mind, this morning, bound for Asbury Park to spend a day in healthful recreation. There were 900 of them, requiring eighteen cars in two sections to afford means of transportation, and a happier lot of excursionists never drew away from the North Avenue station. Old Sol smiled his sweetest and warmest during the hour of departure and the prospect of a fair day at the shore brought smiles to the faces of old and young. Since then sundry clouds have hidden the sun from sight and there was the traditional rain on Baptist's day.

As is usual when a Sunday-school crowd gathers at the North Avenue station, eager and anxious to clamber abroad the train, the place presented a most animated appearance. What with friends to see the pleasure seekers off, the staid commuters waiting for the 7:55 and the customary onlookers there was very little room to spare on the spacious platform. It is a sight to be witnessed frequently in this city during the summer and gives the passenger in the fleeting trains the impression that Plainfield is a place of some importance.

This morning's outbound delegation was large in one sense of the word but for the ordinary Baptist excursion it was somewat below the average. The first section of the train, twelve cars, in charge of Conductor Walter Durling, of Jersey City, was filled to an uncomfortable degree. Those who waited for the second section were more fortunate as but six of them were occupied. The congestion was relieved, however, at Roselle, where matters were evened up. The second train was in charge of Conductor Frank Webster, of this city, whose genial face and assuring manner always inspires confidence in a train of Plainfielders that their journey is to be made in safety. Assistant Train Despatcher English was on hand to look after the start.

The run to the shore was made in the usual time and the return home this evening will be made at about 8:30, leaving the beach at 6:40. The committee which will be in charge during the day consists of John Mc Laughlin, George Brown, L. W. Randolph, C. B. Rittenhouse and F. W. Jones.

CALLED HIM SCAB.

Free Exchange of Compliments Followed Until Policeman Arrived.

There was a lively linguistic tiff about 9 o'clock last evening between union plumbers and a non-union coworkman at the corner of Park and North avenues. The non-union man was standing at the corner when a number of fellow tradesmen saluted him with the undignified and unacceptable title of "scab." The argument that immediately ensued was a living example of picturesque rhetoric. Both sides possessed a vocabulary that would have put Noah Webster to blush for shame but the Demosthenic powers of the single debater were too strong for his antagonists and, on a cop appearing in the distance, a retreat was sounded by the attacking party.

Pastor Expected Home.

Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, who has been spending the past few weeks with relatives in western New York State, is expected home this week. It was his intention to return sooner but recent heavy floods in that section has made railroad travelling almost impossible. He will occupy his pulpit at both services Sunday.

No Meetings Till September.

At the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Tuesday evening, it was decided not to meet again until September.

NEW JERSEY FIREMEN'S HOME

CONDITION SHOWN IN ANNUAL REPORT JUST MADE PUBLIC.

Report is Long Delayed—Present Condition is Good—The Financial End of It.

The second annual report of the managers of the New Jersey Firemen's Home has been completed. The document is rather late in being made public, and the firemen throughout the State have been looking for its appearance for months past. The report covers the doings of the board of managers up to October 31 last.

The managers who have control of the home affairs are General Bird W. Spencer, chairman; John McKiernan, Paterson, treasurer; William T. Corliss, Charles N. Reading, William H. Brown, George T. Werts, Egbert Seymour and William S. Hancock.

The report, in part, is as follows: "During the year the following persons have been admitted to the home: Michael McNally, Jersey City, December 4, 1900; J. D. Brower, New Brunswick, December 17, 1900; Charles R. VanPelt, Matawan, December 17, 1900; Charles W. Knowles, Passaic, January 4, 1901; John DeGroff, Bayonne, April 10, 1901; Nathan P. Teed, Eatontown, May, 2, 1901; Joseph Kirwin, Paterson, June 13, 1901; Adolphus G. Coombs, Trenton, September 17, 1901.

During the year the barns and buildings belonging to the home have been thoroughly repaired and painted, new line fences put up, fire escapes placed on the home, grounds cleared up and various improvements made.

The report of Treasurer McKiernan shows total receipts amounting to $12,998.50. The report of expenditures is: Subsistence, $1,004.81; clothing, $105.52; medical attendance, $59.86; farm expenses, $887.39; repairs to building, $3,643.86; salary to superintendent, $550; wages of farmer, farm hand, $734.30; forage for horses, cows, etc., $314.56; other wages of employes, $338.25; incidental expenses, $1,674.18; furniture, $24.49; balance on hand, $3,611.28; total, $12,998.50; cost of rations, $1,004.81; food cost per man per day, shoes, repairing, clothing, etc., $105.50; cost per man per year, $8.79.

The report of the physician, Dr. C. Wagg, says that during the eighteen months that the home has been opened there has not been one case of acute disease. While a few of the inmates have suffered at times from chronic troubles, without exception, all have greatly improved since living there, due undoubtedly to its salubrious location, excellent sanitary arrangements and the regular life the rules demand.

NEW ERA IN RAILROADING.

The New Jersey Central as a Leader in the Work.

No railroad in the country has made greater strides in railroading than the New Jersey Central—the road which has just put into operation hourly trains between New York and Philadelphia. These trains start on the first minute of every hour and many of them cover the distance of ninety miles in two hours.

The equipment is new and up-to-date. Buffet parlor car service is also provided. The coaches are carpeted, lighted by gas and vestibuled. The locomotives are powerful, high speed machines and brand new too. The road-bed is trap rock ballasted and the rails recently laid are heavy, assuring great speed and safety. Hard coal is burned, hence no dust, cinders or smoke.

This company also operates the Royal Blue Line to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, operating the finest day train in the world. Its route is picturesque, passing throgh a most beautiful section of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The idea of hourly trains is unique in as much as it is easy to remember—a train every hour and on the hour.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Miss Ida L. Spicer, of West Fifth street, is spending a few days at Asbury Park.

Mrs. John Mowen, of West Front street, spent yesterday with Somerville friends.

Miss Annie Meaney, of Junction, N. J., is visiting relatives in Plainfield for a time.

Theodore Smith, of Allen place, has returned from a visit with friends at New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Schwed, of the borough, are summering at Long Branch for a few weeks.

Mrs. George Homan, of Hillside avenue, has recovered from a recent operation for appendicitis.

Miss Rose Van derPoorten, of New York, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bonn, of Craig palce.

O. S. Rogers, of Madison avenue, has returned home after spending a few days' vacation at Watch Hill.

W. A. Stills, of E. B. Maynard's tonsorial parlors, has been off duty for several days on account of illness.

Arthur Leland, of Providence, R. I., who has been visitng his mother, on West Fifth street, has returned home.

THEATRICAL.

For a long time an effort has been made at the Eden Musee, New York, to represent current events of importance in wax. The latest effort in this line has just been completed. The new group occupies a large room in the Chamber of Horrors. In the background is Mount Pelee belching forth ashes and molten lava. In front of the volcano is the City of St. Pierre with its houses and public buildings falling down before the downpouring mass of lava. In the foreground, partially covered up by the ashes and debris of the ruined city are a number of victims. Every detail has been carefully arranged and the group is artistic as well as realistic. Many other new groups have been placed on exhibition at the Musee. Nearly all the old groups have been rearranged so that the interior of the Musee presents a new appearance. Special attention has been given to the American Gallery in preparation for the Fourth of July. All the war groups and groups showing scenes and incidents of the wars, as well as figures of important leaders of the various wars have been remodelled and rearranged. The Musee was decorated both outside and in, and presented an unusually good programme during the entire week of the Fourth of July. A large collection of moving pictures has just been received from London and will be shown hourly day and evening in series of twelve each. The new pictures show scenes and incidents about London previous to the time set for the Coronation ceremonies. Many of the pictures are of a mysterious character and will be of special interest to all. The afternoon and evening concerts will have choice programmes.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

THE VATICAN'S REPLY.

Judge Taft Gets Answer to His Note of July 3.

ROME, July 10.—The answer of the Vatican to the note of Judge Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, concerning religious affairs in the archipelago, which was handed to Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, July 3, was delivered to Judge Taft at a late hour last night.

As the Vatican's reply is in French it is being translated by Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Major Porter of the office of the judge advocate general of the army. It will be telegraphed entire to Washington at once.

Since Judge Taft has been in Rome he has sent about 20,000 words by cable to the Washington authorities.

German Praise For Roosevelt.

BERLIN, July 10.—Professor Schiemann, who occupies the chair of modern history in the Berlin university and whose weekly reviews of foreign politics are one of the most interesting features of the Kreuz Zeitung, takes up American affairs. He refers to President Roosevelt as being a man of the highest political capacity and says the Philippine proclamation gives much fuller amnesty than Great Britain's terms to the Boers, for "by a stroke of the pen he has transferred the government of the Philippines from the military to the civil authorities."

Canada's Strange Course In Greene-Gaynor Matter.

SECRETARY HAY TO TAKE UP CASE.

Delays and Embarrassments In the Extradition Proceedings Have Brought Out Some Queer Developments—Facts Stated.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The extradition case of Messrs. Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaynor, whose removal from Canada to the state of Georgia for trial on charges of misappropriation and embezzlement of over $2,000,000 in connection with river and harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., has been sought for some time by the United States, will take on a diplomatic phase in a few days when Secretary Hay communicates to the British government the view of the officials of our department of justice that the Canadian authorities are pursuing an extraordinary and unwarranted course in the case.

The delays and embarrassments in the extradition proceedings resulted in Mr. Marion Erwin, special assistant to the attorney general, who has been in active charge of the extradition proceedings for the United States, transmitting to the attorney general, under date of Montreal, July 7, a special report on the case, in which he calls attention to the fact that the legal representatives of Messrs. Greene and Gaynor are closely connected through professional and family ties with the Canadian officials to whom this government must look for extradition of the men whose custody it seeks.

Mr. Erwin in his report says that prior to instituting the extradition proceedings he was put on notice that the fugitives had "taken refuge at Quebec for the purpose of resisting extradition and that they had employed as their counsel the firms of lawyers to which belonged the highest officials of the provincial and Dominion governments." He says that he was thus "precluded by the position taken by them from conferring with the law officers of the crown." He therefore retained two attorneys of the Montreal and Canadian bar, who have ably assisted him. He then explains at length the progress of the case already familiar.

In conclusion the report says:

"It will thus be seen that before we can finally take the prisoners out of Canada we will have to submit the regularity of our proceedings in some very important features to a high official of the Dominion government whose firm was retained in advance of the extradition proceedings to resist extradition and whose powerful political influence has been felt at every turn the case has taken.

"If this state of affairs is to continue without protest on the part of our government, we had just as well understand in advance that extradition of criminals from Canada under our treaty does not apply to cases where the fugitives have committed financial crimes of magnitude."

Upon receipt of this report the acting attorney general called the matter to the attention of the state department, saying in his letter of transmittal:

"It has been a matter of great surprise to this department that such a state of affairs as that reported could exist in any country controlled by British sentiment and laws, and I respectfully request that the facts be laid before the representative of his Britannic majesty in order that the matter may be dealt with in accord with their high standards."

The New York Built Battleship.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—It is probable that the battleship to be built at the New York navy yard will be named Connecticut. Secretary Moody has been advised that it is desirable to have the four big ships just authorized named as soon as possible, and he will probably assign the names of the states selected, Connecticut, Tennessee, Louisiana and Washington, to the vessels in a few days. It has been the custom in naming war vessels after states to take into consideration the geographical location of the yard at which the ship is built. There already is a war vessel named the New York, and Connecticut is the nearest state of the four whose names will be given to the new vessels.

Porto Rico Exports.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 10.—Exports from Porto Rico to foreign countries for the fiscal year ended June 30 increased 54 per cent over the total of such exports for last year. The increase in the island's exports to the United States was 48 per cent over the total for the last fiscal year. Sugar, tobacco and hats formed the principal articles of export. The customs receipts for the last fiscal year reached $800,000, and the balance from insular revenues was increased by $240,000.

Vacation For American Auditors.

HAVANA, July 10.—The house of representatives has voted to grant a month's leave, on full pay, to the American employees of the auditor's office who have been adjusting the accounts carried by the American military government of Cuba up to the end of the American occupation.

The Strike That Failed.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 10.—The street railway employees who declared their strike off have applied for their old positions and signed contracts agreeing to work eleven hours per day at the rate of 18 2-3 cents per hour. The strike was for a ten hour day, with pay at 25 cents per hour.

THE TERMS MODIFIED

United States Authorities Gain Leniency For China.

A VICTORY FOR SECRETARY HAY.

Protest From Peking Regarding Severity of Conditions Proposed by Powers In the Restoration of Tientsin Results Favorably.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—China's protest, in which she had the thorough sympathy of the United States, against the severity of the conditions proposed by most of the powers for the withdrawal of foreign troops from Tientsin and the restoration of that city to Chinese authority has met with success. It is now certain that the conditions will be materially modified so that China can have no objection to accepting them.

This government led the way in opposition to the Tientsin proposals, which were regarded as particularly objectionable in the features concerning the maintenance of order in the city by the Chinese authorities. It was proposed that China should establish a constabulary force in Tientsin, the size of this being limited, and should not permit any imperial troops to approach nearer than thirty miles.

Believing that under these conditions China could not properly maintain order if serious disturbances occurred, the United States government objected and asked the other powers to agree to modifications. Japan, Great Britain and Russia joined with the United States, and information is now at hand that Germany and France have abandoned their radical position, thus insuring the result which China desires.

The negotiations have been conducted entirely in Washington between Secretary Hay and the embassadors and ministers of the powers and not in Peking, as has been supposed.

Germany Favors Leniency.

BERLIN, July 10.—The officials of the United States embassy here have been verbally discussing Chinese affairs this week with the foreign office representatives. The former again conveyed to the German government the desire of the state department that the Chinese shall be treated as leniently as possible, consistent with the attainment of the aims of the powers. No specific suggestions were made by the United States, but the general idea was again impressed that the Chinese domestic difficulties are such that nothing can be attained by pressing the Peking government unduly. The foreign office expresses itself as being in full accord with the United States and intends a further withdrawal of troops from Tientsin, which is already gradually progressing, and the German officials are confident that the occupation of the city is no longer necessary as a guarantee that China will carry out all the subordinate articles of the peace treaty.

Jail Blown Up by Prisoners.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 10.—James Blade, Leck Allen and James Murray, prisoners in the Buchanan county jail, yesterday afternoon wrecked the rear wall of the jail building with a powerful charge of dynamite. Allen, Blade and Murray then made a fierce fight for liberty, but the guards were too quick for them and beat them back with rifles. Seventy-five prisoners are confined in the jail, but many of them made no effort to escape, and those who were nervy enough to try to follow Blade and his companions were clubbed into submission.

Baptist Young People.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 10.—The convention of the Baptist Young People's union opened in this city today, with about 10,000 delegates, representing every state in the Union, present. All the available space in every hotel in this city has been engaged, Brown university dormitories have been called into requisition, and nearly a hundred private dwellings will be used to accommodate those not already provided for. The first big rally will be held this afternoon in ten churches and halls, at which all the delegates are expected to be present.

Disbrow Held For Grand Jury.

GOOD GROUND, N. Y., July 10.—Louis Disbrow, who is accused of the murder of Clarence Foster and Sarah Lawrence on Tiana bay on June 10, has been held for the grand jury. The prosecution has concluded its case at the preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Foster. The defense called no witnesses, but moved for a dismissal. The justice denied the motion and held the accused without bail.

Mayor Indicted For Taking Bribes.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 10.—The grand jury has returned indictments charging A. A. Ames, mayor of the city; Fred W. Ames, superintendent of police, and Joseph ("Reddy") Cohen with accepting bribes. The charges are based on the alleged collection of tribute from abandoned women, in which, it is charged, Cohen acted for the mayor and chief.

Killed by Live Wire.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 10.—Through the crossing of live wires John Sterner, a telephone lineman, got a shock of 500 volts while on top of a pole and was thrown to the ground. He struck head first on a pile of stones and died almost instantly.

Maya Indian War Over.

MERIDA, Yucatan, July 10.—Governor Molina of this state announces that the war against the Maya Indians is practically over and that the national guard now will be reorganized on a new and more efficient basis.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

Freight Handlers Accept Schedule Fixed by Railroads.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The strike of the freight handlers is virtually settled. Meetings of the strikers will be held today to ratify the action taken last night by President Curran of the order, but, as he stated after a conference with the general managers of the railroads that he had agreed to their terms because the majority of his men were "going back" on him, there is little doubt that the terms will be accepted by the mass meeting of the strikers.

By the terms of the settlement the strikers accept the schedule of wages offered them by the railroads July 1. This schedule was emphatically refused by the strikers at the time it was made. It offered an average increase of 20 per cent for all classes of labor connected with the freight handlers' union. The demands of the men would have made an average increase of about 30 per cent. The railroads at the time of offering the increase on July 1 said that under no circumstances would they recognize the union of the freight handlers to the extent of allowing the officers of the organization to make terms for the men with the officers of the railroads by which they were employed. This was one of the chief reasons for the strike, the men insisting that the union should be fully recognized. The railroads have won a complete victory on this point.

The attitude of the roads toward the freight handlers' union is the same as that maintained toward all local organizations of railroad men. The freight handlers demanded something that no other organization of railroad employees in Chicago asked, and the managers announced that under no circumstances would they agree to this.

SHRIEVALTY DISPUTE SETTLED.

Court Decides the Hamilton County Disputed Election Case.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 10.—The appellate division, third department, has handed down a decision declaring B. Frank Kathan to have been elected sheriff of Hamilton county at the last election.

The trouble grew out of the fact that Kathan was regularly nominated for sheriff by the Republicans of that county, and no nomination was made in opposition. On election day a large number of ballots written in were voted bearing the names of Nat Locke, James Locke, Jim Locke, etc. These names were all counted for one James N. Locke, and by so doing gave him a majority. He was declared elected and took possession of the office. Subsequently Kathan obtained a peremptory writ commanding the board of county canvassers to reconvene and recount and declare Kathan elected.

The board acted in accordance with the directions of the court and issued to Kathan a certificate of election. Having issued one previously to Locke, there were two sheriffs, and trouble ensued. Locke locked Kathan out and installed well armed guards to hold the jail, but on a dark night, March 31, Kathan outwitted Locke, got inside and locked Locke out. The court now says that he must remain out.

Latimer Dead From Wounds.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Albert C. Latimer, the stationer of this city who was shot, it is supposed, by a burglar at his residence in Brooklyn, died in a hospital last night. The shooting took place a week ago at 2 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Latimer died without being able to make a connected statement as to the visit of the burglar. Mrs. Latimer told how her husband grappled with the intruder and was shot. After the shooting a bicycle lamp, a pair of felt soled shoes and a cap were found in the room, but the police have been unable to find any trace of the burglar. Mrs. Latimer is in the same hospital in which her husband died and is said to be very ill as a result of the shock of seeing her husband shot down.

Steamers In Collision.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 10.—The steamship Powhattan of the Merchants and Miners' line and the steamboat Priscilla of the Fall River line came into collision off Point Judith during a dense fog. Both ships were under good headway. The Priscilla was bound for New York and had a large complement of passengers. The Powhattan had 131 passengers, mostly delegates to the Baptist Young People's Union convention now holding in this city. Juan Munoz, a Portuguese deck hand on board the Priscilla, was crushed to death in his bunk. No one else on either vessel was injured. The damage done was heavy.

Southern Coal Strike Over.

ROANOKE, Va., July 10.—Those interested in the coalfields claim that the strike is virtually a thing of the past. Five hundred and forty cars of coal were loaded Tuesday. Seven carloads of miners from east Virginia and North Carolina arrived in the fields and immediately went to work, many of them being old miners returning. The labor leaders assert, on the other hand, the critical stage has not arrived yet. It has been stated that if the demands of the strikers are not acceded to by the 17th inst. that other labor unions very likely will take hold of the matter.

Heavy Loss In Newfoundland Storm.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 10.—The minister of marine and fisheries has issued a statement which shows, from reports forwarded to his department by officials and others along the coast of the island, that the total extent of the damage wrought by the recent storm to property and fishing interests on the coasts and in the outer waters amounts to $750,000.

NATIONAL EDUCATORS.

Twenty Thousand Visitors at Minneapolis Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 10.—High water mark in the attendance at the National Educational association convention has probably been reached, and it is also undoubtedly the record for numbers present at any meeting of the association yet held. A conservative estimate places the number of visitors in the city at considerably more than 20,000.

Each of the fifteen meetings yesterday was well attended. Nearly every department of the association has held a meeting, and the real work of the convention proper is on in full blast. There will be thirteen meetings today, and tomorrow, when the convention will close, there will be twelve. Each is proving of unusual interest, and no unfavorable comment has been heard.

Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul spoke on "The Influence and Responsibility of the Teacher." He said in part:

"I am one of those who see in the sequence of the late Spanish-American war the guiding hand of a mighty providence and the outburst of forces long gathering in the bosom of the nation, sure at one moment or another to break out in a resistless self assertion. Nevertheless I shall never deny that among the immediate causes of the war there are to be numbered the exaggerated statements, the lies, too, and the calumnies, the ceaseless appeals to wild and reckless passion, which disfigured and disgraced the utterances of certain newspaper writers and of certain other manipulators of public opinion.

"How unguarded and reckless and how reprehensible many statements published at the present time, as from the Philippine Islands, purporting to tell of dreadful deeds of cruelty and injustice, for which on close examination no foundation in fact is found! I shall name in this connection one instance which I am particularly pleased to censure. A little while ago certain Catholic newspapers raised the cry that proselytism was the order of the day in the schools of Manila, the chief officials, it was said, and the teachers in the normal being regularly ordained ministers, who divided their time between the multiplication table and tract reading. The matter was investigated, and it was discovered that the chief officials and teachers in the normal were not ministers and that their own good sense as well as the strict rules of the government held them strictly to secular matters."

The speaker considered truth next in its use or abuse by the newspaper, which he called "pre-eminently the mentor of the people." He said its influence is paramount, its responsibility tremendous. Journalism that is honest and honorable is one of the nation's most precious inheritances. He argued for truth in religious and secular controvery, declaring that it is the basis for agreement and conciliation.

Mitchell Predicts Success.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 10.—In an address before the 400 delegates of district No. 1, in convention at Nanticoke, President Mitchell of the Mine Workers' union said he had never participated in a strike in which he was so confident of success. This statement by the miners' chief was greeted with great applause. The national president severely criticised the citizens' alliance organizations which have been formed in Scranton and Wilkesbarre for the purpose of prosecuting persons who boycott or otherwise intimidate men still working in the mines or their relatives.

Outlaw Tracy's Pursuers Call Off the Dogs.

WHEREABOUTS NOW A MYSTERY.

A Rumor That the Desperado Has Been Joined by His Comrade, Merrill—Suspicious Captures at Renton.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 10.—The pursuit of Outlaw Harry Tracy appears to be temporarily suspended. Sheriff Cudihee has called in the guards from the southern suburbs, leaving only a sufficient number for a careful patrol. It is believed that Cudihee expects the convict if he reappears at all to show up in another part of the country. The posse that started from Renton with the bloodhounds yesterday morning returned in the afternoon after a fruitless search. Since early morning the posse had been scouring the country between Renton and Black River Junction. A large territory had been sentried without result.

It is believed that Tracy is hiding in the dense woods of this district. Guards have been stationed at every road in the section. It is believed that he will soon make his appearance at some house and demand food, as he is known to be without supplies. The rumor that Merrill has joined his murderous comrade cannot be substantiated.

As matters stand at this moment no one knows the exact whereabouts of the desperado.

A Salem penitentiary guard who is with the party at Renton is certain that Merrill and Tracy are once more together. Three suspicious looking individuals have been captured at Renton. The men have the appearance of tramps, and it is thought that they may be three of the four men who met Tracy at Black river bridge Monday night and walked through Renton in the convict's company.

At the jail they gave their names as Andy Neilson, Tom Madden and Phil Ritchie. The first two say they are loggers, and the third says he is an iron bridge builder. Their statements as to their recent actions are conflicting. A diligent search is being made for the fourth alleged accomplice, who is thought to be hanging around Renton or may have joined the convict. Rumors are rife that the fourth man is none other than Merrill, but this is generally discredited.

Embassador Porter Honored.

LENOX, Mass., July 10.—A garden party was given by Mr. and Mrs. John Sloane in honor of General Horace Porter, United States embassador to France, from 4 to 7 o'clock last evening at Wyndshurst, the country residence of the Sloanes in Lenox. It was the largest out of doors affair in Lenox since the Sloanes entertained President McKinley during his first administration. The Tenth regiment band of Albany furnished music, and Mr. and Mrs. Sloane and General Porter received the guests standing under the McKinley tree, which was planted by the late president. Refreshments were served in a Persian tent on the lawn, and about 250 persons were present.

An Oil Burning Steamer.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The new twin screw steamship Nebraskan of the American-Hawaiian Steamship company has arrived in port from Philadelphia. The vessel is one of three sister ships, the other two being the Nevadan and the Texan, the latter still in course of construction, which have been built by the New York Shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J. All three vessels are fitted with furnaces in which either oil or coal can be used as fuel. These three vessels are the pioneer oil burning vessels built in the United States.

Yellow Fever In Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 10.—Advices from Vera Cruz report yellow fever as having been especially virulent this season. A number of people long resident and deeming themselves immune have died. The United States government commission has been in Vera Cruz studying conditions and the local treatment of the disease. Dr. Miller, who had a specific for yellow fever, has died in Vera Cruz of congestion of the brain.

Off For England In Small Boat.

COLLEGE POINT, N. Y., July 10.—In a thirty-eight foot launch, the Abiel Abbot Low, Captain William C. Newman has sailed from the dock of the New York Kerosene Oil Engine company for Falmouth, England. Captain Newman's only companion on the trip is his son Edward, a youth of sixteen.

NO NEED OF TWO.

Careful investigation by both city and borough authorities has shown the impossibility of either municipality acting alone in the building of a sewer to tide water. If such a thing ever does come to pass, it will be by a union of effort on the part of a number of municipalities in this section. Meanwhile, it has been shown on impartial investigation that the most feasble method of sewage disposal is that now in use by the city of Plainfield.

It is fully realized by those who are interested in the welfare of the borough that the day is at hand when that community must have sewers. Lack of sewers has proved a serious stumbling block to real estate agents who have tried to locate new people there. There is a general feeling throughout the borough today that there should be no delay in equipping the place with sewers and a proper means of sewage disposal. The Borough Council has already considered the matter and appointed a special commission to consider the question.

One of the easiest ways of solving this sewage disposal question for the borough will be the consolidation with the city of Plainfield. It will then be unnecessary for the borough to duplicate the city's plant. The one is amply large enough to care for both city and borough for many years to come.

At best, sewage disposal works are not the most agreeable neighbors and property values are bound to be depreciated. Two such plants will inevitably result in a depreciation of much more property than one will affect. It is hard enough to have one such plant located in the south west without having two when there is no real necessity for it. Consolidation solves the problem easily, much to the advantage of the borough and without injury to the city. The borough would be saved the cost of the plant and would bear its proportionate share of the running expenses.

One of the acts which the Borough Council may be expected to take at its meeting this evening will be the calling of a special election to vote on the proposed new fire headquarters for the borough. The Borough Council has not the right to issue bonds for its erection until the people have passed on the proposition and while the general opinion seems to be greatly in favor of the new municipal building, it must be formally decided by ballot before the Borough Fathers have the legal right to go ahead.

The officials of the Jersey Central Railroad will be conferring a favor on the public of Plainfield if they will have the unsightly curb removed from in front of the North Avenue station. It was a foolish act to place it there and the sooner it can be removed the better. Every evening, on the retrun of the commuters' trains, it constantly blocks and interferes with the private vehicles and the regular hacks which assemble there.

Why cannot the patrons of the Plainfield Water Supply Company pay for their supply of water by the amount used as they pay for every other commodity on the market? What grocer would ever think of sending in a bill estimated on the number in the family or the number of dishes used instead of according to quantity. It is not an unreasonable thing to ask for the same privileges in dealing with the water company.

The idea is being dissipated that when a man advertises he simply draws trade away from others, comments the Philadelphia Record. The manager of a well known agency says: "Advertising creates business—it does not take from one man to give to another." The success of other establishments in the same line, he maintains, is due to the new trade they create.

The elevation of Lieut. Col. Collins to the command of the Second Regiment was to be expected. Col. Collins has served his regiment well and has been an efficient and popular officer.

Several important changes in the local league teams promise to lend special interest to the coming baseball contests.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Meissner's Hand Laundry on Watchung avenue is the best place in the city to take your fancy goods when you want them laundried.

Well fitting easy shoes are indispensable in warm weather. They are a boon to tired feet. The kind M. C. VanArsdale sells always fit and need no "breaking in."

For specials today Foss & Jeter are advertising live lobsters, soft and shredded crabs, blue fish, weak fish and salmon. The seafood which this firm sells is always fresh.

Fred H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer, keeps an assorted variety of groceries. His stock is good and his prices are low. You make no mistake when you deal with Firstbrook.

S. Scheuer & Company, the West Front street grocers, are winning new customers every day, which is due to honest values and fair dealing. They buy in such large quantites that they are able to sell at a low figure.

What can compare to a large and sparkling soda in these days of heat? Thousands testify to the delicious quality of the liquid served at E. S. F. Randolph's, the North avenue druggist. Just at the trolley station.

"A rolling stone gathers no moss" and it might be added that the person who doesn't buy drugs at Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building saves no money. All of Hodge's goods are the best and purest and sold at prices that suit.

Nagle, the West Front street pharmacist, has one of the best prescription departments in the State. He uses nothing but pure drugs and only experienced clerks do the compounding. Nagle's own preparations are stands for purity.

A worthy successor to Asa Collier, the veteran jeweler, is Charles E. Vail, who recently purchased the well-stocked store on Park avenue. Mr. Vail will continue to give patrons the best values. His department for watch repairing will be maintained in an efficient manner. Mr. Vail will be pleased to see his friends at any time.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The candidates for Congress in some of the Jersey districts, as well as the seekers after other offices, have taken considerable interest in sporting organizations this year. DeWitt Clinton Flanagan started the style by sending a substantial check to the Washington Baseball Club, and Congressman Stewart has followed suit by presenting a silver trophy to the Passaic County Baseball League. Now Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, has given twelve oil lamps to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. It may be that he figures they will light his way to the State Senate.—Newark News.

Something About Corsets.

A long experience has taught us that ladies are particular about Corsets. In catering to the wants of an exacting trade we have learned much about the Corset business. One of the things we have learned is to buy only Corsets of reputation derived from real merit. We never experiment with Corsets. We must have positive proof that they will meet all the requirements of our customers before we purchase. The result of all this is a complete, well-rounded-out assortment of the most popular Corsets made. We mention a few below:

At 2.00 W. B. Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil of fine quality. Good shape, fit well, beautifully finished.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, long hip, long waist, low bust, made of fine batiste, lace trimmed. Cool and comfortable for stout figures.

At 1.00 W. B. Corsets, straight front, short hip, contil, good shape. A remarkably durable corset.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets in both black and white, long hip, low bust. A ready seller for medium figures.

At 1.00 R. & G. Corsets, straight front, bias gored hip, made of French contil. They fit stout figures well.

At 1.00 R. & G. Girdles made of fine batiste. Designed for golfing, tennis, cycling and athletics in general.

At 1.00 R. & G. Tape Girdles, one of the latest summer novelties. Positively the coolest corset made and is popular with good trade.

Ferris Good Sense Waists for ladies, misses and children.

Double V Waists for children; Drawers to match same.

At 2.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Corsets, bias gored, straight front, French contil, beautifully modeled and good sellers. As nice as 3.00 imported goods and fit better.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating Corsets in medium and extra long. Probably one of the best summer corsets made. They fit perfectly.

At 1.00 "Glove-fitting" Ventilating, straight front corsets, short hip and low bust. Good for medium figures.

At 1.00 Thomson's Glove-fitting Chic Corsets. Dainty little batiste corsets. Short low bust, excellent for slight figures.

At 1.00 Warner's "Rust Proof" Corsets, straight front, low bust, made of batiste. It is a generally admired, dainty corset of splendid shape and will fit almost any figure.

At 50c Batiste Girdles, the sweetest little Summer Corsets you ever saw for that price. Shape is so good and the finish so perfect they would readily pass for $1.00 goods.

The Half-Price Crockery Sale Goes Merrily On.

Notwithstanding the heavy selling of the past few days, we still have plenty to supply all who come. This is, without exception, the greatest Crockery Sale this city has ever known. It is seldom you have an opportunity of securing bright new goods at just half price.

AN ORDINANCE

to Provide Separate Sewers or Drains to Carry Off the Surface Water in Portions of Arlington Avenue.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that separate sewers or drains to carry off the surface water, or the water flowing into Cedar Brook and Green Brook, be constructed in and for the said City of Plainfield in Arlington Avenue from West Fifth Street to Cedar Brook, with six inlets at West Fifth Street, six at West Sixth Street, two at West Seventh Street, four at West Eighth Street and six at West Ninth Street, all with the necessary manholes and appurtenances to complete the same, said separate sewers or drains to be of the dimensions and materials, and to be laid in said street and along such lines and at such grades and in such manner as indicated and specified on map on file with the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, entitled, "Map of Storm Sewer in Arlington Avenue from West Fifth Street to Cedar Brook, City of Plainfield, N. J. Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor, May, 1902."

Sec. 2. That the cost and expenses to be incurred under this ordinance shall be paid with money to be raised by taxation (by general tax for street improvements) pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, as other moneys are raised in said City.

Adopted by the Common Council July 7, 1902; approved by the Mayor July 7, 1902.

OLIN L. JENKINS, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

A Supplement to an Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1902."

Whereas, The Board of School Estimate of this School District has fixed upon and determined the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of the public schools of such district for the ensuing school year, exclusive of the amount apportioned to it by the County Superintendent of Schools, to wit, the sum of Sixty-One Thousand Six Hundred Dollars ($61,600), and has made two certificates of said amount, signed by all the members of said Board, one of which certificates has been delivered to the Board of Education and the other to the Common Council of said City.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to Chapter 36 of the Session Laws of the State of New Jersey for the year 1900, entitled "An Act to Establish a System of Public Instruction", approved March 26th, 1902, the said sum of Sixty-One Thousand Six Hundred Dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated for the purposes aforesaid as other appropriations are made by the Common Council, and that said amount shall be assessed, levied and collected for the year 1902 in the same manner as money appropriated for other purposes in this City are required to be assessed, levied and collected.

Adopted by the Common Council July 7, 1902; approved by the Mayor July 7 1902.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The baseball team is being strengthened in every possible way for Saturday's game in order to make a good showing against Clinton Avenue. Some of the local patrons of the game are becoming disgusted with the way things have gone. When the games are not ended by rain a dispute usually arises or defeat comes. If the elements are kind on Saturday an effort will be made to have a good clean game of ball such as the locals are capable of playing It is said that several changes will be made on the team.

The cornet band held its regular weekly practice last evening. The band has no engagements at present but wants to keep in trim.

The Dunellen Juniors journeyed to Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon and played a junior team from that place.

The walls to the new Craig chair factory have been raised and work on the second floor has been commenced.

Mrs. Jesse Dayton, of South Plainfield, has returned home after a stay at the home of Mrs. Larrabee.

Prayer meeting was largely attended in both Methodist and Presbyterian churches last evening.

Mrs. Vail, Mrs. Albert Apgar and Miss Bessie Vail are spending today with out of town friends.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley is expected home today from a few days' outing in Pennsylvania.

The horses carting stone from the crusher suffered a great deal from the heat yesterday.

Adam Dealaman left today for Mt. Pocono for a few days' stay to benefit his health.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon in its rooms.

Jacob Fisher's home is receiving a coat of paint, greatly improving its looks.

NEW MARKET.

The baseball management is skirmishing around for a pitcher for Saturday's game. VanAuken, of the Plainfield High School, and Whitely, of the Orange Field Club, pitched in the last two games but who will do the twirling next is a problem.

The mason work for the extra track at bridge No. 28 has been finished and everything is now ready for the laying of the iron work.

An unusually large number of out of town people enjoyed rowing and swimming on the lake yesterday.

The children of Dr. Whitford have practically recovered from an attack of scarlet fever.

The brass band will meet this evening for practice as usual in Recreation Hall.

Mrs. Charles Kelley, Jr., visited relatives in Plainfield last evening.

Mrs. William Ackerman is visiting relatives in New York State.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local team is out every night for practice so as to be in good condition for Saturday's game with Roselle. Manager Johnston expects a hard game as Roselle has a strong team but the local team has struck its gait and the members are playing well together and hitting the ball and are able to give the majority of teams a stiff argument during 9 innings. So there is no doubt but they will make the Roselle team play the game of their life to win.

Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Shott and daugther, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Dunn, Mrs. Nettie Atwood and Edward L. Johnston, left yesterday for Providence, R. I., where they will attend the National convention of the Baptist Young People's Union.

George Baldwin, who has been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at their New York piers for several years, has resigned his position and taken one with the Campbell Press Company, of Plainfield.

The choir guild, of All Saints' Episcopal church, will hold a cream and home made candy sale in the borough fire house Saturday afternoon and evening.

Frank R. Allen, of Passaic, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Daniel Allen, of Westfield avenue, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Long, of Stanberry avenue, are happy over the arrival of a little daughter at their home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fales, of Bayonne, has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Fale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold its weekly meeting in the library rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Frederick Clark has received a new consignment of horses to meet the wants of his increasing trade.

Wm. B. Noble has returned to business in New York after an illness of several days.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. James A. Cubberley and son, Hollis, have gone to Providence, R. I., to attend the Baptist Young People's convention.

Mrs. W. H. Manning is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Wykoff and her niece, Annie Wykoff, of New Brunswick.

TenEyck & Harris have put two of their teams on the road carting stone, the demand for coal being small.

Wilfred Faulks who is visiting his grandparents here, is learning to ride his new wheel.

Mrs. Wm. Clawson, of Clinton avenue, is making a three weeks' stay in Dunellen.

James Jones is entertaining one of his grandsons, Mr. Pullen, of Newark.

The P. O. S. of A. will meet tonight in Washington Hall.

Justice Weaver is the happy father of a little daughter.

Miss Vera LaTourette is the owner of a new wheel.

CONDUCTOR THERE IN TIME

WOMAN WAS THROWN INTO HIS ARMS BY LURCH OF CAR.

But For His Presence She Would Undoubtedly Have Been Seriously Injured.

Presence of mind on the part of William Crawford, conductor on car No. 83, of the Plainfield-Elizabeth line, was all that prevented a serious accident occurring on his 2 o'clock run from this city, yesterday afternoon.

As the car was approaching the turn at Richmond and East Second streets an elderly woman who was in the front seat, arose and essayed to lower the front window to gain a better breeze. She stood very close to the off side unprotected by the rail and gave no heed to her whereabouts.

As the car struck the turn with a lurch, the woman was thrown off her balance and would have fallen headlong to the street but for Crawford's outstretched arms. He had noticed her arise and divining her intention hastened along the footboard to intercept her. He was too late to shout a warning but was just in time to catch her.

The woman was terribly frightened and thanked Crawford profusely as he undoubtedly saved her from serious injury. She refused to give her name but from her apparel nad manner of bearing she is a person of some means.

CASH OR GOODS.

New Trading Stamp Law Has Gone Into Effect—The Companies Are Ready for It.

Collectors and possessors of books of trading stamps in this city are now able to secure either cash or goods for their holdings.

The new law went into effect Saturday and both the trading stamp companies were fully prepared to meet the changed conditions.

Under the terms of the law stamps are redeemable in any quantity and in either cash or goods, but it is not anticipated that there will be any marked change in the system.

The holder will secure the greatest returns from his or her stamps by following the same conditions as heretofore, it is said. As the cash value of the stamps will be much lower, most of the people will prefer to wait until they get their books full.

The chief difference to the trading stamp companies will be the necessity of keeping money at hand at each branch in this city as well as elsewhere, and some people, who from various causes, do not expect to continue acquiring the stamps, may secure some returns instead of a total loss, but it is not anticipated that there will be any large number of persons asking for cash.

AT WHITE HOUSE.

Governor Murphy Will be at at Sea Girt During Entire Second Regiment Encampment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 10—Governor Murphy has decided to occupy the little "White House" at Sea Girt, the only executive mansion the State owns, during the entire period of the encampment of the Second Brigade. The Governor will likely spend three weeks in all at the camp grounds.

The little "White House" has not been used much since the period when the Jersey volunteers in the Spanish-American war were quartered at Sea Girt, and it is expected that the occupancy of the cottage by Governor Murphy will mean a return to the social features that characterized the State encampments of several years ago.

PERSONAL.

Miss Carrie Eagle, of Newark, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. S. C. Wise, of Grandview avenue.

William B. Smalley, Sr., of Craig place, who was seriously ill at Liberty Corner, is now out of danger.

Miss Elizabeth Frueller, of Bound Brook, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George B. Stewart, of Duer street.

The family of Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, left their home today to spend the summer at their camp on Lake Placid in the Adirondacks.

Jersey Central Railroad is Planning to Spend $70,000 at Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 10—At a meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday night Engineer Joshua Doughty presented a map of the changes which the Central Railroad proposes to make at this place, entailing an expenditure of $70,000 on the part of the railroad company. The changes contemplate the raising of the tracks and the abolishing of four grade crossings, substituting therefor two subways; the building of a new depot and improvement of grounds.

The railroad company desires the borough to purchase the right of way to the subways, and a committee to ascertain the cost to the borough was appointed for this purpose, composed of the following: Councilmen Gummersbach, MaGaw and Nolty and Borough Engineer Doughty.

Mr. Boland reported that he had a narrow escape from being killed at the Port Reading crossing, July 4, and Borough Clerk Voorhees was instructed to notify the company to place a flagman there.

DOUBLE WEDDING.

Will Take Place at Hope Chapel Monday, July 21.

Four Arraigned in Union County Court Yesterday and Pleaded Guilty—One Sentenced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 10—In the Union county court here yesterday, Jeremiah O'Connor, who was arrested in Chicago for forging a relative's name to the cancellation of a mortgage, pleaded guilty, and was remanded one week for sentence.

Abraham Cohen, who obtained money under false pretences, pleaded guilty, and was committed to the State reformatory at Rahway.

William Christopher Gear and his son, Charles H. Gear, pleaded guilty to uttering forged checks, and were remanded one week for sentence.

They formerly lived at Garwood, where nearly four years ago young Gear was arrested for the theft of a bicycle and had sentence suspended.

SOLD HOTEL.

Scotch Plains Hostelry Will Leave Management of E. L. Hand.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 10—Township Clerk Edward L. Hand, who recently accepted a position with a New York insurance firm, has disposed of his hotel business here, which he has conducted for many years, to Theodore Overbaugh, who has been in charge of Ivamy's Hotel for some time past. The change in proprietorship will be made in two weeks. The new owner is a Plainfield man and has a host of friends who will wish him success in his new enterprise.

HOME FROM WAR.

George Gregory Returned From Service in the Philippines.

Brimful of stories of life in the far east, George Gregory, another Plainfielder, has returned home after serving an enlistment of three years in the Philippines. His army life has altered his appearance to a remarkable degree, but he enjoyed it and has intentions of again becoming a soldier. He will spend a few weeks in this city, however, before he decides upon plans for the future.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 13, "Evangelizing the World in This Generation"—Isa. lxi, 1-4; John xvii, 6-8, 18-20. Read Matt. vii.

What are the views of the leaders of the church upon the possibility of evangelizing the world in this generation? It depends largely upon their point of view.

Some think the gospel is to be preached among all nations not with the expectation that any great numbers will be converted, but that it shall be a witness against them. This is in the spirit of denunciation and with the idea of their destruction rather than their salvation.

Others are sanguine that all that is needed is sufficient numbers of missionaries and money, and the great bulk of heathenism can be reached and converted to Jesus Christ.

Still others see the gospel penetrating slowly but surely the mass of the heathen peoples, winning some converts, gradually breaking down prejudices and opposition and little by little lifting those it touches into new life of spirit and into a different grade of social civilization. The advances of Japan since Commodore Perry entered Yokohama harbor in 1854 point eloquently to the power of the gospel to renovate an antique and effete civilization if the people have the virility for recovery and renovation. The case of Hawaii shows by sad contrast the impossibility of rescuing a race when it has once lost its vitality by vice, even though the multitudes of its members may be individually Christianized. The romance of the lifting of Uganda shows how an intelligent and strong nation of barbarians can be evangelized and turned into new courses in a brief period if only the heroic endurance of witnesses for the truth can be secured at the first. No age has shown more steadfast adhesion to Jesus Christ under fiercest and deadliest persecutions than has the last half of the past century. No land has seen martyr blood more freely shed than this region of central Africa, which but a few years since was unheard of by the Christian church. Stanley found it. The chief asked for teachers of the Bible. They went. The people listened, believed and turned to God in great numbers. Opposers entered and poisoned the minds of some. Persecutions arose, and hundreds were slain, preferring death to forsaking their Saviour. Again the tide turned. This time it sets with a strong flood toward liberty of worship and purity of faith, and Uganda is enrolled among the lands which are Christianized.

The story of Fiji and Tonga and the other south sea islands ought not to be forgotten. But a brief time ago they were cannibal islands. Now there is no place on earth more peaceable and morally elevated and religious.

How India is awakening! Long years have been spent in preparatory work. This needs to be constantly kept in mind in calculating results. Now the harvest is more abundant than the workers can properly care for. Thousands are asking for baptism whom we have no teachers for and so dare not receive as yet.

The great need is an awakening of the church in the home field to supply more abundantly the means for schools, hospitals and preaching places and support for the needed workers.

How God Helps Us.

"God is my helper" is a truth as old as the Bible and confirmed by myriads of human experiences. But it is important for us to know how our loving Father helps us, for we may expect things that He never grants and lose things that He offers to give us. There are a right way and a wrong way of looking at God's dealings; the one sets us to murmuring and complaining, the other gives us a wonderful uplift. If we looked at God as always wise and always loving and always holy, we should know, in the first place, that He often helps us by a sharp discipline that tries us most terribly. It helps the grass on my lawn in summer to put the mower over it, and it helps my grapevines to apply the pruning knife. As head winds make a steamer's fires burn more briskly under the boilers, so adversity often drives a true Christian ahead in his spiritual life. Everything that makes you and me purer, humbler, braver, stronger or holier is a mighty help, and if we keep the eye of faith open we shall see a loving God behind the pruning knife and behind the furnace of affliction.—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler in Evangelist.

Life an Easy Lesson.

These hurrying days, these busy times of ours, are wasted when they take our hearts away from patient gentleness and give us fame for love and gold for kisses. Some day when our hungry souls will seek for bread our selfish god will give us a stone. Life is not a deep, profound, perplexing problem. It is a simple, easy lesson, such as any child may read. You cannot find its solution in the ponderous tomes of the old fathers, the philosophers, the theorists. It is not on your bookshelves, but in the warmest corner of the most unlettered heart it glows in letters that the blindest may read, a sweet, plain, simple, easy, loving lesson. And when you have learned it, brother of mine, the world will be better and happier.—R. J. Burdette.

Little Things.

If you would advance in true holiness, you must aim steadily at perfection in little things.—Abbe Guillore.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 13—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Constant companionship.—John xiv, 15-28; Matt. xxviii, 20.

No words of Christ perhaps have been dearer to His people in all ages than the last ones to His disciples, "Lo, I am with you alway." Nor did Christ mean by these words that He would be in their memories, influencing them and sustaining them. He spoke of real, personal companionship that was to be fulfilled by the sending of the Holy Ghost, who was to be to the disciples in spirit what He had been to them in the flesh—their consciously present helper, instructor and guide.

The disciples seemed afterward to have had a vivid realization of the constant presence of Christ. He fulfilled His promise of being with them always and of not leaving them comfortless in their own personal experiences. Peter and John and after them Paul, the apostle born out of due season, had a realizing sense of Christ's constant presence. Paul speaks of "Christ in us" and says, "I live, yet not I; Christ liveth in me." And the experiences of the great apostles have not been unlike those of the most lowly followers of Christ. All have been cheered and comforted and filled with hope by the realization of the abiding presence of their Master, in accordance with His promise.

The companionship of Christ, being constant, extends to all times in this life. "Lo, I am with you alway," He says, "even unto the end of the world." This promise assures us of Christ's constant companionship so long as we live in this world. Adversity may come, and as a result of it our earthly companions may forsake us, but not so the Lord Jesus Christ. He is with us alway—in sickness, in health; in adversity, in prosperity; in sorrow, in joy—alway! This fact should be and is to all who realize it a great comfort and a great blessing. We need Christ's constant presence that we may meet the trials and temptations of life about us and should therefore cultivate a realizing sense of His abiding presence.

Christ's companionship, being constant, is assured to us at death. How this promise as applied to death was realized in Stephen! He "saw the heavens opened and Christ standing at the right hand of God;" and seeing Christ and being sustained by Him, he faced death without trembling and without fear. Such should be the effect of Christ's companionship at the end of life. Being assured of His presence at that time no Christian need view death with alarm. Death loses its sting and the grave its victory in the assured companionship of Christ.

Christ's companionship, being constant, extends throughout all eternity. "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise," said Christ to the repentant thief, and Paul declares that after the resurrection we shall be "forever with the Lord." Thus the chain is complete. Christ is ours and we are His, here and hereafter, now and forever.

Endeavor Home For Japan.

While on my trip around the world I visited Nagasaki, Japan, and while there I was greatly impressed with the work of the Christian Endeavor or Seaman's home, says Harry Steele Morrison in The Christian Endeavor World. A friend in Manila had advised me to visit the place, and when I inquired for it at the landing stage I had no difficulty in finding a jinrikisha man to take me there. It is centrally located near the docks, where sailors land from the ships in the harbor, and it is admirably equipped for the work it does. It is the only charity of its kind in the world. The home was started on a small scale at its present site and was gradually improved until at present it is able to do a wonderful work among the soldiers and sailors who come ashore from foreign ships in Nagasaki harbor. The sleeping accommodation consists of seventy-five beds, and when these are all taken the visitors are satisfied with a "shakedown" on the floor. In the dining room more than 50,000 meals have been served, and it is the only place in Nagasaki where a sailor can get a good meal at a reasonable price. From 600 to 700 meals a day can be served.

A Promise of What May Be Done.

The church has grown. The religious and spiritual condition of the people has improved. But what has been done is only a promise of what may be done. We are by no means yet measuring up to what we are capable of doing in the Lord's service, but we are moving in the right direction. Our present enthusiasm for missions will not die out. It can be increased. And what we need is a comity of feeling, a spirit of unity and co-operation. Love to God, zeal, enthusiasm and love to our fellow men will bring the latter to the cross of Jesus Christ.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Keep Faith.

Keep faith with all men; keep faith with thyself. This wins all battles, even the greatest and last.—"Cardigan," by Robert Chambers.

A Cheering Thought.

The faithfulness of a lifetime does not forsake a man in his end.—"Types of Naval Officers."

Epitaph.

Life called to me—a changeful call
Of joy, of strife, of woe;
Each day I pondered, "Shall I make My answer 'Yes' or 'No?'"

Death called to me—a wondrous call,
So sweet, so calm, so clear!
I did not wait to question it,
But quickly answered, "Here!"

Why.... Women Join Clubs

THEY were talking about women's clubs.

"Pooh!" said the young man.

"My dear fellow, I wouldn't say 'pooh!'" retorted the old doctor. "Women's clubs are an ever increasing factor, and we can't afford to ignore them."

"If ever a wife of mine joins a club"—the young man began savagely, but he stopped, squelched by the look of utter scorn he received from the girl who earned her own living.

"If ever I marry," the girl remarked in distinct tones, "one of the first things I intend to do is to join a club—a club that will keep me well up on the subjects of the day and won't let me degenerate into a mere hausfrau like most of the married women of my acquaintance."

"I suppose you will imitate Mrs. Binks," answered the young man indignantly. "The home runs itself, the three children go unwashed and in rags, and Binks says he hasn't had a decent meal since his wife joined her three new clubs. By the way, that makes seven to her credit now."

"She must have the club mania," said the observant woman thoughtfully. "Yes," in answer to the looks of astonishment of the other three, "there is such a thing. One club leads to another, and the woman who starts joining them will never cease until she owns a string of medals or certificates of membership. But seriously," she went on, "I have been studying the all absorbing question, Why do women join clubs? and I'm about as far from arriving at any one conclusion as you are probably. I really think the main reason is because the women are unhappy in their home life and seek a change. Some of them are childless; others are neglected by their husbands. Now, when a man finds his home life a failure he simply throws himself more and more into his business and finds a relief in the excitement of earning dollars. The woman tries to find the same excitement and interest in her clubs."

"I think women's clubs a good thing, for my part," said the old doctor. "In the old days when a woman was unhappy or fancied herself to be she took to herself mysterious ailments, tampered with drugs or cures or else worked herself into a morbid frame of mind reading novels. Now, thanks to the clubs, she has no time for that sort of thing. Her mind is filled with wholesome interest, and she turns into a fine, well developed, philanthropic woman."

"The woman in the towns or small cities appreciates her club most," said the observing woman. "It gives her a chance to enjoy over a sociable cup of tea a respite from the cares and drudgery of a small household. It gives her an opportunity of making friends."

"Ah, that's the side of club life I'm in favor of," interrupted the girl—"the side that increases social intercourse. Why shouldn't unmarried women who have to earn their own living have clubs like those of men? Why shouldn't there be athletic clubs for women, for instance, where they might meet in an atmosphere of good fellowship? Why should women's clubs be solely pink teas where papers are read at one and chunks of solid information dug out of encyclopedias and doled out to the listeners? Think what a boon a few clubs on the order of those for men would be to girls who come to a strange town to earn their own living—girls who don't know a soul, who have been used to their own homes and who have to put up with boarding houses and the like! Yes, indeed, women's clubs are a good thing, I say; only they might be made a great deal better."

GRACE ELMORE.

She Went Crazy.

Literary work in connection with women's clubs is said to have caused the insanity of a lady who went crazy recently and had to be sent to an asylum. Clubwomen, let this be an awful warning to you to stop writing and reading those dreadful club papers!

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

Raymer laughed, and then blushed. "They won't be there. That is—Oh pshaw! I suppose I may as well tell you first as last. There are two social cliques here, a big one and a little one. Miss Grierson is la dame d'honneur of the first, and my mother and Gertrude affiliate with the other."

"I see," said Griswold. "And you hold an even balance between the two."

"N-o—not exactly. But I'm under obligations to Grierson, and can't afford to be offish. But Miss Margery is a very clever little person, and well worth knowing on her own account. I'll call by for you with the buggy at nine."

"Thank you," said the convalescent; adding, as if it were an afterthought: "Will Miss Farnham be there?"

"Hardly," rejoined Raymer, gathering up the reins. "She is with the minority, too. Queer little world, isn't it? So long, till this evening. Better go in and lie down awhile."

CHAPTER XVII.

On the way to Miss Grierson's "evening" Griswold amused himself by speculating upon the probable barbarism of a country reception. Without suspecting it, he was insular to a degree little short of Britannic; but he meant to be very good-natured and charitable, and to do what one man might toward ameliorating the barbarisms.

Wherefore he was properly humiliated when they were met at the door of the Grierson mansion by trained servants and announced in the drawing-room with such pomp and circumstance as was neither countrified nor barbaric. In good truth the revulsion was so great that it was he and not Miss Grierson who was embarrassed when Raymer introduced him.

"How good of you to come to us on your first day out, Mr. Griswold. Let me make you comfortable." She piled the cushions in a corner of the wide divan and made him sit down. "You are just to be an invalid this evening, you know. I'm not going to let anyone bore you.

Griswold gasped once or twice, and grappled manfully with the facts. A young girl was at the piano; there was a pleasant hum of conversation; everybody, himself excepted, seemed quite at ease; the lights were not glaring; the furnishings were not in bad taste; in a word, the keynote was altogether well-mannered and urban and conventional.

And his hostess. Griswold had met beautiful women, but none to compare with her. She shone upon and dazzled him. The charm was purely sensuous, and he knew it, but he basked in it like a lizard in the sun. But he was forgetting to thank her.

"Forgive me, Miss Grierson; I'm not usually tongue-tied. But it is all so charmingly homelike; so vastly—"

She supplied the word with a silvery little laugh.

"Different. I know. You thought we were barbarians, and so we used to be. But we're improving. I wish you could have known the old Wabash'a."

"I can imagine it," he said.

"I wonder if you can. They used to sit around the edges of the room and behave themselves just as hard as they could, and bore each other to death."

"It's a miracle," he said, giving her full credit. "I'd like to know how you did it."

She laughed lightly and did not deny her handiwork. "It was simple enough. When we came here I found a lot of good people who had fallen into a way of boring one another, and a few who hadn't; but these last held aloof. We opened our house to the many and tried to show them that a church sociable wasn't exactly the acme of social enjoyment."

Griswold saw in his mind's eye a sharply etched picture of the rise of a village magnate. Verily, Miss Grierson had imagination.

"It is all very grateful and delightful to me," he said. "I have been out of the social running for a long time, but I must confess that I am shamelessly epicurean by nature, and only an ascetic of necessity."

"I know," she assented, with quick appreciation. "An author has to be both, hasn't he?—keen to enjoy and hardened to endure."

"I'm not an author," he corrected, with vanity struggling to muzzle the protest. "I have written but one book, and that has not yet seen the light."

"But it will," she asserted, confidently. "Tell me about it."

Now, Griswold was no babbler, but the charm of her personality was upon him, and before he knew what he was about he was telling her of the dead book, its purpose and its failure.

"But you are not going to give it up," she said, when he had made an end.

"No; it's my message, and I shall yet deliver it."

"Bravo! That is the spirit that wins always. And when you get blue and discouraged, you must come here and let me cheer you. Cheering people is my mission, if I have any."

Griswold's pale face flushed, and his fingers tingled again. "You are very kind; kind and charitable. I think sympathy has been an unknown quantity in my equation. May I really come to see you as a friend?"

"Haven't I said it?" she asked; and she might have emphasized it had not Raymer come to take Griswold home.

Raymer's sorrel had covered half the distance from the lake edge to Mrs. Holcomb's before its owner said:

"Well, how near do we come to aping the manners of the effete east?"

"I'm no authority," said Griswold; adding as a salve: "I enjoyed it."

"Then you weren't bored?"

"I fancy Miss Grierson doesn't often bore people, does she?"

"No; she has a knack of stroking you the right way. It takes her father to do the other thing."

"The magnate? I thought you said he was a public benefactor."

"Did I? We've told ourselves that till we've come to believe it. But he's principally for Jasper Grierson at bottom."

"Naturally. Greed is the Juggernaut of this end of the century."

"Bah! That's a sheer platitude in your mouth, Griswold. You don't know anything about it, you men of letters and leisure. It's simply a savage fight for survival, and the man with the money wins."

"Yes? I believe I've said some such thing myself. But I've been hoping you'd manage to escape."

"I might have escaped. I was doing well enough, but I couldn't stand it to see the town growing away from me. So I borrowed money and spread myself; and now

"YOU SHALL HAVE IT ALL."

I'm fighting for dear life with the rest of them."

Griswold's comment was brief and to the point. "Tell me about it," he said.

"It's a short horse and soon curried," said the iron master, bitterly. "Two months ago I borrowed $95,000 of Jasper Grierson's bank. I gave him a 60-day note and a mortgage, with the verbal understanding that I was to have my own time for payment. The 60 days will be up Tuesday, and he has notified me that I must lift a third of the indebtedness on that day."

"A third!"

"Yes. Of course it's preposterous. He knew all the circumstances at the time; that the loan was a building fund which couldn't bear fruit until it was planted."

Griswold shook his head. "You certainly took terrific chances."

"Didn't I? It proves what a man will do when he is greed-bitten. And the worst of it is that three-fourths of the original capital belong to my mother and sister, and they were both distrustful of the spread-eagle move with Grierson as a backer."

Griswold was silent while the sorrel was measuring a full square. Then he said: "What is Grierson's object?"

"I don't know. To break me or to own me, I suppose."

"There may be an alternative; what was it you told me this morning about the little social melee?"

Raymer pulled the sorrel up short. "Heavens! you don't suppose she has put him up to it for that!"

"I suppose nothing that involves Miss Grierson. But isn't it possible that her father may be resentful for her? I believe if you could persuade your mother and Miss Gertrude to call—"

PROPOSALS FOR SEWERS.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held Monday, July 7, 1902, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on the fourth day of August, 1902, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing certain of the materials for the construction of the sewers contemplated in the ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance to Provide Separate Sewers or Drains to Carry off the Surface Water in Portions of Arlington Avenue," approved July 7, 1902, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted July 7, 1902, by the Common Council, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, No. 149 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $300, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of materials required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

600 feet 30 inch sewer,
2320 feet 24 inch sewer,
360 feet 12 inch basin and inlet connections.

Above to include trenching, laying and cementing sewer, and back filling; pipe to be furnished and delivered on the ground by the city:

3 Manholes,
18 Branches on 24 inch sewer,
4 Catch basins,
20 Inlets,
40 Cubic yards concrete.

Copies of plans, forms of proposal, specifications, contract and bond, may be examined at the office of the Engineer, 149 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

Dated July 7, 1902.

James T. MacMurray, City Clerk.

Andrew J. Gavett, Engineer in charge.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., July 7, 1902.

AN ORDINANCE

For the repairing and permanent improvement of Prospect avenue, from the easterly curb line of Hillside avenue, to the westerly curb line of Woodland avenue.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the roadbed of Prospect avenue, extending from the easterly curb line of Hillside avenue to the westerly curb line of Woodland avenue, be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of sixteen (16) feet, and a depth of six (6) inches in the centre and four (4) inches at the sides, at the general expense of the city, to be paid for (after first applying the direct contribution of property owners) out of money raised by tax for the improvement of streets as provided by the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to Authorize Cities to make Permanent Improvements in the Roadbeds of Streets at the General Expense," approved May 13, 1884.

Section 2. That before any work shall be done under this ordinance, the property owners along the line of the proposed improvements shall deposit with the City Treasurer the sum of Seven Hundred and Sixty-Five Dollars and Twenty Cents ($765.20.)

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks', approved April 10, 1899", a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading; and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday of the fourth day of August, 1902, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council,

JAMES T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated July 7, 1902.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction, Maintenance and Repair of Sidewalks", approved April 10, 1899.

The Inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 3 of the ordinance the title of which is stated in the title to this ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended as follows: after the words "also on both sides of Arlington Avenue from West Ninth Street to Randolph Road" insert the following:—"also within the portion of said city described as follows: beginning at the southerly corner of West Seventh street and Monroe avenue, and running thence along the southeasterly side line of West Seventh Street to the city and county line; thence along said line in a westerly direction to the southwesterly side line of Clinton Avenue; thence along said line to the northwesterly side line of Dunellen Avenue; thence along said line to the northeasterly side line of Compton Avenue; thence along said line to the northwesterly side line of West Front Street; thence to the southerly corner of South Second Street and Monroe Avenue; thence along the southwesterly side line of Monroe Avenue to the place of beginning; also on both sides of Randolph Road from Plainfield Avenue to Central Avenue."

A Phenomenal Dive.

Prof. Oscar Browning, of Cambridge, tells this anecdote of the prince consort at Eton school, in which he took great interest: "The prince used to bathe frequently at the masters' bathing-place, and he found there, on one occasion, two of the staff whom he knew to be accomplished divers. Having a passion for statistics, which he had derived from Prof. Quetelet at Brussels, he asked how long they could remain under water, and desired to witness a specimen of their ability. In the midle of the stream was a small island, covered by a willow tree. One of the bathers, afterward a most distinguished bishop, jumped in and swam under water to this island, coming up under the branches of the tree. After resting a few minutes, he entered the water again, and arrived panting at the steps. The prince was gazing at his watch, and acknowledged that this was a longer dive than he had ever heard or read of.—Century.

American Bridge Building.

All existing railroad spans of over 500 feet have been built since 1870, and probably more in America than in all the rest of the world together; and certainly these are much better and cheaper, and have been more rapidly and safely constructed, than those of any other country. In a word, American engineers have built most of the greatest and most difficult bridges in the world, and in less than half a century, largely within the last quarter century, have developed the art of bridge building to a perfection that no other sort of construction has reached in hundreds of years. They have brought it to practical limits that cannot be greatly extended until some radically new material is provided that is notably stronger, cheaper, or lighter than steel. This is the triumph of the profession of bridge engineering.—Century.

BASEBALL IN EARLY TIMES.

When the Players Were Chosen More for Their Vocal Powers Than Knowledge of the Game.

It was on those rural fields in the heyday of baseball that the sport, if less refined, was more picturesque. That the game was vocal goes with the saying. Not far away from the truth was the country captain who described his team as "men who can't bat much, or field much, but first-rate talkers." To dispute the umpire on every close decision was orthodox duty—a fashion not yet outlived—and it made the rural ball game forensic as well as spectacular, says Outing.

The country umpire, who was usually selected by the home team, merits his specific picture. In the earlier days of the sport he was chosen for knowledge of the rules simply because the opposing bucolic nines had so little knowledge themselves. Later, technical lore became somewhat secondary as a credential, and in the ideal rural umpire was sought a kind of Boanerges—a Son of Thunder, bellowing out his decisions until the welkin echoed, and able, on the one hand, either to placate the crowd by good temper or to flaunt it with strong speech. That is to say, the umpire of the time and place had to own no middle terms of personal temperament, but be either extremely crisp or superlatively good-natured and tactful.

LIBERAL WITH THE LANDS.

A Large Amount Has Been Granted to Public Uses by the State of Washington.

After nearly 13 years of work State Land Commissioner Calvert, of Washington, announces that of the 667,080 acres of land granted the state of Washington by the enabling act of 1889 all have been selected with the exception of 3,161 acres. These will be selected during the coming summer and the entire grant thus filed, reports the San Francisco Chronicle.

The granted lands are distributed as follows: State penal reformatory, eleemosynary and educational institutions, 200,000 acres; state capitol grant, 132,000; state normal school, 100,000; agricultural college, 100,000; scientific agricultural college, 100,000; scientific schools, 900; state university, 4,580. These lands are exclusive of common school lands, which are sections 36-16 in every township in the state. Some of these sections have been lost by inundation and other causes.

The government permits the state to select indemnity lands for those lost, and of this class the state has about 200,000 acres to select. Owing to the scarcity of remaining government lands it is doubtful if the state can recover a very large portion of the school lands thus lost.

SURPRISING MOTTOES.

An Educated Chinaman Translates Some Worn on a Young Society Lady's Belt.

One of the latest fads is the wearing of belts ornamented with Chinese characters in silver. The characters are generally chosen at random, for, as few persons can read Chinese, the meaning of the hieroglyphics is regarded as of no importance. Nevertheless, in the case of one of the belted beauties, the fashion had an extremely droll result. Quite lately she met an educated Chinese gentleman, who expressed his admiration of the sentiments set forth in the lettering on her belt. "It is beautiful," he said, "and I congratulate you on the excellence of your mottoes, which I think are unusual in your country." "Oh, the sentiments," replied the gratified owner of the adornment, "do tell me what the characters mean." "There are but two wishes expressed," said the Chinaman, "but as they are repeated several times over I know they must be your true aspirations. One is 'May all my enemies die by torture,' and the other is, 'May I have 50 sons.'"

The Universal Microbe.

Bacteriologists destroy one by one our fondest illusions, says Popular Science News. Hitherto the man in the street had imagined that were all the waters of every city and plain polluted he would still find immaculate springs in the Alps. But M. Binst, who presides over a chemical laboratory at the Pasteur institute, having no such faith, obtained some ice from the glaciers of Mount Blanc itself and placed it under his pitiless microscope. His verdict shatters the dreams of mountaineers. It appears that even the summit, which so long remained untrodden by human feet, has lost its purity, if it ever had any. The ice in question, and water melted therefrom, were found, on bacteriological analysis, to be "peopled with microbes."

Moral Effect of Diets.

An exclusively pork diet tends infallibly to pessimism. Beef, if persevered in for months, makes a man strong, energetic and audacious, says Pearson's Weekly. A mutton diet continued for any length of time tends to melancholia, while veal eaters gradually lose energy and gayety. The free use of eggs and milk tend to make women healthy and vivacious. Butter used in excess renders its users phlegmatic and lazy. Apples are excellent for brain workers, and everybody who has much intellectual work to do should eat them freely. Potatoes, on the contrary, render one dull, invidious and lazy, when eaten constantly and in excess. To preserve the memory, even to an advanced age, nothing is better than mustard.

The War Against Consumption.

Within the last ten years more new methods have been devised for dealing with consumption than any other human ailment.

The Plainfield and Elizabeth policemen's teams will cross bats on the St. Mary grounds in this city, today. Last year the two nines met twice and both times the Plainfield contingent was overwhelmed. This season Patrolman Overbaught is in charge of the locals and has added some good material which he hopes will give the county seat people something they don't expect. The game will be called at 2:30.

The recent nineteen inning game at Chicago between Pittsburg and the Windy city is the longest national league game on record. Previous to this record was held by the eighteen inning game in 1882 in which the Providence Grays defeated the Detroits by 1 to 0. This game is remarkable for the fact that neither side scored for seventeen innings. There is a game on record, however, which outranks these two in length and sensational features — the famous twenty-four inning contest, the longest on record, which was played by Harvard College and the Manchester professional team at Boston, May 11, 1877, and in which neither side, after battling till sundown, was able to score.

How American Women Travel.

Most American women abroad work hard. They travel in all sorts of discomfort, rising "while it is yet night," walking through miles of picture galleries, visiting ancient churches and cathedrals, and "doing" all kinds of places in which they take no interest. They go to so many cities and see them so superficially that they know nothing about any one of them, really. How can anyone know anything of a country, its people, institutions, language, art, architecture, morals, schools or anything else, just by racing through it with a party of nervous, hurried strangers, each member of it tired and worn to a frazzle?—Woman's Home Companion.

Skeleton Lasts Thirty Years.

The opening of a new cemetery at Exeter, N. H., and the transfer of a large number of bodies have enabled an observant sexton to collect some grewsome facts in regard to the length of time the human frame lasts when put under ground. He has found that a 25-year interment is sufficient for disintegration generally, and after 40 years there is nothing left of the bodies of adults except the skull and right thigh bone. At what period the entire skeleton disappears he has not determined. In support of his assertion he instances numerous cases which have come under his own observation recently.—N. Y. World.

Neglected Baptism.

A rather good story has been circulated respecting Canada's premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Telegraph denial."

To which dispatch the premier wired this reply: "Sorry to say the report is correct. I have no children."—London Daily News.

CITY POLICE WON THE GAME

Defeated Baseball Nine of the Elizabeth Police Force by the Score of 21 to 4.

IT WAS VERY ONESIDED.

After the First Inning the Home Team Pounded the County Seat Pitcher All Over the Field and Made Runs at Will—Higgins' Great Catch—A Banquet.

Defeat-bald, stinging, unalloyed defeat—was administered in one large dose to the aggregation of bluecoats which came to this city from the county seat, yesterday afternoon, intending to give an exhibition of the national game. To use common parlance, their opponents, Chief Kiely's Colts, "put it all over them." For one brief inning the Elizabethans had hopes of keeping up their end of the game, but that was all. When the locals settled down to work in the second and got their eagle eyes and batting arms on the leather, they toyed, they played, they out-classed the visitors and when the one sided contest came to an end the latter wondered why they only brought in four runs while Plainfield piled up twenty-one. Nobody else was puzzled because it was a clear case of "one did and the other didn't" play ball.

Hope Common was the scene of the slaughter and although announcement that the game was to be played was made but a day previous, a crowd of 500 was on the grandstand and bleachers. The majority rooted for Plainfield but there was also a good sized delegation of leather-lunged fans from down the road who made the welkin ring with shouts when Elizabeth made a play, which was in deed very seldom.

Elizabeth won the toss up and took to the field at the beginning. Roundsman John Flynn was first to the bat and, disobeying Captain Overbaugh's instructions, "bit" on some high ones and fanned. His brother, Patrolman Charles Flynn had the same eye and was retired, to the great alarm of the grandstand which began to think Rabig was a wonder. Patrolman McCarthy found the ball but he was put out at first and Plainfield went out with a blank but a determination to do something.

They did, but by a series of three hits Ulrich was chased around the bases and come home with the first run. It was all the visitors got for some time for they were blanked until the sixth inning. Winn played with them, from first to last. They swatted the air, whirled around after the leather had passed and some of them didn't even see it go by them. The batsmen were retired in one, two, three order and withdrew to the bench to formulate a plan of action. Every man that stood up at the plate was given a new code of instructions, but all to no purpose. S. P. T. Wilbur, who looked unhappy in the role of umpire, even gave some of them a chance to walk to first (so it is asserted) but even that didn't suffice.

When the Plainfielders got a chance with the willow it was certainly a different story. There was one continuous sound of sharp cracks as the leather was sent bounding to every part of the Common. The fielders went chasing around like mad and the inside men fell all over each other in an effort to stop the carousal but they might just as well have tried to preserve order at a christening over the 'Port way. "Carrie" Higgins surprised them with a three bagger and Jack Conroy, who was the life of the game, made two runs in one inning and at one time stopped long enough in his flight to field a ball for the short stop who was declaring the second baseman out of order for getting in his territory.

Moses Quaas was a little off at first but braced up and pranced around the bases three times. Charlie Flynn rapped out a double and when one man made a break in the eighth inning, Captain Overbaugh gave it out that a failure to hit the ball would mean retirement to the bench for the season. He didn't have a chance to fulfill his threat for not one of his men failed to get at least a "piece" of the good ones every time.

In the seventh inning, the county seat people showed a willingness to give up the game, but remembering the two defeats of last season, the

REINHART GONE WEST.

Will Enter National Golf Championship on the Glenview Course.

Frank O. Reinhart left yesterday for Glenview, near Chicago, where next Tuesday he will enter the competition for the National amateur golf championship. He expects to spend a few days on the course in preparation for the play. According to the official announcement he is paired in the qualifying round with Wm. Holibird, the young western crack. They are scheduled to start their play at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The qualifying round will be for eighteen holes instead of thirty-six as previously.

DRUGGISTS IN SESSION.

Union County Association Held Its Annual Meeting and Withdrew From the National Association.

The Union County Retail Druggists' Association met in regular session at Westfield last Tuesday and voted unanimously to withdraw from the National Association of Retail Druggists. It was decided that the national association is of no special benefit to the county association, besides it will save a tax of 50 cents each a year, thus making it possible for the county association to reduce the dues to 50 cents a year, which is proposed.

At the meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year:

George H. Horning, of Elizabeth, president; T. A. Armstrong, of Plainfield, vice president; Joseph G. Smith, of Rahway, secretary, and R. J. Shaw, of Plainfield, treasurer. The governing board comprises W. R. Richart of Elizabeth, Dr. Gale, of Westfield, W. H. Rodgers, of Summit, A. F. Kirstein, of Rahway, D. G. Hillier, of Linden, and A. D. Mallinson, of Plainfield.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Dr. Gale's clubhouse, Westfield, in October.

REDWOOD CAMP'S OFFICERS.

Final Meeting for Summer of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Redwood Camp, No. 10262, Modern Woodmen of America, met Wednesday evening and voted not to meet again until October 15. The following officers were elected to take their positions when the next meeting is held:

Past venerable, Horace J. Martin; venerable counsel, H. G. Wentrick; worthy advisor, W. L. Smalley; esteemed clerk, A. K. Fischer; excellent banker, William Callahan; escort, Frank Scheurlein; chief forester, Jerry Foss; board of manager, H. J. Martin; associate manager, Aaron F. Carpenter; watchman, O. F. Pearson; sentinel, Theodore Pangborn; deputy counsel, Adam K. Fischer.

The membership of the camp is now forty-nine and new members are constantly being received.

AT RESCUE MISSION.

Address and Musical Numbers Made Up the Programme.

At the Rescue Mission meeting in the First Church of Christ last evening an interesting programme was carried out. An eloquent temperance address was delivered by Henry DeMott and a speech was also made by John Goodwin. There was a programme of vocal and instrumental music, consisting of a number of solos by Mrs. John Manley, and selections by a stringed orchestra composed of John Hankinson, harp, and Anton Gaub, violin. Members of the mission presented Mrs. John Manley, the organist, with a handsome hand-made shawl. At the close refreshments were served.

FIREMEN'S PARADE.

New Brunswick's Fire Department is Preparing for One October 7.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 11—At a meeting of the Board of Engineers of the local fire department, held last evening, plans were formulated for the biennial parade of the firemen to be held Tuesday, October 7. Every company in the city will take part and an effort will be made to have the celebration eclipse all previous ones of the kind. The Common Council has appropriated $500 to be divided among the various companies for the parade.

Picnicked at Watchung.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran church, accompanied by a number of their friends, enjoyed a picnic at Thatcher's grove, Watchung, yesterday afternoon.

Drinking Trough in Place.

The drinking trough for horses ordered by the Common Council has been put in position on Muhlenberg place, where it is proving a blessing to horses.

CADETSHIP TO PLAINFIELD

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER ANNOUNCES RESULT OF THE EXAMINATIONS.

N. P. Rogers, Jr., Was First in the Competition and Fred VanAuken First Alternate.

Word was received in this city this morning from Congressman Charles N. Fowler, that two Plainfield young men stand at the head of the list in the competitive examination for the West Point cadetship that was recently held at Pingry School, Elizabeth. N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., of East Front street, stands at the head of the list, and Fred T. VanAuken, of East Sixth street, is second.

The name of Mr. Rogers will be sent to the Secretary of War for the cadetship and Mr. VanAuken will be recommended as first alternate. The Plainfield young men are to be highly congratulated on their successful showing. The examinations were held just one month ago yesterday and there was a large number of competitors from every part of the Eighth district.

Mr. Rogers will take the entrance examination to West Point in the latter part of August, and if successful, will enter the institution in September. In case of his failure to pass the examination, a physicial one being included, an opportunity will then be given to VanAuken, the first alternate.

NO MORE SMALL-POX.

Satisfaction in New Brunswick Over the Wiping Out of the Disease.

There is a spirit of rejoicing in New Brunswick at present for the reason that small-pox has been wiped out of that community and the emergency hospital has been closed and the nurses are taking a vacation. The place will be thoroughly disinfected this week, and next week the nurses will be brought back and held in readiness.

Between December 15, 1901, to July 5, of this year, the small-pox epidemic cost New Brunswick $3,687.03, and there are some minor bills still to be paid. There have been nineteen cases, and out of that number there have been but two deaths. Included in the total amount of expenditure is $791, which has been paid the two nurses. The city physician, in view of there being a large number of cases of small-pox in the State, has deemed it advisable to retain the nurses, and the Council has decided to do so at a nominal cost. Everyone in New Brunswick is grateful that the present epidemic is over.

CAN'T SELL BIRDS.

Dealer Had Attention Called to Fact He Was Breaking State Law.

Of late persons have noticed a man selling mocking birds on West Front street. If this was against the State law there were very few who knew it, but Lawyer William M. Stillman was one of those who knew the law. He approached the man Tuesday and gave him some pointers about his illegal business in this State. The man took the hint and left the city the same day. It seems that according to the laws of New Jersey it is unlawful to cage mocking birds, and Mr. Stillman took the stand he did in the interest of the Audubon Society of which he is a member.

GRADING PROPERTY.

C. M. Meeker Given Contract From Walsh Brothers.

C. M. Meeker has received the contract from Walsh brothers to complete the grading of their property at Third street and Clinton avenue. The work has been going on for some time and has been interrupted on several occasions, one of which was the sudden flight of Patsy Christmas, an Italian padrone, with the wages of the Italian laborers. For some time afterward it was impossible for the contractor to get workmen to go ahead with the job.

Busy Season Promised.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C. A., and the newly-appointed boys' secretary, Kenneth Robbie, are planning to make the coming autumn a busy one for the young men of Plainfield. A schedule of gymnastic and athletic events is now in preparation. Several outings are being arranged for the boys' department, one of which will be a visit to the Bronx menagerie.

Outing to Manhattan.

About twenty members of the Ladies' Bowling Club went to Manhattan Beach on an outing Wednesday.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS ARE GATHERED AT SHORE

Biennial Convention of Second General Conference District Epworth League.

IT BEGAN LAST NIGHT.

MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE UNTIL SUNDAY AT OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Opened With a Reception Last Evening—Today's Sessions—Programme For the Week—The Speakers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean City, July 11—Many delegates from seven conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church, and representing over 140,000 members, have arrived to attend the biennial convention of the second general conference district Epworth League, which began here last night, and will continue until Sunday. The gathering opened with a reception, at which addresses of welcome were made by Rev. S. W. Lake, Rev. T. H. Boswell and Rev. F. A. DeMaris. Responses were made by Rev. J. W. Marshall, representative on the general board of control, and Rev. C. L. Mead, of Hoboken, who is president of the organization.

This morning the reports of the officers were presented and committees appointed. Following a spiritual department was conducted, the leaders being Rev. C. O. Judkins, of Glens Falls, N. Y.; Rev. H. G. Budd, of Berlin, Md.; Rev. J. W. Marshall, of Camden, and Rev. H. D. Trinkaus, of Brooklyn.

This afternoon the convention will be given up to the methods, mercy and help department, with Miss Sara Lenhart, of New Brunswick, as leader, and to the junior league work, with Miss Mary L. Hopkins in charge. "The League and Civic Righteousness" will be discussed at night, as follows: "The League and Our Imperilled Sabbath," Rev. J. A. Gillies, Troy, N. Y.; "The League and the Liquor Traffic," Rev. J. A. Hensey, Paterson; "The League and the Daily Press," Rev. S. J. Herben, assistant editor New York Christian Advocate, who lives in Newark; "The League and the City Problem," Rev. E. L. Fox, pastor of People's church, New York City.

The literary department will be in charge Saturday morning and these addresses will be made: "The Best Books of the Year," Rev. C. F. Sitterly, of Drew Theological Seminary at Madison; "Does the Literary Department Pay?" Rev. Storer S. Jolley, of Philadelphia; "The Reading Course and How to Introduce It," Rev. J. M. Arters, of Odessa, Del., and "Methods of Self-culture," Robert H. Doherty, of Jersey City. Part of the afternoon will be taken up by the social department. The speakers and their topics will be: "The Social Atmosphere in the Church," Rev. W. F. Andreson, Ossining, N. Y.; "How to Reach Young Men," Rev. F. B. Short, secretary Y. M. C. A., Wilmington, Del.; "How to Secure and Hold Members," William O. Gantz, New York City. At this session the standing committees will report and officers will be elected. Saturday night a missionary conference will take place, the speakers being Rev. F. D. Gamewell, Rev. W. I. Haven, New York City; Rev. W. G. Waters, Wilmington, Del.

A sunrise service will be held Sunday at 6:30 a. m., and later Bishop E. G. Andrews will preach. In the afternoon Rev. C. A. Tindly, of Philadelphia, will deliver a sermon, and at night Rev. Thomas Henderson, of Brooklyn. The convention will conclude with a consecration service.

RAHWAY TROLLEY.

Likely That Elizabeth Will Grant Franchise Asked For.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 11—Members of the Common Council are being requested to grant a franchise to the East Jersey Traction Company to operate a trolley line from this place to Rahway, but there is considerable objection from the Rahway merchants, who believe that they will lose trade by the improvement. There seems to be good ground to believe that the line will be built, as liberal concessions will be granted by the trolley company for such a right of way.

F. H. Andrews Will Lead.

F. H. Andrews will lead the meeting at Warren chapel this evening and give an interesting account of the conference held at Northfield, Mass. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

TO BUILD SHOPS AT ONCE

MILLIKEN BROTHERS, OF NEW YORK, HAVE THE CONTRACT FOR WORK.

L. J. H. Groshart, Represents the Firm, and is Looking for Men at Once.

L. J. H. Groshart, of New York, is in Plainfield, looking after the survey for the new industry to be established at the corner of West Front street and Clinton avenue. Mr. Groshart represents Milliken Brothers, civil engineers and contractors, a large firm with offices all over the United States, and likewise in Australia, South Africa, England and several agencies in Europe.

Mr. Groshart will have temporary quarters erected near the site of the new construction to be used as an office. He is now prepared to hire laborers, and carpenters to begin work immediately, and in a very short time masons and bricklayers and other skilled labor will be in demand. Mr. Groshart is now casting an eye about for crushed stone, sand and material for concrete, which he intends to buy in the immediate vicinity. Work on the building will be rapidly pushed and it is the hope of the company to be able to occupy their new quarters in three month's time.

Besides the main building 400 by 100 feet, there will be three other structures on the property, a blacksmith shop, a boiler and dynamo building, and a pattern-storage building. The principal branch of the new industry will be the construction of hydraulic machinery, heavy machine tools, lathes, planers and instruments for use in railroad shops. The president of the Pederick & Ayer Company, of Philadelphia, who are the builders is H. S. Manning, of the firm of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, of New York.

NEEDED FOR CAMP.

Certain Articles Which Are Wanted at Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Any person having swings or hammocks of any kind that they are not using, can afford much comfort and happiness by sending them to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Miss Curry also needs a suitable table for use in her office at the home. Although the New York folks have only been at the home less than two weeks, the improvement is more marked than it was for any one month at Westfield. The children are thoroughly enjoying themselves and are thriving on fresh country air.

FOUND FINE SAND.

Vein Found in Excavating for Cellar on Somerset Street.

Workmen engaged in excavating the cellar for Lafayette Rosenstiehl's new building on Somerset street have struck a vein of very fine and valuable sand running through the west end of the cellar about four feet below the surface. The sand is being saved to be used in mixing the mortar. It is a remarkable fact that when the cellar was being dug for the building immediately adjoining no sand was struck.

STABBED WITH PITCHFORK.

John VanNest Ran Tines Through His Foot With Serious Results.

John VanNest, a wholesale butcher living at Martinsville, and doing business in Plainfield, had the misfortune to run a pitchfork through his left foot Wednesday afternoon. He paid little attention to the injury at the time, but the foot soon began to swell and give excruciating pain so that Mr. VanNest could not use it. Dr. M. B. Long was called yesterday and dressed the foot, and he thinks that there will be no serious results.

Fall Damaged Rider.

A sudden fall from his wheel on East Front street, this morning, gave Walter Burns, of East Second street, a number of severe cuts and bruises. He was riding along with his hands off the bars when a jolt caused the front wheel to turn and throw him. The machine was badly bent in several places.

Extra Good and Welfare Session.

In addition to the regular business at this evening's meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., the members will engage in an extra session of good and welfare. All members are asked to be present. The first degree is to be worked on one candidate.

—A good dinner is often spoiled by poor butter. Rockdale print and creamery is the highest in quality. Neuman Brothers.

Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, of Newark, is visiting Mrs. Edward Winter, of East Fifth street.

EUCHRE AT HOTEL.

Successful Evening of Progressive Euchre at the Hotel Netherwood.

Progressive euchre was the attraction at the Hotel Netherwood last evening. It was the most successful euchre yet held, thirty-eight tables having been arranged for the players. The halls were prettily decorated and the orchestra played during the intervals. The first woman's prize was won by Mrs. Martyn, Underwood, N. J., and the second by Mrs. Rogers, New York. Mrs. Martyn won eleven out of the twelve games played. The first men's prize was won by N. A. Hardee, Savannah, Ga.; second, J. Demarest Johnston, Brooklyn.

DEACON IN COURT.

Spencer Conway Up for Violating Health Ordinance and Fined $5 for the Offence.

The familiar visage of Deacon Spencer Conway bobbed up serenely in the city court, this morning. This time the City Board of Health was responsible for his appearance. The board officials received word from a neighbor that the Deacon was reducing expenses by cleaning his cesspool and dumping the water in the backyard. Inspector Addis went to his home on West Fourth street, yesterday, and investigated.

The Deacon admitted violating the health ordinance but in court he observed that it didn't make much difference because he sprinkled "consecrated" lye over the water. City Judge Runyon said he guessed it did and imposed a $5 fine, which he said was very light as the ordinance demands a penalty of $25. After paying the amount Inspector Addis served the Deacon with a thirty days' notice to have his house connected with the sewer. Conway claims it is spite work on the part of his neighbors.

THIEVES AT RAHWAY.

Peddle in Day Time and Ply Trade During the Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 11—For several weeks past this place has been overrun with tramps and robberies have been frequent. As a result many citizens are adopting measures to rid the town of these people and steps have been taken for self-protection. Wednesday night burglars entered the home of Robert Brockhousen on East Milton avenue. They did not get well into the house for a large mastiff met them at the window and frightened them away.

It has been learned that these men travel about day times selling eyeglasses and soap to the women of the house, and in this way they get acquainted with the premises and how to effect an entrance.

TROLLEY PARTY.

Successful Result of Initial Attempt of Retail Clerks' Association.

One hundred and fifty young people were carried in three cars to Boynton Beach, last evening, on a trolley party given by the Retail Clerks' Association. Weather and all combined made it a most delightful trip and with one accord the officers of the organization voted to make it the first of a series of similar affairs to be held during the summer.

On the journey to the beach, the ride was made more enjoyable by cornet solos by Whitney Frazee and vocal selections by members of the party. Dancing became the feature at the beach and was kept up until 11:30 when the return trip began. This city was reached at 1:15 this morning.

OFFICER RESIGNED.

Result of Trouble Between Him and Westfield's Former Chief.

The Westfield Township Committee was greatly surprised Wednesday night when the resignation of Policeman Cyrus Wilcox was received. It is a well-known fact for some time past Mr. Wilcox and Past Chief of Police Connoly have been at odds. When Wilcox resigned Wednesday night at the committee meeting, he asked to see all the members of the committee, except Mr. Connoly, who is chairman of the committee, so that he could explain to them his reasons for resigning. The explanation resulted in the committee's acceptance. Mr. Wilcox was one of the best officers Westfield ever had.

D. H. Barrows Won.

In the finals for the Consolation cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, played in connection with the finals for the Club championship cup, D. H. Barrows defeated Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, by 1 up.

Members Out of Town.

The meeting of the Democratic City executive committee, scheduled for last evening, was postponed until the first week in August owing to the absence from the city of several members.

VOTE ON NEW ENGINE HOUSE

The Borough Council Called a Special Election for August to Vote on Engine House.

LITTLE OTHER BUSINESS.

Frame Buildings Cannot be Erected on Somerset St., Between City Line and Mountain Ave.—No Report on Greater City Plan as Minority of Committee Was Not Ready.

Two important resolutions were presented at the meeting of the Borough Council last evening. The first established August 12 as a date for a special election when the question of an issuance of bonds to cover the expenses of erecting the new fire engine house will be submitted to the voters of the borough. The second was an order hereafter prohibiting the erection of frame buildings on Somerset street between the line dividing the city and borough and the southerly side of Mountain avenue.

The meeting was short and harmonious. In the absence of Mayor Smalley, Charles L. Nichols, president of the board, occupied the chair. No report was made by the annexation and consolidation committee and that question did not come up in any form except when a communication was read from J. T. MacMurray, city clerk of Plainfield, stating that the request for a special committee to confer on the matter of consolidation with a similar committee from the borough board had been referred to the Common Council at the meeting of July 7. Mr. MacMurray's communication further stated that the request had been laid on the table by motion to that effect until the return of the corporation counsel. This caused evident dissatisfaction among some members of the Council, but the matter dropped without discussion.

Chairman Arnold of the street committee made the following report for the month of June: Expenditures—Labor, $27; macadamizing, $157.23; street sprinkling, $101.80; stone, $303.95; total, $589.98. Robert M. Clark, chairman of the fire, water and lamps committee reported expenditures as follows: Electric Light Company, $434; special fire duty, July 3 and 4, $59.50; J. P. Humble, $20; Frank Mobus, $8; P. A. Magg, $1.60; C. H. Rugg, $5.50; A. M. Griffen, $1.95; gas company, $2.80; total, $515.35. Chief of Police Campbell's report, submitted by Councilman Lee, of the police committee, showed that during the month there were six arrests for drunkenness, two for disorderly conduct, and seven for stealing golf balls. The sum of $30 was collected in fines.

The report of George F. Brown, collector and treasurer, was as follows: Taxes and interest, $394.49; Board of Health, $4.51; special school, $171.18; Frank Rowley, clerk, license, $37.50; bills payable, note, $1,000; balance on hand, June 1, $3,003.74; total receipts, $3,611.42; disbursements, $3,156.34; cash on hand, July 1, $455.08.

A resolution was passed authorizing the board to borrow $1,000 to meet current expenses. A communication was read from the League of American Municipalities inviting the board to send delegates to the annual convention to be held at Grand Rapids, Michigan, August 27, 28, 29. Referred to proper committee.

The resolution providing that buildings erected on Somerset street shall be brick or stone goes into effect immediately and a fine, not exceeding $10 and not less than $5, will be levied for every day a building erected in violation of the ordinance shall be allowed to stand. Structures on other streets may be as heretofore.

Passenger on the Puritan.

Mrs. William Addis, of Orange place, was a passenger on the steamship Puritan which towed the disabled steamship Priscilla back to Newport, Wednesday. Mrs. Addis was on her way to Boston to visit her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Mundy, and the latter had to wait several hours after the scheduled time of arrival of the boat for her mother.

No Important Business.

A semi-annual business meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein Society was held in Saenger Hall last evening. Only routine business was transacted.

Chapter Conferred Degree.

Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., met last evening and conferred the mark master degree.

ATTRACTIVE FEATURE.

"Alice of Old Vincennes" is to Be Published in the Sunday Philadelphia North American.

Another enchantingly interesting story is delighting readers of the Sunday Philadelphia North American. "Alice of Old Vincennes," by Maurice Thompson, is both thrilling and pathetic, a word picture of the life of the early settlers in Indiana, which portrays the lights and shadows of pioneer days with the skill of the expert. Love-making in those days was apt to be interrupted by the sudden crack of the rifle and the pinging of a bullet on the doorpost. They were stirring days of danger, stern hardship and frequent tragedies.

Through this border life, with its shooting affrays and fierce fights, Alice of Old Vincennes moves like a being from a world of her own. She is a fascinating character to those who compare her with the modern girl. And yet her prototype could be readily found in those strenuous pioneer days. Here is a synopsis of the opening chapters of the book:

Alice Roussillon is introduced to the reader. She is described as a tall, lithe girl at play beneath a cherry tree with her foster brother, Jean, the hunchback. They are interrupted by Pere Beret, the parish priest.

Gaspard Roussillon, the adopted father of the children, a stalwart French immigrant, had taken the two waifs and had given them a home. The girl was of Protestant parentage, but her guardian, a devout Catholic, had refused to interfere with her religion, much to the regret of the good priest.

After chiding the children for their rough play Pere Beret was told that a quantity of alcoholic liquor had just reached Vincennes. He made no sign of approval or disapproval, but as he sat on the doorsill of his home thinking of it, a letter was handed him.

The continuation of the story will be found in the Sunday North American.

THEATRICAL.

Despite the mounting of the mercury, capacity audiences are still the rule at Keith's Theatre, New York. The bill which is provided for the coming week is undeniably a strong one, and goes far to bear out the boast of the house that "Keith and excellence are synonymous terms." Few of the one act comedies, generally called sketches, are better known or more popular than "A Wise Guy," which is the medium selected by Edmond Hayes for his starring tour. Mr. Hayes, with a competent supporting company, heads the bill at Keith's and is sure to renew the favorable impressions previously made at this theatre. Of next importance are the Ballerinis, father and daughter, who have widely different acts. Ballerinis' troupe of trained dogs come to this country with a well established European reputation, and Miss Clara Ballerini is a trapeze performer of international note. Worthy of mention, even upon this strong bill are the Six Blackbirds, a half dozen small negroes, who are vocalists of no mean order; Stella Mayhew, who sings "coon" songs; Fiske & McDonough, in their sketch; and Collins & North with a singing and talking act. Eighteen other good features wtih new and interesting moving pictures, complete a characteristically admirable Keith show—there is none better.

—The monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will be held this evening.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Edwin Langley, of Essex street, has gone to Coney Island for a few days' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kinney, of Arlington avenue, are summering in Vermont.

Miss Rose Becker, of Raritan, has been visiting friends in Plainfield for a few days.

James Montross, of East Second street, has recovered from a several days' illness.

Among the Plainfielders at Asbury Park are Mrs. Harry C. Runyon and Miss Elmira Runyon.

Mrs. E. W. Hedges and children, of Watchung avenue, are stopping at Chester, Morris county.

Henry A. Pearce, of Essex street, has returned from a two weeks' stay at Camp Northfield, Mass.

Miss Grace VanNest, of Alton, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Conover, of Elmwood place.

Moses Cohen, of New York, is spending two weeks with M. Rottberg, of West Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Manchester, of Lafayette place, have been entertaining company from Ossining, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Bellis, of Elmwood place, have returned from a pleasant stay in Hunterdon county.

Mrs. Julius Williams and family, of Plainfield avenue, have returned from a stay with relatives at Warrenville.

Mrs. Josephine Loweree and Mrs. H. O. Hance, of the borough, are spending several days at Liberty Corner.

Miss Sue Woodland, of Roseville, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Case, of Duer street.

Mrs. Benjamin R. Force and Miss Force, of East Front street, have returned from a pleasant stay at Bernardsville.

R. F. R. Huntsman, of Westervelt avenue, has returned from Casco Bay, Maine, leaving his family there for the summer.

Miss Ida May Tallamy, of West Front street, has gone to Ocean Grove where she will remain for three weeks.

Miss Harriet Runyon, of Illinois, is visiting relatives in Plainfield for a time. She is a niece of A. M. and Theodore I. Runyon.

Robert Whittaker, of Putnam avenue, will go to St. Paul, Minn., next week where he will exhibit his wonderful horse for a few weeks.

Miss Ethel Tinsman, of Elizabeth, is spending several weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Creveling, of East Fifth street.

A young daughter who arrived Wednesday evening is the center of attraction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Connolly, of Essex street.

Sunday's Evening Collection.

The collection at the First Baptist church last Sunday evening for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home amounted to $42. Each charity will receive $21.

An Owner Found.

The police picked up Wednesday night a woman's wheel which had been left standing at the corner of North and Park avenues. Yesterday it was claimed by Miss. Rosabel Schroeder.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

DESTRUCTIVE FLOOD

Cloudburst Does Great Damage In Greene County, Pa.

AN ESTIMATED LOSS OF $200,000.

Eight Miles of Railroad Track Washed Out—Bridges and Buildings Swept Away—Farmers Suffer Heavily.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 11.—Communication from this town to outside territory has been opened after twenty-four hours' isolation. Ten Mile creek and its two branches running north from here caused the greatest flood in Greene county's history. Over a score of houses, twice as many stables, miles of railroad track and roadbed, innumerable barns, stockhouses and outhouses are scattered over the county, some of them five miles from their original foundations. As yet no loss of life has been reported, although many made narrow escapes. The flood was caused by a cloudburst, extensive in its area and sudden in its descent. The total loss is estimated at about nearly $200,000.

Eight miles of roadbed of the Waynesburg and Washington railroad were washed out between this place and Deerlick, entailing a loss of at least $25,000. Along with the track and roadbed about a dozen railroad and county bridges were carried away, and travel between this place and outside country for the next two weeks will have to be conducted on horseback and in wagons. Farms for miles around were completely washed out and all crops ruined. Even those in the higher lands were badly damaged by the deluge of rain. Company K of the Tenth regiment, which left for the state encampment, had to journey to Washington by wagons.

High Water In Kansas.

MANHATTAN, Kan., July 11.—The Kaw and the Blue rivers here are the highest since 1881, and both are still rising. They are overflowing their banks here and throughout the river valleys. Much damage has already resulted to crops and railroads. Six feet of water covers the Blue Valley railroad, and no trains have run since Tuesday. Rock Island trains also have been tied up here, several miles of track west of Manhattan being under water. The main line of the Union Pacific is threatened just east of here.

Floods in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 11.—The Baltimore and Ohio bridge spanning Wheeling creek on the Pittsburg division and leading to the depot was washed away yesterday. A train of cars on the bridge to hold it against the booming stream went down with the wreck. All the local streams are raging torrents.

Noted Physician Dead.

NEW YORK, July 11.—John Newell Tilden, M. D., A. M., teacher, author, physician and business man, is dead after a long illness at his residence in Peekskill. In 1892, while principal of the Peekskill Military academy, he played the part of Santa Claus at a Christmas entertainment at the academy. His costume caught fire and he was badly burned. The shock and injuries left him with a very weak heart, and he never fully recovered. This accident caused his retirement from the school. Dr. Tilden was at one time Henry Ward Beecher's physician. He was born in Onondaga, N. Y., June 10, 1842.

Colombian Troops Invade Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—From information received at the state department yesterday it is believed that war has broken out between the governments of Nicaragua and Colombia. The information is not definite on this point, however, being merely to the effect that a Colombian force, assisted by Nicaraguan revolutionists, has invaded Nicaragua and attacked troops of that country. Whether or not the Colombian force is composed of government troops is not known here, but there is reason to believe that the attack has the sanction of the Colombian administration.

Roosevelts on Horseback.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 11.—President Roosevelt passed a comparatively quiet day at Sagamore Hill yesterday. After the rain of the morning the president and Mrs. Roosevelt took a brisk gallop of several miles over the fine roads in the vicinity of their home, returning in time for luncheon. Miss Ethel and Master Archibald Roosevelt, accompanied by a daughter of J. West Roosevelt, who resides near the president's country home, also went horseback riding during the morning.

Queen's Narrow Escape.

LONDON, July 11.—Shortly after Queen Alexandra passed on her way to open the great coronation bazaar yesterday the decorations across Langham place, heavy and sodden with rain, were caught in a squall of wind and fell, dragging a mass of coping from the top of All Souls' church. Miss Streathy, believed to be a Canadian, was killed, and several persons were injured.

Aid For Strikers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 11.—President Mitchell has received a telegram from Dennis A. Hayes, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada, announcing that his organization, now in annual session at Atlantic City, N. J., had donated $5,000 to the striking miners.

AWFUL CALAMITY

Terrible Mine Explosion at Johnstown, Pa.

APPALLING DEATH LIST.

Few Miners Escape to Tell of the Disaster.

DEADLY GASES PREVENT RESCUE.

Cambria Steel Company's Mine Under Westmont Hill a Scene of Ruin, and It Is Thought That at Least Two Hundred Are Dead In the Debris—Stories of the Survivors.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 11.—Johnstown has again been visited by an appalling disaster.

It is only less frightful than the awful calamity of May 31, 1889, in cost of life, but in its terrible consequences it has brought the shadow of sorrow in hundreds of homes made desolate by a mine explosion which took place in the Cambria Steel company's Rolling Mill mine, under Westmont hill, yesterday afternoon.

How many are dead it may take several days to fully determine, but that it is a long and shocking list is certain. It may reach 200 or more men.

It was nearly an hour after the explosion before any general knowledge of what happened got abroad. Men who came from the mines, escaping with their lives, told the terrible news, and soon it spread like wildfire all over the city. In scores of homes there were the most pathetic scenes. Relatives were frantic with grief. Hundreds rushed to the point and, with sobbing hearts, awaited news that did not come from the ill fated mine.

At the opening across the river from the point the Cambria Steel company police, with several assistants, stood guard, permitting no one to enter the mine, from which noxious gases were coming. It was nearly 4 o'clock when all hope of sending rescue parties from the Westmont opening was abandoned. Two men who had escaped from the mine, Richard Bennett and John Meyers, went back two miles to see what assistance could be rendered, but the frightful damp drove them back, and they fell prostrate when they finally after a desperate struggle reached the outside. Two doctors gave the men assistance and after working with them half an hour restored them. Their story of the situation in the mine made it clear that the rescue work could not proceed from the Westmont opening, and then hasty preparations were made to begin that sad mission at the Mill Creek entrance. Soon after the news of the explosion reached the Cambria officials Mining Engineer Marshall G. Moore and one of his assistants, Al G. Prosser, made an attempt to enter the mine. They were followed by Mine Superintendent George T. Robinson, but the deadly gases stopped their progress, and they were compelled to return to the surface.

Mine Foreman Harry Rodgers, his assistant, William Blanch, and Fire Bosses John Whitney, John Retallick and John Thomas were overcome by the gases, and it is feared they perished in a heroic effort to rescue the miners. A son of Harry Rodgers then tried to reach his father, but he was quickly overcome by the deadly gas and was carried out unconscious.

William Stibich spent several hours at the Mill Creek opening. He said that he believed as many as 450 men were still in the mine. In his opinion, from all he could glean, not to exceed 150 men had come out.

The mining officials of the Cambria company stated the explosion was one of firedamp.

The catastrophe occurred in the section of the mine known among the miners as "Klondike." The name of the section on the company's books is the sixth west of the south main heading. It is about a mile and a half from the main entrance of the Rolling Mill mine.

The few survivors who have escaped from the depths of the mine describe the conditions to be frightful in their nature. Outside of the "Klondike" the mines are safe and uninjured. Within the fatal limits of the mine the havoc wrought by the explosion are such as beggar description. Solid walls of masonry three feet through were torn down as though barriers of paper. The roofs of the mine were demolished, and not a door remains standing. In the face of these difficulties even the most heroic efforts toward rescue may well seem hopeless.

Miners who left the mine by way of the Mill creek entrance brought horrible stories of crawling over the dead bodies of their comrades.

Two young men who were at work in the "Klondike" when the explosion occurred escaped by way of the air shaft heading up through the Kernville hill from the mine. A fanhouse, now out of use, stands at the top of this air shaft. This way the young men, sick and dizzy from the nauseous after damp or black damp, reached safety. They told how they had walked across dead bodies to pure air and light. How many they did not know.

The stories of the men who escaped are miraculous in their nature. Tom Foster, an assistant foreman in the Klondike mine, was among the first to emerge from the Mill Creek shaft. Shortly after Powell Griffith, a fire boss, came up. Foster was in his office when the explosion occurred. His first thought was for the safety of the men under his charge. With the help of Foreman Roberts an effort was made to replace a few of the shattered doors. All the while the firedamp was closing around them. They did not falter for an instant, but straight into the midst of danger they went. The thought "save the men" was paramount. Through galleries, into headings, warning and helping, the two men went. Roberts fell, but Foster staggered on, whither he hardly knew. In the midst of the danger he met Powell Griffith. He had faced what seemed certain death in an effort to save his men.

Forward they went, dragging a comrade into a possible place of safety here, giving a word of warning there, until endurance could stand the strain no longer. Exhausted, they staggered into a heading where the firedamp had not entered. There they rested for a moment and then plunged forward, where they did not know, until finally they wandered into a water level and through it reached a place of safety.

William Malcolm was in the upper part of the mine when the explosion came.

"The first I knew of the trouble was when men came running from what is known as the dip or lower section. They came running without hats, coats and some without clothes and in a terrible state of excitement. As near as I can remember not more than ten came that way, and they escaped, leaving more than 200 in the dip."

At 11:20 last night the first four victims were brought to the surface from the Klondike section. They were William Robertson, who was unconscious when found; John Retallic, alive and in pretty good shape, and two unknown Slavs, both alive, but unconscious.

Dr. John B. Lowman of this city, who came up with the men, said he passed twenty-five dead bodies, some of them in sitting postures.

TRUTH ABOUT THE KING.

Rapid Progress Toward Recovery Made During the Week.

LONDON, July 11.—The king's condition continues to be satisfactory.

King Edward is not yet able to sit up, but every day he is removed to an adjustable couch, which gives a welcome change to his position and which enables him to read with some degree of comfort.

It is understood that next week his majesty may be transferred upon this couch to the royal yacht the Victoria and Albert in a specially constructed ambulance carriage, but that all the arrangements for this transfer are kept secret in order to prevent a gathering of the public to witness the king's departure.

The British Medical Journal says the king's progress during the week has been even more rapid than seemed reasonable to anticipate.

"The wound," says the Journal, "is granulating well. The matter formed is diminishing in quantity and is laudable, but the wound is still deep and must be dressed from the bottom to insure sound healing. Drs. Treves and Laking remain at the palace, and Dr. Barlow consults with them once a day."

Reception to Colonial Volunteers.

LONDON, July 11.—All the state apartments of St. James' palace were utilized last night for the reception given by the Prince and Princess of Wales to the distinguished colonial visitors now in London. The hosts were assisted by a score of relatives of the royal family. The brilliancy of the spectacle was enhanced by thousands of newly installed electric lamps. The effect of this system of lighting was particularly lustrous in the throne-room, in which the Prince and Princess of Wales received their 850 guests. The reception was followed by a supper, of which the more privileged guests partook in company with the royal hosts.

Large Postal Receipts.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The receipts of the fifty largest postoffices of the United States for June were $4,178,368, a gain of $572,822, or 14 per cent, over the receipts for June, 1901. New York city heads the list with a total of $943,567, a gain of almost 13 per cent. Chicago showed a gain of almost 20 per cent. Dayton, O., leads all cities in the percentage of gain, its increase over June, 1901, being over 40 per cent. Columbus, O., follows, with a gain of over 38 per cent.

To Advance Window Glass Prices.

CLEVELAND, July 11.—Window glass manufacturers from all sections of the country are met here for the purpose of forming a combination and advancing prices. The meeting was called by the American Window Glass company. Several prominent independent manufacturers were reported at the meeting. It is said the latter are opposed to an advance in the selling price of window glass at this time.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

Principals In Sensational Philadelphia Affair Out on Bail.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Mrs. Aline Elsa O'Malley, wife of Professor Austin O'Malley of South Bend, Ind., and William J. Hearin of New York have been held to bail in the sum of $1,200 for trial on the charge of stealing jewelry valued at more than $1,000 from Dr. Joseph O'Malley of this city, Mrs. O'Malley's brother-in-law.

At a preliminary hearing last week Mrs. O'Malley and Hearin were committed to the county prison in default of $1,200 bail. At yesterday's hearing no new evidence was presented, but the magistrate decided that a prima facie case had been made out at the previous hearing, which necessitated holding the defendants for trial.

Mrs. O'Malley's husband was brought to this city some weeks ago suffering from the effects of poison. He has since been a patient in St. Agnes' hospital, but the physicians at that institution decline to state the result of their diagnosis of his case. His wife, who came from South Bend with him, resided at the home of Dr. Joseph O'Malley until the night of July 1, when she was arrested as she was leaving the house to meet Hearin. The latter was taken into custody while waiting for her at a railroad station. A charge of robbery was preferred against the pair by Dr. O'Malley, who alleges that over $1,000 worth of jewelry was stolen from his house during the time his sister-in-law resided there. A portion of this jewelry was found in Hearin's possession on the night of his arrest, besides two railroad tickets for South Bend.

To Explore Labrador Wilds.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 11.—An expedition under the leadership of Colonel Willard Glazier of New York, numbering twelve persons, has left here on board the steamer Virginia Lake to explore the unknown wilds of Labrador. Colonel Glazier's expedition was organized in Boston. Among its members are representatives of leading American cities. It is reported that the object of the expedition is to determine the feasibility of a new railroad line for the Atlantic shipping combine.

Burned by Molten Metal.

PITTSBURG, July 11.—Fifteen men were burned, one fatally and eight seriously, at the Homestead Steel works. The accident occurred at furnace No. 40, in Hearth mill, No. 3. A ladle filled with molten metal was being lowered into the pit when the drum of the crane broke, and the seething metal was thrown over the unfortunate men.

Pope Honors Turner.

ROME, July 11.—The pope has created John Spencer Turner of New York a marquis in recognition of his philanthropic generosity.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Five firemen were killed in Toronto by the collapse of a wall of a burning building.

It is estimated that the total number killed on the Boer side during the recent war was 3,700.

F. S. Kelley, Oxford, won the Diamond Sculls at Henley, and Third Trinity, Cambridge, won the Grand Challenge cup.

A large portion of the residence section of Des Moines is flooded. Great damage is reported in other parts of Iowa and in Nebraska.

Colonel Nathaniel McKay, the millionaire hotel man of Washington, dropped dead at Atlantic City, N. J., while on his honeymoon.

At Macon, Ga., B. Aycock, manager of the Dublin mill of the Southern Oil company, and his wife were drowned. They had been married but two months.

HITCH ABOUT FRIARS

Taft Awaits Instructions Regarding Vatican Note.

A POSSIBLE PLAN FOR SUBSTITUTION.

It Is Reported From Washington on Good Authority That the Governor Has Been Ordered to Insist on His Terms.

ROME, July 11.—Judge Taft, governor of the Philippine islands, withholds his opinion of the latest Vatican note and simply says that he will act upon the instructions he receives from Washington.

In Vatican circles the fact is commented upon that Washington has exposed itself to the rejection of the principal one of its propositions—namely, the withdrawal of the friars—by not having prior to undertaking an exchange of notes initiated pourparlers through Judge Taft, which would have shown the government the impossibility of the Vatican granting, pure and simple, the withdrawal of the friars from the islands. The Washington government would then have understood the necessity of reaching the same object by asking for the withdrawal of the friars under a different form—namely, the substitution of the friars, for state reasons, by monks of other nationalities or different orders, etc.

It is believed that arrangements somewhat on these lines will ultimately be adopted and that the negotiations will be satisfactorily concluded.

FRIARS MUST GO.

Latest Proposition of Vatican Rejected at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Another serious hitch in the negotiations at Rome with reference to the Roman Catholic church property in the Philippines is indicated in a long cable dispatch from Governor Taft, at Rome, giving the text of the Vatican's reply to the American proposals regarding church interests in the Philippines. The Vatican proposes an agreement on the various questions involved and signifies a willingness to dispose of the church lands to the Philippine government, the question of title and values to be determined by arbitration.

The most important feature of the answer, however, is the failure of the Vatican to agree to withdraw the friars. Governor Taft asked that all Spanish friars be withdrawn within a stated time. The pope declares his inability to do this and bases his refusal on the ninth article of the treaty of Paris.

Should the Vatican persist in this attitude toward the withdrawal of the friars there is no doubt the negotiations will be broken off by Governor Taft. The withdrawal of the friars is considered practically a condition precedent to the continuance of the negotiations, and Secretary Root has cabled Governor Taft that the United States must insist upon the complete withdrawal of the objectionable Spanish clergy.

Fierce Storms Abroad.

LONDON, July 11.—The storm of Wednesday created great havoc at Newmarket and other places. It was general over the continent. The railroad station at Berne, Switzerland, was set on fire by lightning and partially destroyed. A furious gale raged over the Alps all day long, and it is feared that several parties of mountaineers were caught in the storm. In Austria fifteen bridges were swept away by rivers which had overflown their banks, and crops were greatly damaged.

The Pauncefote Funeral.

LONDON, July 11.—It has been arranged that the memorial service in honor of the late Lord Pauncefote, which is to be held here simultaneously with the burial of his remains, will be held in St. Margaret's church, Westminster, July 15. American friends of the deceased have been especially invited to be present. The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn, having on board the body of Lord Pauncefote, left Annapolis July 1 and is due at Southampton today.

Pantsmakers Win.

BALTIMORE, July 11.—The strike of the pants makers and pressers has been practically settled. More than half of the contractors at the behest of the manufacturers have signed the agreement acceding to the demands of the strikers. It is conceded that the remainder of the employers will affix their signatures to the agreement today.

A Utica Home Burglarized.

UTICA, N. Y., July 11.—While members of the family of Letter Carrier Charles H. Shindler were on the street watching a display of fireworks their house was entered and $377 in cash, a gold watch and three gold rings were stolen.

Five Killed by Heat.

CASTRIES, France, July 11.—Overwhelming heat prevails throughout this region. Five men fell dead from sunstroke while mowing in a field where the temperature was 139 degrees F. Many horses have perished.

Hot Weather In Italy.

ROME, July 11.—Extreme heat prevails throughout Italy. The temperature at Milan, Mantua and Pavia was 100 degrees F., and there were many deaths from sunstroke.

Brakeman Instantly Killed.

UTICA, N. Y., July 11.—Edward Lambert of West Albany, a brakeman on the Central Hudson, was instantly killed by the fast mail just east of the city.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

The exclusive announcement, made in The Daily Press of Tuesday, of the new industry for the western end of the city, was read with interest by everyone who is at all concerned in the future welfare of the city of Plainfield. Manufactories of the kind that the Pederick & Ayer Company will establish here are welcome additions to any city. Like the other large factories now located here, a very large percentage of the employes will be skilled machinists, who form a desirable class of citizens.

The Pederick & Ayer Company is one of the most reputable of the large manufacturing firms. A controlling interest in held by Manning, Maxwell & Moore, which firm was one of the principal owners of the Pond Tool Works and holds large interests at Garwood. It is rather of a surprise that the latter place was not selected instead of Plainfield. This city can, however, offer superior attractions to a large manufacturing firm over those offered by any city or town in this part of the State. The site for this new plant is well chosen. It is close by the Clinton Avenue station, directly across the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad from the big plant of the Hibbard Rodman-Ely Safe Company, and only a short distance from the trolley.

While there has been no definite statement made as to the exact number of hands to be employed, it is understood from excellent authority that the employes will number well up into the hundreds. This will mean several hundred families that will want homes and the resources of the West End will be taxed to their uttermost to provide for them. Naturally there will be a decided boom in the building trades as the demand for more houses will be promptly cared for by local builders. The whole city will feel the effects and local business men will be the gainers. Just at present, the contractors, who are to erect the new buildings, are looking for men and Plainfield men will find plenty of opportunity to find work there.

New Brunswick has a new building ordinance which is patterned laregly on the one in this city. Anyone who has ever visited New Brunswick and noticed the class of buildings which prevail in the business section of the city can only wonder that such an ordinance was not passed long ago. There are more ways than one in which New Brunswick has been far behind the neighboring cities. Since the election of Mayor Veihman, that old town has begun to wake from its slumbering stage and to take some steps to catch up with the rest of mankind.

At the close of another week, the boys of Company K will leave for the State camp at Sea Girt. When the boys went into camp last year, the local company had only just been organized. Nevertheless the showing made by Company K was a very satisfactory one. After the benefit of a year's drills and experience, however, Company K should come to the front at Sea Girt with a showing not to be excelled by any of the companies in the Second Regiment.

It is not supposed to be one of the qualifications of a good policeman that he shall be a baseball player but nevertheless several of Plainfield's "finest" proved themselves to be clever artists on the diamond. The first meeting of the season between the police nines of this city and Elizabeth proved very pleasant and will probably be followed by similar contests.

Despite the fact that the first excursion of the season to Asbury Park was not as largely attended as usual, Asbury Park promises to be the mecca for thousands of Plainfielders this summer. It has long been the favorite seashore resort for the people of this city and promises to be more popular than ever this season.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Rogers & Company, of 232 West Second street, will have a special sale of weak fish tomorrow afternoon. See ad.

Specialties at John Wirth's bakery this week are fresh pastry of all kinds and the most delicious angel cake ever eaten. Wirth's confections are popular in every part of the city.

For prescriptions compounded in the most careful manner there is one place in the city where you cannot possibly make a mistake—T. S. Armstrong's, corner Park and North avenues.

Everything to make up a first class dinner is to be had at Callahan & Son's grocery store. When the larder needs replenishing don't fail to consult this firm either by personal visit or 'phone.

Drop in W. W. Warnock's parlor of an evening and enjoy a plate of his famous ice cream amid cool surroundings. It is also delivered in bulk every day in the week. Telephone 1134.

Bikes were never so cheap and wheeling was never so popular as it is at present. VanWinkle's, on North avenue, has a fine array of up-to-date bicycles at prices that will challenge competition anywhere.

Gavett, the West Front street crockery man, has a cool weather argument that is taking. It is his stone water coolers that are a factor in besting the warm weather. All shapes, all sizes, all prices.

Beautify your home by the addition of a few pictures, suitably framed. The Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building has the pictures and also the frames. Both are being disposed of remarkably low.

The A. and P. Tea Company imports or manufactures all its goods. By so doing it dispenses with a middle man's profits and the customer always gains. The local store carries a complete line of the famous A. and P. goods.

There is nothing more annoying than to have to purchase something you do not want, but are obliged to take because you can do no better. Peck has no such dissatisfied customers. The goods he sells are the kind you want.

The headache is not to be found that can withstand Shaw's granular effervescent phosphate soda. Hundreds of ailing people have tried it with success and hundreds are becoming acquainted with its properties daily. Give it a trial.

There are many Plainfield women who have learned this year that they can buy their summer goods at Woodhull & Martin's just as well as in New York. This saves them a trip to the city, also considerable in the price. This store is metropolitan in every respect and it will pay you to trade there.

Next Chance.

The next excursion to Asbury Park will be that of Trinity Reformed church sunday-school and Marconnier chapel Sunday-school on Thursday, July 17. If you want to have a pleasant day at the seashore go on this excursion and you will have the best time of the season.

Work is well under way on the new school house at Bound Brook.

Miss Stella Sofield visited in Plainfield yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Friday evening prayer meetings will be held at the Baptist and Methodist churches tonight at 8 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks will lead the meeting in the Baptist church owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. Shott, who is attending the B. Y. P. U. convention, being held at Providence, R. I.

The warm wave of the past week has made the old back pond a delightful spot for a cooling plunge, not only for those in town who enjoy the pleasure but a number of Plainfielders make the journey by wheel and trolley.

Arrangements are being made for the annual union excursion of the Sunday-schools of Westfield, Willow Grove and the village to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. A date early in August has been selected.

Malcolm Marsh and Miss Florence Wade, both of whom recently underwent operations for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, are improving as nicely as can be expected.

All Saint's Choir Guild will hold a cream and candy sale in the borough fire house tomorrow afternoon and evening. Proceeds are for the benefit of the church.

Miss Emma Tappen, of New Durham, is spending a few days at the parsonage.

Mrs. Bethune Dunham is confined to her home by illness.

SEA GIRT CAMP IS READY

THIRD REGIMENT AND SECOND TROOP WILL ARRIVE THERE TOMORROW.

Second Regiment, Including Company K, Will Take Possession of State Camp a Week Later.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sea Girt, July 11—At this place, where the annual encampment of the New Jersey National Guard is held, everything is now taking on a military air. The grounds are in fine condition. Conical wall tents with wooden floors are raised and aligned ready to receive the first body of troops who will arrive tomorrow. These are the Third Regiment of Camden, and Second Troop of Red Bank. They will be followed a week later by the Second Regiment of Trenton and Second Battalion of Camden. The Signal Corps will report for rifle practice Thursday and Friday next week.

The camp this year will be officially known as Camp Franklin Murphy, and Brigadier-General Gillmore will be in command. He will be followed Saturday by Governor Murphy and staff, who will be quartered in the "Little White Cottage."

The rifle teams will report at intervals during the encampment, and the entries this year for the interstate rifle shoot to be held the last week of August and early part of September are the largest on record.

A rumor that was denied by Governor Murphy represented that the latter had asked State Treasurer Briggs to obtain accommodations for President Roosevelt and staff. The story had it that the President was expected here during the interstate shoot.

Raised Up Chiefs.

At the meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, Independent Order of Red Men, last evening Grand Deputy Humphreys raised the chiefs as follows: Sachem, Dr. A. H. Dundon; senior sagamore, Fred H. Firstbrook; junior sagamore, M. Armstrong; prophet, Harry Coddington.

After the installation, Past Great Sachem William Newcorn, on behalf of Wetumpkah Tribe, presented a handsome regalia to Past Sachem Nathan E. Titsworth, in a few well chosen words. Mr. Titsworth responded expressing his appreciation for the gift. Dr. Merriman also presented to the tribe a smoke stem which belonged to the Kiowa Tribe of Indians. Dr. Merriman has had the relic fifty-three years.

Wetumpkah Tribe received an invitation to be present this evening at the meeting consolidating Miantonomo and Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribes and the same was accepted.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Mi Staples Save Winter Wheat Make Good Showing.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Preliminary returns to the statistician of the department of agriculture on the acreage of corn planted indicate an increase of about 3,520,000 acres, or 3.9 per cent, on the area harvested last year.

The average condition of winter wheat improved during June nine tenths of 1 per cent, standing on July 77, or 11.3 points below the condition on July 1, 1901, 3.8 points below that at the corresponding date in 1900 and 2.4 points below the ten year average.

The average condition of spring wheat declined 3 points during June, standing at 92.4 on July 1 as compared with 95.6 on July 1, 1901, 55.2 at the corresponding date in 1900 and a ten year average of 85.8.

The amount of wheat remaining in the hands of farmers on July 1 is estimated at about 52,440,000 bushels, or 7 per cent of the crop of last year.

The average condition of the oat crop on July 1 was 92.1 as compared with 90.6 last month, 83.7 on July 1, 1901, 85.5 at the corresponding date in 1900 and a ten year average of 87.3.

The acreage of potatoes is 3.5 per cent, or about 100,000 acres, greater than that of last year. Of the forty-eight states and territories reporting forty show increased and eight decreased acreages. The average condition of potatoes on July 1 was 92.9 as compared with 87.4 on July 1, 1901, 91.3 at the corresponding date in 1900 and a ten year average of 92.3.

Mob Rule In Coal Regions.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 11.—George M. Davis, T. M. Whildin and John E. Lauer of Lansford, representing a committee of Carbon county citizens, called upon the governor yesterday afternoon and explained the situation at Lansford and Summit Hill. The visitors said that the burgesses of these boroughs and the sheriff had exhausted their powers in trying to preserve order and that mob rule prevailed in both towns. The visitors also stated that the trouble was daily becoming worse and that it was a question of only a short time when it would be necessary to send troops into the county to preserve order and protect property. The governor promised to keep in touch with the situation and explained that if he realized that the presence of troops was necessary to maintain order he would not hesitate to order out the militia.

The George Junior Republic.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 11.—The seventh anniversary of the founding of the George Junior Republic was celebrated at the Freeville home of the institution near this city yesterday. Large numbers of friends, including prominent men from different parts of the state who have watched the growing success of sociological experiment, were present. After the meeting of the board of trustees it was announced that the institution had received a large gift from a friend, whose name was withheld. The donation will be used for a courthouse and jail and the other for a capitol.

Off For St. Petersburg.

ROME, July 11.—King Victor Emmanuel left here yesterday for St. Petersburg to visit the czar of Russia. The king will remain in St. Petersburg three days. His majesty's visit to St. Petersburg is in response to a direct invitation from the czar.

Heat Overcomes Soldiers.

BERGERAC, France, July 11.—While a regiment of infantry engaged in the maneuvers here was marching from Bergerac in the direction of Perigueux, twenty-six miles away, a number of the soldiers were overcome by the heat. Three of them died. The maneuvers were abandoned because of the hot weather.

A HUMMING BIRD'S TREE.

Scores of the Tiny Creatures Visit a Rockland (Me.) Cherry Tree Each Spring.

An interesting sight now daily to be seen at the home of W. O. Fuller, Jr., of this city, is a large cherry tree that is steadily visited from early morning to sunset by a large flock of humming birds, says a Rockland (Me.) report. Fully 100 of these dainty little creatures are to be seen ceaselessly darting among the branches of the tree, or poising themselves on wing before the fruit into which they reach for honey. The constant flutter of so many pairs of wings creates a whirring noise like the distant hum of machinery.

According to Chapman, but one variety of the humming bird is found here in the east, the ruby-throated, which breeds from Labrador to Florida. Its upper parts are bright, shining green; wings and tail fuscous with purplish reflections; throat beautiful metallic ruby-red, whence the name. The ruby-throat has no song, its only note being a squeak, expressive of distrust or excitement. There is a belief among some that the humming bird never alights when absent from its nest, but this is easily disproved, the little colony of them here alluded to exhibiting many refutations of this erroneous impression. The humming bird is as fearless as beautiful. Each spring while this cherry tree remains in blossom this visit of the humming birds recurs.

AMERICANS IN CANADA.

Many Are Making Homes on the Fertile Lands of the Northwestern Dominion.

There is at this time a considerable American migration to the Canadian northwest. The fertile and comparatively cheap lands of Manitoba, Assiniboia and Saskatchewan are attracting many settlers, now that they can be reached with ease and facilities exist for shipping their products to market. Last year, reports the Chicago Tribune, 63,000,000 bushels of wheat was raised in a region which was once looked on as a part of the frozen north, valuable only for the fur-bearing animals it produced. There are millions of acres of land not under cultivation which can be made as fruitful as those now being tilled.

A majority of the men who are now making homes for themselves in the Canadian northwest are Americans. This does not alarm the Dominion authorities. They have no fear that the newcomers will be a disturbing political element, or that they will at some future day agitate for the annexation to the United States of provinces in which they may be in the majority. There is no occasion for apprehension on that score. Americans have emigrated in numbers to Canada before this and have manifested no inclination to Americanize their new country.

COREA AND ELECTRICITY.

The Deadly "Live Wire" Known in That Country as a "Thunder and Lightning String."

Near the center of the city of Seoul there is a beautiful marble pagoda that was brought from Peking about 1300 by one of the Mongol queens who came as a bride to Corea. Her people at that time were shaking the whole known world, and, under leaders like Genghis, Kublai and Tamerlane, were upsetting all the thrones of Asia, so that Corea still speaks of them with bated breath, and the smallest children know them by name, says a writer in Outlook. The marble pagoda still stands, a silent witness before the world of the great Mongol conquerors, but past its stony ear whizzes an American electric car every ten minutes at ten miles an hour, regardless of all the Mongol shades. Along this main street of Seoul, one of the oldest streets in the world, stretch western wires charged with something that defies all the curiosity of the east to pronounce upon. A few days ago a broken strand hung temptingly from one of the poles, and the far east determined to get hold of it to investigate, with the result—one live wire, one dead man. A government notice was posted up: "If anyone is caught fooling with these thunder and lightning strings let him be padded."

Selling the Wind.

It seems incredible, but is nevertheless a fact, that as late as the year 1814 an old woman named Bessie Millie, of Pomona, in the Orkney islands, sold favorable winds to seamen at the small price of six pence a vessel. For many years witches were supposed to sell the wind. The Finlanders and Laplanders made quite a trade by selling winds. The old women, after being well paid by the credulous sailors, used to knit three magical knots; the buyer was told he would have a good gale when he untied the first knot, the second knot would bring a strong wind, and the third a severe tempest. At one time winds were sold at Mont St. Michael, in Normandy, and arrows were sold at the same time to charm away bad storms.

A Distressed Community.

According to the official report of the Ottawa, Kan., druggists, for March, it took 82 gallons of whisky, 88 gallons of alcohol, 38 gallons of wine, 14 gallons of gin, 23 gallons of brandy, 4 gallons of beer, 3 gallons of ale and 4 gallons of malt to cure the ills of that distressed community. The liquor was wanted for a multitude of diseases, ranging from ingrowing toenails to appendicitis. One honest fellow signed up under the "mechanical" clause of the constitution. He said he needed four gallons mechanically—he was going to have a "barn raisin'."

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

ONLY THE BEST

paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

Vagaries of Memory.

What is remembered depends, of course, much on individual temperament or intellectual tendency, but the incidents are always in the nature of milestones. Thousands of competent persons can never recollect a date, even when the day was of importance to themselves, or when, as for instance, when preparing for examination, they had specially tried to remember accurately. An enormous number of people are embarrassed through life by a difficulty in recollecting faces, yet kings, policemen and artists rarely or never forget one. The present writer has reached the age when the difficulty of recalling names quickly becomes annoying, yet he never forgets the number of a house or shop if he has once heard or seen it. The broad truth is that memory is almost as individual a possession as character, and that the historian when quoting personal testimony must make up his own mind whether he is listening to Herodotus or to Mr. ——. Every reader can fill in the blank.—London Spectator.

No Old Maids In Russia.

The idea is still allowed to prevail in Russia that single life is a disgrace to women, for there are no old maids except in the religious orders. If the parents cannot arrange a marriage for the daughter she makes a journey, and is thus lost to the gossiping community. Soon reports are circulated of her marriage to a foreigner. Long absence brings forgetfulness, so that when the story is told of the death of the foreign husband in a strange land there are few who care to inquire further. Indeed, it is a breach of etiquette to suggest doubts under such circumstances, and the woman finally returns as a broken-hearted widow. She has met the conditions of the country, and she is no longer a single person in society. Thus the fiction of "no unmarried women" is preserved in the domain of the czar.—Chicago Tribune.

OUTING GOWNS.

Scarlet and All White Will Be Worn a Great Deal.

A great deal of scarlet is being worn for seashore and mountain wear. However, not every woman looks well in scarlet, though this year there are so many shades of red it is quite possible to find at least one becoming tint.

There is something very charming about a white or cream linen, and linens this year are very smart, especially those of a very coarse make relieved by Irish lace medallions and embroidery. Most of these little costumes are made blouse or bolero style, and there are even a few which are made with "Frocks and Frills" coats jauntily box plaited and short enough to reveal the waistband nearly all the way around.

Coarse white wool etamine lends itself beautifully to the little sack coat, but it must be lined throughout with thin silk or satin, and here the coarse guipure lace collar will come in excellently and at the same time be in keeping with the rest of the costume.

A stylish gown made of grass linen is here pictured. The waist is made with a yoke of tucks and insertions; the fullness below this is gathered into fine tucks. The sleeves are full and reach to the wrists. The skirt is elaborately trimmed with ruffles and insertions. Narrow black velvet ribbon is looped into rosettes and used on the waist and skirt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

AFTERNOON GOWNS.

Elaborate Styles—White Muslin Embroidered In Silver.

Afternoon dresses are elaborate and full of intricate details, whereas in direct contrast to these there is the simplicity of white muslin very slightly trimmed with embroidered taffeta outlined with silver thread. These gowns are quite inexpensive and can be bought in robe length.

A rather pretty idea for an inexpensive frock is to thread white cashmere or soft delaine through with velvet, about three rows around the bottom of the skirt, tucking or box plaiting the top of it. Then there is a square sailor collar treated in the same way and tied with a big bow in the front.

White glace dresses will be embroidered with cream lace on gold tissue and others with rose colored silk embroidered in gold and silver. Appliques and embroideries are extensively used to make summer fashions very magnificent.

Gowns of soft white veiling made up over white taffeta are very smart and becoming.

A serviceable tailor made is here shown. The material is navy blue cheviot trimmed with black braid. The wide collar is of moire trimmed with ecru lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

Raymer's laugh was not mirthful.

"You would be the last man in the world to act upon a suggestion of that sort yourself, Griswold."

"Oh, I don't know. If it is only a little social friction—"

"It's more than that; though why it should be I don't know. I believe my mother and Gerty would face beggary cheerfully before they would pay that price. Anyway, I shant' ask them."

"What will you do?"

"If I knew I shouldn't be unloading my grief on you."

They had reached Mrs. Holcomb's gate and Raymer cramped the buggy at the curb. But Griswold did not get out. Instead he put one hand on Raymer's knee and said: "Have you ever thought of taking a . . rtner?"

Raymer's smile was a mere grimace.

"It begins to look as if I should have to take one that I don't want."

"It needn't come to that. I have some money which I want to invest where it will do the most good to the greatest number. You spoke this morning of some plans you had in view for the betterment of your workmen. If you will carry them out, and let me help, we can arrange a little surprise for Mr. Grierson."

Raymer was stupefied, as he had a good right to be. But he managed to ask how.

"In the simplest way imaginable. Come to me to-morrow morning and I will give you the money to take up your note and the mortgage."

"You? But, Griswold, man, you didn't understand me. It's ninety—five—thousand dollars!" He said it slowly, so that the misunderstanding might be removed.

Griswold climbed out of the buggy carefully, as befitted his weakness. But when he turned to say good night his grasp was the grasp of an athlete.

"I understand you perfectly, my dear fellow. You shall have it all, and a little more, if you need it. And when you've broken the Grierson grip we'll talk about the partnership. Good night."

CHAPTER XVIII.

After all, it was Raymer who was responsible for Griswold's introduction to Charlotte and her aunt. It was after the partnership—a silent partnership by Griswold's express condition—had been formed and Griswold had been taken into the Raymer household as well as into the Raymer firm.

It was thus that he found himself included in a family invitation to the doctor's, and it was thus that Raymer became his sponsor. Not that a sponsor was greatly needed. The good doctor had come to know and to love his some-time patient, and the invitation to Griswold in his proper person had not been lacking.

It was inevitable that he should meet Miss Farnham with some degree of restraint, and that the entire evening should scarcely suffice for its effacement. As a matter of fact it was not properly effaced until the time came for an adjournment to the broad veranda, and the darkness of the starlit night helped him. He fenced, and assured himself a hundred times that it was only fancy that he could now and then surprise a vague question in the cool gray eyes; and with the eyes in abeyance he felt more at ease.

"You are new to our northern summers, aren't you, Mr. Griswold?" she asked, when they were comfortably established out of doors and the general talk had subsided sufficiently to admit of dialogue.

"Altogether new; and they are very delightful, if this is an earnest. What a charming prospect you have here with the lake for a vista. But for that matter, Wahaska is an ideal place."

Her laugh had not in it the tinkle of silver bells, like Miss Grierson's, but it was as honest as the gray eyes.

"Ideal?—after New York?"

"After any great city. I firmly believe the time will come when none but the sordid ones will live in the great centers."

"That would be ideal, surely. But I can't argue with you. I don't know any of the cities, to really know them. Passing through isn't even a speaking acquaintance."

"No; and yet they impress one even at sight."

"Yes. And after all, their units are the units of humanity, and humanity is the same. For instance, I imagine one could go over there and get a very good idea of the human side of New Orleans." She pointed to the summer resort hotel on the point beyond the Grierson mansion which had been opened within the week.

"I presume so," he assented; and then he asked if they ever met any of the summer people.

"Not intentionally," she laughed. "They bring their own social atmosphere with them and ask little of us. We did meet one young man last summer; a Mr. Lucius Bainbridge."

"Bainbridge?" echoed Griswold. "Why, I know—that is—er—I used to know some Bainbridges in New York."

"Did you? Mr. Lucius Bainbridge was from New York originally, I believe. He is a newspaper man in New Orleans."

Griswold was struck dumb with this fresh proof of the extreme narrowness of the world, and wondered what would happen if Bainbridge should perchance come again and find him in Wahaska. He changed the subject with a violent wrench, and said:

"The new opera house is to be opened next week. I wonder if the company will be worth going to see?"

"You surprise me," she said. "Haven't you heard that Mr. Grierson is to import it especially for this occasion?"

"I hadn't heard. Is your aunt able to go out in the evening?"

"Not to anything as prolonged as an opera sitting."

"Oh; I'm sorry." He turned to Mrs. Raymer. "Mrs. Raymer, could you be induced to chaperon a theater party next Monday evening?"

"You're too late," was the reply. "We are all going, and you are included."

Griswold turned quickly to Charlotte.

"May I call for you and your father?" She gave him permission, and after that the tete-a-tete passed to other things; to a gay party steaming past in a lighted launch, for one.

"Is that the hotel launch?" he asked.

"No, indeed; you are quite behind the times. That is Mr. Grierson's boat with a party from Mereside."

The Farnham lawn sloped quickly to the waterside, and the launch was steaming slowly along within a stone's throw of the group on the veranda. The little steamer carried its own dynamo, and was ablaze with electric lights. Griswold saw the party as it passed in review; saw Miss Grierson at the wheel in the bow, and saw the banker lounging in the stern sheets. With the exception of her father and one other Miss Grierson's guests were all young people; but Griswold caught his breath when he recognized the portly figure sitting erect beside the banker. Truly, he had seen the clean-shaven face with its long upper lip but once, but that once was enough. It was Mr. Andrew Galbraith.

CHAPTER XIX.

The robbery of the Bayou bank was already an old story when Detective Griffin returned to New Orleans from his voyage to Guatemala. He was a successful man in his calling, and he took up the case of the bank robbery at once; not only for the reward, but because he was willing to try if he could not send the shaft home after his St. Louis colleagues had sped their arrow and missed the mark.

He did not begin where the St. Louis officers had left off. He saw at once that the real identity of the robber had not been established by the anonymous letter describing one John Gavitt. He suspected that the name was a mere mask, and the proof of this was shortly clinched by evidence easily procured that the real John Gavitt had died in the little Iowa river town which was his home, a short fortnight after the date of the robbery.

Hence it followed that Gavitt had been impersonated in the Belle Julie's crew by the escaping culprit, and with President Galbraith's description of the man for a starting point, Griffin first searched the "Rogues' Gallery" for a face which might stand for the original. This search, though it was made as carefully as if he fully expected to find the man's portrait in the criminal records, was as barren of results as he expected it would be.

"It is just about as I put it up," he said, at the end of the photograph inspection. "The fellow isn't a professional at all; he is some hare-brained crank, and this is his first break."

This point established, there were two courses open; to try to trace the man in New Orleans, and so to determine his identity; or to take up the lost clew in St. Louis. Since it asked for less time, Griffin did the latter first, and succeeded in besting the St. Louis officers by one move. For them the fugitive had disappeared, handcuffed, in the runaway carriage; for Griffin he reappeared a little later at Mr. Abram Sonneschein's emporium, but was lost again when he left with his purchases.

How Chicago's Multimillionaires Play the Game of Golf

SOME one has said that all men are boys when participating in sports. But it is difficult for the average person to imagine a multimillionaire engaged in sport acting like a youth. How a man who has $75,000,000, who has an army of people working for him; whose interests are so widely scattered—yet all held together by the hawser of direction—that the sun never sets on his factories; who is regarded with such awe by thousands that only those with the most imperative business propositions care to break in upon his time, plays golf is indeed a study for many critics. Does the captain of industry, the merchant prince, the famous statesman and lawyer play any differently than does the subordinate—the clerk, the credit man or the office boy?

Were I a William Allen White I would ask several pages in a magazine to paint some character studies of the wealthy men whom I recently watched for several days at play. None but a man skilled in Mr. White's descriptive powers could do justice to the subject. But in the democracy of the golf course, where every spectator is considered a gentleman, the poorest man may talk the argot of the game with a merchant prince whose millions serve to place him in an inaccessible world during office hours. Efforts put forth by the captain of industry while in his office may fail, but if they do Wall street reflects the disappointment—or pleasure—of millions of people. There in his place of business the millionaire must "make a perfect score" or the business world is acted upon. But once out on the links, far from the smoky city, the babel of the stock exchange and away from the clerk with the never-ceasing quotations and the omnipresent telegraph blank, the multimillionaire becomes quite an ordinary mortal, amenable to the club rules and subject to all the contingencies of the course. The bunker is no respecter of the millionaire. The water hazard is there to harass him as well as the most obscure member of the club.

BUNKERED LIKE A POOR MAN.

OH! FOR A LONG DRIVE!

It was my pleasure to be at the Chicago Golf club annual tourney of four days' golfing, and to meet Marshall Field, Samuel W. Allerton, W. M. Hoyt, Gen. Henry Strong, James L. Allen, Charles W. Ware—many others whose names are synonymous with success in business and professional life. Mr. Field is 68 years old, yet the word of all who have seen him traversing the miles of undulating old farm property, anon giving the little gutta percha globe a knock that would send it sailing over bunkers and roadways with the speed of a bullet, would say that the world's greatest merchant seemed to have found an elixir of youth.

Mr. Field owns many farms from Oregon and Washington to the New England country where he began life, but it is doubtful whether he has ever walked over one of them. Yet he will clear up the business of the day, catch a fast train, and in an hour will be in the locker room of the golf club exchanging his street clothes for an outing suit in which he golfs. The Derby hat gives place to the conventional cap. Immaculate white linen is changed for the flannel outing of the links, and his hands are covered with golf gloves. Usually Mr. Field has arranged with his close personal friend, Robert T. Lincoln, for a match. But some other well known man in the business or professional world may be his partner. Bowing to club members, visitors, caddies—everybody addresses him, or contenting himself with a salute that is characteristic of this merchant prince, he loses no time getting to the first tee. There, as if the whole matter was regulated by clockwork, he finds a stolid, silent, but efficient caddy waiting with his bag of golf sticks and a new ball all teed up, ready for driving.

"I feel well and must play a good round to-day," Mr. Field may say to his partner, or to the spectators. When he returns to the club house for a cup of tea and some toast after his walk of five miles over the undulating course he may say something about "never playing golf again until they fill up the bunkers." To this Mr. Lincoln or his partner may reply, "Until the next time, Mr. Field. We have an engagement for next Friday, have we not?" How could a man who is the center of all gaze when he approaches the tee escape embarrassment? When he lifts his driver to send away the little globe he must know that all eyes are riveted on him. Yet Mr. Field will "slice" into the long grass or "pull" to difficulties, and without an excuse set out on a fast walk to take his second shot at a pace that fairly shakes up the caddy in his efforts to keep near his employer.

Well preserved, with hair almost as white as the proverbial driven snow, his moustache heavy and slightly tinged with gray, his skin as clear as a youth's, his eye flashing and bright, and his hands showing just the suspicion now and then from hard brassey work, Mr. Field is a keen golf player. He goes to the links for the health-giving exercise the sport affords, and returning to the city, is buried for a short time in the financial page of his paper. Courteous to all, fairly effective in his strokes, a good approacher, a keen putter, he tries hard to give the doughty but mythical Col. Bogey some hard flings. The charge that rich men take their play too seriously does not hold good if you watch them play. They are infatuated with the sport, like to tell how they got on the sixteenth green in two, and took three putts, how they made brassy shots of 175 yards from a sand trap slap bang into the next bunker, etc.

Robert T. Lincoln is a heavy man. He wears a beard which is just becoming tinged with gray, and when dressed in outing flannel with a paper waistcoat on, a cigar in his mouth—he seems to recall to the old-timers the quiet man of war, U. S. Grant, while waiting his turn to start play. To see Mr. Lincoln in his office dealing with huge financial problems of the Pullman estate, to have known him when he was United States minister to the court of St. James, it would be difficult to imagine this man golfing like a Balfour-Melville or some other famous British statesman. But Mr. Lincoln hits a hard ball. He can send the little gutta percha from the tee so far that you lose track of its flight. His swing is the result of careful following of directions, for he took up the sport quite late in life. He seems to be happiest when playing with Mr. Field or some other well-known man, and "laying his approaches dead to the flag." His merry laugh will be heard far over the links. Appearing somewhat reserved and even gruff to many, Mr. Lincoln is really one of the most entertaining talkers who play golf. His courtesy and good nature, together with his kindness of manner, have endeared him to many who play golf.

"Where are these rich men, I'd like to see them play?" said a visitor at the golf links. "Do they get as much fun out of the game as the poor men? I'll wager they dress in costly clothes, wear silk hats and diamonds and use a new ball every shot. Guess they would have a common visitor taken out and dumped over the fence if he spoke to them."

STYMIED, BY JOVE!

Imagine the surprise of this scoffer to see them play?" said a visitor at the "rich men" attired like any ordinary golfer come out to the tee, tee up an old ball and select from his stock of clubs an old driver and start away for his five-mile walk after sending the ball into the rough grass. "Now I'm in for a hard round," said the golfer, "but a shower bath and dinner this evening and I will be at peace with Col. Bogey." The next momept a man with a beard as grizzly as Joachin Miller's, wearing a very common-place outfit, and—shades of Allan Robertson!—suspenders instead of a belt, teed off. "There goes Gen. Strong, one of the richest holders of realty in Chicago; if not next to Marshall Field, very close to him. He's over 70, I think, but no one in the world extracts more genuine pleasure out of a game than he does.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

The following new members have been elected by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club: Non-resident, T. G. Winsor, Somerville; William G. Dickerman, New York; junior associate, Mrs. Harold Serrell and Robert M. Longman; associate, Miss Florence E. Serrell, Mrs. Walter Longman, Jr., and Miss Florence Curtis.

The golf enthusiasts of the east are greatly surprised at the small representation the eastern clubs will have in the national amateur championship to be held next week at Glenview. The twenty-one eastern clubs represented will send only thirty-three men, and they are not all first-class. It is said that only seventeen can be counted upon to qualify, and there are not more than a dozen of them that can be counted upon to qualify in the first thirty-two. It is considered the lightest field of experts that has ever represented the east at such an affair, and it would be considered a poor field in a local tournament, as there are men there who rarely get higher than the consolation division in a metropolitan tournament. On a long difficult course like Glenview nearly any golfer, with a streak of good luck, is liable to qualify. The course is full of all kinds of hazards and the Chicago river has to be crossed several times.

CYCLING.

The bicycle club will go out for a run this evening starting from the Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 o'clock. The wheelmen will go by way of Westfield, thence across to the Springfield road, and return to Y. M. C. A. Hall by way of Scotch Plains. The run will be made in charge of the physical director and on the return light refreshments will be served to the party.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Tiffany baseball team, of New York city, will be pleased to hear from clubs in this vicinity wishing a good attraction, and willing to offer suitable inducements. Remaining open dates are July 19, August 9 and September 1. Address T. C. King, manager, 15 Union Square, New York city.

TENNIS.

Tennis is becoming a popular game at the Y. M. C. A. The members are beginning to realize that the association has a court. It has been announced that the game will be taught to all members who are desirous of becoming skilled players.

THE RED BANK.

Jersey Central's New Ferryboat is Now in the New York Harbor.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 11—The Red Bank, the third of the New Jersey Central railroad's new doubled-decked ferryboats, arrived in the harbor from the Harlan & Hollingsworth shops at Wilmington, Del., at noon today. Her entrance to the harbor was signalized by a noisy welcome from craft of every description for miles. She tied up at Communipaw and will be placed in regular service in a few days.

Hand Caught by Electric Fan.

Andrew Love, Sr., is nursing a badly gashed hand which came in contact with an electric fan, Wednesday evening, at Bound Brook. He attempted to increase the speed of the blades when one of them struck him.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. CITY POLICE WON THE GAME

Plainfielders wouldn't listen to it. The spectators were only too willing that the fun should go on and it did. Out of pure consideration the locals made enough errors to give the amateurs three more tallies and that was all. Those who looked for a reaction from the good work at the beginning were disappointed for it continued until the end.

A most noteworthy feature of the outfield was a running catch made by "Carrie" Higgins which then and there earned for him his reputation as a ball tosser.

So it was until the last inning and it was with a sigh of relief that Elizabeth's pets saw the last three men retired and they received permission to gather up their traps and "get away back" before the small boy commenced his howls of derision and applications for a place on the team.

Following the game victors and vanquished repaired to the summer garden of the Waldorf hotel where the latter lost sight of the sting of defeat while disposing of the repast prepared for them by Mine Host Windham. The members of both teams alternated in singing songs and making brief speeches but owing to the limited time at their command the enjoyment terminated early. The visitors departed for home after giving three hearty cheers for the Plainfield municipal police team.

Two more games are to be played between the two nines, the next one at Elizabeth and the last here. Captain Overbaugh has also arranged dates with the local firemen's team and the letter carriers.

FOUND AT WESTFIELD.

Local Police Were Looking for Walter Leveridge, Wanted at Westfield.

The local police were given a warrant by the Westfield authorities, last evening, calling for the arrest of Walter Leveridge, of this city. In explanation it was said the young man, in company with several others, had been guilty of rowdyism on a trolley car several evenings ago. The others were arrested but Leveridge escaped. He could not be found in town but this morning word was received that he had given himself up at Westfield.

To Choose a Successor.

The committee appointed by the First Baptist church to secure a successor to Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, has had a meeting and George A. Chapman, George H. Batchelor and Lucius H. Biglow, Jr., were added to the membership of the committee. The plan for securing another pastor was outlined. It is the intention of the committee to visit different churches and hear various divines preach, and not invite them to the church to preach as candidates. The instructions to the committee were to secure a successor at the earliest possible date. This will be done, and the chances are that a selection will be made within the next month or so.

To Consolidate Tribes.

This evening the consolidation Miantonomo and Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribes, I. O. R. M., will be consumated by Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn, who will act as great sachem on this occasion.

Gave Up Picnic.

The Juniors of the Epworth League of Grace M. E. church postponed their picnic to have been held yesterday at Mountainside Grove till Thursday, on account of the threatening weather.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Mrs. Charles Miller, of Newark, is visiting Mrs. Frank Kellar, of Harrison avenue.

Miss Mae Batchelor, of West Seventh street, has left town to enjoy her annual vacation.

Among the guests registered at the Linwood Hotel, Bayshore, L. I., is G. G. Davidge, of Plainfield.

W. P. Foster, of West Sixth street, has returned home from a visit with friends at Nanuet Lake, N. Y.

George Butscher, of West Fourth street, who suffrred a paralytic stroke, Wednesday, is reported as being slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stilger, of New Brunswick, have returned home after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Blimm, of Somerset street.

Miss Carrie Haviland, daughter of Edwin Haviland, is summering at Eagle Camp, South Hero, Vt., on the shores of Lake Champlain.

Ernest A. Millard, clerk at the post-office, accompanied by Mrs. Millard and their son, will spend their vacation at Asbury Park the last of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Canfield, of Jersey City Heights, are spending a few days in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Townsend, East Sixth street.

Mrs. W. B. Vail, of the borough, has returned from Delaware Water Gap, where she has been spending six weeks at the Cataract House. She is much improved in health.

Mrs. Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, accompanied by her two daughters, Misses Edith and Ariadne Gilbert, left town yesterday to spend the summer at East Gloucester, Mass.

Postmaster and Mrs. Elias H. Bird are planning to spend their vacation in the Adirondacks this month. They will occupy a lodge in one of the choice spots in that far-famed smmer resort.

Miss Grace Pierson, stenographer and typewriter in Lawyer W. S. Angleman's office, goes on her vacation next week. Monday she will vssit her mother and former home at Woodbury, Burlington county. She will be accompanied by her fiance, Herbert Martin.

INSTALLATION AT UNITY.

Deputy Grand Chancellor VanWinkle and Staff Did the Work.

Deputy Grand Chancellor Jeremiah VanWinkle, Jr., and part of staff, Grand Master at Arms Frank Putnam and Grand Prelate Joseph Sheppard, installed the officers of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., last evening, after which cake, ice cream and cigars were furnished by a committee, consisting of George Radford, J. W. A. Bauersachs and Frank Putnam. There was a good attendance of members at the meeting.

An Ad Did It.

A Scotch collie owned by E. A. Overton, of Rockview avenue, strayed away from the house Monday evening. Mr. Overton put an advertisement in The Daily Press. Last evening the dog was found by Joseph H. Mitchell, of Armstrong's pharmacy, who saw the advertisement and returned him to the owner. The same old story. The Daily Press is the medium through which the lost and found are brought together.

Defeated Enrollment Scheme.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 11—The Democratic Club, of this place, failed to adopt a resolution at a meeting Wednesday evening, calling for an enrollment of the voters of Union county. The vote stood 10 to 12. It is understood that many prominent Democrats throughout the county favor the scheme as it will give the party a basis to work upon.

A Peculiar Moon.

Sky gazers last night might have noticed a peculiar condition of the moon. Two tongues of flame projected from both tips of the crescent, and likewise from the centre two similar tongues jutted out perpendicularly. This condition was particularly noticeable about 9:45 o'clock and made the night exceptionally bright.

Miss Curry Will Lead.

Miss Sara Curry, of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, will lead the meeting Sunday evening at the East Third Street chapel.

—Neuman Brothers' display of fruit and vegetables is the best and most complete in the city. Everything in season.

TWO TRIBES FORMALLY UNITED LAST EVENING

Final Step in Consolidation of Paughcaughnaughsinque and Miantonomo Tribes.

CALL IT MIANTONOMO.

PAST GREAT SACHEM NEWCORN CONDUCTED THE PROCEEDINGS.

Big Time for Local Members of the Improved Order of Red Men—The Officers Who Were Chosen From the Consolidated Tribe.

With the elaborate ceremonies characteristic of the order the final act of consolidation of Miantonomo and Paughcaughnaughsinque was performed last night, when the two tribes were merged under the name of Miantonomo. The occasion was an epoch-marking event in the history of the Plainfield organization. Assemblyman William Newcorn conducted the proceedings according to the laws and usages of the order, and the dispensation for consolidation was read by the Great Chief of Records Stevens, and the articles of consolidation by Past Great Sachem Newcorn, who was authorized to act as great sachem.

The preliminary ceremony was the raising up of the officers elected recently by the two uniting tribes. The raising up was done by Deputy Great Sachem R. A. Humphreys and staff, Great Prophet John Green, Great Senior Sagamore Harry Codington, Great Junior Sagamore V. W. Nash, Great Guard of the Wigwam Maurice Leichentritt, Great Sanap Francis J. Blatz, Chief Keeper of Wampum Dr. A. H. Dundon, and Great Chief of Records Thomas Osment.

Those who received the honors at their hands from Miantonomo tribe were: Prophet, Peter Snyder; sachem, Charles McKinley; senior sagamore, Edward Crosby; junior sagamore, Harry G. Wentrick. From Paughcaughnaughsinque the following were raised up: Prophet, Peter Snyder; sachem, John Kenny; senior sagamore, Lawrence Kandensky; junior sagamore, F. A. Weber.

After the consolidation formalities had been duly enacted and the two tribes were finally united under the name of Miantonomo, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, officers were elected and raised up as follows: Prophet, John Snyder, Paughcaughnaughsinque; sachem, Charles McKinley, Miantonomo; senior sagamore, Morris Kandensky, Paughcaughnaughsinque; junior sagamore, Edward Crosby, Miantonomo; guard of the wigwam, Peter Sheridan, Miantonomo; guard of the forest, M. A. Leahy, Miantonomo; chief of records, Charles L. Holstein, Miantonomo; collector of wampum, Andrew J. Stiglitz, Miantonomo; keeper of wampum, Asa D. Pope, Paughcaughnaughsinque; first sanap, Peter Krog, Miantonomo; second sanap, Christopher Warback, Paughcaughnaughsinque; first warrior, John Cashman, Miantonomo; senior warrior, Robert Parsons, Miantonomo; third warrior, Harvey G. Wentrick, Miantonomo; fourth warrior, William Vogel, Miantonomo; first brave, Samuel Montross, Miantonomo; second brave, Christopher Gerlach, Miantonomo; third warrior, Thomas Parsons, Paughcaughnaughsinque; fourth warrior, Peter Doeringer, Paughcaughnaughsinque; trustees, Peter Krog, Miantonomo; Thomas Osment, Paughcaughnaughsinque; Oliver P. Voorhees, Paughcaughnaughsinque.

Acting Great Sachem Newcorn in his address spoke of the advantages to be gained by the tribes uniting, touched on the power of the order in the great reservation, and predicted great results in the future. Great Chief of Records Stevens also made an address, and dealt with the numerical address of the order. Remarks were made by Sachems Nash, Doeringer, Johnson, Fulmer, Stephens.

Past Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz presented Past Sachem Frederick Bowe with a past sachem's regalia. The good and welfare committee at the close of consolidation topped off the evening with a generous distribution of refreshments and cigars. The members of the committee were Charles Holstein, M. A. Leahy and A. J. Stiglitz.

Stopped for Refreshments.

A trolley party from New Brunswick, which had been on an excursion to Boynon Beach, dropped off at Tier's Lake House, Thursday evening, and regaled themselves with ice cream before resuming their journey.

HOTEL KEEPER IS GONE

JOHN G. KENNER, OF SOMERVILLE, DIED AT HIS HOME THURSDAY.

Prominent in Somerville's Fraternal Orders—He Had Been in Hotel Business 22 Years.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 12—John G. Kenner, aged fifty-two passed away at his home Thursday, after an illness of several weeks. He was able to be about the West End Hotel, of which he was the popular proprietor, until the evening previous to his death.

He was born at Eslingen, in Wurtemburg, Germany, and came to this country in 1856. He located in Philadelphia and later resided in Trenton and New Brunswick. Since he came to this vicinity he was in the butcher business at Raritan for a few years. For twenty-two years, almost continuously, he had carried on the saloon and hotel business in Somerville. For three years he served on the police force and had been a justice of the peace five years.

In 1873, he married Miss Katherine Miller, of Trenton, who died in 1884. In 1899, he wedded Mrs. Goeler, of Newark, who survives. There are two children, Mrs. Emma Laury and Ed. J. Kenner.

Mr. Kenner was a member of Lodge of the Castle, No. 82, K. of P., Raritan Tribe, No. 174, I. O. R. M., Somerset Lodge, No. 43, I. O. O. F., Schiller Lodge, No. 228, D. O. H., and Somerville Conclave, No. 476, I. O. H.

DANGEROUS CHIMNEY.

Was Threatening House With Destruction When Patrolman Higgins Called Out the Department.

The promptness of Patrolman Higgins in calling the fire department prevented a serious conflagration at the home of Mrs. Silas Jackson, of Plainfield avenue, shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. A soot clogged chimney caught fire and was dropping sparks downward to wooden fire boards and several pieces of sheathing that would in short order have set all floors ablaze. The upper part of the chimney was also in bad repair and sparks were dropping in the attic.

The patrolman sent in a still alarm and No. 2 hose wagon with Chief Doane responded. Several extinguishers were required to put out the flames and Chief Doane afterward forbade the using of the chimney until it has been made safe. The property is owned by D. N. Groendyke.

SEVERELY SHOCKED.

Robert Eversole, a Motorman, Had His Gloves Off—Got Full Current.

Robert Eversole, of this city, a motorman on the Plainfield-Elizabeth trolley line, was severely shocked by a stray current of electricity, while on one of his afternoon trips yesterday. The mechanism in the controller box became disarranged and a misplaced wire came in contact with his lever, charging it heavily. Eversole thoughtlessly had his rubber gloves off and he received the full force of the current.

Although severely shocked he retained persence of mind enough to immediately don his gloves and reverse the power. He then made an examination of the box and located the trouble. His right arm was numb and sore for some time afterward but he was able to continue his run.

CYCLE RUN.

Y. M. C. A. Wheelmen Went Out for a Run Last Evening.

A small gathering of cyclists met at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening and went out for a run in charge of Physicial Director C. E. A. Heywood. The course was towards Westfield, across the pike road at Mountainside to Scotch Plains and thence back to the city. On arriving at the hall light refreshments were served. The wheelmen will go out for another run some night next week.

Insurance Has Been Settled.

Parties directly interested in the settlement of the insurance on the Babcock building have informed The Daily Press that the loss has been settled, as exclusively stated in this paper Thursday, notwithstanding an alleged denial. The infomants are of such authority that The Daily Press can see no reason for changing its original announcement.

Clerks to Meet.

There will be an important meeting of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association Monday evening. Every member is urged to be present. Several new members will be elected and matters pertaining to the interest of each member will be brought up.

WHEELMEN AT THE SHORE

THE ANNUAL NATIONAL MEET OF L. A. W. AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Will Begin Wednesday and Continue the Remainder of Next Week—The Programme.

Further announcements have been made in connection with the coming gathering of wheelmen at Atlantic City on the occasion of the annual League of American Wheelmen meet, beginning Wednesday of next week and continuing the remainder of the week, which this year promises to be the best attended since the record-breaking meet in 1897 in Philadelphia.

In order to avoid a clash in dates the monster "smoker" at the inlet has been changed to Thursday evening. It will not begin until after the Elkes-Champion race.

The Pioneer's banquet will begin at 7 o'clock on the evening of Friday. M. N. Belding will preside. Abbott Bassett is secretary-treasurer.

There will be something all the time in the way of entertainment for the throngs of wheelmen, who will thus be able to select the form of amusement most to their liking. Chairman Hochstadter, of the entertainment committee, is at present finishing up a scheme whereby L. A. W. members will be able to take in the many boardwalk shows at greatly reduced rates. Even bathing suits and accommodations will be at reduced rates to those wearing the souvenir badge.

In answer to the many inquiries received at executive committee headquarters Chairman Schell announces that the souvenir medals, souvenir programme, and credentials will be given out at time of the registration of the wheelmen at the L. A. W. meet headquarters, Grand Atlantic Hotel, at 12 o'clock noon Wednesday on the arrival of the first run from Philadelphia, when the meet will be formally opened.

Chairman Uhle, of the Good Roads Convention, to be held on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, announces that among the additional speakers on the subject of road improvement are Henry I. Budd, State road commissioner of New Jersey; M. McDonald, of Connecticut; ex-Commissioner Dickinson, of Massachusetts; Senator Earle, of Michigan; Edward A. Bond, State engineer and surveyor of New York. In the evening there will be an illustrated lecture with lantern slides.

Arthur Wright, of the Atlantic City auxiliary committee, will have charge of the short runs to the nearby places of interest scheduled for each day of the meet. As usual, the official programme that will be given each member on registering will be one of the most prized souvenirs, as it will contain the full schedule of the four days' doings, besides interesting facts and pictures concerning Atlantic City.

To Talk About the Baby Camp.

Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, who is greatly interested in the City Union of King's Daughters, and especially so in the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain, will be at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting in Trinity Reformed church Monday evening and tell of that work. This fresh air work has grown to be exceedingly interesting and, after Mr. Mead's talk, an opportunity will be given to contribute to it.

Rev. Huie Kin at Y. M. C. A.

At the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock Rev. Huie Kin, missionary of the Chinese Christian mission of the Presbytery of New York, will speak and sing. Mr. Kin will dress in the Chinese garb and will exhibit idols that are worshipped in his native land. Miss Giles, of this city, will be the soloist. The Exempt Firemen's Association has accepted an invitation to be present. All men are cordially invited to attend.

Marriage Anniversary.

In honor of the tenth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Arbuton, of West Seventh street, tendered a reception to their friends last evening. Music and games whiled the hours away in a pleasant manner and shortly before midnight a collation was served. The celebrants were the recipients of many pretty presents in honor of the occasion.

Son Who Was Injured.

It was Andrew Love, Jr., who sustained a severe injury to his hand at Bound Erook a few nights ago, and not his father, as stated. Mr. Love placed his hand in front of an electric fan, which he claims was not protected with a covering, and he accidently got his hand too close to the fan, with the result that that member was severely lacerated.

WAS WAYLAID AND BEATEN

Edward Korman Still Unconscious From Effects of Assault Received Last Night.

ARRESTS TO FOLLOW.

Knocked Down by Unknown Assailant on Harrison Street at About 11 o'Clock Last Night—Found in the Gutter Unconscious by Pedestrians—Warrants Expected.

Edward Korman, twenty years of age, a stepson of Herman Klinsman, of Harrison street, where Korman also resides, was waylaid and beaten within a few yards of his home about 11 o'clock last evening. A number of pedestrians were on their way home at the time and saw his assailant making his escape through the fields.

Korman now lies in an unconsicous condition at his home with his head badly battered, the result of a blow with some heavy instrument. The injured man drives a hack, and is well known about the North Avenue station.

Last evening he went home shortly before 11 o'clock put up his horse as usual and then started to walk down the street. He had proceeded only a few yards when he was waylaid as described.

The motive for the crime remains a mystery. Korman is a man who has no enemies. Some of his friends think that as he is accustomed to have a considerable sum of money on his person at the end of each day's work. This may have tempted some individual to assault him in the hope of securing the money. When the man was found though none of his valuables were missing.

Strong suspicion has fallen on one character, so strong that a warrant for his arrest will be sworn out before Justice Mattison this afternoon. Chief of Police Campbell is working on the case. When the chief was interviewed he would not give any information. Members of the family were likewise very reticent over the affair.

DISORDERLY ON CAR.

Two Plainfield Young Men Pleaded Guilty to Charge and Were Fined.

Walter Leveridge and James Galvin, Jr., of this city, were arraigned in Justice Toucey's court, at Westfield, yesterday, charged with rowdyism on a Plainfield-Elizabeth trolley car and an attempted assault on Conductor Harry Milligan.

Both young men pleaded guilty as charged and were each fined $3 and costs, amounting in all to $4.80.

Carpenters Were Hosts.

A committee of the local carpenters union, on behalf of that organization, gave a reception and dinner last evening to members of the trades union of the city. Songs, recitations and speeches were the order of the evening. The committee in charge of the affair were Wm. Bodine, chairman, John Dixon, William Lunger, J. Eberly and George R. Wikoff.

Vacations for the Carriers.

The carriers of the local postoffice have commenced taking their vacations. Frank Clarkson has been off since the first of the month and will return to duty Monday. Carriers Charles Glaentzer and Oliver Pierson will then be relieved for fifteen days.

Bad Boy in Court.

John Loftus, a small boy, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, charged by his father with being incorrigible. He was given a severe lecture and was let go on the promise that he would behave himself and stay at home nights.

Sold Clarkson Building.

Charles H. Lyman, representing the heirs of W. R. Clarkson, deceased, has sold the valuable building on East Front street, the lower floor of which is occupied by Morris C. VanArsdale, the shoe dealer. to Dr. Albert Pittis, of Somerset street.

Told of Northfield Conference.

At Warren chapel last evening Superintendent of the Sunday-school Fred H. Andrews, gave an interesting and instructive address on the work of the Northfield conference, at Northfield, Mass., last summer.

Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, of Richmond street, is ill with inflammatory rheumatism at the home of her parents in Elizabeth.

COMMANDER RUNYON HONORED

PRESENTED WITH GOLD CHARM AT MEETING OF PERSEVERANCE LODGE.

Was the Gift of the Past Chancellors Association—Speech Made by Stephen Higham.

Evidences of the esteem in which Chancellor Commander William N. Runyon is held by the members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., continue to be extended him. At the last election of officers he had an honor bestowed him never equalled in the history of the organization, his retention as chancellor commander for another term.

Last evening the officers were installed by District Deputy Jeremiah VanWinkle. At the close Stephen Higham, on behalf of the Past Chancellor's Association, presented Chancellor Commander Runyon with a beautiful gold charm, suitably engraved and bearing the insignia of the order. The presentation was preceded by one of the most concise and admirably worded speeches ever given in Perseverance Hall, in which some of the reasons why the chancellor commander should be thus honored were made plain.

The recipient was wholly taken by surprise but in his usual modest manner thanked the donors heartily and followed it with an address which evoked a storm of applause.

IN HONOR OF A GUEST.

Miss May Duckworth Gave a Delightful Party at Her Home.

Miss May Duckworth, of Duer street, gave a delightful social affair at her home Thursday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Vina Wells, of Providence, R. I. The house and grounds were attractively decorated with American flags, bunting and Japanese lanterns. There were four tables on the veranda, where progressive whist helped to pass a portion of the evening pleasantly. Other of the guests played croquet on the lawn. A phonograph was manipulated by W. B. Heidloff and after the game refreshments were served. Dancing was then enjoyed until 2 o'clock in the morning.

In the whist games, Miss Sadie Blimm won first prize for the women, while Walter Emmons won the honors for the men. The prize-winners at croquet were Miss Carrie Fritz and George Draper, of Norwich, Conn. The affair was a charming one and all were much pleased to meet Miss Wells, who is an attractive and accomplished young woman. There were thirty guests present.

OFFICERS ABSENT.

So Endeavorers of the First Baptist Church Did Not Hold Session.

Owing to the absence of some of the officers the business meetiug of the Christtian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church was not held last evening. It will be held in the near future on a date to be decided later. It was announced at the meeting that on Friday evening, July 25, there would be a special meeting in the interest of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, at which time representatives of that charity will be present and tell of the work at Westfield. The programme will be of exceptional interest.

Filled Two Offices.

Court Plainfield, I. O. Foresters, at its regular meeting last evening, accepted the resignation of Financial Secretary John F. Casey and elected Henry Hansen to serve the rest of the term. Charles Jaeger was chosen court deputy and both officers were duly installed by the high chief ranger, H. H. Lowrie.

Third to Belleville.

In the competitive examination for the West Point cadetship, reference to which was made in The Daily Press of yesterday, Thomas Martin, Jr., of Belleville, stood third on the list. His name will be sent to the Secretary of War as second alternate.

Brick for New Hospital.

The work of hauling the brick for the new hospital has commenced and it is expected that within a few days the mason, William Pangborn, will begin operations. In a short time the work will be well underway and then pushed rapidly along.

Exempts to Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

The Exempt Firemen's Association willl attend the afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A., tomorow, in a body. All members are requested to meet in Exempt Hall at 3:30.

Mrs. Henry Eichlez, of New York, and Mrs. Otto Ptaschinska, of Newark, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John M. Schorb, of Duer street, returned home this afternoon.

THE CAPITAL AT SEA GIRT

THERE THE GOVERNOR WILL TRANSACT ALL HIS OFFICAL BUSINESS.

For the Next Two Weeks He Will Occupy the Cottage Owned by the State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 12—The Court of Pardons has finished its investigation into the cases of applicants for pardons and paroles for the present term.

A meeting of the court will be held at the "Little White House" Sea Girt, Wednesday, at which the applications will be passed upon.

Governor Murphy will not be at the State House until two weeks from next Tuesday, all the business of the State being conducted from Sea Girt.

Tuesday the usual political gathering of "governor's day" at the Capitol will be held at the State camp grounds and the same order will prevail in the following week.

The State boards having occasion to meet with the governor will also convene in the cottage at Sea Girt. It can be truly said that Sea Girt will be the summer capital of New Jersey for the next few weeks.

The biggest days in the camp from the social view point will be Thursday of each week while the governor is there. These days will be given over to entertainment by the governor and there will undoubtedly be very large assemblages from the fashionable coast resorts to witness the dress parades of the respective evenings.

STATE CONVENTION.

Endeavorers From All Over State Will Gather at Bridgeton Latter Part of Next Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bridgeton, July 12—The Christian Endeavorers will meet in convention in this city Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Rev. Dr. W. W. Moffett will deliver the address of welcome, and the response will be made by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, president of the State Union. Rev. Addison Moore will make an address on "The Power of Persuasion."

The Wednesday evening devotional service will be led by Rev. Dr. D. H. King, to be followed by the president's address. Rev. Dr. Eben Cobb will conduct the quiet hour service, and the convention sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. W. H. Fishburn, of Camden.

On Thursday morning, following the devotional exercises, reports will be heard on departmental work and addresses made by John W. Baer and Rev. I. Mench Chambers. Denominational rallies will be held in the afternoon, and a children's rally will be held at 3:45 o'clock. Rev. George Horter will make an address and C. Edgar Rosencrans will give a crayon talk. In the evening addresses will be made by A. N. Pierson, Rev. J. Madison Hare and Rev. Dr. Cornelius Brett.

A Largely Signed Petition.

The petition recently filed with the borough clerk signifying a consent in writing to the issuance of bonds to cover the expenses of erecting the new fire engine house was signed by taxpayers representing more than one-quarter of the taxable property, as shown by the latest assessment. The circulators of the petition report that they could without the least difficulty have secured far more names to the paper, if such were necessary.

Buried in Brooklyn.

The body of Mrs. F. V. Brady, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Hillman, of West Seventh street, was taken yesterday to Brooklyn, where funeral services were held in St. Francis Xavier church. Many friends as well as relatives from this city attended. Interment was made in Calvary cemetery.

Successful Operation.

John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, recerved word last evening that the operation on Mrs. Emmons, performed at Flower Hospital, New York, was very successful and that she is getting along well with every symptom for an early recovery. Mr. Emmons went to New York this morning, where he visit the hospital.

Painting of News Station.

Woolston & Buckle, of North avenue, have the contract for painting the new Union News Company stand at the new railroad station. The work will be done within a few days, after which Alfred Lacey, the agent, will take possession.

Auto Barn Built.

Wm. T. Kirk bas just completed a well-appointed and equipped building in which to place his automobile. The ex-sheriff has given up the use of his horses and travels now entirely with his new machine.

PENNSY'S GREAT TASK OVER AT BRUNSWICK

Progress Being Made in Elevating the Railroad Track Through That City.

IT IS A GIGANTIC TASK.

TWO STREETS TEMPORARILY CLOSED WHILE SUSTAINING WALL IS BUILT.

Elevation Will Begin Almost as Far East as Stelton—Building the New Bridge for Pennsylvania's Tracks Over the Raritan.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 12 — The magnitude of the elevation work undertaken by the Pennsylvania Railroad in New Brunswick is hard to appreciate until one takes a glance along the long elevation wall, reaching from the George street depot almost half way across the city, and remembers that it has been done in less than two months. The work had only been started when the bridge over the Raritan was moved on May 25.

At present two of the city streets have been closed, Washington and Schuyler. The closing of the former is permanent, and the days of Washington street, above George, as a city thoroughfare are over. Schuyler street has been closed only temporarily to permit the railroad contractors to have room enough to put up their wall between Paterson and Church streets. It was the desire of the railroad to close this street permanently, and it probably would have been closed had not Alderman Clark discovered that the street was given to the city by property-owners on the express condition that it should always remain open.

Schuyler marks the end of the elevation wall as now completed. From Easton avenue to George street the wall reaches its highest point. Near the George street crossing where the wall ends it broadens perceptibly. This is done so that a branch can be run to the left for the freight depot to be used by Neilson street manufacturers.

In the river work even more remarkable is the progress. All of the stone piers for the new bridge have been laid, and two of the arches which are to carry the stone work for the new tracks have been started. To support the stone work while it is being arched two immense wooden structures have been built. Each of these is strong enough to support the arch, although the woodwork is only temporary. Each of the wooden arches contains a thousand pound of iron bolts to hold it together. In order to convey stone and other material to the different piers in the river an entirely new bridge has been built close to the water from the East New Brunswick shore to the footpath. A miniature engine belonging to H. S. Kerbaugh, the contractor, draws carloads of stone across this little bridge.

Kerbaugh's men have started work on the upper half of the immense wall on Neilson street, part of which was completed last spring. When finished this wall will support the western end of the bridge as well the beginning of the city elevation. It is about forty feet high, and will be the largest wing wall in the country.

The elevation will extend from the Mile Run yards to a point between New Brunswick and Stelton, and will give trains a straight track from Stelton past the western city limits, eliminating several curves, the draw over the Raritan canal and all the grade crossings in the city.

Owns Some Fast Horses.

Among the guests at the Hotel Netherwood is Percy Alexander, of New York, owner of some of the fastest trotting horses in the country. Mr. Alexander has with him at the hotel, Pallatina, the horse that drove the famous Royal Baron to his mark in 2:12. It is his intention to bring some other fast steppers here before the end the season. Mr. Alexander will shortly have laid out a private pleasure park for driving purposes at Lake Hopatcong. He races his steeds merely for pleasure and never enters a horse for a series of heats.

Building Permits Granted.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has issued to Sylveste Delago, a permit for the erection of a barn on North avenue, near Leland avenue. A permit has also been granted to Joseph Guiseppe for the erection of two small separate buildings on North avenue.

PERJURY GROWS IN JERSEY

DO NOT FEAR TO SWEAR FALSELY NOW THAT BIBLE ISN'T KISSED.

That is What Prosecutor Crossley, of Mercer County, Declares is the Reason.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 12—On account of the danger of infection, the practice of kissing the Bible when sworn as a witness in court was abolished by act of the New Jersey Legislature.

But since the abolition of the solemn custom of kissing the book, public prosecutors declare that perjury is greatly on the increase. Only last week Prosecutor William J. Crossley, of Mercer county, attributed the failure of justice in two important criminal trials directly to the absence of impressiveness in the administration of the oath to witnesses.

The prosecutor says that since the solemn practice of kissing the Bible has been eliminated from the oath, witnesses in criminal trials "recklessly equivocate." He added that the witnesses in criminal trials usually are from a class that is not given to truth-telling except when in fear of eternal damnation of the soul or in dread of thirty days in jail for being caught lying. Many of this class of witnesses were awed by the old form of oath, which included kissing the Bible.

When a criminal intended to commit perjury he usually avoided kissing the Bible by declaring he had "conscientious scruples." He would then raise his right hand and arm to tell "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." The witness knew he was committing statutory perjury, of course.

But the criminal argued that he was not "going' agin' th' Bible, though," so he willingly aided his pal with any sort of story and took chances of being tripped up by the State.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Mercer Republicans are a unit for Judge Lanning, and Somerset and Hunterdon will probably fall in line. There is much disappointment, however, in this end of the district, that Hon. Lewis A. Thompson could not be the choice. We believe him a strong candidate, and his name would add much strength to the Somerset ticket this fall. It is probable that the Somerset and Hunterdon delegates will yet give him their support, but with Mercer united on Lanning it would make a bitter fight to win, which would not be advisable at this time.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

There are few places in the United States where there are less saloons, in proportion to the population, than in Montclair. Here there are eight saloons for a population of 16,000 people; and if, as has been said, the godliness of a community is shown by its ratio of churches to saloons, then Montclair must be another Eden, as there are over twenty churches. In Upper Montclair there is not a single saloon; although not far beyond the limits, in Brookdale and on the Little Falls road, there are two taverns. None, however, is within a mile of the centre of the town, and a strong effort is being made to keep the place clear from all establishments of a like character.—Montclair Herald.

A bulletin on printing and publishing has been issued by the Census Bureau, which shows that there were 22,312 establishments in 1900, with a capital of $292,517,072, in this industry, with 37,799 proprietors and officers and 136,836 wage earners.

One of the notable facts presented is the increase in the evening newspapers as compared with morning newspapers.

In 1890 there were two evening newspapers to every morning newspaper. In 1900 there were three evening newspapers to each morning paper.

Events occur in the daytime, and the speed with which news is flashed from one point to another enables the evening newspaper to print the news more quickly than the morning papers can do. The evening paper reaches its readers at the close of a busy day, when there is more leisure to read it. The morning paper reaches its readers when they are in a hurry and cannot spare the time to look at more than the head lines, not to speak of advertisements.

The people cannot wait until next day for news of important events, and this impatience will continue to strengthen the evening papers.—Jersey City Journal.

When Governor Murphy had taken the oath of office as chief executive of New Jersey last January, he made the promise that he would keep a watchful eye on all the institutions of the State and would devote time and attention to the workings of all departments and the various enterprises of the commonwealth. In the six months in which he has filled the office he has kept his pledge, made voluntarily. He has been a frequent visitor to the penal institutions, has devoted more time to an oversight of the conduct of the departments at the capital than did his predecessors, and has personally investigated the claims of the various sections of the State regarding the expenditure of the public funds. At the State house in Trenton yesterday the Governor participated in the deliberations of the voting machine commission and again placed himself on record as in favor of the adoption of the device for use at elections. He also showed his interest in the National Guard by signing, in conjunction with the comptroller and treasurer, a note making it possible for the soldiers who participated in the call to arms at Paterson to receive their pay promptly, depending on the next session of the Legislature to reimburse him. He will continue to make evident his interest in the Guard by attending the encampment at Sea Girt.

Today the Governor is engaged in making a personal inspection of the work done and to be done by the Interstate Park Commission on the Palisades. This is not a mere junket for pleasure, but is being taken in order that he may be thoroughly posted regarding the situation there. With all the information the Governor is thus gleaning, he will be able to accurately inform the next Legislature as to the needs of the State. It will be remembered that at the close of the session last spring Governor Murphy admitted that he had made mistakes, but he said that "next year I hope to be a better Governor." The indications are that he is now studying with that very end in view.—Newark News.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

RYAN'S TRIAL ENDED.

"Water Cure" Not a Torture, but a Life Saver.

MANILA, July 12.—The court martial of Captain James A. Ryan of the Fifteenth cavalry on the charge of unnecessary severity to natives was concluded yesterday. It is believed he will be acquitted. The accused during the day's proceedings made a lengthy statement defending his actions, and Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth infantry, counsel for the captain, strongly pleaded for his exoneration. He contended that the "water cure" was not torture and asserted that its use had saved more American and Filipino lives than other expedients of the campaign. The major scored Judge Rhode for making a report that he was unable to substantiate and quoted a score of orders for the execution of guerrillas during the civil war to justify Captain Ryan.

General Maxilon, who has been convicted of treason at Cebu, island of Cebu, has been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2,000.

General Noviso, who was jointly charged with General Maxilon, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and a similar fine.

General Davis has turned over the command of the American troops in Mindanao island to General Sumner.

The two generals are visiting Camp Vickers, where the Americans face the Moros.

The spread of cholera has slightly decreased, possibly on account of the rain. The totals since the outbreak are: Manila, 2,181 cases and 1,718 deaths; provinces, 12,476 cases and 9,357 deaths.

CORONATION AUG. 9.

King Edward's Gain Makes This Date Probable.

LONDON, July 12.—It is now considered practically certain, in view of the announcement made last night, that King Edward will be crowned Saturday, Aug. 9, since the holding of the coronation ceremony Monday, Aug. 11, would involve another full bank holiday, with the attendant location of general business, while Saturdays are almost universally observed as half holidays.

The fixing of such an early date for the coronation is regarded as an additional guarantee of the confidence of the king's physicians of a continuance of his majesty's rapid recuperation.

It is officially announced that there will be no royal progress as originally planned the day after the coronation, and there will be no procession apart from that in which their majesties will proceed from Buckingham palace to Westminster abbey and return.

The following authorized statement has been issued:

"The king has made such excellent progress that his medical advisers believe his majesty is now strong enough to be moved from London. They feel that a change of air is very necessary at the present stage of the healing process. It is hoped that his majesty will be able to leave Buckingham palace Tuesday for the royal yacht, which is at present at Portsmouth."

Applies For Parole.

TRENTON, N. J., July 12.—Walter C. McAllister, one of the four men sent to state prison about a year ago for long terms for causing the death of Jennie B. Bosschieter at Paterson, has made application to the board of pardons for a parole. His case will be considered, with nearly a hundred others, at the board's meeting next week.

A Beet Sugar Plantation.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 12.—Arbuckle Bros., the New York coffee magnates, have purchased a large tract of land at New Paltz, where they will establish a beet sugar plantation and possibly erect a factory.

JOHNSTOWN HORROR

Bodies of Ninety Victims Already Recovered.

TWENTY-TWO MINERS FOUND ALIVE.

Believed That at Least One Hundred and Fifty Persons Lost Their Lives by Firedamp Explosion at Fated Rolling Mill Mine.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 12.—Many heroic rescues have been recorded at the fated Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company. Thrilling experiences attended the efforts of the forty brave and daring fellows who went down into the bowels of the earth, with a very faint hope to spur them that still they might be in time to restore to life some of those who are entombed. Death lurked everywhere around them; but, undaunted, they surged forward, swayed with the noblest of human purposes.

The reward of their efforts was the saving of the lives of twenty-two of their fellow men and bringing them again into the sunlight and back to loving families.

Dead and maimed bodies were located, but no effort was made to bring them out of the vast theater of death until every human energy was put forward toward seeing that no living soul might escape their aid. That done, the dead were attended to and put in train cars, brought up and exposed to morbid gaze while being transferred to wagons in which to be taken to the morgue. Ninety dead bodies have been recovered from the mine.

There remain dangerous headings in the Klondike section of the mine yet to be explored. No one knows how many more dead will be found there. The mine officials refrain from guesswork on the subject.

The impression prevails among the outsiders and certain employees of the mine that 150 is a low estimate of the casualty list. Fated Johnstown spent yesterday horror struck. From dawn to dusk flying ambulances coursed the streets bearing grewsome burdens from mine to morgue, from morgue to homes. Great throngs surged about the pit mouth, the improvised morgue at the armory and about the stricken homes of the dead. Bulletin boards were eagerly scanned for news from the scene of the disaster. Exaggerated rumors of all kinds prevailed. One report gained circulation that disaster had overtaken the rescuing party which entered the mine shortly after 9 o'clock. This proved one of the entertaining yarns that had its origin among the crowd at the pit mouth. Returning rescuers substantiated the details of the report by officials.

It is difficult to picture with any degree approaching its full worth the work of rescue and the attending scenes and incidents of the day at the center of interest—how brave men went into the jaws of death in its most horrible form, encountered their fellows transformed into raving maniacs by hours of waiting in the pitch darkness of the earth's interior, lifted them moaning from their beds of fallen rock and then, bending and crawling on all fours, carrying them a quarter of a mile underground to where cars could be reached to take them outside.

Fire is raging in parts of the mine that will take some time to quell. Most of those who were brought out alive had saved themselves by crawling into a chamber and turning a valve on the compressed air pipe line which runs along the entry.

State to Investigate.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 12.—Governor Stone has directed James E. Roderick, chief of the state bureau of mines, to go to Johnstown and investigate the cause of the disaster at the Rolling Mill mine. Mr. Roderick left at noon and expects to reach Johnstown by evening and immediately begin an investigation.

Lord Kitchener at Southampton.

SOUTHAMPTON, July 12.—Lord Kitchener, on board the steamship Orotava, arrived in port shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. There was great disappointment here at the non-arrival yesterday. The Orotava left Cape Town June 23. Southampton is decorated in honor of the British general's return. All the yachts in the Solent are dressed with bunting, and elaborate preparations have been made for his reception. Lord Roberts, accompanied by the mayor of Southampton and a number of friends and officials, met the ship in the harbor.

Mayor by Four Majority.

ST. PAUL, July 12.—Mayor Hugo, the Republican candidate, remains the mayor of Duluth. The supreme court has so decided. One vote counted for Truelson was thrown out, thus giving Hugo a majority of four. The court held that the neglect of the judges to place their initials on the ballots did not invalidate the votes of those casting them.

A Deported President Arrives.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Among the passengers on the steamship City of Washington from Cienfuegos, Santiago and Nassau was Juan Jiminez, the deported president of the republic of Santo Domingo, who boarded the ship at Santiago.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The $500,000 given by congress to the Buffalo exposition will be distributed pro rata to claimants for $640,000, but not to stockholders.

General Thomas M. Anderson contradicted Admiral Dewey and declared that the fighting with the Spanish before Manila surrendered was bona fide.

CHARGES UNFOUNDED

Claim That Protestant Teachers Were Proselyting False.

GOVERNOR WRIGHT'S STATEMENT.

It Is Confirmed by Prominent Leaders of the Catholic Church—Secretary Root Says the Law Will Be Observed.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary Root has addressed an identical letter to persons complaining that teachers in the Philippines have been proselyting and attempting to convert Catholics to the Protestant faith. It is as follows:

"I beg to advise you that on the 5th of July Vice Governor Wright, the acting governor of the Philippines, was requested to report by cable the facts bearing upon the charge which has recently been extensively circulated that official positions in the public school service in the Philippines have been used for proselyting purposes, especial reference being made to an article which had just appeared in the Catholic Times.

"The following dispatch has now been received from Governor Wright:

"Referring to telegram from your office of 6th inst., charges made by Catholic Times unfounded in every essential particular. Untrue that nearly all American teachers are Protestant preachers and proselytes. The fact is one division superintendent was preaching in the United States a short time, then became a teacher. Possibly two or three similar instances among teachers. Bryan, head of Normal school, was never clergyman and never occupied a pulpit here or anywhere. There are now two American Catholic teachers in school of instruction (normal school) and five in Manila city schools. Native teachers in city number 140, all Catholic. Untrue that teachers of normal schools are proselyting and that school graduates only Protestants. Exceptional that any graduate is other than Catholic. Untrue Filipino is taught that Protestantism bringing enlightenment and Catholicism ignorance and tyranny. No reason to suppose that Stone, superintendent, and Oliver, principal, Manila schools, bigoted or anti-Catholic. Both deny it, as also the statement that graduates of Catholic university have been refused places in Manila and sent into the wilderness. Private secretary of Commissioner Moses Catholic, also private secretary of Atkinson, general superintendent of public instruction; also three division superintendents. Have shown your cable to Rev. William D. McKinnon, Catholic priest, a member of the advisory board general instruction, who confirms the statement of facts made by me above. Law to inaugurate public school system forbids religious instruction in schools or school buildings by teachers, but allows same three days per week in school buildings by priests or preachers out of school hours upon request of parents (see section 16, act 74). This intended as concession to Catholic sentiment. There are about 3,400 native teachers employed in the islands, all of whom are Catholics. Teachers selected without reference to religion and not allowed to preach or teach religion in schools. No discrimination against Catholic teachers.

"You will observe that the statements of this dispatch were confirmed by Father McKinnon, a priest officially connected with the public school system and having the most thorough familiarity with the existing conditions in the Philippines and who was formerly secretary to Archbishop Chappelle, the direct representative of the holy see in the Philippines. The statements of the dispatch appear to be further confirmed by remarks which are published in the newspapers this morning as made by Archbishop Ireland in a speech delivered at a convention of the National Educational association at Minneapolis."

The secretary then quotes from the address of Archbishop Ireland and continues:

"None of the prelates of the Roman Catholic church whose duty it is to safeguard the interests of their church and who are familiar with the facts have made any such charges as are referred to in the inquiry addressed to Governor Wright and in his answer above quoted. I am confident that they know better what the true facts are than the unknown and irresponsible sources of these adverse statements.

"It is the purpose of the Philippine government to maintain in the archipelago the same kind of free nonsectarian instruction which exists in the United States and which has proved to be for the interest of religion and all religions. The government means, so far as it possibly can, to give education to the people of the islands, and it will do this without any discrimination for or against any church or sect. It does not mean that any officer or teacher of the public school system shall use his position to build up or pull down any church whatever, whether Catholic or Protestant.

"Conformity to the provision of the law already enacted in the spirit as well as in the letter will be strictly required. I think the government of the Philippines is entitled to ask that citizens of the United States shall not assume or believe upon mere rumor and unproved statements that the government is not in good faith enforcing this law which it has made."

Strike Conference In Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Mutual concessions by the freight handlers and by the railroads have paved the way for conferences between the managers and their employees which it is hoped will lead to the settlement of the freight handlers' strike. These conferences, which will be the result of the work of the Chicago board of arbitration, will be held today in the offices of the respective general managers.

Furness Will Control Ship Company.

LONDON, July 12.—Sir Christopher Furness, the well known shipowner and shipbuilder, has taken the entire 13,000 shares of the Gulf Steamship company issued to raise capital for building steamers. Sir Christopher will hereafter control the management of this company.

Thirty-five Drowned In Chile.

VALPARAISO, Chile, July 12.—Thirty-five persons were drowned and a house was destroyed on the estate of Claudio Vienna, at Las Palmas, as a result of the recent bursting of a reservoir there.

MITCHELL TALKS.

Cannot Forecast Convention's Action—Leader Wright's Open Letter.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 12.—For the first time since the mine workers decided to hold a special national convention President Mitchell yesterday consented to say something for publication about the gathering. He said it was utterly impossible to forecast the action of the convention. From his remarks it is almost certain the convention will do one of only two things, either decide on a general suspension or provide a defense fund for the anthracite strikers.

J. Ridgeway Wright of this city, the leader of the citizens' alliance which was recently organized in this vicinity, has sent an open letter to President Mitchell, in which he calls the latter's attention to alleged intimidations, boycotting and other annoyances practiced on all persons who are working in the mines. He pays a tribute to organized labor generally for the good it has done and reminds Mr. Mitchell that every man has a right to work or remain idle, as he sees fit. In concluding his communication Mr. Wright says:

"We therefore appeal to you to declare:

"First.—The highways are free to all who desire to work, notwithstanding a strike is in progress.

"Second.—Boycotts against any business or professional man on the ground of services rendered to a nonunion worker are condemned by the union.

"Third.—That hanging in effigy, the digging of mock graves and every other form of violence, threat and libel are condemned by the union.

"Fourth.—Strikers who participate in any of the offenses thus itemized will be held responsible to the union for all disturbances, unlawful boycotts, etc., in which either they themselves or their wives and children participate."

For the first time in five months the pumps at the Stanton mine of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company were put in operation yesterday, and the work of pumping the water out of the mine begun. Ever since the strike began this colliery has been a target for the strikers and their sympathizers. The boy McCann was shot there, and several attempts were made to burn outbuildings within the inclosure.

PRESIDENT BUSY.

Senator McLaurin Calls — Appointment as Judge Probable.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—These are days of activity on Sagamore hill. President Roosevelt, instead of leaving his arduous work and responsibilities behind in Washington, has merely moved the capital, so far as the executive department is concerned, to Oyster Bay. The recreation which he is supposed to be enjoying at his country seat has as yet been secured in very small quantities. Were the president to grant all requests for audiences he would have no time for sleep. Many who travel to Oyster Bay, however, get no nearer to the president's house than the foot of Sagamore hill. The secret service men stationed on the grounds advise them that it is better to return.

Among the president's visitors yesterday was Senator McLaurin, who, after spending nearly two hours with the president, left on a late afternoon train for New York. While he declined to discuss the likelihood of his appointment on the bench of the United States court of claims, it is understood that his appointment has been agreed upon.

Secretary Root is expected today to remain for two or three days with the president at Sagamore Hill.

The Rev. Thomas H. Malone of Denver, for many years editor of the Colorado Catholic and a lecturer of note, also visited Sagamore Hill yesterday. He has known the president for a number of years. Father Malone has been visiting in New York for about three weeks, and the president invited him out.

Collector Stranahan arrived from New York in the afternoon. He had an appointment with the president at 2:15 o'clock.

The Rhone Breaks Banks.

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 12.—The Rhone has burst through both its banks with disastrous results. The railroad line above and below the town of Vouvry was destroyed, and owing to the torrent the railroad station there has been abandoned. The overflowing of the river has submerged villages and washed out crops. Bridges and houses have been destroyed in all directions. The inhabitants of the locality are frantically engaged in cutting the river embankments to relieve the flood and save their property. Floods have occurred elsewhere in Switzerland.

Chamberlain Not at Banquet.

LONDON, July 12.—In the absence on account of his accident of Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, the Earl of Onslow, undersecretary for the colonies, presided at the empire coronation banquet which was held in the Guildhall last night. The brilliant company of over 600 persons included the colonial premiers, the Indian princes and other distinguished visitors now in London.

Lively Would Finance Canal.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—President Roosevelt has received an official communication from James Madison Lively of New York, proposing a plan to finance the proposed isthmian canal. Mr. Lively suggests that his proposition "will bear inspection and tests to the last analysis."

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Good Reports Generally In Spite of Bad Weather and Strikes.

NEW YORK, July 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Good news predominates, although unfavorable weather proved a drawback at many points, and new labor disputes arose. Oppressive heat checked retail trade, and excessive rains interrupted harvesting, yet experience teaches that crop disasters from too much moisture have been rare, the other extreme having furnished the great records of loss.

There is less than the customary midsummer idleness in manufacturing industries, despite the scarcity of fuel.

Commodity prices are fully maintained, Dun's index number on July 1 rising to $101.910 against $101.168 a month previous and $91.509 a year ago.

Statistics of pig iron production on July 1 are somewhat surprising. According to the Iron Age, the weekly output was at a new high record of 352,590 tons, notwithstanding the shortage of fuel.

New England shoe shops are more fully engaged than at any previous time this year, and shipments from Boston for the last week compare more favorably with last year's movement than at any recent date.

Export orders for cotton goods are still disappointing, and the home demand is quiet, yet mills are well occupied. At the south there is a disposition to delay spinning until the new crop begins to move, and this tendency is also reported in England. In woolens the best feature is the reorder business in heavy weights, quick delivery being desired.

Corn has again been the prominent feature of the markets for domestic staples. Speculators at the west secured control of the 6,000,000 bushels in the visible supply and compelled the short interests to cover contracts at disastrously high prices. At the top point on Tuesday July corn commanded 90 cents a bushel, or about 15 cents more than wheat.

Failures for the week numbered 193 in the United States against 208 last year and 19 in Canada against 27 a year ago.

EDUCATORS ADJOURN.

Very Successful Meeting at Minneapolis—Boston For Next Year.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—The great educational convention of 1902 has come to an end, and it has proved the most successful meeting of the kind ever held.

Forty-five meetings of the departments and six general sessions contributed to the work. Some of the best known speakers in the United States have delivered addresses, and nothing has been left out that could have added interest to the convention. Most of the delegates will depart at once to their homes, but a thousand or more will stay in Minnesota and vicinity for some time to visit various places of interest.

It seems to be generally understood that the meeting place for next year will be Boston, the election of President Eliot of Harvard university being taken by most of those in attendance to mean that there will be no further competition by other would be aspirants for the honor.

Oral Pledge Offered.

ROME, July 12.—It is understood that the question of the withdrawal of the friars from the Philippine Islands could be settled immediately if Washington would accept the oral assurance of the Vatican that they will be withdrawn gradually. It is believed here that only President Roosevelt can decide whether such a promise shall be accepted.

BLUEFIELDS TAKEN?

Rumors of Revolutionist Victory In Nicaragua.

COLOMBIA IS STRIVING FOR PEACE.

Government Making Powerful Efforts, Says General Salazar, to Pacify Republic In Order to Take Up Canal Matter.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 12.—Passengers who have arrived here from Costa Rican ports bring further reports of the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua. They are responsible for a rumor that Bluefields, Nicaragua, has been captured by the revolutionists and that after this success the latter advanced in the direction of the Chontales district.

General Salazar in an interview said: "The government is making powerful efforts to pacify the republic in order that congress may meet and reach a decision in the matter of the canal bill, which is the most important question in Colombia today. The national government has issued a generous decree offering guarantees to the revolutionists, providing they surrender, in the departments of Boyaca, Cundinamarca, Santander and Tolima by the end of July. Those in the other departments will on account of the lack of rapid telegraphic communication have the time of their surrender extended until Aug. 7. Hundreds of revolutionists have surrendered already, and more are coming in every day. I can safely say that the revolutionary army only exists on the isthmus because of the help given it by President Zelaya of Nicaragua. He has violated all the rules of international law."

Generals Sergio Camargo, Carlos Arturo Torres and Manuel Jose Angarita and other prominent Liberal or revolutionary leaders have issued a manifesto addressed to their followers urging them to lay down their arms in order that the nation may reach a decision on the canal bill. This manifesto sets forth that the commercial interests of the world demand the prompt construction of the Panama canal. This declaration shows that both political parties in Colombia are in favor of the project.

The terms of the decree of the government granting pardon to revolutionists referred to by General Salazar are more generous than any of those which have been previously offered. The organizers of foreign expeditions against Colombia, however, are excluded from the terms of the decree.

A decree has been issued at Barranquilla which suspends for two months, beginning July 10, the export duty on cattle destined for Colon.

Did Not Know It Was Postponed.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Copies of Honolulu newspapers received at the navy department tell of celebrations and rejoicings held there at the time when the coronation ceremonies of King Edward VII. were supposed to be taking place. Honolulu has no cable communication with the rest of the world, so the people there were in ignorance of the postponement of the great event. The English residents made speeches and held processions, games and feasts, all unaware of the shadow that was cast over Great Britain at the time. The United States naval establishment there took no part in the celebration on account of an absence of orders on the subject.

Auditor's Office Busy Place.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The annual report of the auditor of the treasury department, just made public, shows accounts examined and audited to the number of 96,483, involving receipts and disbursements amounting to $5,378,110,384, against a total of 39,020 accounts, involving receipts and disbursements of $5,806,761,014, for the year ended June 30, 1901. The large increase in the number of accounts examined and audited is due to the redemption of stamps under the act to repeal war taxes. The auditor makes no recommendations.

Another Official Found Guilty.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 12.—Police Captain John Fitchette, known throughout the west as "Coffee John," has been convicted of trafficking in positions on the police force. The specific charge was that he accepted $200 from John Long for procuring the appointment of the latter as a policeman. While the offense is only a misdemeanor and does not involve a penitentiary sentence, the conviction is regarded as of great importance in the current municipal corruption exposures because of the implication of other officials.

The Kansas Floods.

MANHATTAN, Kan., July 12.—The flood situation in the valleys of the Blue and Kaw rivers is becoming more serious, and many families have been forced to leave their homes for higher ground. The Blue is a raging torrent twenty-one feet deep and still rising. It is running over the Union Pacific tracks several feet deep for a distance of two miles, taking a short cut to the Kaw river just east of Manhattan. The body of a dead man floated past here on the Kaw. It could not be caught.

Odell Denied Application.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 12.—Governor Odell has denied the application of the Connecticut authorities for the extradition to that state of Mrs. Elizabeth Jennison and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Massey of New York, accused of kidnaping the four-year-old daughter of Alfred and Elizabeth Jennison from Greenwich, Conn.

THE NEXT ELECTION.

North Plainfield is going to have a new fire department headquarters in the near future unless all signs fail. It requires considerable red-tape, however, to bring about the desired result. The last act is the election which, if favorable, will permit the Borough Council to issue the necessary bonds to raise the amount needed. Before, however, an election could be called, the Borough Council had to receive a petition from property-owners representing more than one-fourth of the taxable valuation of the borough property. That petition has been received and the election was called at the meeting of the Borough Council, Thursday night, for August 12. There is little doubt as to the result of the election.

There has been for some time a decided need for new quarters for the borough fire department. The members of the Warren Engine Company have been agitating the subject for some time and their efforts have not been in vain. There has been more or less talk as to the probable result on the greater city question. As a matter of fact, the building of a new fire headquarters will not influence the question either way. If the borough remains as it is, there must be new quarters for the firemen. If it becomes part of Plainfield, there must be some proper place to quarter fire apparatus in the part of the greater city north of Green brook.

It was long ago that the borough fire department outgrew its present quarters. The request for a more suitable building is therefore prefectly within reason and has the endorsement of all those who have taken the trouble to invesigate the needs and requirements of the department. The building of a new engine house will not, however, interfere with the present arrangements of the West End Company. The latter company will continue as usual. The old building will not be wasted. The police department will then have quarters that are not a disgrace to the community while the upper floor will provide a meeting place for the Borough Council and thereby save the rental now paid for the present rooms.

The third of the new double-decked ferryboats for the use of the Jersey Central Railroad has arrived for duty. It will add to the improvement already made to the ferry service of the Central. In order to make its ferry service the equal of that of any railroad running into Jersey City, the Jersey Central has but to establish a ferry line that will land its passengers up town. While the two ferry lines of the Central are particularly well adapted to the needs most of the business men and those who are bound for Brooklyn or Staten Island, the shopping element finds an up-town ferry lacking. The Central owns a freight slip in the vicinity of Fourteenth street and it has often been the subject for wonder that an up-town ferry had not been established there long ago.

This summer the Christian Endeavorers of the State have not chosen a summer resort as the place of holding their annual convention but will meet inland. Brigeton will greet the Endeavorers next week and has prepared an elaborate programme for their entertainment. It is the members of the Epworth League who will this year enjoy the breezes right off the ocean.

It speaks well for the local schools when the first and second choice for the appointment to the U. S. Military Academy from the Eighth Congressional district both come from this city. Four years ago the honor came to Plainfield.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is undertaking a great task at New Brunswick but, with the enterprise characteristic of that great corporation, the work is going forward without delay.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The most delicious, most refreshing soda in the city flows from the fountain in John P. Powers' pharmacy, Somerset street. What will you have?

An immense stock of cut flowers, palms, ferns and flowering plants, at prices away down, at C. L. Stanley's, the North avennue florist. Decorating and floral design work is a specialty.

The Rogers Seafood Company has inaugurated a series of special Saturday sales which are being largely patronized. One is on today and it includes nothing but fish received fresh this morning.

All the delicacies of the season in the fruit line are to be found at T. L. Walsh's North avenue market. Those who relish berries for dessert can find their favorites at this store in abundance and at very low prices.

R. H. Keenan, the East Fifth street grocer, believes in giving his patrons a dollar's worth for a dollar. People who trade with him always get it and he profits in the end. Try Keenan with an order and see if you are not satisfied.

"Its never too late to mend" the old saw says, but it doesn't do to apply it to the family clocks. When they get out of order have them fixed by the right workmen. Brown, of Watchung avenue, makes a specialty of clocks.

There is only one Rockdale butter and it is only one quality—that is, the best. Rockdale is a synonym the world over for pure butter and the fact that thousands of pounds are sold annually is a guarantee of the faith the public has in it. There is only one firm in this city that sells it—Neuman Brothers.

PERSONAL.

Miss Nellie VanZandt, of this city, has been visiting Miss Stella Woodruff, of Somerville.

Miss Ruth Yawger and Miss Arvilla Farley, of Somerville, have been visiting friends in Plainfield.

LOCUST DID COME.

But He Kept Away From Union County and Spent His Time Near Trenton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 12—State Entomologist Smith says the seventeen-year locust has come and gone. The belief has been common in many parts of the State that he had not put in an appearance.

The locust did not appear in many parts; for instance he did not visit Union county, nor very close to that part of the State. He has appeared in other parts particularly between the section of country that lies between Bound Brook and Trenton. As usual he has done considerable damage, particularly in the vicinity of Lawrence, which is between Princeton and Trenton. And, as usual, he has harmed the forestry in general, not picking out any particular kind of trees.

Professor Smith says that they have been found in Pennsylvania this year in much greater numbers than in New Jersey.

Mrs. Tice, of Perth Amboy, has returned home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Hall, of Watchung avenue.

Miss Teresa Martin, of Newark, is spending the month of July with her sister, Mrs. Garrett Powers, of Vine street.

NO LACK OF FEATURES.

Atlantic City Thronged With Crowd of Summer Guests.

This favored resort is already getting into shape for the great summer gathering, and though Atlantic City has been a leader always, much has been done this year to add to its attractiveness. A new feature of its life which is ever unique is the use of the launch, and the waters teem with every variety of craft. The bathing hour is one of the famous sights at Atlantic City and tens of thousands enjoy the most wonderful surf.

The climate is particularly delightful, and though in the city it may be sweltering at this beach there is always a refreshingly cool breeze. Sousa and his band now give concerts daily at Atlantic City, and all of the piers provide entertainment of a high class.

The hotels are each models of convenience and comfort, and if you want to know about them send to general passenger department (section Exc.), New Jersey Central, New York City, for Atlantic City Brochure—it's free for the asking. The New Jersey Central has three hour service to Atlantic City from New York, its trains are vestibuled and have buffet parlor car service. c

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The robins, sparrows and other birds that abound in Washington Park are highly favored, having that which many a person desires during the summer months, a place to enjoy a bath. B. A. Hegeman, Sr., of 37 Sycamore avenue, enjoys sitting on his veranda and watching the birds bathe in a large granite pan placed on his lawn and filled each day with water.

This week's issue of "The Watchman," a Baptist periodical published at Boston, has the following interesting note in the New York column of news written by Rev. Dr. Lemuel Moss.

"Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist church at Plainfield, where he has been settled since 1863, nearly forty years. His earlier pastorates were in Pittsburg and Brooklyn. He has not been well recently, but is better. Dr. Yerkes is one of the noble men whom it is a benediction to know. He will continue to reside in Plainfield, and we trust that for many years we shall have the influence of his presence and counsel."

THE MIDSHIPMAN OF TO-DAY.

When Landing in Irish Ports Is Subjected to Treatment, Damaging to Dignity.

The midshipman who presents himself to most of us has a flavor of Marryat's immortal creation of Mr. Easy. In Irish ports, where Mr. Midshipman Easy is not so familiar a sight as in England, our coming Neisons have sometimes a little difficulty in preserving their gravity. A boat comes to the stairs of a pier. The middy in charge is possibly more vigorously got up than usual, to impress the natives of the savage land. Biddy is looking at him. "Ho! Mister sailor, will we sell that choild?" "In bow. Way 'nuff. Forward there! Clear the stairs! Liberty men to land!" So hails young Nelson, but Biddy will not let him have the dignity of his position. "Hand me up that pretty boy wid the roses in his cheeks —'tis him I want to kiss. Away wid ye, brown devils! Ah, me, Miss Kate Macartney, attindint of this pier since George the Fourth was king. You won't kiss me, boy? Then you shall not land." Midshipman Rodney Nelson Camperdown has to submit to slights of this kind, says Army and Navy. It is on record that one of the good breed which makes our admirals was once carried along the decks of a flagship under the arms of a negress, who wished to complain to the captain that this disgraceful boy had not paid his washing bill.

BIRDS THAT CAN TALK.

A Rose-Breasted Grosbeak That Made a Complimentary Remark to His Mate.

Prof. Scott, of Princeton, says that wild birds sometimes introduce variations into their songs, and again, more rarely, imitate not only the songs of other birds, but the barking of dogs, mechanical sounds, like the creaking of wheels, the filing of a saw, and even human speech. A writer in Bird-Lore gives this well-authenticated incident:

"One morning while I was standing on my back steps I heard a cheerful voice say: 'You are a pretty bird. Where are you?'

"I wondered how any parrot could talk loudly enough to be heard at that distance, for the houses on the street behind us are not near. Presently the voice came again, clear, musical and strong: 'You are a pretty bird. Where are you?'

"For several days I endured the suspense of waiting for time to investigate. Then I chased him up. There he was in the top of a walnut tree, and his gorgeous attire told me immediately that he was a rose-breasted grosbeak.

"At the end of a week he was saying: 'Pretty, pretty bird, where are you?' He and his mate stayed near us all last summer, and this spring they came again. He is making the same remark, as plainly as ever a bird can speak."

SALVATION STREET-CLEANING

A New Work Taken Up by the Army in Western Cities with Profit to Both Sides.

One of the newest achievements of the Salvation Army in the west is in the line of street cleaning. Besides cleaning the streets morally to some extent, the army in several western cities has taken up plain street cleaning, and not only does it well, but makes a profit out of it.

Mayor Hugo, of Duluth, a few days ago made a formal proposal to the army that it should undertake the whole work of keeping that city clean, using the unemployed to do the work and taking its profit out of the sale of rags, paper and street sweepings. The proposal is under consideration and will probably be accepted.

In Chicago the army has been collecting the city's rags, waste paper and junk for some time. Last year the wagons of the Chicago branch gathered up 780 tons of paper, 50,000 pounds of rags and 5,000 pounds of string, and sold the lot at a good price.

Many homeless waifs are employed in this work, and while coming under the good influence of the army thus get a chance to earn their food and lodging.

Concerning Tongues.

Although it is the Chinese language which is spoken by the largest number of people on the face of the earth, it is in English that more than half of all existing newspapers are written, says the Westminster Gazette. Against a population of nearly 400,000,000 which speak Chinese, English is spoken by about 100,000,000. Next comes German, with 85,000,000; then Russian, with 65,000,000. French and Spanish are each the native tongue of 41,000,000, Italian of 30,000,000, and Portuguese of only 13,000,000. In the United States newspapers appear printed in twenty-four different languages. The Italian tongue is, outside of Italy, mainly spoken in Egypt and America. The use of Spanish is decreasing, but it is still a very important language in commerce.

American Girls Win.

The number of American girls who are now holding important positions in French opera has caused no little discontent among the Paris public. Not that there is any personal prejudice against Americans, but simply because it is considered that French artists should have the first showing where engagement at their national theaters are concerned. But it is unquestionable that voices are beginning to be scarce in France, whereas America is advancing steadily as the country for good material which requires only classical training abroad to develop all the qualities necessary for operatic success.

PURSUED BY A BEAR.

Youth Kidnaps Two Tiny Bruins and Is Compelled by Their Mother to Run for His Life.

From Watertown, N. Y., a correspondent writes that there has been a notable abundance of bears in the southern part of the county this spring, and besides the four full-grown bears that have been shot in and near the town of Worth no less than seven black cubs have been captured alive.

Two other cubs, also captured in Worth, whose mother was shot, are "Gaston" and "Happy Hooligan," the very lively mascots of the Thirty-ninth Separate company.

Only a few days ago a small boy of Worth came across a hollow log, and, with all of a boy's ignorance of fear, crawled into it to investigate. He found two black bear cubs about four weeks old, took one under each arm and started for home.

He had gone less than a quarter of a mile when he heard the mother bear smashing along through the underbrush behind him, and when she came in sight the boy dropped one of the cubs and ran with the other. The old bear stopped only long enough to put the cub away in a brush thicket and took up the boy's trail again. The little fellow sprinted for 300 or 400 yards, but the cub's weight handicapped him and he was forced to drop his prize. While the old bear was nosing over the cub and licking the man-scent from it the boy got so far away that the bear gave up the chase.

DICK LED IN PRAYER.

Ohio Parrot Sets a Ministerial Conference to Laughing and Broke Up the Meeting.

"Dick," the Dutch house parrot, of Bucyrus, O., that was sold to a New York man for $200, has a record for breaking up a ministerial conference which was held in the hotel parlors and had become a weekly affair.

Dick was an attentive listener for several weeks, and then decided to get into the game himself. A minister opened the meeting with prayer, and suddenly Dick broke in with "O Lord, vouchsafe to us Thy presence this afternoon."

The minister was disconcerted, and there was a snicker among the assembly. The minister began again, but Dick, warming to his work, piped in with "Give us seeing eyes, hearing ears and understanding hearts."

"NOW, WILL YOU BE GOOD?"

The snicker deepened into laughter, and the minister stopped, while Dick went calmly on with: "Shed upon us the light of Thy countenance and grant us Thy grace."

The ministers shouted with laughter, but when they again came to order, and a clergyman rose to speak, Dick said, in a tone of deep disgust: "Oh, shut up."

Somebody rose, and, taking the cage into the hall, set it down with a thump. Before the door closed they heard the bird apostrophizing himself mournfully: "Now, Dick, will you be good?" This was too much, and the meeting broke up amidst great hilarity.

A Country of Poor Beds

Poor beds are the rule in the hotels of Mexico, and they are about as yielding as a doormat. The bed covering is usually just the size of the bed, and when you pull it up to your neck your feet are bare, and when you try to cover your feet you are uncovered almost to the waist.

Hard on the Poor Horse.

A self-satisfied young man in Atchison called on his lady love to take her out driving. While he was waiting in the parlor for her to put the finishing touches to her costume some audacious wags painted his horse red, white and blue.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

ONLY THE BEST

paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

GENESIS OF A FORTUNE.

The Happy Chance Through Which a Poor New York Clerk Became a Multi-Millionaire.

One western millionaire came into the possession of his wealth through his own abilities, beyond a doubt, but it is also true that his opportunities were excellent. And they came to him in an unual way.

It happened, says the New York Sun, that the wife of a very rich man had for many years gone to a certain shop in New York for her gowns, and had always been waited upon by the same woman. One morning she went to the store to order a gown. After the business of getting the new dress had been transacted, the saleswoman said to her:

"This will be the last time that I shall have the pleasure of waiting on you, Mrs. X——, for I am going to be married."

When the customer expressed an interest in her plans, the woman told her

"I'M GOING TO BE MARRIED."

that she and the man to whom she had been engaged for several years had decided that they might as well get married as wait, especially as she had managed by prudence to save a little money. Said the customer:

"You bring your betrothed to my house to-night to see me. I would like to meet him and have my husband know him, too."

A time was set and that night the saleswoman and her betrothed visited the wealthy patron. The latter introduced them to her husband, who talked with the man and was favorably impressed with him. He learned that the man was able to make only a small income at his business.

Before the man left the house, a date for a subsequent visit had been set. The man, of course, came back, and the result was a place for him in one of the millionaire's mills near a western city.

That was his beginning. To-day he counts his millions on more fingers than his two hands possess. And his fortune came through his meeting with the millionaire and his good luck in making a favorable impression on him as well as on his ability to take advantage of the opportunities that came to him.

PHEASANT FIGHTS WELL.

Golden Fowl's Victories Result in Imprisonment of Bird and Then of Farmer Parker.

Game Protector Barger, of Lockport, N. Y., has notified Henry Parker, a farmer, to appear before Police Justice Bradley on a charge of having a golden pheasant in his possession.

Parker says that during the terrible snow storms of February the pheasant came to his barnyard and shared the fowls' meals and shelter. When the warm days came the wild bird continued its visits. It fought every rooster on the farm and invariably was the victor. It then tackled the gobblers and defeated them. The domestic fowls were demoralized by the intrusion of the Mongolian.

FOLLOWED THE ROOSTER.

One day it followed the rooster into the coop, and one of the Parkers shut up the troublesome bird. They had it in confinement 13 days, when Protector Barger discovered the technical infraction of the law which protects golden pheasants until 1905. The Niagara County Anglers' club has been stocking the county with birds and they have been multiplying.

Flagman Had a Surprise.

A negro flagman named George Lee was sent to flag a train some miles south of Jackson, Miss. He sat down to wait for the train, with his feet on the rails, and fell asleep. When he awoke he was much surprised to find that both of his feet had been cut off.

A FRENCH ROOM.

A Dainty Style of Furnishing Much In Vogue at Present.

The French style of interior decoration commends itself particularly for this time of the year owing to the general light and airy effect which characterizes it. With the French style of furnishing no rugs are necessary, the polished hardwood floor being considered sufficient, or, if rugs are used, they are merely small bits of color scattered here and there.

The chief beauty of a French room is in the walls, which are often laid in panels and otherwise tastefully decorated in pale colors. With a handsomely decorated wall of this kind no pictures are needed. The general effect of a French room is one of elegant simplicity.

The room in the illustration has white and gold woodwork, and the walls are laid in panels of pale green. This green forms an admirable background for the daintily colored furniture, which is upholstered in pink, pale yellow and white. The fireplace is white and gold; the frames of the chairs are of mahogany or gilt. A handsome empire mahogany chest stands in one corner and a quaint lamp stand in the shape of a cabinet in another. The windows of the room are also French and open through the center outward.

R. DE LA BAUME.

SELF CONTROL.

Teach It to the Child If You Want It to Succeed.

"What is the greatest thing in the world?"

"Self control."

"I thought you were going to say love. Love rules the world, but self control rules love, as indeed it rules everything else. If you want to give a man the key to success in life, give him self control; therefore, since it is the most useful thing in the world, it is one of the first things you want to teach your child. Teach him or her—for it is even more important for her—to be always master of the situation. Teach the child that to feel disappointment inwardly cannot always be helped, but to show it outwardly should always be avoided. This doesn't necessarily make a stoic of the child, but teaches it to enjoy the good things of life in moderation, as they are meant to be enjoyed. It teaches it that no one thing is worth staking one's entire self on or breaking one's heart over.

When it rains and little Mary stands crying before the window bewailing the fact that she can't go to the picnic, don't let her stand there and cry.

That is laying the foundation for future acts of weakness when Mary is no longer a child and more important things than rain are the trouble. Distract her attention and turn it in another direction.

Show the child the folly of being angry, the waste of energy, the waste of time; show her the power that lies in deeds instead of words. Even very young children are susceptible to reasoning where they would resent force. If you can succeed in showing little Mary that every deed of self control is one step nearer her ultimate happiness, you are leading the child toward success and, what will appeal to you perhaps even more, insuring your present peace of mind.

MAUD ROBINSON.

A KNAVE . . . OF CONSCIENCE.

By Francis Lynde.

Griffin went back to New Orleans, baffled but not discouraged. As before, the case turned upon the pivot of identity. When he should have learned the man's name and place in the world it would be an easy matter to track him down.

Accordingly he went to the bank and asked again for the anonymous letter.

"You have tried every means to place the writer of this, Mr. Galbraith?" he queried.

"Everything we could think of. It might be any one of the hundred transient customers we served that day."

"It is a woman," hazarded Griffin, at a venture.

"Doubtless."

"Was there a woman in the bank when you went with the fellow to cash the check?"

"There was. She was at the teller's window."

"Did you notice her particularly?"

"Not well enough to be able to describe her. I had other things to think of just then."

"Sure enough. What was she doing?"

"Getting a draft cashed, I presume."

"Where would that draft be now?"

"In the possession of the issuing bank, and probably cancelled long since. It couldn't be traced or identified. We've been over all that."

"Of course; but I was hoping we might stumble upon something that had been overlooked. May I use the 'phone?"

"Certainly."

Griffin shut himself into the 'phone-box and called up the wharfmaster's office on the levee.

"Hello! Is this Robertson? Say, Dick, where is the Belle Julie now? Up-river, you say? All right; I am coming down to get you to wire Capt. Mayfield for me."

The "wire" sent a little later from the wharf-master's office asked for a list of the Belle Julie's lady passengers on that voyage which began on the day of the robbery. Griffin was not above swearing a little when the answer came. It was a string of twenty-odd names, and to have speech with these twenty-odd women meant weeks of continuous travel for the detective.

That being the next move in the game, however, he set about making it methodically, beginning with those most accessible, and working through the list from name to name; and at the end of weeks he had interviewed every woman on the list save two. These two lived in a small inland city in Minnesota, and when he turned his face northward to try the final cast of the die he was weary enough to be disheartened, if disheartenment had been admissible.

It was evening when he reached Wabaska, and since it was too late to do anything he promised himself that he would smoke but a single cigar and go to bed. But when the cigar was alight he left the hotel to smoke it in the open. There was an unusual stir in the streets, and a question asked of a chance passer-by evoked the reason. The new Grierson opera house was to be opened that night by a company imported from Chicago for the occasion, and everybody was going to the theater.

Griffin strolled listlessly with the crowd, and presently found himself in front of the new playhouse. It was early, but the "first-nighters" were already thronging the vestibule. He stood aside to look on, honestly wishing he could rid himself of the Bayou bank mystery long enough to go in and enjoy himself with the pleasurers.

Now it chanced that in stepping back out of the sidewalk throng he got in the way of the carriage contingent, and a moment later a voice at his elbow said:

"Excuse me; will you let the ladies alight?"

Griffin gave place, and saw a young man with a clean-cut, eager face hand two young women from the carriage. They were followed by an elderly gentleman with eye-glasses; and on the sidewalk the group fell into pairs. Griffin could not well help hearing the colloquy.

"I think the others will be here in a few minutes, doctor. Shall we wait and go in with them?"

Thus spoke the young man with the clean-cut face; and at the older man's negative he spoke again.

"Just as you please. If you will take Miss Raymer and let me take Miss Farnham, that will divide us equally. The seats are all near together, but I couldn't get them all in the same row."

Griffin stared hard at the speaker's companion as the parti carre moved away.

"So that is Miss Charlotte Farnham, and my last chance," he mused, turning back toward the hotel. "There is one grain of comfort in it for me; if her face doesn't belie her, she will tell me the truth. By Jove! but that young lawyer, or whatever he is, has an eye for good looks. I've never seen her equal in all my ups and downs, and that's saying a good deal."

So he went his way to the St. James and presently to bed, without so much as suspecting that he had actually touched elbows with the man whose identity he was vainly trying to establish.

CHAPTER XX.

It was the early morning of a flawless northern summer's day, and the lake sparkled like a sheet of hammered silver under the windows of the Farnham sitting-room. The shades had been drawn when Griffin entered, but he had taken the liberty to run them up before Miss Farnham came in. And since he was finding it necessary to read much between the lines of her guarded answers to his questions, he did not regret the precaution.

"You say he admitted his guilt to you, Miss Farnham, before the boat reached St. Louis?"

"Yes."

"May I ask how he came to do that?"

"I—must I answer that?" she faltered.

"I need hardly say there is no 'must' about it. I am an officer of the law, and I am anxious to find the man. I am sure you will tell me everything which might help me, and I don't ask to know more."

She considered it for a moment, and then took counsel of frankness.

"He admitted it because I asked him."

Griffin smiled, and then explained the smile.

"Pardon me," he said. "I was thinking that no one but a woman would ever have thought of doing such a thing as that. I fancy you surprised the admission out of him."

"No, I do not think I did. He admitted the fact very willingly, though he would not admit that it was wrong."

"Ah; that helps more than you might imagine. They have all been looking for a seasoned criminal, you know."

"YOU HAVE HELPED MORE THAN YOU KNOW."

"He wasn't that," she said, with an air of conviction. "Apart from this one great wrong which he had done, he seemed to be a gentleman. It may seem incredible to you, but he fairly insisted upon my writing to Mr. Galbraith."

Griffin smiled again and nodded reassuringly. What she was telling him fitted in admirably with the only tenable theory he had formed; that the robber was no criminal; that he was only a monomaniac on the social side.

"And when he did that he doubtless asssured you that he would consider himself bound in honor not to take advantage of your frankness?"

"He did just that. How did you know?" she asked.

"I merely inferred it. And his parole was to expire at St. Louis?"

"It was—it did."

Griffin rose and found his hat.

"I am greatly obliged to you, Miss Farnham. I know you haven't found it easy to speak of this to a stranger."

While the identity of the man is still a mystery, you have helped more than you know. Good morning."

Griffin left the house, but instead of taking the street, he turned aside to stroll aimlessly along the lake shore, giving the new theory time to grow a little more definite. As has been said, his trade of man-catcher had come to be a passion with him, and he had genius where others labored only with talent. When the new theory had taken shape, it slipped into musing speech.

"She can't account for his little vagary, but I can. He simply fell in love with her at first sight, and because he was in love with her he made her do that which she knew to be right, at whatever cost to himself. That being the case, he is as sure to turn up here sooner or later as the sun is sure to rise to-morrow morning. Better than that, he may be here now. I'll camp down and study my environment for awhile. It's a pretty place, and I'll call it my vacation."

SALT IN CALIFORNIA.

Millions of Tons in Natural Saline Basins.

Borax In Its Perfect State Also Found in Great Abundance—Thriving Trade in Venomous Insects.

[Special Los Angeles Letter.]

ALTHOUGH nearly everything that grows may be cultivated in southern California its inhabitants have thus far depended largely for sustenance upon oranges and the money spent so lavishly by tourists, who are attracted by the climate and scenery. With the increase in population, however, many new industries are being developed, notable among which is the preparation for market of salt in its various forms. It is estimated that millions of tons of this product are awaiting the miner in southern California, which is a natural saline basin. Ages since, the ocean covered the territory between Salt Lake City and the Gulf of California. Of this a large portion of San Bernardino county (geologically known as Lake Aubury) and that portion of Inyo county known as Owen's Lake, formed a part. With the gradual recession and evaporation of the water, immense saline deposits were formed. Daggett is, commercially speaking, situated near the center of this region and this little town of one street, three blocks long, is already the principal borax-shipping point of the world, daily sending out over $1,000 worth of this product. Although borax had been secured by special process prior to that time, it was first found in its natural state in San Bernardino county in 1864. At that time it was worth $780 per ton, or 39 cents per pound, wholesale. Now it retails for seven cents. This great reduction in price has led to its being put to many new commercial uses. It is a necessity in welding, fluxing and the treatment of ores, but to-day is most employed in the manufacture of granite and porcelain wares, so-called, and enameled articles. San Bernardino county produced $1,013,251 worth in HARVESTING SALT ON THE SALTON SEA.

1900, and in 1901 much more. In 1900 the United States imported but $29,000 worth of borax, securing the remainder from San Bernardino and Inyo counties. California furnished 20,357 tons of the 21,834 tons produced in 1899. Chili, the next largest shipper, furnished 11,951 tons.

Boric acid is made at Daggett by boiling the crude material in tanks with sulphur. After the sulphate of lime settles the liquid is drawn off into outdoor vats, where the heat causes rapid evaporation of the water, leaving the substance known to commerce. By this simple process results are accomplished which European manufacturers secure by means of costly equipments and complicated chemical processes. More than 60 of the dry lakes containing borax are unnamed and but few have been worked. The largest saline deposits are, naturally, in the deepest places, and quantities are found in Death valley, 427 feet below sea level. From 1873 to 1886 this valley was steadily worked, immense borax trains drawn by horses traversing a distance of 165 of the hottest and sandiest miles of desert in the world. Seven-feet wheels with eight-inch tires were required to draw the 50,000-pound loads through the deep sand. This enterprise was ended by the railroads.

Owen's lake, with an area of 100 square miles and an average depth of 40 feet, is called the largest soda fountain in the world. It contains more than 22,000,000 tons of carbonate of soda, according to government experts. It is expected that salt will soon be mentioned with climate and oranges as one of the leading wealth-producers of California. In those irreclaimable portions of the desert where animal and vegetable life are but sparsely represented by reptiles and cacti, and which have generally been regarded as totally worthless, one Indian seated on a plow drawn by a cable is able to place 700 tons of salt in winnows daily. At Salton, salt is harvested, not manufactured. Even the work of evaporation was performed there by nature in past ages. There the product, when plowed up, is so pure that it is only necessary to grind and sack it. Large salt works are being constructed at Long Beach, while those at Redondo, Oceanside, San Marcos and Coronado are in full operation. Just now it is principally along the lines of the railways that the salt deposits are being worked, but the mineral has been found in more than 20 great districts in the desert, much of it being as transparent as window glass. In the Saratoga district, San Bernardino county, in a ledge a mile in length is a 16-feet center of pure salt estimated to weigh 5,575,680 tons.

In the old days salt was the handiest building material, and a house constructed from it still stands in Danby. In California about $2,000,000 worth of salt is being produced annually at this time, and it is expected that this amount will soon be doubled, as the new Salt Lake road is to be laid through the very heart of this region, opening the vast areas of borax, soda and niter. It is predicted that eastern capital will locate factories here, where the products may be easily shipped to the ocean. All sorts of chemicals may be manufactured, among which fertilizers and smokeless powder will be important. Even now manufacturers in southern California are casting aside by-products which in other localities would be more valuable than the material now in use. Some of the residue of the vats which is discarded is known to be rich in lithia and bromine. We ship lepidolite, from which lithia is made, to Germany and then import the manufactured article. Why not produce it here?

A unique industry, one of the strangest in the world, is carried on by some of the small boys of Pasadena, who start out armed with a pair of pincers about 18 inches long and a deep tin can lined with bits of torn paper to a depth of eight or nine inches. The demand by tourists for centipedes mounted on cardboard always exceeds the supply and it is estimated that at least 10,000 of these particularly disagreeable-looking and dangerous insects are prepared for the market in Pasadena alone each year. Tarantulas, scorpions and many other venomous insects also fall victims to the small boys' activity and money-making proclivities, while they satisfy the abnormally developed souvenir habit of the always-present tourists. Rattlesnakes' skins are manufactured into fancy articles, and horned toads are also much sought. But it is not only the tourist who furnishes the market for the latter creatures. At the drug shops in Chinatown they are dried and, as one oriental who was lustily pounding about 20 of them assured the writer, "Me soakee him in gin, makee heap good medlecine." During March, April and May the largest crop of centipedes is harvested and dried, and of all things the Pasadena boys most enjoy is a centipede picnic in the hills among which their picturesque town is situated.

It is not unusual for one boy to catch 100 worms in a day, which he can easily sell to dealers for five cents each, thus earning five dollars. When the rocks are lifted away in the spring the centipedes are for a moment apparently too astonished to move, and this is the boys' opportunity for seizing them with pincers and thrusting them squirming and waving their myriad legs into his can, when they glide under the papers, stinging any one of their associates with which they come in contact. Scolopendia castaniceps, full grown California centipedes, are from five to eight inches long, and average 21 and 42 segments. A brown thorn terminates each leg, and when the myripod is angered all the thorns are simultaneously thrust into the flesh of his victim, producing lines of pain like those inflicted by a red-hot iron. However, the second pair of feet, below the jaws, resembling modified claws, are what do the most injury. These hooks are perforated and traversed by little canals leading from a poison gland. The claws come together and set under the flesh with such tenacity that the creature has often to be torn in pieces before its hold may be loosened. On hot days the boys are apt to be bitten because the insects are so active that they run up the pincers and under the sleeves of their tormentors before they can be seized. Ammonia or cooking soda will generally remove the poison and the patient usually recovers, although the pain is intense. When a catch is carried into the shops chloroform is administered, which renders them innocuous and they are treated and mounted on cards or placed in paper weights retailing at from 25 to 75 cents apiece.

WHEELMEN MEET.

They Were Riding a Good Pace and Aug. Baldwin Was Knocked Out.

Augustus Baldwin, of West Front street, while riding his wheel along the above street near Liberty street, last evening, ran into another wheelman, going east on Front street, and was knocked out for a time. He sustained several bruises and was unconscious for a half hour. He was carried into J. H. Stewart's house, where he was given proper treatment. Later he returned home. The other wheelman, who is unknown, was not injured very much and he was able to continue his journey. Both wheels were considerably damaged.

Couldn't Stop Whistle.

Residents of the western section of the city were rudely wakened from their slumbers shortly before 2 o'clock this morning by the unearthly screeching of a locomotive on the New Jersey Central. The engineer opened his whistle valve at Dunellen to summon a pusher and then found it would not close. The screeching continued until Grant avenue was reached when the steam supply was shut off.

MUST TEST EVERY WATCH

JERSEY CENTRAL APPOINTS A GENERAL TIME INSPECTOR.

Employes of the Railroad, Whose Watches Do Not Pass, Must Buy New Ones.

An order has been issued by the new management of the Central Railroad of New Jersey relating to the adoption of a standard system of time governing every employe in the operating departments from the chief trainmaster to locomotive firemen. The order dates from the first of the month, but will not go into effect until Tuesday. As one of the results, many of the employes of the company will be obliged to buy new watches, and there is naturally much grumbling.

The new arrangements are in charge of J. W. Forsinger, formerly of Chicago, who has been appointed general time inspector, with headquarters at Jersey City. Before next Tuesday every employe comprehended in the order is expected to submit his watch to the chief inspector or one of his assistants, and if the watch is not passed he will be expected to provide himself with a new one which is to conform to the following specifications: "Nickel, seventeen-jewel, patent regulator, adjusted to heat, cold and three positions, must not vary over thirty seconds a week." If a railroad employe buys a new timepiece it must have been made by either one of five American companies.

In order not to work too much hardship on the men the company agrees to accept pay for the watches in four instalments At every important terminal or junction point local inspectors have been appointed. The time inspectors for Newark report that to date they have passed on about fifty watches for the employes of the Central. The majority passed the test, and only a few were rejected.

Senator Out Auto Riding.

United States Senator John Kean Kean and a party of friends, of Elizabeth, went through Plainfield this morningin an automobile. Their destination is not known, but they are evidently out for a pleasure trip.

WHY THE PROSECUTORS HAVE BEEN ORGANIZED

Aim is to Secure a Unity of Effort Not Otherwise to Be Obtained.

ARTICLE ON SUBJECT.

WRITTEN BY MIDDLESEX'S PROSECUTOR FOR N. J. REVIEW OF C. AND C.

Prosecutor Voorhees, Who is President of the Association, Tells About Organization and Motives Which Led Up To It.

The June issue of the New Jersey Review of Charities and Corrections contains an interesting article by Prosecutor John S. Voorhees, of New Brunswick, on "State Prosecutors' Association." Mr. Voorhees is president of the association. His article is as follows:

"No department of government has greater influence upon the welfare of the people than that which relates to the administration of the criminal law, for the reason that security of person and of property is directly dependent, not upon law, however excellent, but upon the prompt, honest and energetic enforcement of that law.

"In England there are no public prosecutors. Crimes are left like civil injuries to be prosecuted by the injured party. This prosecution is wholly voluntary, except that a magistrate in important cases may bind over the victim to prosecute the criminal. As a consequence of this many crimes go unpunished because the victim is unwilling to incur the trouble and expense of a prosecution, or is bought off by the offender.

"In Holland, however, every district contained a prosecuting officer called a schout. He was the representative of the government, and was charged with the duty of prosecuting all offenders. The settlers of New York and of the greater portion of New Jersey came from the Netherlands. They brought the schout with them, and the institution of the public prosecutor thus took early root in this new soil.

"As early as May, 1696, the Legislature of the Colony of New Jersey selected George Deacon as King's Attorney or Public Prosecutor for the county of Burlington and Joseph Tomlinson for the county of Gloucester. Subsequently a prosecutor was provided for every county in the State.

"The Constitution of New Jersey now directs that an Attorney-General and Prosecutors of the Pleas shall be nominated by the Governor and appointed by him with the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall hold their office for five years.

"The Legislature has provided that it shall be the Prosecutor's duty 'to use all reasonable and lawful diligence for the detection, arrest, indictment and conviction of offenders against the law.'

"In the enforcement of the criminal law the Prosecutor stands in lieu of the injured party. Crime is an injury not only to the individual, but also to the State. The Prosecutor represents the State and wields in the 'detection, arrest, indictment and conviction of offenders,' all the powers of the State government. He may set in motion the criminal law against any one charged with crime. All complaints taken by magistrates are sent to him, and by him are laid before the Grand Jury for investigation and indictment. All indictments found by that body are returned to him for trial. He has more or less intimate control over every step of the criminal procedure from the inception of the complaint to the conviction or acquittal of the accused party. His power is therefore very great, and his responsibilities commensurate with his power. It is of the utmost importance that the Prosecutors of the State discharge their duties intelligently, energetically and fearlessly, and that there should be uniformity in the criminal procedure of the various counties, and in the interpretation of the several acts relating to crimes. It is also of importance that any defects in the criminal law or the law relating to criminal procedure should be promptly detected and remedied. No one is better able to point out such defects, or the proper remedy, than those, who, through the discharge of their duties as Public Prosecutors, become expert in this branch of jurisprudence.

"The prosecutors of the several counties are wholly independent of one another. They report to no superior, each discharging his duties in his own way, and they have no communication with one another, except such as is wholly voluntary. It is not surprising therefore, that more or less diversity crept into the criminal procedure of the State. Local ideas and customs gradually modified the methods of criminal practice. While the law was the same the State over, the method of enforcing it differed in some respects in the different counties. These considerations led to the organization of the Prosecutors' Association of New Jersey.

"A preliminary meeting was held May 16, 1899, and the association was incorporated on the twentieth of June following with Prosecutors Walter F. Hayhurst, of Hunterdon; James S. Erwin, of Hudson; Peter W. Stagg, of Bergen; Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerset, and John S. Voorhees, of Middlesex county, as incorporators. The purposes for which the association was formed, as expressed in its by-laws, are for promoting social intercourse among its members, for the consideration and discussion of questions relating to criminal law, procedure and practice, for obtaining uniformity in criminal procedure in the various counties of the State, and for promoting the due administration of justice.

"The Attorney-General of the State and all prosecutors of the pleas who shall have subscribed to its by-laws are members of the association. Ex-prosecutors and assistant prosecutors and judges of the courts of common pleas are eligible to membership. There is a committee upon criminal law and procedure, which is charged with the duty of attending to changes in the law relating to crimes and criminal procedure and practice, and of recommending such as in their opinion may be entitled to the favorable notice of the association, and to appear and represent the association before either branch of the Legislature or any committee thereof. Regular meetings of the association are held on the first day of each term of the Court of Errors and Appeals. The annual meeting for the election of officers is held in November, and the members dine together in Trenton on the opening day of the Supreme Court in February. At this dinner an address is delivered by the president and selected topics are discussed by the members, and some distinguished guest is present who addresses the association upon a topic of interest. At the meeting in February last, Governor Murphy was present and addressed the association.

"The influence of the association has been felt since its incorporation in the legislation affecting crimes and criminal procedure. Its meetings, and the discussions which have taken place at them, the interchange of experience and methods, have gone a long way toward bringing about uniformity in the criminal practice of the several counties.

"A committee of the association is now engaged in preparing uniform blanks for complaints, warrants, recognizances and the like. Efforts are being made also to further the probation system, and such other methods as tend to the reform of the criminal's character, while punishing him for the crimes which he has committed."

HOPE Y. M. A. AND Y. M. C. A. TEAMS STILL HEAD CITY LEAGUE

Hopes Batted St. Mary's New Pitcher For Victory 10 to 3—Y. M. C. A.'s Batting Streak Did It 6 to 2.

ATTENDANCE LARGER THAN EVER.

THE PLAYING OF ALL THE TEAMS WAS NOT, HOWEVER, QUITE UP TO THE STANDARD IN PREVIOUS GAMES.

St. Marys Tried Scott for Five Innings and the Hope Boys Batted His Delivery for Ten Runs —Then Doyle Shut Out Hopes, But it Was Too Late—Safe Works Led Until the Sixth Inning—Then Y. M. C. A. Scored Five Runs in Three Consecutive Innings.

RESULTS OF LEAGUE GAMES.

Hope Y. M. A., 10; St. Marys, 3.
Y. M. C. A., 6; Safe Works, 2.

And still honors in the City Baseball League are even between the Hope Y. M. A. and the Y. M. C. A. teams. Each scored a victory Saturday afternoon. The Hope boys found St. Mary's new pitcher an easy mark and batted him freely for five innings, enough to win the game by a score of 10 to 3. Y. M. C. A. had a more difficult task with the Safe Works contingent. A streak of batting in the last half of the game gave the Y. M. C. A. team victory by a score of 6 to 2. While the attendance at the two games combined was even larger than usual, the playing was not quite up to the usual standard.

Next Saturday afternoon will see the Safe Works and Hope Y. M. A. against each other while the Y. M. C. A. and St. Marys will battle the same afternoon. The week following the two leading teams will meet and unless the leaders are knocked out next Saturday, that contest promises to be one of the hottest of the season.

HOW HOPES DID IT.

Steady, merciless and unrelenting pounding of Dick Scott literally gave victory to the Hope team in its third game with the St. Mary's in the League series, Saturday. The onslaught started in the second inning and continued without cessation until the latter half of the fifth when Doyle was substituted. That stopped the merry-go-round but the damage had been done and the Hopes finished the game with the score 10 to 3. In the five innings that Scott was in the box, the Hopes made nine bunched hits but not a one was taken off Doyle, in fact, not a man reached the initial bag.

Neither side scored in the first inning. In the second Montross, of the Hopes, struck out. He was followed by Gordon, who reached first on a fumble and passed second to third on successive hits by Hewitt and Hardfelder. He was brought home by Munro's easy grounder. Hardfelder was caught on second and Roseberry fanned. The St. Marys were blanked successively until the fifth when Taylor drove out a grounder which struck Montross in the leg. He reached first before the ball was fielded and made two phenomenal steals to third. A low throw to Martin by Hartfelder, which the former missed, gave him a free pass home. A second run was made by the side in the eight by Doyle, who singled to first, stole second, was stealing third when Dalley threw wild to Martin and reached home. The third run was made in the last inning through two lucky hits, both doubles, by Lederer and Taylor, which brought the former home. A total of five hits was all the St. Mary's secured from Montross, who pitched a crackerjack game.

The Hope's batting streak, started in the second by Gordon, brought in two runs in the third, one in the fourth and six in the fifth. In this inning the batters went all the way around and Shortman had two chances at the bat. For the rest of the game, the innings were passed over in one, two, three order.

No better fielding has ever been seen in any of the League games than that which characterized this contest. Taylor, Roseberry, Keefe, Munro and in fact all the outlying men, seemed to be everywhere and scarcely a ball went out of bounds.

Y. M. C. A.'S GAME.

Y. M. C. A. demonstrated its superiority over the Safe Works nine Saturday afternoon when that team defeated the iron workers on Hope Common by the score of 6 to 2. Superb work in the outfield and timely work with the stick in the latter half of the game, after everybody was convinced that the team had left their batting eye at home, won the day for the association. Safe Works got but five scattered hits off Burt's delivery. Burns, too, tossed a good game, but a series of hits in the sixth, seventh and eighth, and one costly error made his work as a whole ineffective.

Charley Smith, of Y. M. C. A., was caught on third by a threadbare trick in the fifth inning. The bases were full with two out and prospects for runs looked brilliant. A conference had just occurred over a decision by Umpire Brown. Smith was playing well off third and napping, under the impression that pitcher had the ball, when Allen threw to Cooney, putting Smith out and retiring the side. About that decision—that a foul tip caught from the bat does not constitute a strike after two strikes have already been called—Umpire Brown, acting in good faith, was wrong, and the decision not being an error of judgment the Safe Works captain was within his right in ques-

TO FIX TAX RATE.

City Board of Assessors Will Hold Meeting Tomorrow to Fix the City's Tax Rate.

There will be a meeting of the Plainfield Board of Assessors tomorrow when the tax rate for the year will be fixed. The general opinion seems to be that the rate will be $2.50, as stated in The Daily Press several weeks ago. Plainfield's assessed valuation this year will be about $9,000,000, an increase of nearly $300,000 over last year. After the local Board computes the assessment for this year it will be reported to the County Board of Assessors at the meeting to be held July 21. The Council will approve the books in August.

CHINESE IN THIS COUNTRY

HUIE KIN TOLD HOW TO ACCOMPLISH MOST WITH THEM.

Convert Them in America and They Will Spread the Gospel Throughout China.

Something of the foreign mission work which is being done at home, namely, the spreading of the gospel among the Chinese of New York City, was related to a large audience at Y. M. C. A. Hall, yesterday afternoon, by Huie Kin, a native celestial. Mr. Kin speaks English fluently and from his address is thoroughly conversant with all biblical subjects.

New York City, he said, has a Chinese population of 10,000, nearly all of which are of a good class. When in the empire most of them command high positions but they prefer to leave them to cast their lot in America. They accept the teachings of the Bible readily and in fact seek it. It is only the ignorant coolies who cannot secure the money to leave China that regard missionaries as interlopers and reject their advances.

In New York there are many Sunday-schools where the native Chinese gather and hold regular services. By so doing, the speaker said, much more good is done than by sending ministers of the gospel to the celestial kingdom, as most of the Chinamen return home at some time and they spread the Word about of their own accord. Mr. Kin asked that his people be accorded a pleasant reception whenever the opportunity is offered, as it increases their respect for the American people and makes better citizens of them.

A delegation from the Exempt Firemen's Association attended the meeting in a body.

FUNERAL OF JOHN A. GRAY.

Services Held at His Late Home on Manson Place Saturday Afternoon.

At his late home on Manson place, funeral services were held Satruday afternoon, over the remains of John A. Gray, who died Wednesday in the New York hospital. They were in charge of Rev. John MacMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, and were attended by delegations from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., Iron Moulders Union, No. 81, of Elizabeth, and the local Iron Moulders Union, in addition to many relatives and friends.

At the close of the service the remains were taken to Hillside cemetrey, where the Knights of Pythias conducted their ritual before the interment was made.

The casket was borne by Lawrence Maher, John Langford and Edward Higgins, of Union No. 81, and Donald McInnis, William Young and William Nicholson, of Perseverance Lodge.

ROSELLE PLAYERS WON.

Informal Match With Tennis Players of Park Club Saturday.

A quartette of tennis players, including Hugh and Gordon Miller, and D. W. Mulford, of the Roselle Casino, was entertained Saturday afternoon by the Park Club on the latter's courts. The visitors won every match, carrying off all the honors. Those who played for the Park Club were Samuel Townsend, G. W. Faber, Clifford M. McGee, Wallace Guilford and J. Irwin Taylor. After the play tea was served at the clubhouse by Mrs. Samuel Townsend, assisted by several other women.

EDWARD KORMAN MAY DIE

CHARLES DRAKE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF COMMITTING THE DEED.

Police Believe That the Young Men Quarrelled Friday Evening—Drake Taken to County Jail.

Edward Korman, the young man who was assaulted on Harrison street Friday evening is still unconscious at Muhlenberg Hospital. The base of his skull is fractured and little hopes are entertained for his recovery. Charles Drake, who has been arrested on the charge of committing the deed, now lies in the North Plainfield jail. He was arrested Saturday afternoon at Westfield and brought to the city by Detective McCarthy, who handed him over to the borough police.

There has been a deal of bad blood between Drake and Korman for the past year or so. When the two met Friday evening it is believed by the police that they had some words which ended in a quarrel and that Drake struck Korman a terrific blow with his fist, causing him to fall backwards, his head coming in contact with the cobblestones. That Korman had been hit with a club or some heavy instrument is not now generally believed.

Charles Drake is a son of David Drake, of Jefferson avenue, and has always borne a good reputation. He seems to have been more of a favorite with the neighborhood than Korman. He was committed to Somerville jail this morning.

BIG CROWD AT HOTEL HOP

THE NETHERWOOD WAS A POPULAR PLACE FOR CITY SOCIETY FOLK.

Largest Attendance of Season Saturday Evening—Feature of Last Evening's Sacred Concert.

More largely attended than any function yet held was Saturday's evening hop at the Hotel Netherwood. In addition to the goodly number that spent the hours in dancing the piazza was crowded with people during the whole evening. Many Plainfield people were guests on the occasion. It is getting to be quite the thing for Plainfield's smart set to resort to the Netherwood on Saturday evenings. The music by the orchestra was up to the usual high standard. The rule requiring evening dress was strictly enforced by the management.

The prime feature of the sacred concert last evening was a march, "The American Girl," by the orchestra, accompanied by the composer. Mrs. Blanche Dryden, wife of Meredith Dryden, formerly of Plainfield. Mrs. Dryden's composition was highly received by the two hundred guests who had assembled to listen to it and an encore of the piece was demanded. The composer has written music that has become well known to the public and many of her productions have been highly popular. She is now engaged writing two coon songs which will appear in the fall. Mrs. Dryden writes the words as well as the music.

MAY NAME GILLMORE.

Talked of As Superintendent of the State Reformatory at Rahway.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 14—It is said on good authority that the Rahway Reformatory commissioners at their next meeting will appoint Brigadier-General Quincy O'M. Gillmore to be superintendent of the institution. The position is now being filled by Captain Martin, who was assistant superintendent when Colonel Heg resigned. The salary is $3,000 a year.

The commission has released their first prisoner on parole. Four prisoners will be paroled at the next meeting, all having attained the required number of marks. These "parole" men will be required to report in writing every month to the superintendent.

Married Two Years.

There was a very pleasant gathering at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Schorb, Sr., of Grove street, Friday evening, the occasion being the second anniversary of the marriage. Many relatives and friends were present to congratulate the couple, and a delightful evening was spent in games, music and dancing.

Special Music at Marconnier.

Miss Margaret Hayes, violin, and Miss Bessie Campbell, piano, gave special musical selections at Marconnier chapel last evening, which were much appreciated by the large congregation present. Rev. M. S. Purdy preached.

BAD FALL.

Paul Overbaugh in Hospital as Result of Tumble From His Wheel.

Paul Overbaugh, seventeen, son of Charles Overbaugh, driver on Titus & Codington's ice wagon, while riding down the mountain yesterday afternoon near Wilson's crusher, was thrown from his wheel, and received severe injuries to his head, which rendered him unconscious for a time. A man driving to town found Overbaugh on the mountainside in the comatose state and brought him to the North Plainfield police station. Dr. Pittis was called and dressed his wounds. He is now in Muhlenberg Hospital rapidly recovering.

KILLED AT A CHARIVARI

ADOLPH DAUBER WAS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AT LIBERTY CORNER.

Many of the Serenaders Carried Shot Guns—Contents of One Worked Fatal Results.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Liberty Corner, July 14—As the result of a charivari here Friday night given to William O. Allen, proprietor of the Liberty Corner Hotel, Adolph Dauber, a young man employed as farmhand employed with Samuel S. Baldwin, was shot and died a few minutes later.

Mr. Allen was married a few months ago but the fact did not become generally known till within the past few days. A crowd had gathered to give the couple a serenade of the old-fashioned sort, all hands carrying shot guns. Dauber received one of the charges of shot in his face. Both eyes were torn out and the brain penetrated.

The shooting is thought to be purely accidental as the man had no known enemies. The perpetrator of the deed is unknown, as so many of the crowd were carrying guns. Dauber's body was removed to the rooms of Bernard Lodge, Junior O. U. A. M., of which he was a member. He was twenty-two years old and unmarried.

It has developed that three other young men of the serenading party are suffering from buckshot wounds, caused by the discharge which resulted in the death of Dauber. Two of the injured are John English and Charles Trimmer. English is a son of Prosecutor English of Union county. An inquest will be held on the body of Dauber Thursday.

PASSED A DECADE.

Miss Winifred Cadwell Celebrated the Anniversary Saturday.

A party was given by Miss Winifred Cadwell, of Sandford avenue, Saturday evening in honor of her tenth birthday anniversary. The young folks played games and had a good time in general, after which refreshments were served. Those present were Frances and George Rittenhouse, William and Grace Rafferty, Blanche McVoy, Mildred Bennett, Pauline Sandford, Grace Kinsman, Ruth Murphy, Loraine Dunn, Fred Allen, Charles Small, Harold Dewey, Leslie Leland and Murray Cadwell.

IN CHARGE NOW.

Chas. E. Vail Assumed Personal Charge of His Store Today.

Commencing today, Charles E. Vail, successor to Asa Collier, jeweler, will take personal charge of the store at 103 Park avenue. Mr. Vail not only guarantees all work he has personally done in the past, but assumes the unexpired guarantees on work done by Collier. E. E. Bates, optician and watchmaker, who has been employed by Mr. Collier for some time past, will still continue with Mr. Vail.

In Private Car.

E. S. Hooley and family, of Rockview avenue, accompanied by a few friends and a corps of servants, left Friday in the special car "Olympia," on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, for Wyalusing, Pa., where the party will spend several days fishing and hunting. The car is so arranged that every comfort can be enjoyed while en route. Meals can be served and there are also provisions for sleeping apartments.

Married at New York.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Agnes C. Thompson to Charles L. Garfield by Rev. J. J. Reed of Washington Square M. E. church, New York, July 3. The young couple both belong to Plainfield and reside in the West End. The groom is employed at Pond's.

Mrs. Brennan, drunk and disorderly, was locked up by the borough police last evening.

MARTIN IS INSPECTOR OF RIFLE PRACTICE

Col. Collins Has Appointed World's Champion to Office in the Second Regiment.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS.

CAPTAIN MARTIN'S APPOINTMENT IS NOT PLEASING TO THE GUARDSMEN.

But Organization at Large Approves of it as Captain Martin Has Made Splendid Record—Some Other Appointees Now Talked Of.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 14—Colonel Collins has named William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, as inspector of rifle practice for the Second Regiment. Martin won the world's championship at the rifle shooting at Sea Girt last summer, taking the Wimbledon Cup and beating the English, Irish and Canadian champions and delegations from Massachusetts, New York and the District of Columbia. Martin has by some means incurred the enmity of the local guardsmen, and his selection is not heartily concurred in here. He has made a magnificent record for the Third Regiment, however, and from a State view-point, his appointment is looked upon as being of considerable benefit to the organization at large.

Martin was formerly a battalion adjutant in the Third Regiment. Captain Breeze, of the Trenton City Troop, who is also a member of the Essex Troop, is a candidate for battalion adjutant, and has been given assurance by friends of Colonel Collins that he will be named. The present adjutants are Harry C. Valentine and Timothy J. Hurley, of this city, and C. S. Atkinson, of New Brunswick. The adjutant cannot be displaced, so that Breeze can only be named in the event of their following the custom of resigning when a new commander is chosen. Should they fail to resign, the colonel could detail one of the number to duty as a first lieutenant in the line and name Breeze to act as adjutant.

Several of the officers who served on Colonel Gillmore's staff are to be continued. Captain Barton B. Hutchinson will remain judge advocate if he so desires. Rev. Dr. Otis Glazebrook will most likely be continued as chaplain, and Captain James Oliphant is pretty certain to continue as regimental quartermaster. The surgeon of the Second, Dr. Rogers, has been made brigadier surgeon, and it is said that Colonel Collins will name either Dr. Neafie, of Freehold, the senior assistant surgeon, or Dr. O'Keefe, of Elizabeth, his own family physician, for the post. If Dr. O'Keefe is not named as regimental surgeon he will be chosen battalion surgeon to fill the vacancy caused by the advancement of Dr. Neafie. The other battalion surgeons, Drs. Moore and Gordon, of this city, are likely to be continued.

CROWD DIDN'T GO.

After Three Unsuccessful Attempts to Gather an Audience, the Grimshaw Stock Co. Left the City.

"How Mr. Beckwith came to Grief" will not be played any more at the West Second street theatre. The artists who have been trodding stately in the buskin on that stage disbanded Saturday night and the manager left town, sadly deploring the lack of love for the fine arts in Plainfield.

The Grimshaw Stock Company opened in that theatre Thursday evening before an audience of twenty. Friday night four newsboys were present when the curtain rung up and it was deemed advisable not to proceed with the show. Saturday evening as many as fifteen were enticed within the walls.

After this heartrending experience W. E. Grimshaw, manager of the company, packed up his duds, paid off his troupe, and left the city, without casting a farewell look behind. Owing to the desertion, "A Soldier's Sweetheart," to have been presented this week has been postponed indefinitely.

First Honors.

First honors for early tomatoes are given William Ulmer, of East Third street. From his own garden, last Thursday, he picked several, large beauties for the table. Since then he has found many others and has them for dinner regularly.

Another Trolley Ride.

At the meeting of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association this evening plans for another trolley excursion will be made.

GREAT DAY FOR LOCAL GOLFERS

Ideal Weather and Courses in Good Condition Attracted Many to the Local Clubs.

BRUNSWICK'S TEAM LOST

Most Important Event Was Hillside's Defeat of Team From New Brunswick Golf Club—Winners Were Abbott and Peterson at Hillside and Frank Rogers at Park.

Ideal weather and two good courses brought out the local golfiacs in force, Saturday afternoon. The principal event of the day was the team match between the Hillside Club and the New Brunswick Golf Club on the Hillside links. The visitors were so badly defeated that they hardly knew they were playing. Then there were the usual competitions at both Hillside and Park Golf Clubs in which the honors at the former went to Gordon W. Abbott and Walter Peterson while Frank Rogers was low man at the other club.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

While everything was conducive to good golf on the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon, no particularly good scores were made. Most of the players seemed to have an off day and the scores turned in were unnusually high. There was, however, a large field out, a score registering for the weekly competition for the President's cup and many others enjoying a friendly game.

First honors went to Frank Rogers who is now tied for third place with C. W. McCutchen. S. St. John McCutchen still leads. The scores for day, better than 100 net, were as follows:

	G	H	N
Frank Rogers	107	26	81
Jos. O. McKelvey	104	20	84
Nelson A. Miller	115	29	86
S. St. J. McCutchen	102	13	89
Roberts de S. Newhall	99	10	89
E. Maxwell Honeyman	120	30	90
Chas. B. Morse	110	18	92
W. de la R. Anderson	101	6	95

The standing for the President's cup is:

	Points.
S. St. J. McCutchen	11
Charles B. Morse	9
Charles L. Nichols	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Frank Rogers	5
William R. Richards	4
W. de La R. Anderson	3
Leslie W. Hallock	3
Dr. A. W. Anderson	3
Henry C. Wells	2½
Arthur H. Serrell	2
Douglass K. Brown	2
J. O. McKelvey	2
Roberts De S. Newhall	2
Allan B. Laing	2
William R. Faber	1½
Samuel Townsend	1
J. C. Barcalow	1
Nelson A. Miller	1
H. D. Hibbard	1
Joseph L. Myers	1
Charles E. Murray	½

Late in the afternoon an informal approaching and putting contest was arranged in which Miss Mabel VanDeventer and Charles B. Morse were the winners, holing out their three approaches in ten strokes. Mr. and Mrs. William M. McCutchen and Miss May S. Shreve and Augustus VanDeventer tied for second place with eleven strokes each.

The usual informal reception was held at the clubhouse during the afternoon. Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer and Mrs. Walter M. McGee received.

HILLSIDE CLUB.

Golf enthusiasts were highly favored Saturday in their play for the various events on the Hillside Tennis and Golf course. The weather was perfect and everything was just to the liking of the contestants. The course was in fine condition and from early in the morning till late in the afternoon it was occupied.

In the morning there was the regular play for the Ackerman cup and the weekly play for the Boys' cup. In the competition for the for the former event there were but two entries, Miss Lida vanHerwerden, who scored a preliminary win with a net score of 100 from scratch, and Miss Daisy Elsberg who, with a handicap of 12, made a net score of 108.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

An example has been set by the Baltimore Traction Company that might well be followed in every other city. The United Railways and Electric Company, controlling all the city and suburban railways there, has arranged to insure the lives of the 3,000 motormen and conductors on its line. In the case of fatal accidents while in the service of the company, the sum of $1,000 will be paid to the family of the victim. The company will pay the entire cost of the insurance. It is a wise policy, viewed from the standpoint either of the employer or the employee. — New Brunswick Home News.

The ordinance which forbids girls under sixteen from attending public dances or other entertainments alone may seem like a return to curfew days, but there could in reality be no better law passed for the preservation of the city's morals. It is not curtailing a young girl's liberty to prevent her from going where she should not be. There are undoubtedly many, probably a large number of girls of that age in this country who could be trusted under any circumstances, but these probably do not need a restraining ordinance to keep them from public places at unseasonable hours.—New Brunswick Home News.

Every year the necessity for a comprehensive system of forest preservation becomes more apparent. If the present ruthless destruction and neglect of timber land is to continue it is only a question of time when serious inconveniences must arise.

General Manager VanEtten of the Boston and Albany Railroad has become impressed with the need of laying up timber and guarding against a possible shortage in the future. He has planted 10,000 catalpa trees near Westfield, Mass., his aim being to grow timber for railroad ties.

If railroad corporations at this early day see the necessity for guarding against a possible famine in lumber why should it not be equally prudent for States and municipalities to wake up to the necessity of protecting their water supplies by protecting the forests where these water supplies are gathered?—Jersey City Journal.

The farmers who complain that legislators usually forget them when making up the annual budget of laws, will find much satisfaction in one which went into effect on July 1, which requires non-resident gunners to take out a license before they can shoot in this State. This law ought to be a deterrent to the wholesale parade of gunners over the fields of farmers, destroying crops and breaking down fences. The license must be obtained from County Clerks, the fee being $10, which continues the privilege for a year.

These certificates must be exposed for examination upon the demand of any game protector or game warden; failure to comply will render the non-resident gunner liable to arrest and a fine of $25. If this is not paid the gun or other paraphernalia of the gunner may be seized and after ten days sold at public auction.

The act does not aply to hunting or gunning on preserves now established, and it was this modification which led to the withdrawal of the opposition of the clubs in the northern section of the State, whose members thought it unreasonable that a license should be needed every time a friend was invited from another State. Non-residents owning an estate in New Jersey on which they live for a part of the year must have a license, but no charge will be made for issuing it. —Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats any thing she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. L. W. Randolph.

SUMMER TOURS TO THE NORTH.

Two Tours to Canada via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the summer of 1902 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to run two personally-conducted tours to Canada and Northern New York. Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. L. W. Randolph.

WU TING FANG'S SUCCESSOR.

China Names New Minister to the United States.

PEKING, July 14.—Lian Tung Cheng, secretary of the Chinese embassy to the coronation of King Edward, has been appointed minister to the United States.

New ministers to Russia, France and Italy have also been nominated. The selections for these posts show that the dowager empress continues to regard the diplomatic service as unimportant. None of the appointees is of higher than the blue button rank, and none has held any important office. All of them except Liang Chen Tung are unknown to the foreign community. Liang Chen Tung's appointment pleases the Americans here. The newly appointed diplomat was educated in America. He is a graduate of Yale university and is able, dignified and honest. He is the first of the body of students sent to America in the seventies to receive recognition befitting their accomplishments, the Chinese officials having disliked them because of their progressive views.

Mr. Wu Not Surprised.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Mr. Wu, the Chinese minister at Washington, was not surprised to hear of the appointment of a successor to himself, as he has been expecting an announcement of this character for some time. He had received notice that his services would be required in another capacity and for this reason has been prepared to hear of the naming of his successor at any time. Liang Cheng Tung, the newly appointed minister, is a comparatively young man, being only a little over forty years of age. Like the present minister, he is said to be a man of progressive ideas, whose opinions have been formed from his education, which was received partly in the United States, from his former connection with the Chinese embassy here and from his contact with European civilization in the course of several special missions. He was one of the four parties of Chinese boys who were sent to the United States about twenty years ago for the purpose of completing their education.

OUR SIAMESE VISITOR.

He Will Come In a Simple Manner. Was Educated In England.

NEW YORK, July 14.—It is learned from authoritative sources that the crown prince of Siam will come to the United States in the same simple manner that he has visited King Edward and the various continental rulers, accompanied only by his brother, the next in succession to the crown prince, and two aids-de-camp, officers in the Siamese army.

The crown prince is in his twenty-second year and for more than eight years has lived in England, speaking and writing the language. He has been educated at Oxford, is president of the Cosmopolitan club of that university and is most simple and unaffected in his manner. He possesses a fine, liberal mind and is said to be thoroughly imbued with western civilization, as is also his father, the king of Siam.

He will call on the president and secretary of state officially either in Washington or such other place as the American authorities may designate.

Rathbone Will Not Talk.

CINCINNATI, O., July 14.—E. G. Rathbone, late director general of posts in Cuba, has arrived here and was met by many of his old neighbors. He will go to his former home at Hamilton tomorrow, and later he will join his family in western New York. This is his first visit to his home since his trials in Havana, and he was received by many friends, whose calls presented the appearance of a reception. To all inquiries of newspaper men Mr. Rathbone replied he had nothing further to say regarding Cuban affairs than what he had set forth in his petition to congress for a full investigation, and, pending action on that petition, he would not discuss any phase of the Cuban situation.

Hay Applies For Extradition.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Steps have been taken by the state department for the extradition to the United States of Colonel John F. Gaynor and Captain Benjamin D. Greene, now under arrest at Quebec, Ont. A formal application for their extradition has been made by Secretary Hay to Mr. Raikes, charge d'affaires of the British embassy, who is now at Newport and who, it is expected, will cable the request promptly to his government. The grounds on which extradition is asked are comprehensive in character. This action of the state department is independent of the proceedings now in progress to obtain the extradition of the men through ordinary judicial process

No Word From Missing Steamers.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 14.—As late as July 1 no news had been received at Nome from either of the missing steamers Jeanie or Portland. The United States revenue cutter Thetis was still searching for the long overdue vessels. The steamer Elihu Thompson left Nome July 1 for Seattle by way of Juneau. She sailed two days subsequently to the departure of the freight steamship Conemaugh. The Thompson left Juneau yesterday. There her officers gave out the information obtained. The latter was sent by cable to Skaguay, thence by telegraph to Dawson and back to White Horse and over the Ashcroft line to this city.

Bluefields Not Taken.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 14.—The director general of telegraphs of Nicaragua declares that Bluefields has not been taken by revolutionists, as has been reported. Government reports announce the capture July 7 of a number of revolutionists near Bluefields.

FATED MINE REOPENS

Inspectors Pronounce Rolling Mill Workings Safe.

EXPLOSION VICTIMS NUMBER 114.

It Is Thought That All of the Bodies Have Now Been Recovered—A Day of Mourning and Funerals In Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 14.—After a consultation with the four state mine inspectors summoned here to make a thorough inspection of the Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company James E. Roderick, chief of the state bureau of mining inspection, dictated a notice to General Manager C. S. Price of the Cambria Steel company granting formal permission to resume operations in all sections of the mine except the Klondike today. The Klondike workings will likely be closed for several days until perfect security is assured through the bratticing of openings and repairs necessitated by the explosion.

Two more deaths of rescued victims have occurred. These men were among the six living last brought out of the mine Friday afternoon, of which four others have expired. These deaths raise the total fatalities to 114, although the company records have it one less. Much confusion has attended the compilation of the record.

Mine Superintendent G. T. Robinson last evening said:

"I would not like to assert that there are no more bodies in the mine, but I do not think there are. There may be a few."

It is generally regarded as certain that the full extent of the disaster is now known. State inspectors say they are assured that all the workings are now free of gas, and the almost perfect ventilating apparatus is rushing currents of pure air into the uttermost recesses of the subterranean workings. There has not been a single place outside of the old abandoned chambers that has not undergone the scrutiny of experts to pronounce everything in as good condition as could be asked or demanded.

The interest yesterday centered in the funeral obsequies which took place throughout the city. The black cloud of mourning was heaviest over Cambria City, where the foreign population dwells. The scenes of Saturday in this section were repeated, but only with sterner force. It was a grim fete day, in which the number of participants was augmented by throngs the morning trains brought in. The outsiders came from towns within a radius of fifty miles or more. These visitors spread themselves out in squads and took in the various points of interest associated with the dread tragedy. To the foot of the tramway leading up to the main pit mouth all paid a visit. Hundreds gathered there at a time in the vain hope of seeing newly discovered bodies brought forth to gratify their curious gaze. All the churches of Johnstown paid more or less attention in their morning services to the disaster. Collections were lifted in many for the benefit of the bereft families of the poorer victims. Special masses were said in the Catholic churches.

The funeral of Mike Sabot, one of the conspicuous self sacrificing heroes of the disaster, took place from St. Mary's German Catholic church. The large church was packed with friends and those who did not know the little dead fellow, but who had heard the noble story of the achievement which brought him glory, but only at the expense of his life. Sabot was about seventeen years old. He was a trapboy and knew the mine like a book. He was out at the mouth of one of the headings when the explosion came. He found himself unscathed and immediately rushed to the rescue of the falling men beyond him. He had dragged three into a working that the afterdamp had not reached, and to his help they owe their lives today.

Back he plunged into the mine heading after more bodies. Faintness overcame him, and he toppled over and died. When found, his hands were still clutching the clothing of one man in a manner which showed conclusively the boy was in the act of dragging him out to safety when overcome.

Two Boys Drowned.

DETROIT, July 14.—Two boys—Anthony Rukamp, aged sixteen, and Adolph Budelier, aged eighteen—residents of this city, have been drowned in Cass lake, a small body of water about twenty-five miles from here. In company with May Wiesler they were rowing. The boat began leaking and finally tipped over before they could reach shore. The girl was saved, but both boys sank before rescuers could get to them.

Old Time Actress Dead.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 14.—Mrs. Eloise Bridges Erwin, once a celebrated actress, having starred with Jefferson, Booth, McCreary and Barrett, is dead at her home here, aged seventy years. She was known to the stage as Eloise Bridges and was the original Gretchen in Jefferson's production of "Rip Van Winkle."

Bishop Potter to Marry.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Church and society both are interested in the formal announcement of the engagement of the Right Rev. Henry Codman Potter, the Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York, and Mrs. Alfred Corning Clark. Dr. Potter's wife died in July of last year.

Cut Throat With Scythe.

PLATTSBURG, [illegible] 14.—Michael Kennedy, [illegible] farmer of Altoona, near [illegible] committed suicide by cutting his throat with a scythe. He was about fifty-five years of age and married.

BUSY AT OYSTER BAY

Roosevelt and Root Discuss Important Questions.

FRAMING ANSWER TO THE VATICAN.

No Statement of Conclusions Arrived at—The President's Yacht Ordered Up — Miss Alice Is Back From the Woods.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 14.—President Roosevelt and Secretary Root were so busily engaged in the consideration of important subjects that neither one attended church yesterday.

Shortly before the morning services began at Christ Episcopal church Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by four of the children, Theodore, Archibald, Kermit and Ethel, arrived at the church in a trap from Sagamore Hill. The edifice was thronged with people, and Mrs. Roosevelt and the children were given a cordial reception by their neighbors and friends.

One of the important questions discussed by the president and Secretary Root was that relating to Governor Taft's negotiations with the Vatican respecting the Philippine friars. Both Mr. Roosevelt and the secretary of war deem it unwise that the friars should remain in the archipelago with the prestige they now possess. The attitude the friars assume is regarded not only as a menace to the peace of the islands, but also as an obstruction to their government and to the civilization of their inhabitants.

No statement of the conclusion arrived at by the president and Secretary Root could be obtained, but unofficially it is understood that a note is being drafted in response to that transmitted by the pope through Governor Taft to the administration.

The president and Secretary Root have practically completed their arduous work. Today is being devoted by them to recreation. Late in the afternoon the secretary will sail on the Kanawha for New York, going thence to Washington. Secretary Cortelyou will go to Washington this week to make final arrangements for the president's New England trip, which will begin Aug. 22. The trip will occupy ten days, and in that time the president will visit six states.

Several handsome steam yachts from New York are in the bay, among them the president's official yacht, the Mayflower, which came from the Brooklyn navy yard "under orders." Only her commander, Lieutenant Commander Albert Gleaves, and the president know definitely what those orders are. The vessel, which is one of the finest and most handsomely fitted in the naval service, has been undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard. These are not completed yet and will not be for two weeks. It was said that the officers and crew, numbering 141 men, were working on the repairs and improvements night and day.

Miss Alice Roosevelt arrived here last evening shortly before 6 o'clock. She was accompanied by a maid and was driven directly to Sagamore Hill by a coachman who was awaiting her at the station. Miss Roosevelt has been enjoying a brief sojourn at Camp Santinnoni, on Newcomb lake, in the Adirondacks.

Strange Case of Miss Barker.

TERRELL, Tex., July 14.—Miss Ada Barker, who was brought here to the State Insane asylum by the sheriff of El Paso county a week ago in an apparently demented condition, has so far recovered that she remembers having left her home in New York during the latter part of May for the Galveston carnival. After reaching Galveston Miss Barker's mind is a blank until within the last few days. The young woman was well supplied with money on leaving New York and still retains a portion of it. She has written to relatives in New York apprising them of her whereabouts and expects them to come to her relief. Physicians pronounce her case one of double consciousness or recurrent dementia.

Paris Celebrating Bastille's Fall.

PARIS, July 13.—While the official observance of the national fete on the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille occurs today, Parisians took advantage of the fine, cool weather yesterday to begin the celebration with pilgrimages of the Alsatian and other patriotic societies to place wreaths upon the statue of Strassburg in the Place de la Concorde and upon the monuments to Jeanne d'Arc and Gambetta. The city everywhere is gay with bunting, and numerous American and Russian flags are mingled with the French tricolor. The principal streets and boulevards are thronged.

Fatal Powder Explosion.

UTICA, N. Y., July 14.—George Steigler and William Miller were frightfully burned by the explosion of a keg of powder in a quarry at Oriskany Falls. Steigler is dead. Mrs. Steigler's first husband was killed in an accident in the same quarry seventeen years ago. It is thought Miller will recover.

Fire at Salisbury Beach.

AMESBURY, Mass., July 14.—Salisbury Beach was visited by a most destructive fire, twenty-eight buildings being destroyed, causing a loss of from $30,000 to $40,000. Two summer hotels, the Brunswick and the Quincy, were burned, while several cottages and stores suffered a like fate.

Cholera Takes Thousands.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—United States Consul McWade, at Canton, has cabled the state department that cholera is raging in all towns along the Kwellen river in Kwangsi province. The consul says that 3,000 persons have died in Pinglok and over 10,000 in Kewlian.

KITCHENER A LION.

London Goes Wild at His Coming. Decorated by the King.

LONDON, July 14.—The entire city is agog over the arrival here of Lord Kitchener, who, accompanied by Generals French and Hamilton, has reached home after an absence of three years. The progress of the notable fighters through the city after leaving the train was frequently interrupted by the enthusiastic greetings of the delighted hero worshipers thronging the thoroughfares.

Even the renewed expectations caused by the announcement that the coronation of King Edward will take place in August fail to detract from the nation's absorbing interest in its idol and its puzzle. Columns of alleged anecdotes concerning the general and voluminous descriptions of his life and especially of his recent campaign in South Africa monopolize the newspapers. The coronation arches which previously were being torn down are now redecorated in his honor, and street urchins organized impromptu parades, headed by strange devices on which Kitchener's name was spelled with a diversity almost as puzzling as the man himself.

Soon after his arrival General Kitchener was taken to the king's chamber, and his majesty from his couch extended a warm welcome to him and personally expressed his thanks for the ending of hostilities. The king then presented Kitchener with the decoration of the new order of merit, after which the general saw the queen. He then drove to Lord Roberts' residence in Portland place.

PLAN TO SETTLE STRIKE.

It Is Thought Chicago Freight Dispute Will End Today.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Eight of the railroads, after conferences between their managers and the members of the state board of arbitration, have agreed to a proposition that, it is believed, will result in a settlement of the freight handlers' strike. The railroads offered to concede two of the main issues of the controversy—pay for all overtime and no probation. The roads, however, refused to grant the demand for 18 cents an hour, but offered 17½ cents.

The men have finally accepted 17½ cents an hour.

The railroads that agreed to the compromise were four of the eastern and a like number of the western lines. The officers of these roads claim they control the other roads, and if the freight handlers shall decide to accept the proposition every railroad entering Chicago will sign the new agreement today, and the strike will be at an end.

A dispatch from Carbondale says that fruit and vegetable growers in southern Illinois are much alarmed over the strike of the freight handlers in Chicago. Thousands of dollars' worth of tomatoes are rotting in the fields. Much fruit, including peaches and apples, is ripening and will be in marketable condition during the present week. None of the growers or shipping associations in the fruit belt will ship to Chicago under present conditions.

Strikers' Tenth Week.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 14.—The tenth week of the great anthracite miners' strike may witness the crisis. Everything now depends on the national convention, which meets at Indianapolis Thursday. If the convention votes solid support to the hard coal miners now on strike, the conflict with the operators may be prolonged indefinitely. On the other hand, should substantial support not be forthcoming it may have a discouraging effect on the strikers, and the operators, taking advantage of it, may attempt to resume operations at some of the collieries. This is the consensus of opinion as expressed in operators and strikers' circles. No efforts will be made by any of the large coal companies to start up any of their mines this week. Indianapolis must speak first before any move is made in that direction.

Restoration of Tientsin.

PEKING, July 14.—The foreign ministers to China have agreed upon the conditions for the restoration of the government of Tientsin to China, and these conditions only await the signature of the Italian minister, the Marquis Salvago Raggi, who is absent, for presentation to the Chinese government. According to the conditions, the thirty kilometer radius from which Chinese troops are excluded is reduced to twenty-four kilometers, the limitation of the number of police which the Chinese may maintain within the radius is eliminated, and the concessions granted by the provisional government are ignored.

Detroit-Buffalo Rate War.

DETROIT, July 14.—The promised rate war between the rail and lake lines operating between Detroit and Buffalo has been inaugurated, the Detroit and Buffalo Steamship company taking the initiative by reducing its first class rate to one-half the second class rate of the rail lines and declaring that if this is met a further reduction will follow.

CZAR GREETS KING.

Italian Ruler Banqueted In Hall of Peter the Great.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14.—Emperor Nicholas II., wearing the chain of the Order of the Annunziata; the czarowitz, the Russian grand dukes, Count Lamsdorff, the minister of foreign affairs; the other cabinet ministers and a number of officers greeted King Victor Emmanuel of Italy upon his arrival at the railway station here at half past 4 yesterday afternoon.

Preceded by a band playing the Italian national anthem, a guard of honor escorted their majesties to the palace, where the czarina and dowager empress welcomed King Victor. A banquet in honor of the royal guest was given in the hall of Peter the Great in the palace, at which the cabinet ministers, the members of the Italian embassy and high court dignitaries were present. Count Lamsdorff, at the czar's command, handed to Signor Prinetti, Italian minister of foreign affairs, who accompanied the king, the insignia of the Order of St. Alexander Newski.

The official papers extend to King Victor Emmanuel a sympathetic greeting, declaring that the interests of Russia and Italy are antagonistic in no quarter whatever.

The King's Mission.

ROME, July 14.—It is learned here from a high source that one of the principal questions of discussion between King Victor Emmanuel and the czar will be the reduction of armaments. The presence of the king at St. Petersburg and the re-establishment of friendly relations between France and Italy are held to prove that the dual and triple alliances have lost their original antagonistic character and that therefore the moment is propitious for the discussion of disarmament. The Italian papers recognize the fact that the visit of the king to the czar marks the introduction of a new and essentially peaceful element into European politics.

New York Hotels.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14.—State Excise Commissioner Cullinan announces that there are 8,000 licensed hotels in the state of New York and that about 2,800 of these are situated in Greater New York. A complete list of the hotels in Greater New York has been prepared and has been sent to Mayor Low, Commissioner of Police Partridge, District Attorney Jerome, the heads of the building, fire and health departments in the city of New York and to the sheriffs and district attorneys of the counties included in the city of New York. A complete list of the hotels in every county in the state has also been sent to the district attorneys and sheriffs of those counties. A complete list of the hotels in each city of the state has been sent to the mayors of said cities, the heads of the police departments and of the several building, fire and health departments in said cities.

Yacht Races Postponed.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 14.—Because of the lack of entries the three races of the Newport Yacht Racing association which were to have been sailed off this port during the coming week have been postponed until later in the season, probably some time in August. It was found after the last race Saturday that there were only one or two large boats left, the Elmina being laid up for repairs after the accident Saturday, the Mineola having gone to New York, the Vigilant in the same direction and the Weetamoe also repairing, and consequently the remaining races were declared off. The association, however, expects to have them sailed some time after the New York Yacht club cruise, probably after the return of the yachts from Marblehead.

International Student Conference.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The third international congress of students is to be held at Budapest from Sept. 24 to Oct. 1. The main value of the federation, according to M. Leygues, former minister of public instruction in France, consists in its avowed object of bringing together from time to time the students from all parts of the world and in so doing bringing about the wholesome result of broadening the sympathies and the intellectual horizon of the students. The second congress of the federation, held in Paris in 1900, was attended by over a thousand foreign students, who enjoyed the French hospitality for over a week.

Railroad Crippled by Floods.

LAWRENCE, Kan., July 14.—Ninety feet of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad track at Lakeview have been washed away by water rushing into the old river bed from the Kaw river. The previous break in the track across the eastern arm of the lake just formed had not been remedied, and a work train was caught between the two breaks without coal or water. The country east of the lake is badly flooded, and many families are moving away. The river is still rising. It broke through its north bank a mile north of here yesterday and is now giving the Union Pacific railroad cause for alarm.

SALISBURY RESIGNS.

King Edward Accepts the Request of Aged Premier.

RIGHT HON. A. J. BALFOUR SUCCEEDS

The Change, Necessitated by Poor Health, Had Been Expected In Connection With Coronation. New Premier Very Popular.

LONDON, July 14.—The Marquis of Salisbury has resigned the premiership of Great Britain, and Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the treasury and government leader in the house of commons, has been appointed to succeed him.

The Marquis of Salisbury tendered his resignation at an audience which he had with King Edward last Friday. Saturday Mr. Balfour visited the king and accepted the premiership.

The prime minister laid down the responsibility of his renowned office July 11 and received the commendation of his sovereign. He was able to discharge the weighty, exacting duties of the position through periods amounting to national crises.

As to Lord Salisbury's withdrawal, the main reason is considered by practically all the best informed persons to have been simply a desire for a quiet life on the part of a man advanced in years whose activities have been unusual and whose scientific tastes predispose him to study and seclusion. That the retiring premier's health has failed to some extent is undeniable, but this is not more than perhaps is to be expected in a man of his years, and the close of the war in South Africa and the return of the commanding general from there is considered to be an appropriate time for his withdrawal.

The retirement of this last great statesman of the Victorian age is universally regarded as the transition from one generation to another and as marking the close of an era in the national life.

Although Lord Salisbury's resignation does not necessarily involve the reconstruction of the cabinet, it is believed the occasion will be taken to make some changes. It is not considered unlikely that some of the ministers will be made peers in order to make room for new blood in the cabinet.

Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., in an interview had with him sums up the situation in connection with the resignation of Lord Salisbury and the appointment of Mr. Balfour as follows:

"The resignation of Lord Salisbury was expected in connection with the coronation of King Edward, but when the coronation did not take place there grew up an idea that perhaps the premier's resignaton was indefinitely postponed. Old men cling to power, and it was supposed that Lord Salisbury was not free from the weakness of so many others. This prospect did not quite satisfy his colleagues. Lord Salisbury's health has been notoriously indifferent, especially since the death of his wife. His extreme obesity is of course inconsistent with activity either of mind or body, and there were whispers that he sometimes was overcome by sleep in the midst of momentous cabinet councils and that he only awoke when the discordant voices of Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, the two chief opponents in the cabinet, reached an unusually high pitch. Once or twice, too, lately in the house of lords he has shown a certain want of grip that was almost painful. For instance, when the terms of peace in South Africa had to be announced he calmly asked the house of lords whether they desired to hear the words of Lord Kitchener's dispatch, as though the communication was really of little or no importance.

"Probably his resignation now has been influenced partly by the desire to make sure of the succession being in the Cecil family and still more with a view to preventing the accession of Mr. Chamberlain.

"It is doubtful in any case whether the rank and file of the Tory party would have accepted Mr. Chamberlain willingly. They use him, but they do not like him. There is a certain section of young Tories who do not love Balfour, thinking him slack, decadent and lethargic, but he is still the darling of the straight Conservatives, and his appointment would be even more popular with his political opponents than with his political friends. Despite his many faults Mr. Balfour remains the most popular figure in the house of commons, and his very faults help him in this respect. If he be indolent, he is also courteous, tolerant and broad minded, and he will not insult other nations as Mr. Chamberlain has done. His tongue is well under restraint, and he has all the instincts of a gentleman."

Death of General Morgan.

NEW YORK, July 14.—General Thomas J. Morgan, who had been ill at Yonkers, where he lived, is dead, aged sixty-two. Death was due to kidney disease. General Morgan was born in Franklin, Ind. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted as a private and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier general. President Harrison made him commissioner of Indian affairs. At the time of his death General Morgan was secretary of the Home Mission society of the Baptist church. The body will be taken to Rochester, N. Y., for burial.

PRESERVE THE FORESTS.

The subject of forest preservation was one which appeared to appeal particularly to Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees during his term of office. While Governor Murphy has taken no active steps in behalf of that movement, he has shown himself so thoroughly in earnest in working for the best interests of the State that there is every likelihood that he will follow the excellent example set by his predecessor.

When there were untold acres of forest land to be had almost for the asking, no one thought of making any attempt to save the valuable growth and millions of acres of forest land were stripped of timber. Great quantities of it were wasted. Now, however, it is possible to look ahead and see the day when forest land will be scarce indeed unless something is done by the authorities of the several States to protect the trees. There has been considerable thought of establishing a State park in the forests which now exist in the northern part of New Jersey. If these forests are to be preserved, action will have to be taken at no distant day.

Experts in forestry have shown that if the ruthless destruction and neglect of timber land are stopped, that the supply will be ample to meet all reasonable demands and yet continue these forests indefinitely. Forestry has now become a science and each year sees the number of trained men increase. The old methods cannot go on. The coming years will see the forests pass into the care of experts. The sooner New Jersey accepts the inevitable and prepares for the protection of its valuable timber land, the better it will be. Governor Murphy will do well to look into the subject and use his influence in the right direction.

It seems quite likely that Brigadier-General Gillmore will be appointed superintendent of the Rahway Reformatory. Gen. Gillmore has already been connected with the Reformatory as military instructor and is acquainted with the methods in vogue there. He ought to make a success of it.

New Ferryboat in Commission.

The New Jersey Central's new ferryboat, the Red Bank, a companion to the Lakewood and Bound Brook, which arrived at Jersey City Friday, was placed in commission this morning. This gives the company a superior fleet and greatly adds to the excellent service now maintained for the commuter and traveler in general.

Trip in Auto.

Frank L. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue, returned home Friday from a delightful trip with his automobile along the Jersey coast. He made the trip to Point Pleasant and from the latter place to New York. Then back to Perth Ambry and then home. He was absent nearly all of the week, leaving Plainfield a week ago today.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

"First appearances count," they say. Give your friends a good impression of yourself, first and last, by appearing in one of Werner's natty summer suits. Your pick of a dozen styles.

Fruit juices are the life of soda water. When they are not pure the drink is more conducive to harm than good. Fowler, of East Front street, guarantees nothing but pure goods in all his sodas.

The excellent line of shirt-waists and summer skirts are now being shown at the Paris Cloak store on West Front street. You can get suits ready to wear, or made to order. Satisfaction is guaranteed in either case.

Heated rooms are not much in demand during the summer. The porch is a more suitable place for the usual evening chat. For this you need porch chairs, rockers, or settees. Powlison & Jones would like you to call and see their line.

Whether you go to the seashore or the mountains you want shoes that will not only be comfortable, but the kind that wear well. John H. Doane, of West Front street, can give you the best value for your money in shoes of the best make.

It is said that beefsteak was the highest when the cow jumped over the moon. That was long ago and beefsteaks and other steaks have taken a drop in price. J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue market man can tell you all about it.

It is an excellent plan to have your painting and decorating done while away on your vacation. The New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, are noted for doing good work and they will gladly give estimates on work.

You will make a mistake if you do not consult Bonn, the West Front street milliner, before going on your vacation. He has a superior line of outing hats, and he keeps the other kind too, all at prices that will compare with those in New York.

Hill & Shupp are conducting with great success special sales during the summer that attract the people in large numbers. Never before have such bargains been offered in every department. You can save yourself money by trading here. Bear this firm in mind when shopping.

Food for thought is furnished by the study of political economy but food for the brain is furnished by Foss & Jetter, of Park avenue. Fish is brain food and this firm has the happy faculty of knowing just what kind of brain food to supply the public. Visit the market and see their big display.

ALL THAT SAVED HER.

But for Her Children the Prisoner Would Got Full Term.

Patrolman Vanderweg appeared as complainant against Patrick Mottly and Mrs. George Moore in the city court, this morning, charging them with drunkenness and disorderly conduct on West Fourth street, yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. Both defendants pleaded guilty and each paid an $8 fine in preference to taking twenty days. The woman was lectured in drastic terms and in passing sentence City Judge Runyon observed that it was only for her children's sake that he refrained from sending her to jail for the longest term possible.

Funeral of Perrine Carman.

Funeral services over the remains of Perrine Carman, of Race street, were held at Filmore Avenue Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. E. D. Crudup. A large crowd joined in the funeral cortage to Hillside cemetery, where interment was made in the soldier's plot.

Lost Valuable Pin.

It cost B. A. Mumford, of Arlington avenue, $300 to see the Y. M. C. A.-Safe Works game, Saturday. During the jostle of a crowd he either lost or was relieved of a diamond pin worth that amount. He made a thorough search of the grounds for the missing stone but without success.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the basement of said church.

H. R. Munger, of Washington avenue, returned Saturday on the Campania from a trip to Europe.

WHO'S TREASURER?

That Question Came Near Disrupting Pond Beneficial Association at Last Meeting.

An attempt to decide whether or not Patrick Nugent is treasurer of the Pond Beneficial Association, resulted in a stormy session of that organization at a meeting held in Pythian Hall, Saturday evening.

In the course of electing officers to fill unexpired terms, the treasurership was brought up which Nugent has been holding. Several of the members declare Nugent should be ousted as he was out of benefits and was therefore not a member. They were upheld by the president who declared that Nugent had not furnished a bond since his election and should be displaced on that account.

Nugent objected, strenuously maintaining that he was treasurer and was going to stay in office. The lie was passed and matters were becoming serious when a truce was called by electing George Batchelor to the office temporarily. Nugent asserts that he will carry the matter to the courts.

Other officers elected were John Traynor as trustee for six months in place of Patrick Cray, and Robert Hanglier as trustee for twelve months in place of Charles Bowden.

Young Woman in Court.

Eva VanDyke, a young colored woman, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged with disorderly conduct. She was arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg on West Second street, late Saturday night. She entered a plea of not guilty but witnesses bore out the patrolman in his charge and she was given her preference of $5 or twenty days.

Acting Bishop Here.

The Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church held its services yesterday in the chapel of Grace church. Rev. Mr. Nelsemens, of Brooklyn, acting bishop, preached. After the services last evening there was a meeting of the congregation and Rev. Mr. Arnfoldt, of Long Island, was selected to preach for the next four Sundays.

Tell of Baby Camp.

Mrs. F. G. Mead, of Plainfield, will talk about the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting in Trinity Reformed church tonight.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

An exciting runaway took place in North avenue, last Saturday evening. Owing to the lateness of the hour the excitement was witnessed by very few. A rig belonging to an unknown man was standing on North avenue when the horse became frightened at a trolley. As it started off the animal slipped and fell. Lewis Churchill, who was near, sat on the animal's head but it got away from him and ran again in the direction of New Market. Near the school house it became loose from the wagon and when last seen was still running.

With the score 6 to 6 in the ninth inning in the game between Clinton Avenue and Dunellen, a decision was given by the umpire, S. O. Sutton, who has a wide reputation for fairness which did not please the members of the Clinton Avenue team. They accordingly refused to continue and left the field. The game was forfeited by Dunellen by the umpire by a score of 9 to 0. The score was tied by a home run by Ettinger with two men on bases and a steal home by Giles while the umpire's decision was being questioned.

W. L. Holbert, of the International Correspondent School, will have an exhibit of the school's works in the Kretzel building this week.

The Silver Leaves defeated the Clinton Avenue Juniors Saturday morning in a hot ball game on the local grounds.

A hot time is billed for today at the park along the Raritan river when children's day will be celebrated.

Henry Garretson and wife visited Mr. Garretson's mother at New Brunswick.

The Craig Manufacturing Company has lately received a large boiler for the new factory which they expect to be completed by September 1. The old factory will be torn down.

The Craig Manufacturing Company has sent a number of samples of its furniture exhibits to the Furniture Exposition at New York.

A large new clock has lately been put in the railroad station. It is run on United States Observatory time.

Fred Wrage is recovering from an injury to his knee received while working on the railroad.

Charles D. Boice returned home on Saturday from the west where he has been called by business.

Wm. Meade and Chas. Adams, of Philadelphia, spent Saturday and Sunday in town.

Herbert Richardson, of Plainfield, is spending a few weeks at the home of James Craig.

Henry Schenck and family entertained out of town friends yesterday.

The three Castello children are confined to their home by illness.

John Kennedy entertained Plainfield friends yesterday.

Wm. Woodruff spent yesterday out of town.

NEW MARKET.

The New Market baseball team again showed its calibre Saturday afternoon when it played a team from Piscataway at Highland Park. The locals defeated their opponents by a score of 35 to 8 in a one sided game.

Regular services were held in the First Baptist church yesterday. Rev. Frank Fetcher officiated at all services.

James Halbet has completed a tennis court at his home which he expects to have the equal of any in this vicinity.

A party of out of town people spent yesterday camping on the island in the lake.

The G. E. Club will hold its regular meeting this evening.

James Warren visited out of town friends yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The cake, cream and candy sale, held Saturday afternoon and evening in the borough fire house by the Choir Guild of All Saints' Episcopal church, was a very successful affair both socially and financially. During the hours of 4 to 10 the hall was well filled with the friends of the Guild and the several tables were well patronized, especially during the evening hours when ice cream was in great demand. The young women in charge at the close of the sale tendered an informal dance which was enjoyed by the younger members of the borough social set. The efforts of the Guild will realize about $35, which will be turned into the church treasury.

The baseball team has been presented with a handsome pair of foul flags, the gift of an enthusiastic admirer of the game. The color is a handsome blue with the club's initial in gold. The flags will be seen on Saturday afternoon for the first when the team meets the Xaviers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lebbeus Pack tendered a pleasant evening social to a number of their friends at their home Saturday evening. Dancing was a feature of the evening's pleasure.

"Constant Companionship," was the topic discussed by the Baptist Young People's Union at their weekly meeting in the church parlors last night.

A number of the lovers of baseball journeyed to Rahway yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the Nationals and a Plainfield team.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dunn, of Mountain avenue, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Banks, of Plainfield.

Miss Minnie Meyers led an interesting meeting of the Epworth League at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Rev. J. J. Gorham, of Pittsburgh, Pa., occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday at both services.

Joseph Wooster and daughter, of Rahway, spent Sunday with Mrs. Stites M. Parse, of Front street.

Miss Bella Merceir was the guest Sunday of her sister, Miss Mamie Merceir, of Plainfield.

Mr. Gorham's sermons were enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience at both services.

Miss Kizzie Nagle, of Plainfield, was the guest Sunday of relatives in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Communion was administered yesterday at the Baptist church by Rev. G. A. Francis, of Westfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck, of Plainfield avenue, are entertaining a number of friends from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, of Dunellen, spent yesterday in town visiting relatives.

Mrs. Thomas Linaberry left town this morning on a visit.

Fred LaTourrette is entertaining a friend from New York.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Mrs. William F. Heath, of the borough, is summering at Asbury Park.

Former Sheriff Schoonmaker, of Somerville, has been visiting Plainfield friends.

George Mantz, of East Fifth street, has returned from a business trip to Wilmington, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., and children, of Stelle avenue, are summering at Fisher's Island.

Miss May Kearns, of East Third street, has gone to Philadelphia, for a week's visit with relatives.

S. C. Peck, Jr., of West Front street, has returned home from a week's stay at Asbury Park.

Letter-carrier Robert Loughlin has recovered from a recent severe attack of chills and fever and is again at work.

The Misses May Higgins and Margaret McFarland, of Newark, are the guests of Mrs. Kearns, of East Third street.

Miss Alice Bird, of Somerset street, has returne home after spending four weeks visiting relatives in Newark and Hoboken.

Postmaster and Mrs. E. H. Bird, of Elm place, left today for the Adirondacks, where they will enjoy their summer outing.

William Shearer, of Company 57, Coast Artillery, Fort Wadsworth, is being entertained by Thomas Walsh, of Madison avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Langhorne, of Putnam avenue, leave tonight for Thousand Island Park, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. English, of Newark, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hoffman, of West Front street.

Miss Ethel Lorton, of Watchung avenue, is spending a few weeks with her friend, Miss Lillian VanWinkle, on a farm at Warrenville, Somerset county.

Letter-carriers Glaentzer and Pierson will start on their annual vacations this week Thursday, at which time Carrier Frank Clarkson will return from his outing.

Mrs. J. H. Buchanan, of Duer street, returned home Friday from Pemberton, Burlington county, her former home. Her mother, Mrs. Collum, came back with her.

S. L. Schoonmaker and family, of Central avenue, will leave next Thursday for Watch Hill, R. I., where they will spend the rest of the summer. Mr. Schoonmaker is rapidly recovering from his recent illness and it is believed that the change will greatly benefit him.

Enlarging His Grounds.

E. S. Hooley, of Washington Park, has purchased William S. Campbell's property 66 Rockview avenue, at the head of Mercer avenue, adjoining Mr. Hooley's present residence. The latter will move the house off to an adjoining lot owned by him throwing the newly-purchased property and his residence property into one. He will improve the grounds to correspond with the beautiful grounds which he occupies.

Truck Out of Commission.

The Hayes hook and ladder truck, stationed at fire headquarters, was put out of commission, this morning, while repairs are being made to the turn-table springs which were buckled by too much weight on one side. The work will require two days and in the meantime the West End truck will be stationed at headquarters.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAMES

tioning the same. However, the ruling had no effect on the ultimate result of the game, as the side was immediately retired before any runs were made.

The Y. M. C. A. boys made their first score in the sixth, when a base hit by Percy Hand brought Bolsterle and Barnes across the plate, making the tallies even. In the seventh, Charlie Dupee came up and negotiated a single, Burt sacrificed, Moore hit out a safe one, Bosterle followed with a two-bagger, bringing in Dupee and Moore got home on the ball being badly fielded. A double by Schoonmaker, a single by Dupee, and a double by Burt were responsible for two more runs in the eighth, sending the scoring for the game. Barnes drove a long one away out into lone territory in the ninth for three bases but was caught while trying to make home.

Following is the summary in detail:
